Every Women Should Read This.

The number of diseases peculiar to woman is such that we believe this space would hardly contain a mere mention of their names, and it is a fact most of these diseases are of a catarrhal nature. A woman cannot be will if there is a trace of the catarrhal germs in her system.

Some women think there is no help for them. We positively declare this to be a mistaken idea. We are so sure of this that we offer to supply medicine absolutely free of all cost in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction or does not substantiate our claims. With this understanding, no woman should hesitate to believe our honesty of purpose, or hesitate to put our claims to a test.

There is only one way to cure Catarrh. That way is through the blood. You may use all the snuffs, douches or like remedies for years without getting more than temporary relief at best. Catarrh is caused by a germ. That germ is carried by the blood to the innermost part of the system until the mucous membrane is broken, irritation and inflammation produced, and a flow of mucous results, and you can probably realize how silly it is to attempt to cure such an ailment unless you take a medicine that follows the same course as the germ or parasite.

Rexall Mucu-Tone is scientifically prepared from the prescription of an eminent physician who for thirty years made his specialty Catarrh, and with this medicine he averaged 98 per cent of cures where it was employed. No other remedy is so properly designed for the ailments of woman. It will purify and enrich the blood, stop mucous discharge, destroy all germ matter, remove all impurities from the system, soothe, heal and strengthen the mucous tissues, and bring about a good feeling of health and strength.

We want you to try Rexall Mucu-Tone on our guarantee. If you are not benefitted, or for any reason not satisfied, simply tell us and we will hand back your money. Rexall Mucu-Tone comes in two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. B. J. Pulver, the druggist.

REMINISCENCE

Life of John Stoughton Strong.

Written for this paper by Mrs. Harriett Snyder.

He was of English ancestry—John Strong coming from Taunton, England and locating at Dorchester, Mass. in 1630, while John Whitney, (the founder of Watertown, Mass.), came to America from London in 1635.

Stoughton Strong was born in a double log house in Strongsville, Ohio, June 29, 1820, but as he often humorously remarked, "never became President."

His early education was commenced in the District school, and continued in the Academy of his native town.

After leaving the Academy, (his parents wishing to give him a collegiate education) he entered the "Western Reserve College" at Hudson, Ohio, while there he boarded with the grandparents of the present celebrated traveler, and correspondent of the Chicago "Record-Herald"—Mr. William E. Curtis. He remained in Hudson several years, and graduated from that institution June, 1843.

He then entered the employ of Mr. May, a silk merchant of Cleveland, O., and the founder of the present large mercantile house of the name, in that city.

He was then employed by his brother, Lyman W. Strong in his store at Seville, Medina Co., Ohio.

His next venture was in a physicians office at Newark, Ohio, where he became a medical student, but his father being displeased with his choice of a profession, he concluded to read Blackstone for a season in the Latimer Law office at Norwalk, Ohio.

Stoughton Strong formed many pleasant acquaintances in this city. Among the number, were the parents of Mr George Kennan, author, lecturer and explorer.

Wherever he went his musical talents won him more laurels for his brow, than dollars for his pocket. Soon after he graduated he attended the wedding of Miss Marcia Nutting, and Mr. Glover at Romeo, Mich. When returning home he concluded to stop in Tecumseh and give Dr. Baldwin's family a call.

On arriving here he found his early playmate "Delia" was in Clinton, thus drove northward, and bought her home.

In the evening of May 18, 1846, there was a pretty wedding at the Baldwin homestead, and Miss Delia A. Baldwin became Mrs John Stougton Strong, jr. Soon after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Strong, left for the Strong homestead in Strongsville, Ohio, where they remained two years, then returned to the Baldwin home in 1848

Mr. Strong, then, became a resident of Tecumseh, and formed a partnership with Mr. Elijah Anderson, building the brick foundry on North Evans street, called "The Brewer Foundry" but finding the work too strenuous for him, he sold his interest in the business, and invested in a "Starch Factory" situated on North Maumee street.

Leaving the Starch Factory he became a partner in the Hardware business, with Mr. Charles Fitch Strong, (father of Mrs. Edward Pritchard, sr.)

The firm "Strong, and Strong" continued several years, when Mr. C. F. Strong withdrew, and Mr. Stoughton Strong with Mr. Hiram Sherman formed the new firm of "Strong and Sherman."

Stoughton, and Charles Strong were also the proprietors of a fine large Nursery in the east part of the town, on the banks west of the "Globe Mill" some years before Logan street was extended to the pond.

Mr. Strong, and Mr. Lebbens Drew were associated in the Hardware business eight years and "Strong, and Drew" built the brick Hardware store now occupied by the Satterthwaite Bros.

During the intervals between his many business transactions Mr. Strong spent sometime in Nashville, Tenn., in the Furniture store, with Mr. C. H. Freeman. He taught music evenings, also served as choirester in the Baptist church of that city.

He also spent sometime teaching vocal music in Huntsville, Alabama.

Mr. Strong spent several seasons with Profs. Foote, and Pease of Ypsilanti, in concert tours throughout the state.

He also taught music in the Tecumseh High school. Mr. Strong was the originator and conductor of "The Tecumseh Musical Association," which proved to be a grand success in every way, except a financial one.

He was greatly interested in the series of "Parlor Musicals," which were held in Tecumseh some years ago.

During the early part of the Civil War—Mr. Strong, with his secretary Mr. George L. Graves, went to Coldwater, Mich., and organized "The Branch Co. Farmers Fire Insurance Company." While residing in that city he was the choirester of the Presbyterian church.

About this period he was agent for "The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co."

After leaving Coldwater, Mr. Strong was connected with Mr. John Nash of Adrian in the Banking business at Bay City, Mich

He then returned to Tecumseh, and became the senior partner in the large Merchant Tailoring and Clothing establishment of "Strong, and McNair," for a period of twenty-five years. He was also for many years a Director in "The Lilley State Bank." And for about forty years choirester of the First Presbyterian church of Tecumseh, also for twelve years superintendent of that Sabbath school.

In 1876, Mr Strong built a brick residence on Union street, which is now the home of his daughter, and husband, Dr. and Mrs B. F. Snyder.

He was an extensive traveler for gentlemen of his day. His business interests often calling him to New York, Boston, and other eastern cities. He also made several trips southward, and to the far western states, also sailed around "The Great Lakes" camping out for a season on the shore of Lake Superior with the late Hon. John P. Sanborn of Port Huron, Mich. He made many trips over Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois.

When the Centennial Bells were ringing through the land in 1876, Mr. Strong (accompanied by his wife, and daughter) visited Niagara Falls, Albany, Cherry Valley, N. Y., New Haven, Hartford, and Suffield, Conn., Springfield, Mass., New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia Washington, and Mount Vernon.

He visited the "Crystal Palace at New York in 1853, and during one of his eastern towns had the great pleasure of hearing "Jenny Lind" the Sweedish Nightingale." He was also a frequent visitor to the majority of the cities of his native state (Ohio). Among his many acquaintances were Ministers, Mission aries, College Professors, and the most talented musicians of his time.

Mr. John Stoughton Strong "fell asleep" at his home in Tecumseh, at 4 a. m., Sunday, May 6, 1906, aged 86 years.

The Bird Choir welcomed the passing spirit, and wafted it, in songs of exultant melody to "The Holy City," for we are told. "As well the singers, as the players on instruments, shall be There."

HANHAM-ALDERDYCE.

Monday morning at six o'clock, Rev. J. Wirt Dunning of the Presbyterian church, performed the marriage of Augusta E., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hanham to Roy Alderdyce of Brooklyn.

The couple were attended by Carl Alderdyce of Jackson and Ethel Snell of this place, the latter a sister of the bride. A wedding breakfast was served immediately at the close of the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Alderdyce left at 8:57 for their new home in Brooklyn, where the groom has a new house recently built, and which he has furnished throughout.

The bride is well and favorably known in Tecumseh, having resided here a number of years. The groom is almost a stranger here, but judging from what the bride is worthy of he is an excellent young man.

SHALL TECUMSEH HAVE ANOTHER LARGE FACTORY?

Advertising pays The merchants of Tecumseh find it profitable to advertise their goods, and it was thru them that the Tecumseh Business Men's Association was persuaded to experiment in advertising Tecumseh.

As a result, two pages were taken in a recent special edition of the Jackson Patriot, calling attention to the numerous advantages of "The Biggest Little Town On Earth."

A letter from a manufacturing concern which enjoys a mercantile rating of $100,000.00 to $150,000.00, with first grade of credit, is the immediate and important outcome of this publicity.

The letter was to the effect that the secretary of the Jackson Corset company had been in Tecumseh, looking over the city in view of placing a corset factory in Tecumseh.

Upon returning to Jackson, he took up the matter with the Board of Directors, and they decided to consider the matter, and to investigate any proposition which the business men of Tecumseh might offer.

He suggested also that the Tecumseh business men look into the matter of factory, find out what buildings are suitable and available for their requirements.

Several of the directors from the company in Jackson will be in Tecumseh today to confer with the business men here in regard to the matter. They will employ not less than fifty women and girls to work on corsets.

Several towns near Jackson have been conferring with the company in regard to placing a factory in their town.

The receipt of this letter resulted in immediate activity on the part of the Tecumseh Business Men's Association, and a meeting of their Executive Committee was held at the Carnegie Library last evening.

Nearly every member of this committee was present, and the matter was thoroughly explained and discussed.

The plan seemed so eminently practical, and so devoid on the part of the Jackson Corset Company, of any desire to "get something for nothing," that the Association members were unanimous in their voting to extend every possible courtesy and advantage to them.

The addition of this corset factory to our local industries would be of incalculable advantage to every person in the village. At present Tecumseh presents but little opportunity for steady and profitable employment to industrious and ambitious women, as there is no manufacturing institution which especially depends upon their services. But this corset factory would give clean, remunerative labor to many a woman whose wages would go far toward making homes happier and which would eventually result in material benefits to every one of our merchants and towns people.

The one thing which seems to cause this company to hesitate in placing their branch factory here, a branch which may become much larger and more important that may at first seem probably, is the present uncertainty as to a sanitary sewer being constructed. The Jackson people cannot understand why Tecumseh, so progressive and modern in all else, should be so backward in this vital matter.

A committee, consisting of Messrs. S. W. Anderson, T. P. Harris, E. N. Satterthwaite, L. C. Hayden and P. W. A. Fitzsimmons, was appointed by President North to confer with the factory representatives, and, after securing data from them as to exactly what they will require, to report back to the Executive Committee, when they will endeavor to proceed to comply with those conditions so far as possible.

We expect to be able to report tangible results in our next issue.

People's Ticket Endorsed by the Executive Committee of the Business Men's Association.

In view of the importance attached to the sanitary conditions of the Village by the representatives of the Jackson Corset Company, who propose to establish a branch factory in this Village, the present status of the sewer matter was thoroughly discussed last evening at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Tecumseh Business Men's Association.

In comparing the past records of the candidates for Village President on the tickets in the field, it was determined that the best interests of the Village would not be served by supporting a man who has ever been a reactionary, but rather support for Village President a man who has always stood for progress and permanent improvement.

The following resolution was therefore offered and passed without a dissenting vote. The resolution is as follows:

Resolved, That this Executive Committee of the Tecumseh Business Men's Association believes that the best interests of this Village will be conserved by retaining in office an official who has ever been progressive and diligent in behalf of the welfare of this Village, and that this Committee does hereby endorse, and pledge itself to work for the election on Monday, March 8th, 1909, of Mr. John Combs and the People's Ticket.

(Signed) H R BREWER, Secretary.

J. H. EMERY.

The residents of this village were greatly shocked to learn of the sudden death last Sunday morning of Joseph H. Emery. Mr. Emery had been quite sick for the past three weeks, but had so far recovered that he was able to walk to the barber shop Saturday and to his store. Sunday morning he was up and dressed and had gone into the woodshed when he succumbed to an attack of heart trouble. Mrs. Emery heard him fall and found him lifeless upon the floor of the woodshed.

Deceased was born in Vermont Sept. 5th, 1836. He leaves three sisters and a brother in Vermont, a sister in California, a sister, Mrs. Howard Sickles in Adrian and a brother, Wm. H. Emery in Erie, Pa. Mr. Emery was twice married. The first time to Miss Helen Sickles of Adrian. Three children were born of this union, all of whom passed away when quite young. Mr. Emery was married the second time to Mrs. Rachel McClure of Tecumseh in 1890. They resided in Adrian, where for 10 years following his second marriage Mr. Emery successfully conducted the Hotel Emery. They came to Tecumseh about 8 years ago and until about two years ago was proprietor of the Hotel Emery in this village now known as the Vendoma. Failing health compelled him to dispose of this business.

Beside his wife, he leaves one son, Louis McClure of Oklahoma City, who will arrive this evening. Mrs. Will Cutler of Adrian, is a granddaughter of the deceased. The funeral will be held from the home Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock, Rev. J. W. Dunning officiating. Burial at Adrian.

A CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Tecumseh Readers.

For months Tecumseh citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Tecumseh residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elasped if the personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time. The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Tecumseh reader.

Mrs. Sarah E. Austin, Pearl St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "About three years ago I was suffering from kidney trouble and rheumatism. I had severe pains in the small of my back and the kidney secretions passed so frequently as to cause me great annoyance. When someone told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and they helped me so much that I continued their use. I have taken this remedy since when my kidneys have troubled me and I have always found the best of results. I willingly allow my name to be used again in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

For Sale by all Dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sole Agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Accommodating.

"Some years ago," says a Boston lawyer, "a man in Nantucket was tried for a petty offense and sentenced to four months in jail. A few days after the trial the judge who had imposed sentence, in company with the sheriff, was on his way to the Boston boat, when they passed a man busily engaged in sawing wood.

"The man stopped his work, touched his hat politely and said, 'Good morning, your honor.'

"'Isn't that the man I sentenced to jail a few days ago?'

"'Yes,' replied the sheriff, with some hesitation, 'that's the man. The fact is, judge, we—er—we don't happen to have anybody else in jail just now, so we thought it would be a sort of useless expense to hire some one to keep the jail four months just for this one man. So I gave him the jail key and told him it would be all right if he'd sleep there o' nights.'"—Harper's Weekly.

His Belief.

A drunken carter came into a carriage of the Greenock train and sat opposite a clergyman who was reading his paper. Recognizing the profession of his vis-a-vis, the carter in a little while leaned forward and in a maudlin way remarked, "I don't believe there's ony heaven."

The clergyman paid no heed.

The carter, shouting his confession this time loudly, said, "I tell ye to your face, and you're a minister, that I don't believe there's ony heaven."

"Very well," said the clergyman, "if you do not believe there is a heaven go elsewhere, but please go quietly."—London Graphic.

One of the Lucky Ones.

A lady of title, an ardent motorist, is very unfortunate in the matter of spills. The other day, by no means for the first time, an engineer came to do various repairs to the motor.

The little girl of the house watched and then remarked:

"I think mamma's very unlucky with her motor, don't you?"

"Unlucky, did ye say?" replied the mechanic. "Why, no; not particularly unlucky. Her ladyship's alive, ain't she?"

"Yes, of course she is," said the girl.

"Well," was the rejoinder, with an expressive shake of the head, "lots of our customers ain't."

His Plausible Excuse.

Magistrate—This affair looks to me more like a common dog fight than a case of assault and battery. You claim that this man assaulted you and that you did not even try to defend yourself, yet he bears the marks of your teeth in three places. How do you account for that?

Plaintiff—Well, it was jest like this. He hurt me so when he was a-pounding of me that I had ter have sumthin' ter bite on, or I couldn't 'a' stood it.—Los Angeles Times.

East Indian Proverbs.

An old English proverb: "Cut your coat according to your cloth." The following is a similar proverb in India: "Look at your bed before stretching your legs on it." "Don't ask for sauce in a free boarding house," is another Indian proverb which is something like the English proverb, "Beggars must not be choosers."

A Person of Note.

Colonel White—Your son is quite a singer, isn't he, Busenbark? Brother Busenbark—Yassah! Yassah! 'Bleeged to yo' for axin'. Dat boy, sah, am suttingly de most malodorous cuiled pusson in dis whole town.—Puck.

Not Ducklike.

Mrs. Yeast—And did you at one time call your husband a duck? Mrs. Crimsonbeak—Oh, yes. That was before I found out that he'd never take to water!—Yonkers Statesman.

Heart Troubles

The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. It often happens that a person is born with a weak heart. Then again disease, fevers, over-exertion, anxiety, nervousness, rheumatism, etc. weaken the heart. The result is shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in the heart, or in some of the nerves of the chest or abdomen. The heart should be strengthened with a tonic, and for this nothing equals Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

"I had LaGrippe last fall as I thought in a mild form. I was weak, tired feeling, and short of breath; could hardly go about, and a good deal of the time sort of an asthmatic breathing and extremely nervous. I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine and now I feel so much better in every way. I am so thankful that I began taking this medicine, and shall not hesitate to tell others how much good it has done me."

A Friend in a Fog.

"In one of the worst London fogs," said an Englishman, "an old friend of mine tried to find his way from Trafalgar square to the Savoy, where he had an engagement to dine.

"The sulphurous air made the eyes smart and the head ache, and it brought on terrific fits of coughing. You could not literally see your hand before your face. There was a continual crashing in of windows, bells jangled, vehicles and foot passengers collided, and shrieks and oaths arose.

"Threading his way in the midst of this pandemonium through the Strand, as he supposed, from Landseer's lions to the waiting dinner at the Savoy, my old friend, to his great bewilderment, soon found himself descending a broad stairway. He put his hand to the balustrade. Yes, a broad and stately stairway with a rail of carved stone. Amazing!

"'Hello!' he said.

"'Hello!' a gruff male voice replied.

"'Can you tell me,' said my friend where I am going?

"'Certainly,' said the other. 'If you keep straight on you will walk into the Thames, for I am going off it.'"

CURE

Laxative for Women Free

There is a great difference in the purposes to which a laxative should be put. Tablets and pills, salts, etc., are usually violent purgatives or cathartics, and altogether too powerful for the average person.

A woman at all times needs only a mild laxative—in fact, none other is needed by anyone, weak or strong though they may be, for the object is simply to move the bowels, and if a gentle laxative will do it, what is the use of a violent one?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has earned a well-deserved vogue among women and children and old folks—people who must necessarily be careful of what they take.

It is a liquid laxative tonic and admittedly the greatest stomach, liver and bowel remedy before the American people. The price is only 50 cents or $1 a bottle, as it comes in both sizes, and all druggists sell it. Its pleasant taste and gentle action make it an ideal remedy for women in constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn and such like digestive complaints. Its use for a short time will remove the trouble entirely so that future medication will be unnecessary. Its tonic properties build up the stomach and intestinal muscles so that they act naturally again. That this is so is the experience of many heads of families, like Mrs. Brannan, of Alvarado, Va., Mrs. K. L. Stout, of Louisville, Ky., and numerous others; in fact, way out in Williams, Cal., as Mrs. J. E. Blackmore, of that place, writes, the whole town seems to be using it.

If the remedy is new to you and you want to make a trial of it before buying, send your name to the doctor's address as below and a free test bottle will be sent you. Then, if results are satisfactory you can buy it of your druggist.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Opie Read and the Upper Berth.

Opie Reed in his "Arkansaw Traveler Tales" tells this: A fat man had crawled into the berth above him and was heard talking to himself. "I don't mind getting up here," he said, "but I am always afraid for the fellow beneath me. Night before last the upper berth fell with me and broke the hip and shoulder of the man below. But it's not my fault; I do the best I can to get a lower. Poor chap, I guess he's asleep and will never know what hit him."

"Hold on," I cried. "I'll be hanged if I want to lie under a dead fall."

"I beg your pardon. Did you say something?"

"You are right. I said something. I'm not going to run the risk of staying here. You take this berth and let me get up there."

"Oh, don't let me dispossess you. Stay right where you are; it may not fall—sometimes doesn't."

"Sometimes doesn't! Here, let me get up there."

"Well, if you insist I"—

"Insist! I should think I do!"

I climbed the ladder and tossed pretty much all night. It was the porter who broke the news to me the next day of how I had been the victim of that fat man's guile.

A Very Indian Appeal.

The following appeal from India received by the lord mayor is printed in the City Press:

"May it please your lordship that I am very Indian, and I belong to the Brahman caste. Owing to my poverty and unhealthiness I cannot earn money by any profession. Including me, there are eight members in my large, poor and pitiable family—my paternal grandmother, my maternal grandmother, my mother, my aunt, myself, my wife, my first daughter, my second daughter. Moreover, I must perform marriage for my two daughters.

"So if I have at least £2,000 as a capital for my large, poor and pitiable family I can invest this amount in the safest bank and I can maintain my large, poor and pitiable family by the interest on this capital. So I must humbly request your lordship to regard me as your lordship's own son and send me at least £2,000 at your lordship's earliest convenience. I am in earnest. I am in earnest. I am in earnest."—London Standard.

In a Strange Land.

Two belated disciples of Bacchus staggered arm in arm up Walnut street about 3 o'clock the other morning. The street was dark except for a single ground glass globe that blazed in front of an apartment house. One of the inebriates, spying this lone light, observed:

"Oh, look at the moonsh!"

The other seriously contradicted him, saying:

"That ain't no moonsh; zash sun."

This started an argument, which lasted for several minutes, as to whether the globe was the moon or the sun. Finally they decided to leave it to the first passerby, who happened to be another "happy" gentleman. They stopped him and, pointing to the globe, asked:

"Settle an argument, old pal. Is that the moon or the sun?"

The third party stared knowingly at the globe for several minutes before he shook his head and replied:

"Gentlemen, I really couldn't tell you. I'm a stranger in this town."—Philadelphia Record.

If Silicon Were a Gas.

Whistler at West Point seems to have had a sort of subconscious knowledge of his destiny, and this gave him an utter indifference to everything not consonant with it. Here he was a failure. A direct statement in a class recitation that "silicon is a gas" discouraged his chemical instructor and was one of the final blows to his military career. As Whistler says himself, if silicon had only been a gas he might have become a major general. But the fates were against it.

Country Folk Are Tender With Birds.

Real country folk are very tender in their dealings with the birds that live near them. In the course of my experience, extending over many years, I have never known a case of wanton cruelty occur in regard to wild birds. The laboring man, whose work so often lies far from the haunts of men, seeks companionship with the birds. Of these none is more friendly than the robin, which is sure to appear, however lonely the place. — Cornhill Magazine.

Memorial to "Uncle Remus."

Atlanta, Ga., March 1.—"Snap Bean Farm and the Sign of the Wren's Nest," as Joel Chandler Harris styled his home, is to be purchased by the friends of "Uncle Remus" and presented to the public as a memorial to the author, it has been announced. The woman's auxiliary of the Uncle Remus Memorial association desires that the fund shall be procured from the children who have found delight in the writings of "Uncle Remus."

MAY BE GIRL'S SLAYER.

Man Arrested at Port Huron Answers Description.

Port Huron, Mich., March 1.—In the arrest of Robert Norton, thirty-six years old, supposedly a tramp, who claims a home in London, Ont., the local officers believe they have the man who is being looked for as the slayer of Ethel Kinraide, aged twenty-three, in Hamilton, Ont., last Thursday afternoon. The prisoner answers the description.

Shortly before Norton was arrested workmen in the Pere Marquette yards had routed him out of an empty freight car which was brought across the St. Clair river on the car ferry.

NOW ROOT'S WIFE WANTS DIVORCE.

Ann Arbor Couple Conduct Businesses In Competition.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 1.—The family war being waged by Frank M. Root against his wife, Minnie Root, has taken another turn. The latest development is a suit for divorce, which was begun by the woman.

Several days ago Root, who is one of the oldest music dealers in Ann Arbor, asked the local court for an injunction to restrain his wife, from whom he had been seperated since January, this year, from continuing a music store business on Maynard street. Root conducts his store on Liberty street.

The wife had already opened with a fine new stock, and she immediately prepared an answer to her husband's bill. Among several things Root alleged was that his wife had made life miserable for him by interfering with his business. He also said he needed her society and asked that she be compelled to return to him.

Mrs. Root, in her answer, alleges that when her husband started in business he had only $500 and that at the present time his stock inventoried over $20,000, the success of the business, she said, being due to her untiring efforts as a business overseer. She demands that her husband share the stock with her.

In her suit for divorce she avers that Root has been cruel to her.

SAVING OF THOUSANDS.

Representative Sanders Says It May Be Accomplished in Purchase of Supplies.

Lansing, Mich., March 1.—Representative Sanders of Ingham will introduce a bill next week providing for a central purchasing agent to have charge of the buying, with a single exception, of all supplies for all state institutions.

The only purchasing that the bill will leave to the superintendents of the several institutions is that of perishable commodities for table use.

Clark gives it as his conservative estimate that a competent man buying all the supplies can work a saving for the state of $100,000 annually.

The plan outlined in the bill is this:

The bids are to be made to and opened by a central purchasing board, which is to consist of the governor, auditor general and purchasing agent, and the contracts let to the lowest and best bidder.

STEADY PROGRESS SHOWN.

Officers of Carnegie Foundation Make Annual Report.

New York, March 1.—The third anual report of the president and treasurer of the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching, just made public here, shows steady progress in the work of that institution for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1908.

During the year seventy-eight names were added to the retiring allowance roll at a total cost of $113,765. This included pension to fifteen widows of professors. The geographical distribution of these allowances was general, from Maine to California. Two important changes were made in the rules of the Foundation during the year. The maximum amount of a retiring allowance was increased from $3,000 to $4,000, and the pension will be granted to the widow of a professor in an accepted institution who has for ten years been married to the professor, the pension to be one half of what the husband would have been entitled to receive.

The report of Treasurer Thomas Morrison Carnegie shows the present assets of the Foundation to be $10,762,953. The total income for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1908, was $530,305 and total expenditures $287,072, leaving an accumulation of $243,233.

DIES BEFORE A CRUCIFIX.

Young Girl Kills Herself in Dramatic Manner.

USES HER FATHER'S SHOTGUN

Vena Bothun, Living Near Traverse City, Takes Her Own Life While Parents Are Gone to Church—Reason For Deed Cannot Be Explained. Was In Good Health.

Traverse City, Mich., March 8.—Vena Bothun, nineteen years old, killed herself with her father's shotgun in the family home, two miles from Provement, French Catholic settlement near here, while the other members of the household were at church. Before pulling the trigger of the gun the young woman placed before her a crucifix, on which it is supposed she was gazing when the fatal moment arrived. The shot penetrated the heart.

Miss Bothun had no apparent reason for ending her life. She had always been happy, or at least she had never made complaint to the contrary. She had no love affairs, and friends and relatives say that despite her beauty and kind disposition she had never kept company with any of the young men of the vicinity. The girl was a devout church member and seldom failed to attend the Sunday services. She was in perfect health and, it is said, had never suffered any serious ailment.

Sunday, however, she told her mother that she did not care to attend the morning services. The other members of the family got ready and went to church. Three hours later, on their return, Mrs. Bothun, enteing the sitting room, found her daughter's lifeless body in a rocking chair. In front of her was the crucifix, and on the floor lay the shotgun. The girl had been dead about an hour.

Before firing the shot Miss Bothun carefully arranged the rocking chair near an old fashioned box stove. Then she placed a box at her feet. With a piece of wood fixed at the trigger, she sat down and, in a half erect position, pressed the wood, which pulled the trigger and set the gun in action. Her head fell backward in the chair.

An inquest will be held today.

CALVIN CROSBY DEAD.

Plymouth, Mich., March 8.—Calvin Brosby, sixty-nine years old, formerly a resident of this place, is dead at the home of his daughter in Athens, Pa. Mr. Crosby resided here until ten years ago. He was probably the best known man in this section at the time.

At one time he conducted a general store, was county treasurer for two terms and always took an active interest in the community's welfare.

DIES WHILE ON VISIT.

Detroit, Mich., March 8.—Copeley Cottrell, seventy-six years old, a prominent resident of Mt. Clemens, is dead at the home om John G. Bowd, 331 Selden avenue, this city, after a short illness from pneumonia, superinduced by Bright's disease.

Mr. Cottrell came here a few days ago to visit with friends. While at Mr. Boyd's home he was taken ill, and his condition would not permit of his removal to Mr. Clemens.

Went Back on His Word.

Detroit, Mich., March 8.—Clad in a United States army uniform, Henry Ciszewski, a Russian, twenty-two years old, occupies a cell in the county jail. He was arrested by Detective Buhrer at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, where he was stationed, and brought back on a warrant sworn out by Miss Katie Malkowski, 420 Willis avenue, east, who claims he promised to marry her, then went back on his word.

HONOR FOR FORAKER.

Montgomery (Ala.) Negroes Will Present Him Testimonial.

Montgomery, Ala., March 8.—A testimonial will be presented to former United States Senator Joseph B. Foraker by the negroes of Montgomery because of his championship of the negro troops involved in the Brownsville affair.

Collections have been taken in all of the negro churches and among the membership of the negro fraternities with which to purchase this testimonial.

KILLED NEAR WASHINGTON.

Walter Schultz Murdered While Attending Inauguration.

ROBBERY NOT THE MOTIVE.

Crime Was Committed at Alexandria, Va.—Mortal Wound In Back of Victim's Neck—Traveler's Check and Cards Lead to Identification—Has Sister Living in Sioux City.

Washington, March 8.—The body of a well dressed man, partially covered with snow and a ragged wound in the neck, has been found at Alexandria, Va., a short distance from Washington. In the pockets of the clothing were a traveler's check for $300 issued by the Wells-Fargo Express company at Los Angeles, Cal., payable to Walter F. Schultz, a card bearing the same name, with an address of 1314 Douglas street, Sioux City, Ia., and a card which bears the name of Mrs. Alma Hume Gillette.

The police regard the case as one of cold blooded murder and as one of the most mystifying crimes ever committed in this section. A motive for the murder is lacking.

The theory that the man committed suicide is not credited because of the peculiar character of the wound and the fact that no weapon of any sort was found near his body. The police also assert that it is improbable that robbery was the motive, as $28 in cash and a gold watch were found in the pockets of the victim.

The dead man was apparently thirty-five years old, and his appearance was that of a prosperous business man.

Sioux City, Ia., March 8.—Walter F. Schultz, the victim of the mysterious murder at Alexandria, Va., has a sister living in Sioux City. She is Mrs. Almore F. Gillette of 1314 Douglas street. She has been prostrated by the news of the fate of her brother. Schultz lived in Chicago, where his parents also lived.

According to Mrs. Gillette a description sent her of the dead man tallies exactly with that of her brother with the exception that his hair is jet black instead of brown. Schultz was an artist and has been traveling for his health. He was in Washington for the inauguration.

Mrs. Gillette went to Chicago today to break the news to her parents. O. F. Schultz is the father of the murdered man.

EUROPE VIA AIRSHIP

Lewis Nixon Sees Great Possibilities at Early Date.

New York, March 8.—Lewis Nixon, the well known ship builder, spoke interestingly of the possibilities of aerial navigation in an address at an annual dinner of the Richmond County Automobile club. He covered the whole subject from the earlier gliding machines and balloons to the present aeroplanes and dirigible balloons.

Cities would soon have regular landing stations on the tops of houses, Mr. Nixon said, and already people were building docks where airships might lie in safety.

Based upon observation and calculations made from results already obtained and hence in no sense speculative it was safe to predict, Mr. Nixon declared, that the airship would soon appear with a length of from 2,500 to 3,000 feet, which could easily go with 100 passengers from here to Europe and return within a week.

LOEB LEAVES TODAY.

Washington, March 8.—William Loeb, Jr., who was named by President Taft as collector of the port of New York, left Washington today. He will take charge of the New York customs house Tuesday morning.

Mr. Loeb has been detained here superintending the removal of some of Mr. Roosevelt's personal effects and their shipment to Oyster Bay.

SHOOTS HUSBAND.

Norwich (N. Y.) Woman Then Kills Herself.

Norwich, N. Y., March 8.—Mrs. H. C. Jacobs of this place has shot her husband in the head, inflicting serious injuries, and shot and fatally wounded herself. She survived only a few hours, but her husband will probably live, though he will be blind for life.

Jealousy was the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jacobs left a letter to the public, in which she accused another woman of alienating her husband's affections and wrecking her home.

Jacobs is a cigarmaker and was a leader in labor union circles.

TAKE MANY WEEKS' WORK

No Constitutional Restriction in Revision of Tariff.

LONG WAIT FOR THE SENATE.

Bill Must First Be Created by Ways and Means Committee—Other Legislation May Be Considered During Waiting Periods—Much Strife to Get on House Committee.

Washington, March 8.—When congress meets on the 15th instant upon the call of the president to consider a revision of the tariff there will be no constitutional restriction upon the nature of business that may be transacted. It is generally conceded that at least two months will be required for the house of representatives to conclude consideration of all the schedules involved in this legislation.

The house itself will not receive the bill for some weeks, as the committee on ways and means will require considerable time to report the measure. During this long period the senate will have nothing to do in respect to the tariff, and even after the bill leaves the house it will be in the hands of the committee on finance for some time before the senate actually gets possession of it and the debate begins. Then will begin a long wait by the house of representatives until the senate amendments can be known and conferees appointed to bring about an agreement upon them.

This proceedure will result in each house having to remain in session with nothing to do in relation to the tariff covering a period of a couple of months. Three days is the extent of a recess that may be taken by either body.

In view of the extended period of inactivity that would face each house should nothing be considered except the tariff many senators are considering the advisability of entering upon other legislation which they believe ought to be passed in time to send it over to the house when that body has disposed of its bills and will only have to wait for senate action on the tariff.

The extra session is sure to bring forth a deluge of bills.

As the ways and means committee of the house will have the important duty of reporting the new tariff bill, there is keen rivalry among members of the house for appointments to fill the three vacancies on the committee.

PARTIES MAY UNITE.

Harmony In Cuba Is the Apparent Outlook.

Havana, March 8.—At the end of a protracted session a joint committee of Miguelistat and Zayaistas has agreed to the preliminary terms for the fusion of the two factions under the title of the Liberal party. The committee decided to submit the matter to the national assemblies of both factions.

The amicable agreement is considered of vital importance, indicating, as it does, the establishment of complete harmony between President Gomez and Vice President Zayas and the removal of the possibility of grave dissensions which constituted one of the most serious dangers to the success of the new government.

SHE AGAIN SAID "NO."

Rejected Lover Thereupon Shoots Women He Would Marry.

Pittsburg, March 8.—Waking at 4 o'clock in the morning at her home in Beaver, thirty miles west of here, Mrs. Mamie McKee, a widow, found William G. Wilner, a rejected suitor, standing at her bedside, and when she declared again, in answer to his question, that she did not love the man he fired four bullets into her head.

Wilner then killed himself by taking poison and shooting himself. Mrs. McKee is living, with no possible chance of recovery. Wilner was twenty-six years old, and his victim is thirty.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

The Leo Bros.' saw mill at Traverse City has burned to the ground. The origin of the fire is unknown. Damage in the sum of $3,000 was done.

While Mrs. Frank Gould of Caro was returning to her home a bold thief walked up to her and snatched her pocketbook. He then made his escape. The officers were notified, and a few hours later James Cassell was arrested. The man confessed.

While playing on the ice in the slip back of their uncle's home, at Marine City, Patrick and Jerry Thomas, aged three and four years, respectively, broke through and were drowned before any assistance could reach them. The bodies were recovered.

MRS. TAFT IS IN FULL CHARGE.

New Mistress of White House Well Qualified.

Washington, March 8.—Mrs. William Howard Taft, "first lady of the land," is already making the minor changes in the administration of the executive mansion necessary to meet her own ideas. That these ideas will meet with general approval when they are understood is a confident prediction.

The addition of the executive office building permits of an entire divorcement of the official business of the president from the White House proper, and this added facility is to be availed of to the full extent. The rights of the public are recognized by the maintenance of the hour from noon until 1 o'clock, when admission is granted through the east entrance to the historic east room and the parlors of the mansion.

Mrs. Taft has abolished the position of steward and will conduct her domestic arrangements through a woman housekeeper.

While the season of prescribed official dinners are over, it may be predicted that the new tenant of the White House will conduct a series of informal social functions during the special session of congress.

Mrs. Taft is forty-six years of age. She possesses an analytical mind, is naturally domestic, is an ardent lover of her husband and takes upon herself without comment or hesitation the entire responsibility of her position.

TO CHURCH AND BACK.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Walk Sunday, Covering Six Miles.

Oyster Bay, March 8.—Further evidence that former President Theodore Roosevelt is leading the simple life in every respect was furnished Sunday, when Mr. Roosevelt and his wife came through the slush and snow to church.

It was with his usual rapid stride that Colonel Roosevelt swung along, and Mrs. Roosevelt had difficulty in keeping pace with him. Both were in their pew at Christ Episcopal church ten minutes before the hour scheduled for services. On the way they met many of their neighbors and chatted with them.

The Roosevelt family left the church before the services were quite over, and in that way the former president escaped receiving the greetings of those present. He and Mrs. Roosevelt walked the three miles back to Sagamore Hill.

LEAPS FROM WINDOW.

Naval Lieutenant Reid Attempts Suicide While Ill in Hospital.

Washington, March 8.—Lieutenant Commander James H. Reid, U. S. N., leaped from a second story window of the naval hospital, where for two weeks he has been under treatment, and is seriously, if not fatally injured.

The attending surgeon discovered that aside from lacerations of the face and head the officer had suffered a serious fracture of the collar bone and concussion of the brain.

Reid is thirty-five years old, a native of Baltimore, and he received his appointment in the naval service from the state of Maryland.

AVALANCHE KILLS.

Vienna, March 8.—An avalanche has destroyed a workman's shelter at Sankt Johan, in the Pongua district of Salzsburg, killing twenty-seven persons. Fifteen bodies have been recovered.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's catarrh is the only positive cure now known to the fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address:

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderfully merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensable and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

The things that are bad for one to eat have a mean way of tasting so much better than those the doctor says you may help yourself to liberally.

This is the most dangerous time of the year to catch cold, and it is the hardest time to cure it. If you should take a cold, a few doses of Kennedy Laxative Cough Syrup will act very promptly. Its laxative principle cures the cold by driving it from the system by a gentle but natural action of the bowels. Children especially like Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup, as it tastes so good, nearly like maple sugar. It is sold by all druggists.

A Religious Author's Statement

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." Sold by all druggists.

THE BARRIER

About ten years.

"Then Miss Necia was born out in the States?"

Gale shot a startled glance at the soldier before he answered in the affirmative, but Burrell was studying a pattern of sunlight on the floor and did not observe him. A moment later he inquired hesitatingly:

"Is this your first marriage, Mr. Gale?" When the other did not answer he looked up and quickly added:

"I beg your pardon, sir. What led me to ask was Miss Necia. She is so—well, she is such a remarkable girl."

Gale's face had undergone a change, but he answered quietly:

"I ain't never been married."

"What?"

"When I took Alluna it wasn't the style, and neither one of us has thought much about it since."

"Oh, I see," exclaimed Burrell hurriedly. "I'll bring that list with me the first time I think about it." And, nodding amiably, he sauntered out. But his mind was in a whirl, and even after he had reached his quarters he found himself repeating:

"The other was bad enough. Poor little girl! Poor little girl!"

Gale likewise left the store and went into his house, the odd look still strong in his eyes, to find Necia posing in her new regalia for Poleon's benefit. At sight of her he fell into a strange and unexpected humor and to their amazement commanded her roughly to take the things off. His voice and manner were harsh and at utter variance with any mood he had ever displayed before.

CHAPTER IV.

THE SOLDIER FINDS AN UNTRODDEN VALLEY.

MEADE BURRELL had experienced a profound sense of pity for Necia upon learning her father's relation to Alluna, but this also largely vanished when he found that the girl was entirely oblivious to its significance. He had tried her in many subtle ways and found that she regarded the matter innocently, as customary, and therefore in the light of an accepted convention, nor did she seem to see anything in her blood or station to render her inferior to other women. She questioned him tirelessly about his sister, and he was glad of this, for it placed no constraint between them.

As for her, each day brought a keener delight. She unfolded before the Kentucklan like some beautiful woodland flower and through innumerable, unnoticed familiarities took him into her innermost confidence.

A month of this went by, and then Runnion returned. He came on an upgoing steamer. The manner of his coming was bold, for he stood fairly upon the ship's deck, and his smile was evil now, as it had been before. With him was a stranger. When the boat was at rest Runnion sauntered down the gangplank and up to the lieutenant, who stood above the landing place and who noted that the scar, close up against his hatband, was scarce healed. He accosted the officer with an insolent assurance.

"Well, I'm back again, you see, and I'm back to stay."

"Very well, Runnion. Did you bring an outfit with you?"

"Yes, and I'm pretty fat besides." He shook a well laden gold sack at the officer.

"Be sure it isn't," retorted the lieutenant, "because it would please me right down to the ground if it were. I'd like to get you."

"I'm glad we understand each other," Runnion said, falling into conversation with the stranger, who had been surveying the town without leaving the boat. Evidently this man had a voice in Runnion's affairs, for he not only gave him instructions, but bossed the crew who handled his merchandise, and Meade Burrell concluded that he must be some incoming tenderfoot who had grub staked the desperado to prospect in the hills back of Flambeau. As the two came up past him he saw that he was mistaken. This man was no more of a tenderfoot than Runnion. On the contrary, he had a bearing of one to whom new countries are old, who had trod the edge of things all his life. There was a hint of the meat eating animal about him. His nose was keen and hawk-like, his walk and movements those of the predatory beast, and as he passed by Burrell observed that his eyes were of a peculiar cruelty that went well with his thin lips. He was older by far than Runnion; but, while the latter was mean visaged and swaggering, the stranger's manner was noticeable for its repression.

Impelled by an irresistible desire to learn something about the man, the lieutenant loitered after Runnion and his companion and entered the store in time to see the latter greet "No Creek" Lee, the prospector, who had come into town for more food. Both men spoke with quiet restraint.

"Nine years since I saw you, Stark," said the miner. "Where you bound?"

"Mining now?"

"No; same old thing, but I'm grub staking a few men, as usual. One of them stays here. I may open a house in Dawson if the camp is as good as they say it is."

"This here's a good place for you."

Stark laughed noiselessly and without mirth. "Fine! There must be a hundred people living here."

"Never mind; you take it from me," said the miner positively, "and get in now on the quiet. There's something doing." His one sharp eye detected the lieutenant close by, so he drew his friend aside and began talking to him earnestly and with such evident effect as to alter Stark's plans on the moment, for when Runnion entered the store shortly Stark spoke to him quickly, following which they both hurried back to the steamer and saw to the unloading of much additional freight and baggage. From the volume and variety of this merchandise it was evident that Mr. Stark would in nowise be a burden to the community.

Burrell was not sufficiently versed in the ways of mining camps to know exactly what this abrupt change of policy meant, but that there was something in the air he knew from the mysterious manner of "No Creek" Lee and from the suppressed excitement of Doret and the trader. His curiosity got the better of him finally, and he fell into talk with Lee, inquiring about the stranger by way of an opening.

"That's Ben Stark. I knew him back in the Cassiar country," said Lee.

"Is he a mining man?"

"Well, summat. He's made and lost a bank roll that a greyhound couldn't leap over in the minin' business, but it ain't his reg'lar graft. He run one of the biggest places in the northwest for years."

"Saloon, eh?"

"Saloon and variety house—seven bartenders, that's all. He's the feller that killed the gold commissioner. Of course that put him on the hike again."

"How do you mean?"

"Well, he had a record as long as a sick man's drug bill before he went into that country, and when he put the commissioner away them Canadian officials went after him like they was killin' snakes, and it cost him all he had made to get clear. If it had happened across the line the coroner's jury would have freed him, 'cause the commissioner was drunk and started the row. But it happened right in Stark's saloon, and you know Canucks is stronger than vitriol for law and order. Not bein' his first offense, it went hard with him."

"He looks like a killer," said Burrell.

"Yes, but he ain't the common kind. He always lets the other man begin, and therefore he ain't ever done time."

"Come, now," argued the lieutenant, "if it were the other man who invariably shot first, Stark would have been killed long ago."

"I don't care what would have happened, it ain't happened, and he's got notches on his gun till it looks like a cub bear had chawed it. If you was a western man you'd know what they say about him. 'The bullet ain't been run to kill him.' That's the sayin'. You needn't grin. There's many a better man than you believes it."

"Who is it that the bullet hasn't been run to kill?" said the trader's deep voice behind them. He had finished with his duties and now sauntered forward.

"Ben Stark," said Lee, turning. "You know him, John?"

"No; I never saw him, but I know who he is; used to hear of him in the Coeur d'Alenes."

"That's him I was talking to," said the miner. "He's an old friend of mine, and he's going to locate here."

Burrell thought he saw Lee wink at the trader, but he was not sure, for at that moment the man of whom they were speaking re-entered. Lee introduced him, and the three men shook hands. While the soldier fell into easy conversation with the newcomer, Gale gazed at him narrowly, studying him as he studied all men who came as strangers. As he was doing so Alluna entered, followed by Johnny and Molly. She had come for sugar and asked for it in her native tongue. Upon her exit Stark broke off talking to the lieutenant and turned to the trader.

"Your squaw, Mr. Gale?"

The old man nodded.

"Pah-Ute, eh?"

"Yes. Why, do you savvy the talk?"

"Some. I lived in California once."

"Where?" The question came like a shot.

"Oh, here and there! I followed the mother lode for a spell."

"I don't recall the name," said the trader after a bit.

"Possibly. Where were you located?"

"I never lit on any one place long enough to call it home."

It seemed to Burrell that both men were sparring cautiously in an indirect, impersonal manner.

"Yes, and I got another one besides—older, a girl."

"All of them half breeds?" questioned Stark.

"Sure." The trader's answer was short, and when the other showed no intention of pressing the subject further he sauntered away, but no sooner was he out of hearing than Stark said: "Humph! They're all alike."

"Who?"

"Squaw men."

"This one ain't," Lee declared. "He's different. Ain't he, lieutenant?"

"He certainly is," agreed Burrell. This was the first criticism he had heard of Necia's father, and, although Stark volunteered no argument, it was plain that his opinion remained unaffected.

The old man went through the store at the rear and straightway sought Alluna. Speaking to her with unwonted severity in the Pah-Ute language, he said:

"I have told you never to use your native tongue before strangers. That man in the store understands."

"I only asked for sugar to cook the berries with," she replied.

"True, but another time you might say more; therefore the less you speak it the better.—He is the kind who sees much and talks little. Address me in Siwash or in English unless we are alone."

Suddenly she dropped her work and came close up to him. "Can he be the one?"

"I don't know. Stark is not the name, but he might have changed it. He had reasons enough."

"Who is this man Stark?"

"I don't know that either. I used to hear of him when I was in British Columbia."

"But surely you must know if he is the same. She must have told you how he looked. Others must have told you"—

Gale shook his head. "Very little. I could not ask her, and others knew him so well they never doubted that I had seen him, but this much I do know, he was dark"—

"This man is dark."

—"and his spirit was like that of a mad horse"—

"This man's temper is black."

—"and his eyes were cruel."

"This man has evil eyes."

"He lacked five years of my age," said the trader.

"This man is forty years old. It must be he," said the squaw.

Even Necia would have marveled had she heard this revelation of her father's age, for his hair and brows were grizzled, and his face had the look of a man of sixty, while only those who knew him well, like Doret, were aware of his great strength and the endurance that belied his appearance.

"We will send Necia down to the mission tonight and let Father Barnum keep her there till this man goes," said the squaw after some deliberation.

"No; she must stay here," Gale replied, with decision. "The man has come here to live, so it won't do any good to send her away, and, after all,

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., March 6, 1909.

Inauguration day, the fourth of March, has long been notorious for inclement weather, but the fourth of March, 1909, the day of President Taft's induction to office, attained a climax of elemental violence. Never before had such preparation been made for inauguration ceremonies. More money had been expended than on any previous occasion for street and stand decoration, for fireworks and for the inaugural ball. Every prospect pleased and only the weather was vile. A blizzard set in the night before the fourth and raged with increasing violence until after the time for the President and the President-elect to proceed to the Capitol. It was pitiful to see thousands of soldiers and visitors making an effort, in spite of the elements to see a parade that did not form or march. The banked seats and chairs that lined the south side of Pennsylvania Avenue by the thousand were vacant. The Avenue was deep in snow and slush. Water and snow, mixed, at the curb was from four to six inches deep.

At the appointed hour, President Roosevelt and President-elect Taft drove down the Avenue in a closed carriage, escorted by a troop of dragoons. They drove rapidly and reached the Capitol in good time. The President-elect took the oath and instead of reading his address from the East front of the Capitol where an elaborate temporary platform and provision for seating two or three thousand people had been made, he read it in the Senate Chamber. After this ceremony, ex-President Roosevelt rose to go and taking President Taft by the hand, bade him goodbye and good luck. The President put his hand on Roosevelt's shoulder and Roosevelt responded and the President and ex-President embraced like brothers. This spontaneous, unrehearsed, impressive leave taking caught the sympathy of the audience and there was approving applause from the floor and the gallery. Ex-President Roosevelt had an ovation as he went to the Union Station, only three blocks distant from the Capitol and there taking a seat with his family in the car, went to New York for the first time in eight years as a private citizen.

The Inaugural Ball was the only successful public fete of the inauguration ceremonies. It was well attended—in fact crowded, although the admission was $5 for every man and woman. There was but little dancing. All interest centered in the appearance of President Taft, who with Mrs. Taft and the managers of the ball, made an entire circuit of the immense hall in a roped off space and then proceeded to an enclosure in the balcony where the party was, for an hour, the cynosure of all eyes.

* * *

There is more emphatic talk than ever before about changing the inauguration date from March the fourth to April the 30th, or to the last Thursday in April. Of course, there is no assurance that there may not be occasional rain on this later date, but it will be almost certainly not be cold rain or snow and absolutely certain no such blizzard as was experienced at this inauguration. There have been spasmodic efforts to change the inauguration date from the boisterous season of early March to the later and more salubrious season, but there has always been some Congressional crank or cynic to object and such salutary change as would be possible and easy under a benign despotism appears to be next to impossible when it depends on three or four hundred members of Congress pulling at cross purposes. This seems to be the curse of democracy in more ways than one. What is everybody's business is nobody's business and what is nobody's business is everybody's business to mar and wreck.

* * *

There seems to be very general approval of President Taft's inaugural address. There is nothing startling in his administrative or legislative program as announced. That he would uphold the Roosevelt Policies was expected. He was chosen and elected to maintain them. He comes into office with a clean slate; with probably many friends to reward but it is to be hoped with no enemies to punish. It is evident that although he has adopted the Roosevelt policies, he is determined not to estrange from himself and his administration the Roosevelt enemies. His administration is begun with reciprocal good feeling between himself and the national Congress. Members of the Ananias Club have already been invited to dine at the White House and it is believed that the well known geniality and bonhomme of the President will have an effect to oil the gudgeons of politics which have ground and grated somewhat creakingly during the strenuous regime of his predecessor.

* * *

Of course the most important part of the inaugural address is that which announced that Congress will be called in extra session March the 15th to revise the tariff. This prompt keeping of a pre-election pledge is praise worthy, though expected. The tariff must be revised, for as it stand it is the cause of many conflicts in monopoly and restraint of trade which will not disappear until the schedules have been revised. Government revenues are falling off. A deficit of 140 millions is looming up.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Brights or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

A Wedding Decoration.

Whether it was a mistake or a joke or simply an example of bad taste is a question that is still puzzling most of the passengers. But no matter about that. It certainly was a floral masterpiece. Full four feet it stood from the ground, in the form of a cross. Roses white and roses red composed the body of the cross, and dainty white blossoms and green leaves formed the trimmings. In the center the word "Peace" was spelled out in rosebuds.

Everybody in the car admired the offering, and when the boy set it down on the floor all leaned forward to examine it more closely. At length one old gentleman stood up and readjusted his glasses in order to get a better look at it.

"That is a mighty pretty posy you've got there," he said. "Who, may I ask, is dead?"

The boy giggled.

"Nobody 't I know of," he said. "This ain't for a funeral; it's for a wedding."

The old gentleman sat down heavily.

"Good Lord!" he said. "What idiot ever ordered 'Peace' inscribed on a wedding decoration?"

The rest of the passengers smiled, and many of them, being married, wondered as well, but nobody ventured an explanation.—New York Times.

Death and Snuff.

A certain Margaret Wilson of Westminster, who was an inveterate snuff taker, enjoined that a quantity of Scotch snuff should be placed in her coffin. She also ordered that the arrangements connected with her funeral should be as follows: "Six men to be my bearers who are known to be the greatest snuff takers in the parish of St. James, Westminster. Instead of mourning, each to wear a snuff colored beaver hat, which I desire may be bought for the purpose and given to them. Six maidens of my old acquaintance to bear my pall, each to carry a box filled with the best Scotch snuff, to take for their refreshment as they go along." Snuff was also to be thrown on the threshold of deceased's dwelling before the cortege passed out, snuff was to be strewn on the ground at every twenty yards in advance of the coffin, and the officiating clergyman's fee was to be proportionate to the quantity of snuff he consumed during the ceremony.—London Globe.

What the Peruvians Believed.

A unique idea of the future state was that of the ancient Peruvians. As the disembodied soul winged its way to eternity it encountered two rocks, upon one of which it must needs rest. The choice was determined by the morality of the life in the flesh. If it rested upon the left hand rock it was instantly translated to "Po," or oblivion, a state analogous to the Nirvana of the orient. If through early misdeeds, however, the unhappy spirit was guided to the right hand rock it entered into a purgatorial hell where fiends grated away the flesh from all the bones in succession, after which the skeleton was reclothed and sent back to earth for another try. There was no haste about this grating process. It took something over 10,000 years.

Natural History.

"Whah is you been workin'?" asked Miss Miami Brown.

"Up to one o' deshere garridges whar dey keep de automobiles."

"Well, de diff'unce is dat a mule kicks wif his hin' feet an' de automobile is mo' li'ble to butt same as a goat."—Washington Star.

From James A. LeRoy's "Taft as Administrator" in the March Century.

To say that Mr. Taft looks upon life as a process of self-adjustment, and up on government as a reconciliation of conflicting aims and interests, would, I think, express his attitude fairly. To him a person is not wholly good or wholly bad, a course of action is not perfectly ideal or utterly to be condemned. He has no such crude view of men and measures. He knows that every man is a mixture of good and bad, with one or the other perhaps predominating.

THEY INJURE CHILDREN

Ordinary Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physic Cause Distressing Complaints.

You cannot be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are too apt to do more harm than good. They cause griping, nausea and other distressing after effects that are frequently health destroying and a life-lasting annoyance.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as the safest and most dependable remedy for constipation and associate bowel disorders. We have such absolute faith in the supreme virtues of this remedy that we sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies contain an entirely new ingredient which is odorless, tasteless and colorless. It embraces all the best qualities of the soothing, laxative, strengthening and healing remedial active principles of the best known intestinal regulator tonics.

Rexall Orderlies are extremely pleasant to take, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very natural action upon the glands and organs with which they come in contact, act as a positive and regulative tonic upon the relax, dry muscular coat of the bowel, remove irritation, dryness and soreness, overcome weakness, and tone and strengthen the nerves and muscles, and restore the bowels and associate organs to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies not only cure constipation, but they remove the cause of this ailment. They also overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition.

There is really no similar medicine so good as Rexall Orderlies, especially for children, aged and delicate persons. They are prepared in tablet form and in two sizes of packages; 12 tablets, 10c., and 36 tablets, 25c. B. J. Pulver, the druggist.

The Yorkshireman.

There is a characteristic glimpse of Yorkshire "downrightness" in the published reminiscences of an English clergyman:

At my institution to Upham a retired colonial bishop, about to take an English benefice, said: "Well, you and I have worked both in north and south. In what points do you consider that they differ?" "Oh, my lord," I answered, "I can soon tell you that. If a Yorkshireman thinks you a fool he comes and tells you so to your face. Down here they go and tell somebody else." "You have exactly hit it," said the bishop. "The difference could not be better described."

A groom being asked how long he lived in the south replied, "Twenty years." "What! Have you, a Yorkshireman, lived twenty years down here and not made your fortune?" "Eh," answered the man, "but measter were Yarkshire too."

Nothing Funny About It.

Scene—A druggist's shop in a small Scotch village, which, as usual with druggists' shops similarly situated, is the general emporium for all sorts of merchandise. Cycling tourist enters and purchases a cigar, after lighting which he attempts to draw the proprietor into conversation, but the latter seems reticent.

The tourist, after passing some remarks on the weather, asked, "Don't you feel trade dull at times in this little village, chemist?"

"Oh, well," replied the druggist, "I canna complain. But, excuse me, maister. I dinna alloo smokin' in my shop."

"Indeed!" said the tourist. "That is strange. You sell tobacco and cigars and still don't permit smoking in your shop. It is really rather funny."

"Ou, man," was the reply, "there's naething funny aboot it. I sell arsenic, but I dinna alloo ye to commit suicide in my shop!"

Barbers and Surgeons.

John Le Barbour was the first master of the Honorable Company of Barbers six centuries ago. At one time the barbers and the surgeons preyed upon the public in loving brotherhood and settled their family quarrels under the roof of one hall. By an agreeable arrangement the community was to be "bled" on a system which forbade the surgeon to cut hair, shampoo or shave and required the barber to proceed no further in the art of healing than the extraction of teeth and "cupping." But as the surgeons grew in the social scale they sighed for relief from their lowlier brethren and built a hall and formed a guild of their own, magnanimously handing over the joint home in Monkwell street to the barbers.—London Standard.

Walking Under a Ladder.

A correspondent of the Boston Globe gives this explanation of the old superstition against walking under a ladder: "In former days, when hanging was done after a more primitive and simple fashion than it is today, the victim had generally to pass under the ladder which stood against the gallows for the convenience of the execution, and he passed under that ladder with the fair certainty of being immediately hanged. What the unhappy criminal could not avoid the average pedestrian avoids today, even at the expense of his polished boots, by turning into the roadway."

Tea Made of White Hair.

"This is white hair you are drinking," said the Chinese undersecretary.

"White hair! Nonsense! It is delicious tea."

The undersecretary laughed in his lilac brocade sleeve. "No, white hair," he insisted. "White hair—that is, in my language, for pekoe means white hair. This tea is called pekoe because its leaves were gathered so young that the white downy hairs still grew on them."—Exchange.

The Lurid Glow Of Doom

was seen in the red face, hands and body of the little son of H. M. Adams, of Henrietta, Pa. His awful plight from eczema had, for five years, defied all remedies and baffled the best doctors, who said the poisoned blood had affected his lungs and nothing could save him. "But," writes his mother, "seven bottles of Electric Bitters completely cured him." For Eruptions, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Sores and all Blood Disorders and Rheumatism, Electric Bitters is supreme. Only 50c. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son's druggists.

PATRIOTIC CONCERT.

The Patriotic concert under the auspices of Y. P. C. U., at the Universalist church Sunday evening, was an enjoyable affair, not with standing several disappointments on the program due to the epidemic of measles which necessitated recruiting the program at short notice.

The church was simply but effectively decorated with large flags. And an appreciative audience which taxed the capacity of the church assembled early to listen to the program which follows:

Organ Voluntary.
Doxology and Lord's Prayer.
Scripture readings and Invocation
Response by the c r.
Greetings for the G. A. R and Ladies of the Auxiliary, by the pastor.
Music, "Heroes of Years Gone By," Choir.
Rec, "God Bless Our Land"—Vera Sisson.
Rec, "An Every Day Dolly"—Ella Mathias.
Rec., "George Washington," in costume—Wyrle Linton.
Choir, Liberty's Chieftain.
A class exercise "Nine Great Years in the Life of Washington," with song, "Mt. Vernon Bells."
Rec, "The Good Old Times"—Ralph Hodgee.

Rec, "Living Monuments"—Gladys Packard.
Choir, Just Before the Battle Mother.

Miss Rogers of Adrian then gave, in a flawless manner, her prize oration, "Senator Thurston's Appeal for Cuba," applause.

After which, Miss Young called on Hon. J. D. Shull for remarks on the topic of the evening, which were received with applause.

Offertory Mendelshon's "Consolation."
Benediction. Closed with one stanza of America.

The music for the occasion was in charge of Miss McKinney assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harding, and was exceptionally enjoyable throughout, especially the opening voluntary by the organist, Mrs. Latham, and the quartette, Just Before the Battle Mother.

Eleanor Hallowell Abbott has a story in the March Everybody's that for intensity and quality of emotion will take a lot to match. It is called "Woman's Only Business"—but it is for men, too. "The Title Market," Emily Post's great Italian-American novel, goes into its second instalment. Particularly at this time it seems to meet the general demand for stories about Italy from the very standpoint that Mrs. Post has taken. There are other noteworthy stories in this number: Rowland Thomas's "Octopodousa Ferox," George Randolph Chester's delightful tale, "The Postponed Romance"; and the humorous vein is filled to the brim by "The Need of Change," Julian Street's inimitable description of an American's predicament while visiting in England, and "What Doheeny Done," by Porter Emerson Browne. Burges Johnson and Lydia Schuyler contribute verses, and there are "Little Stories of Real Life" by Harriet Whitney Durbin and Georgina S. Townsend.

JACKSON CORSET COMPANY

Committee from Jackson met the Business Men here last Wednesday.

The Committee appointed by President North of the Business Men's Association met Secretary Stiles and Superintendent Coldwell of the Jackson Corset Co., on Tuesday afternoon. They discussed at considerable length the requirements which would be imposed upon any community in which they located.

They were taken to the available factory locations and were also shown thru the new Brewer and Anthony establishments.

Both of the gentlemen expressed their surprise at the magnitude of these institutions, and expressed their favorable impression of the village as a whole, their only criticism being their reiterated surprise at the absence of a sewer amongst the village improvements.

They explained to the Committee, the necessity of perfect sanitation in their particular line of business because goods, such as theirs, worn close to the body must be made in an unquestionablyly clean and sanitary factory, their institution in Jackson being a model in this important particular.

Taken all in all the Committee have reason to hope that judgement regarding the proposed branch will be in favor of Tecumseh, and it will be an assistance to them if any women or girls in Tecumseh, or surrounding country, who wish remunerative employment at cleanly work, will leave their names with either Mr. S W. Anderson or Mr. Theodore Harris.

SUMMER CHAUTAUQUA

Club Women of Tecumseh Making an Effort to Secure a Summer Chautauqua.

An effort is being made by some of the club women of the twon to interest the citizens generally in a Summer Chautauqua to be held here this summer as is being done in Hillsdale, Hudson and Adrian. In Adrian the Business Men's Association are taking it up and doing what they can to make it successful and what Adrian and Hudson can do may not be impossible for us. Many of the smaller cities of the state have in the last few years tried this experiment and found it satisfactory, intellectually and financially.

It is not proposed to do this through a lecture bureau making the expenses greater, but by private means—a sufficient number of stockholders being secured. Of the one held last year at Richmond, Ind., and which was promoted by the same gentleman who would undertake one for us it is said:

"Our speakers are chosen from various parts of our land and from across the ocean and will come to us with messages upon various subjects that are in the eye of the public today."

No where is the public treated to the free and open addresses upon live subjects as upon the Chautauqua platform and the reason is that the Chautauqua platform is the people's platform and is not controlled by any body or clique political or religious. It furnishes the public more clean wholesome amusement, good music, and elevating instructive lectures and addresses than can be had in any other way for many times the cost."

The plan is to have a ten days tent meeting with three sessions a day—to which tickets to the whole program may be had for a small sum.

If Hudson with no larger population than Tecumseh has can do this why can not we try it. Is it not something which our Business Men's Association could carry on, and might it not prove as successful intellectually and financially as Base Ball.

DESPONDENT

Mrs. Nettie Meyers Formerly of Tecumseh Attempted Suicide.

Will probably recover.

Despondent because of family troubles Mrs Doc Meyers, formerly of Tecumseh, now living with her daughter Mrs. Jay Howell of Macon, tried to commit suicide by cutting her throat with a razor Saturday.

She was found in an unconcious condition by her daughter and she at once called for aid. Dr. Lusty of Britton, responded and made the woman as comfortable as possible. It is thought she will recover. The gash was so large that there were twenty-six stitches required. The reason assigned for the deed is a general melancholia over the fact that Mrs Meyers, who was formerly Mrs. Nettie Hendershott, and her present husband had trouble and are now suing for a divorce.

"VAUDEVILLE"

The Lyric Amusement Co. presented a big bill at the New Bradley last Friday evening, the house being packed for both performances. The Japanese family in their feats of juggling, balancing, foot-juggling and magic were extremely good and their work was pleasing to all. Lieut Eldridge, the sand man with his pictures made from colored sands, delighted the large audience.

Miss Blanche Tedrow delightfully sang "Somebody that You know and I know too." Floyd Williams, the 310 pound Fluffy Ruffles was very amusing.

SUPERINTENDENT

Of the Tecumseh Public Schools Has Been Chosen.

The Board of Education has just elected Prof. Donald P. McAlpine of Ann Arbor as Superintendent of Tecumseh Public Schools. Prof. McAlpine has been teaching assistant at Michigan University for part year and was invited to remain at that institution. But after the board had carefully examined the credentials of 48 applicants for the position, they decided that Mr. McAlpine was the man needed in Tecumseh.

He is a young man of highest character, great force and marked ability, well known as a successful educator and superintendent, and one who comes strongly endorsed and heartily recommended by the university authorities and many others.

It is an assured fact that Tecumseh schools will continue to be cleared as one of the very best in the state with such a man as superintendent.

A CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Tecumseh Readers.

For months Tecumseh citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Tecumseh residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elasped if the personal eperience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time. The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Tecumseh reader.

Mrs. Sarah E. Austin, Pearl St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "About three years ago I was suffering from kidney trouble and rheumatism. I had severe pains in the small of my back and the kidney secretions passed so frequently as to cause me great annoyance. When someone told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and they helped me so much that I continued their use. I have taken this remedy since when my kidneys have troubled me and I have always found the best of results. I willingly allow my name to be used again in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

For Sale by all Dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sole Agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

TO ENCOURAGE ORATORY.

Big Rapids High '08 Class Donates Handsome Silver Cup.

Big Rapids, Mich., March 8.—The Big Rapids high school class of 1908, one of the most noteworthy ever graduated here and one composed of by far the greater majority of boys, something unusual in high school classes, has just added one more significant act to its list of deeds by which it will be long remembered by the purchase of a large silver cup costing $50, which will be presented to the school at its annual oratorical contest in April, and it is designed for the encouragement of oratory among the classes, something which until last year received little attention.

NEWBERRY ARRIVES IN DETROIT TODAY

Denies Report He Will Accept Diplomatic Post.

Detroit, Mich., March 8.—Truman H. Newberry, former secretary of the navy, arrived in Detroit today from Washington. Mr. Newberry had little to say concerning his plans for the future, save that he would devote his time to matters of business which had been neglected since his four years' stay in Washington.

He denied the report that he would accept a diplomatic position.

"The papers still insist you are to be ambassador to Italy or Russia," he was informed as he took the train. "Have you changed your mind?"

"Not at all. I am going to live in Detroit, and my address will continue to be Detroit, Michigan. No foreign service for me. I shall return to Michigan as much interested in the affairs of the state and the country as ever and shall continue to exercise that interest for the public good as opportunity comes to me. I am proud to have had a part in the government of the country during an epoch making period, and I regard my service in Washington as the most valuable heritage I shall leave my children."

His mother, Mrs. Jane Van Dusen of this city, arrived just before his death and will probably bring the remains here, where his father and relatives are buried, as he and his wife separated a few years ago, following a sensational divorce suit.

People were here from several towns to witness the execution of the negro.

Ellis admitted his guilt, but refused to make a statement or to leave farewell messages for his relatives.

CURE

Elderly People Helped Free

The last years of life are the sweetest, and yet the most difficult to prolong. It is then that the greatest care is exercised in maintaining bodily health. But the chief care should always be with regard to the food you eat and whether you are digesting it properly. You should not allow yourself to become constipated.

No doubt you have tried salts and cathartic pills, purgative tablets, etc., and have come to the conclusion that they are violent in action and do but temporary good. Listen, then, to the voice of experience with regard to a wonderful and mild laxative, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is not new, only we are trying to find new friends for it.

A. A. Felts, of Johnston City, Ill., suffered from stomach trouble for six years and found his cure in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. His wife uses it too with success. We could name hundreds of others. Some heard of it first through neighbors or friends; others through the doctor's offer to send any sufferer from a stomach, liver or bowel complaint a free sample bottle for trial, without charge. If you will send your name and address he will send you a trial bottle direct to your home. If it proves itself as he claims then continue the treatment by buying a 50-cent or $1 bottle of your druggist, as all of them sell it. Old people, like children, should look for purity, and it is well to mention that the purity of this remedy is vouched for with the U. S. government. Also, though a free bottle is sent to prove its merits, results are always guaranteed from the regular bottles bought of druggists, who will refund your money if it does not satisfy you. Send at least for the free test bottle today.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Did the Best He Could.

In the absence of the regularly appointed spokesman, Mr. Makinbrakes had reluctantly consented to make a presentation speech.

"Miss Higham," he said, "unfortunately it is my—er—fortunate lot to fulfill the embarrassing—the pleasant duty of—of inflicting a few remarks upon this occasion—which is highly appreciated, I assure you, and by none more so than myself, for the reason that—in short, as I may say, it falls to my lot to convey, so to speak, the assurances of—that is, with the assurances of those to whom—to whom I have occasion to refer to—more or less—in this connection, together with the best wishes, if I may so express myself, of those who have clubbed together—who have associated themselves—not that you need anything of the kind, of course, but as a token of—as a token of—of—with which few remarks, Miss Higham, it is my—my pleasant surprise to hand you this gold watch and chain. I—I thank you."—Chicago Tribune.

One of the first instances on record of a body returned by a Swiss glacier is that of the Hamel accident, which took place in 1820. Several guides were swept down by an avalanche and hurled into a crevasse. Hamel prophesied that the glacier would yield them up again in the course of a thousand years, but Dr. Forbes believed that the end of the glacier would be reached by the bodies in forty years. This statement was considered bold, but its accuracy was borne out by the event. In forty years the flow of ice brought the bodies to light.

In 1866 Henry Arkwright was lost in a glacier. In just thirty-one years his brother received a telegram from the mayor of Chamouni that the body was found. Every article of clothing was intact. His name and regiment could be read clearly on his handkerchief, and his gold pencil case opened and shut as easily as when he last used it three decades before.—"True Tales of Mountain Adventure."

Shakespeare and the Actors.

Why do we call Garrick a great actor? Because the box office of his time acclaimed him one. Davies tells us how his first performance of Richard III. was received with loud and reiterated applause. How his "look and actions when he pronounced the words,

"were so significant and important from his visible enjoyment of the incident that several loud shouts of approbation proclaimed the triumph of the actor and satisfaction of the audience." A modern purist would have walked out of the playhouse when his ear was insulted by Cibber's tag, but from a theater point of view it is a good tag, and I have always thought it a pity that Shakespeare forgot to set it down himself and left to Cibber the burden of finishing the line.—Judge Parry in Cornhill Magazine.

Why the Earth Cannot Explode.

The theory is frequently advanced that planets and even suns sometimes explode and that the earth may some day blow up like a bombshell. No celestial body the size of the earth could possibly explode. If the entire molten interior of our globe could be replaced with nitroglycerin and detonated the explosion would not lift the earth's crust. In other words, if we assume that the crust of the earth is from fifty to a hundred miles in thickness it would require something much more powerful than even nitroglycerin to burst the shell. It is necessary only to do a little figuring to see that the pressure of the earth's crust at a depth of from fifty to a hundred miles far exceeds the pressure exerted by the most powerful high explosive.—Hudson Maxim.

Too Literal.

"Well, yes," said old Uncle Lazzenberry, who was intimately acquainted with most of the happenstances of the village, "Almira Stang has broken off her engagement with Charles Henry Tootwiler. They'd be goin' together for about eight years, durin' which time she had been inculcatin' into him, as you might call it, the beauties of economy. But when she discovered just lately that he had learnt his lesson so well that he had saved up 217 pairs of socks for her to darn immediately after the wedding she 'peared to conclude that he had taken her advice a little too literally and broke off the match."—Puck.

Moneymaking Frenchmen.

If you meet a family party in a finely appointed carriage on the island of Montreal, nine times out of ten it is a French family. That the French can make money when they give their minds to the "game" the fact that the leading family of financiers in Montreal is French indicates.—Toronto Canadian Courier.

A Mequl Repartee.

A certain commissioner was given to treating the Indians with a scorn they did not deserve. One day as he sat with a great chief in his tepee, smoking the pipe of peace, the chief entertained him with many quaint legends.

One of these dealt with a plague of locusts, and the grim orator described in flowery language how they had swarmed over the land, eating every herb and green leaf and blotting out the light of day for very number. Then he concluded by remarking that it was not until the medicine man made an offering of a silver locust to the Great Spirit that the creatures disappeared, and this they did swiftly and suddenly.

Loudly the commissioner laughed the superstitious Indian to scorn.

"Do you mean to say you're such fools as to believe that rubbish?" he asked.

"Not much," replied the chief gravely, "or we would have offered the Great Spirit a silver paleface long ago!"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Heroic Husbands.

Some women were discussing over their afternoon tea the statement that a man is no more a hero to his wife than to his valet. There seemed to be no opposition to the idea that a man's servant did not appreciate him, but all stoutly maintained that their husbands were heroic in one way or another.

"My husband is very heroic," said Mrs. Black. "For instance, he will give up his visit to the club to play jackstraws with my old mother, and she is his mother-in-law, you know."

"I think I can beat that," remarked Mrs. Gray. "When my milliner's quarterly bill comes in my husband smiles as he writes a check and never thinks of looking at the items."

"I can give you a better example than either of those!" exclaimed Mrs. White. "When the morning paper comes at breakfast time my husband always offers me the first reading of it."

An informal vote awarded the last speaker's husband the medal for heroism.—Youth's Companion.

When Boys Were Taught to Smoke.

The habit of juvenile smoking in England in the seventeenth century was practically universal. Jorevin de Rochefort, a French traveler of that period, in an account published in 1671 gives a description of an evening he spent at Worcester. He was catechized by one of the townsmen as to the habits of the French people.

"While we were walking about the town," he writes, "he asked me if it was the custom in France, as in England, that when the children went to school they carried in their satchel with their books a pipe of tobacco which their mother took care to fill early in the morning, it serving them instead of breakfast, and that at the accustomed hour every one laid aside his book to light his pipe, the master smoking with them and teaching them how to hold their pipes and draw in their tobacco, thus accustoming them to it from their youth, believing it absolutely necessary for a man's health."—St. James' Gazette.

Telling Electric Currents.

It is often desirable or interesting to find out whether the current in an electric light circuit is continuous or alternating. The appearance of an incandescent lamp to the naked eye is precisely the same in both cases. It may be desired, for instance, to use a small motor, and those for use with the two kinds of currents are of entirely different construction. If a small magnet be held near a lighted incandescent lamp the filament, if a continuous current is passing through it, will simply bend slightly as the magnet nears it. If, on the contrary, the current is alternating the filament will begin to vibrate, which will make it look as if it were continually changing in thickness. The magnet used may be a small one, easily carried about in the pocket.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Doing Their Duty.

The Teacher—Children, we make heroes of ourselves by doing our duty. Perry's duty was to whip the British, and he did it. The light brigade's duty was to attack the Russians without question, and they did it. All great heroes won their victories by doing their duty. Children, we have our duties. What should we do for the weak, the suffering, the oppressed?

Chorus of Pupils—Sail in an' lick 'em!—Cleveland Leader.

The Talkative One.

Nearsighted Guest (at banquet)—I presume the next thing will be a long and tiresome speech from some talkative guy. Man Sitting Next—Oh, I suppose so. I'm the talkative guy that has to make the speech.—Chicago Tribune.

Her Claim.

Mrs. Gillet—So there is a tablet in your transept to her memory. Did she do anything to bring people into the church? Mrs. Perry—Well, I guess! She wore a new hat every Sunday for three years.—Harper's Bazar.

PREPARING TO WELCOME HIM

Africa Means to Give Roosevelt Good Time.

PLENTY OF GAME IS SIGHTED

His Reception Will Be More as Great Sportsman Than as Former President—Roosevelt's Chief Guide Already on Ground Making Preparations For Trip Into Wilderness.

Mombasa, British East Africa, March 11.—Mombasa is preparing already to welcome Theodore Roosevelt when he lands here the latter part of next month on his much heralded African trip, and the coming of the former president of the United States has given an impetus to the interest in the present hunting season.

The governor of the protectorate, Lieutenant Colonel Sir James Hayes Sadler, is getting up a program of welcome and entertainment for the distinguished visitor, but, in spite of these arrangements, the greeting to Mr. Roosevelt will be more to the great sportsman, whose fame is well known to local hunters, than to the former president.

Eastern African sportsmen were highly gratified to learn that Mr. Roosevelt had refused the offer of the authorities to grant him a special hunting license that would have permitted him to kill game to an unlimited extent, instead of confining himself to the two elephants, two rhinoceros, two hippopotami, etc., of the regular license. Lions and leopards are classed as vermin, and consequently no license to kill them is required.

Refer to "Big Stick."

The white population of Mombasa has heard much of Mr. Roosevelt's personality, and, in a joking way, frequent references to the "big stick" are being made.

The rains are late this year, and a heavy fall is expected.

The prospects for good hunting this season are considered excellent. Many of the settlers in the outlying district, realizing the increasing interest in the prospects for sport because of the coming of Mr. Roosevelt, are voluntarily sending in information about the movements of game.

According to a dispatch received here, a record group of lions, numbering thirty-two, was seen off the Nandi plateau Tuesday at a point about fifty miles north of Port Florence. The Nandi plateau is on the west side of the great Rift valley. Among the group of lions sighted were three huge males.

Four families of giraffes have been seen at Makindu, 200 miles inland from here on the line of the Uganda railroad, and elephants have been seen at Elburgon, 475 miles inland in the railroad and along the Sabaki river, not far to the north of Mombasa.

R. J. Cunninghame, the noted English big game hunter and field naturalist, who is to be guide to and general manager of the Roosevelt party, has been here for some time completing the preparations for the trip into the wilderness.

HAD NOTHING TO SAY.

Roosevelt Would Not Comment on Standard Oil Decision.

Oyster Bay, March 11.—Former President Roosevelt, after a day spent in New York in consultation with the publishers of the magazine for which he has contracted to write an account of his experiences while in Africa, returned last night to Oyster Bay.

While en route to his home here Mr. Roosevelt was shown the published announcement of the verdict rendered in the circuit court of appeals in Chicago acquitting the Standard Oil company of the charge of obtaining rebates from the Chicago & Alton railroad. Mr. Roosevelt, who was instrumental in bringing about the indictment of the Standard Oil company in the case, read of the action of the Chicago jury with interest, but refused to make any comment on the verdict.

When informed that the people of Mombasa and British East Africa were preparing to welcome him, not as the former president of the United States, but as a noted hunter and sportsman, Mr. Roosevelt expressed much pleasure.

"I am glad to hear that," said he, "as I wish to travel as a private citizen. It is with the keenest anticipation that I look forward to my trip to Africa, which I am sure will be very interesting. My companions all are most enthusiastic and splendid naturalists.

"I shall be very busy during the remainder of the time I remain at Oyster Bay packing up and preparing for the trip."

START MONSTER MOVEMENT.

Western Michigan Merchants Want Freight Rates Reduced.

BIG MEETING NEXT TUESDAY.

Grand Rapids Board of Trade Sends Out Invitations—Shippers Feel Injustice Is Being Done Them on Traffic to Seaboard—Merchants From 100 Towns Expected at Meeting.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 11.—The board of trade has sent invitations to the merchants of every western Michigan town and Battle Creek, Kalamazoo and St. Joseph to attend a monster meeting here Tuesday for the purpose of perfecting an organization to begin a campaign for the reduction of freight rates to and from the seaboard.

The shippers feel an injustice is being done them by the railroads inasmuch as the rate to western Michigan towns is now 96 per cent, while they argue it should only be 90 per cent. Manistee, Ludington and Traverse City now pay 112, 110 and 115 per cent respectively of the Chicago rate, when points across the lake, such as Green Bay and Cheboygan, Wis., pay only 100 per cent, or a flat Chicago rate.

At the meeting, which it is expected will be attended by nearly every merchant in nearly a hundred towns where invitations have been sent, an organization will be perfected and a definite plan of campaign outlined. The point of attack will, it is said, probably be on the interstate commerce commission.

BIG SNOW DRIFTS.

Eighteen and Twenty Feet High at Menominee.

Menominee, Mich., March 11.—Menominee has been almost isolated by a big snow storm, and local traffic is at a standstill for the first time in eighteen years. Street cars are being dug out of the snow drifts.

A snowdrift twelve feet high barred entrance to the city hall, and drifts eighteen and twenty feet high are common in the business districts. Hundreds of merchants in the twin cities had to dig their way into their stores.

The mayors have pressed into service every available wagon to cart away the snow.

BODY ON WAY.

Sisters Journey to See Brother, Not Knowing He Is Dead.

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 11.—A pathetic incident in connection with the death of George E. Judson, a former Kalamazoo man, in Spokane, Wash., is the fact that his sisters, May and Effie Judson, are now on the way to the western city to be with their brother in his illness, not knowing that he has passed away and that his body has been started on the journey to this city for interment.

The Judson family lived in this city until a few years ago.

BURNS TO DEATH.

Prominent Alpena Man Perishes in Fire of His Own Home.

Alpena, Mich., March 11.—Alexander Campbell, aged seventy-one years, has burned to death in a fire which destroyed his home. He was born in Ottawa, Can., and came to Alpena forty-six years ago. He was a member of the common council twenty-four years and board of education eight years. He leaves a widow, now visiting in Detroit, and seven children.

Celebrate Opening of New Line.

Flint, Mich., March 11.—The city Wednesday celebrated the opening of another interurban line—the one running between Flint and Saginaw. Two handsomly decorated cars left the city at 11 o'clock for Saginaw, loaded with members of the Flint Improvement league and their friends. The party journeyed to Saginaw, where they were met at 2 o'clock by a delegation of citizens of that city headed by Mayor Stewart. There were also present Mayor Hines of Bay City and a delegation of city officials.

Legalize Cock Fighting.

Havana, March 11.—The house of representatives has passed the bill legalizing cock fighting, but with many restrictions. The bill now will go to the senate.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

New York, March 11.—The jury in the case of John C. Lumsden, on trial in the supreme court here charged with the murder of Harry Suydam, a curb broker, in the latter's office last December, has brought in a verdict of manslaughter in the first degree.

NEWARK PRIEST ASSASSINATED.

Men With Concealed Faces Entered His Study

AND SHOT HIM DOWN.

Polish Prelate Meets Untimely Death. His Housekeeper Also Wounded. Motive of Crime Cannot Be Determined—Several Arrests Made, Including Three Poles.

Newark, N. J., March 11.—Three men whose features appear to have been concealed by their heavy overcoats and slouch hats walked into the study of the Rev. Erasmus Ansion, pastor of the Polish church of St. Stanislaus, and opened fire upon him. Three bullets from their three revolvers hit the priest, killing him instantly.

The trio turned to make their escape and found their way blocked by Mrs. Antonia Sewrzytska, the housekeeper. Without an instant's hesitation, one of the visitors turned his revolver upon her, inflicting a wound which is likely to prove fatal. Then all three rushed out into the street and made their escape.

Two hundred of Father Ansion's parishioners who were attending an early morning service in the church adjoining heard the shots and rushed out, led by the assistant priests who were in charge of the service. But the assassins had disappeared, leaving apparently no clue to their whereabouts or identity.

The police were put at work on the case within a few minutes of the murder, and by noon they had rounded up four suspects, one of whom the housekeeper, now in St. Barnabus hospital, thought bore a resemblance to the leader of the trio who had done the shooting. The others she was unable to identify. All four denied any knowledge of the affair.

No adequate theory to account for the attack upon the priest has been presented to the police. It has been learned, however, that there has been recently considerable factional trouble in the congregation.

The police later arrested three men suspects, all Poles, who reside near the church.

A crowd of 5,000 Poles gathered in front of the rectory in which lay the body of the murdered priest, expressing their grief and demanding to see the body. This was permitted, and for two hours or more the Poles marched in single file past the casket in which lay the body of the priest.

ASKS FOR AID.

Brinkley, Ark., March 11.—Mayor T. H. Jackson has issued an appeal for aid. In a review of the destruction wrought by the tornado he places the number of dead at thirty-five, the injured at more than 200 persons. He says that there is not a house in the city, either business or residence, that was not damaged. The entire business portion was lost, and only three buildings were left standing.

He asks for contributions of furniture, bedding, tarpaulins and roofing material. The latter is in urgent demand because there is not a dry roof in the city to protect the wounded and homeless. Railroads have agreed to carry consignments of such goods free.

Deaths Total Ten.

Atlanta, Ga., March 11.—With the completed death roll of Sunday night's Arkansas tornado just coming in, the tail end of the storm which slapped across Alabama and southern Georgia set in motion a new death count for the latter two states. This count is ten, five negroes killed in Cuthbert, Ga., and three whites and two negroes drowned at Montgomery, Ala.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

President James B. Angell of the University of Michigan leaves next week for New York, where he will attend the meeting of the Michigan Alumni on March 19.

Mrs. John Hiney, wife of the chief of the Marshall fire department, became insane and tried to kill herself with a razor. She will be committed to the Kalamazoo asylum.

Homer G. Barber, one of the most prominent citizens in Vermontville, is dead, after a three months' illness. Mr. Barber had extensive interests in banks in Detroit, Grand Rapids and Battle Creek.

Takes Office Friday.

Washington, March 11.—Secretary of War Wright has been notified that his successor, Jacob M. Dickinson, would arrive here from Chicago tomorrow morning. He probably will assume office on that day.

RESCUES CLASSMATE.

Girl Dives Into Swimming Pool and Saves Drowning Companion.

Muskegon, Mich., March 11.—Mabel Thompson, a young colored student, was rescued from drowning in the swimming pool of the Hackley gymnasium by a younger classmate, Mildred Nichols, fourteen years old. Her companions all panic-stricken when the Thompson girl had been under water two minutes, the little Nichols girl dove into the pool and brought the unconscious colored girl to the surface.

Older people arrived in time to direct the resuscitation of the rescued girl, which took several minutes. In making her heroic dive Mildred Nichols had her foot severely cut on the tile bottom of the pool.

WARDEN WENGER ON THE STAND.

Tells How Supplies Are Purchased For Twine Plant.

Jackson, Mich., March 11.—In the grand jury investigation of the prison Wednesday, Warden John C. Wenger, Armstrong's successor, was called to the stand late in the afternoon. He had time only to answer a few formal questions as to his connection with the prison, his experience as an officer of it and his duties since elevated to the wardenship. A few questions as to his knowledge of how sisal has been bought for the binder twine plant were all that could be answered before time for adjournment.

Wenger has bought only 1,200 bales of sisal since entering office. He confirmed the buying of 2,000 more which Armstrong had ordered before the exposure which cost him the wardenship.

Now that he is warden, with the added financial burden, Wenger has instituted a new system in the buying of sisal.

"While I am in this office every transaction is going to be recorded and set forth so that no who runs it may read; so that even years hence there will be no need of a grand jury to find out what I did and why I did it," said Wenger.

Assistant Clerk Neely, who takes care of binder twine orders and does a lot of stenographic work for the warden, preceded Wenger on the stand. Neely was asked to read a batch of letters dictated by Armstrong. They date back over a year. Most of them refer to purchases of sisal through Milton Daily, 115 Dearborn street, Chicago, a broker. Some, however, are to Governor Warner and the board of control. Here and there little references to politics crop out in them.

Alleges Being Forced Into Marriage.

Muskegon, Mich., March 11.—Alleging that Fathers, Thomas L. Whalen and Francis X. Downes and Nellie Barry entered into a conspiracy to make him marry the last named, Ray Wilson, well known here, has filed a suit asking that his marriage be annulled. The statements made in the bill created a sensation, as many prominent people figure in the charges.

RAGE AND TRIUMPH.

Characterize Feelings of French in Passage of Income Tax Bill.

Paris, March 11.—The country has received the passage of the income tax bill by the chamber of deputies with mingled feelings of rage and triumph. The commercial, moneyed and property classes generally deplore it as a piece of criminal folly and voted by a "cowardly majority solicitous of re-election next spring."

On the other hand the Socialists and Radicals joyfully hail the passage of the bill as marking the beginning of the millenium—the entering wedge of the strong boxes of the rich which will furnish money to realize old age pensions, nationalization of railroads and other public utilities and for the whole program of state socialism.

AMERICANS THE OFFENDERS.

Grand Jury Returns Fifty-two Indictments For Pistol Carrying.

Fairmont, W. Va., March 11.—Fifty-two indictments against pistol carrying have been returned by the grand jury of the circuit court, the result of a crusade made by Prosecutor Morris to break up such lawlessness in the mining region and thus end the many murders that have been disgracing the section for months. Notwithstanding the fact that the region is thickly populated with foreigners, forty-nine of the offenders are Americans.

Norman Mack's Home Burns.

Buffalo, March 11.—The beautiful home of Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic national committee, on Delaware avenue, has been practically destroyed by fire. The fire started in the servants' quarters on the third floor. Mr. Mack is in New York and his family at Atlantic City. The loss is about $50,000.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's catarrh is the only positive cure now known to the fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address:

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderfully merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensable and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

The things that are bad for one to eat have a mean way of tasting so much better than those the doctor says you may help yourself to liberally.

This is the most dangerous time of the year to catch cold, and it is the hardest time to cure it. If you should take a cold, a few doses of Kennedy Laxative Cough Syrup will act very promptly. Its laxative principle cures the cold by driving it from the system by a gentle but natural action of the bowels. Children especially like Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup, as it tastes so good, nearly like maple sugar. It is sold by all druggists.

So live that when age comes upon you, you will be like the mighty oak, sound at the heart, rather than like the hollow linden, rotten at the core.

A Religious Author's Statement

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly striken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." Sold by all druggists.

It Makes Weak Women Strong, Sick Women Well.

It acts directly on the organs affected and is at the same time a general restorative tonic for the whole system. It cures female complaint right in the privacy of home. What is to be will be. But she must never be seen in that dance girl's dress again, at least not till I learn more about this Stark. It makes no difference whether this one is the man or not. He will come, and I shall know him. For a year I have felt that the time was growing short, and now I know it."

"No, no!" Alluna cried. "We have no strangers here. No white men except the soldiers and this one have come in a year. This is but a little trading post."

"It was yesterday, but it isn't today. Lee has made a strike, like the one George Carmack made on the Klondike. He came to tell me and Poleon, and we are going back with him tonight, but you must say nothing or it will start a stampede."

"Other men will come—a great many of them?" interrogated Alluna fearfully, ignoring utterly the momentous news.

"Yes. Flambeau will be another Dawson if this find is what Lee thinks it is. I stayed away from the upper country because I knew crowds of men would come from the States, and I feared that he might be among them, but it's no use hiding any longer. There's no other place for us to go. If Lee has got a mine I'll have the one next to it, for we will be the first ones on the ground. What happens after that won't matter much. You four will be provided for. We are to leave in an hour, one at a time, to avoid comment."

"But why did this man stop here?" insisted the woman. "Why did he not stay on the steamboat and go to Dawson?"

"He's a friend of Lee's. He is going with us." Then he added, almost in a whisper, "Before we return I shall know."

Alluna seized his arm. "Promise to come back, John! Promise that you will come back even if this should be the man."

As he turned away she laid her hand on his arm and said:

"If you do not know him he will not know you. Is it not so?"

"Yes."

"Then the rest is easy."

But he only shook his head doubtfully and answered, "Perhaps; I am not sure," and went inside, where he made up a light pack of bacon, flour and tea, a pail or two, a coffeepot and a frying pan, which he rolled inside a robe of rabbit skin and bound about in turn with a light tarpaulin. It did not weigh thirty pounds in all. Selecting a new pair of water boots, he stuffed dry grass inside them, oiled up his six shooter, then slipped out the back way and in five minutes was hidden in the thickets. Half an hour later, having completed a detour of the town, he struck the trail to the interior, where he found Poleon Doret, equipped in a similar manner, resting beside a stream, singing the songs of his people.

"The most wonderful thing has happened," she began.

When Burrell returned to his quarters he tried to mitigate the feeling of lonesomeness that oppressed him by tackling his neglected correspondence. Somehow today the sense of his isolation had come over him stronger than ever. His rank forbade any intimacy with his miserable handful of men, who had already fallen into the monotony of routine, while every friendly overture he made toward the citizens of Flambeau was met with distrust and coldness, his stripes of office seeming to erect a barrier and induce an ostracism stronger and more complete than if they had been emblems of the penitentiary. Even Doret and the trader seemed to share the general feeling; hence the thought of the long, lonesome winter approaching reduced the lieutenant to a state of black despondency, deepened by the knowledge that he now had an open enemy in camp in the person of Runnion. Then, too, he had taken a morbid dislike to the new man, Stark. So that all in all the youth felt he had good reason to be in the dumps this afternoon. There was nothing desirable in this place—everything undesirable—except Necia. Her presence in Flambeau went far toward making his humdrum existence bearable, but ever since he had found himself dwelling with growing seriousness on the unhappy circumstances of her birth and had almost made up his mind that it would be wise not to see her any more. The tempting vision of her in the ball dress remained vividly in his imagination, causing him hours of sweet torment. There was a sparkle, a fineness, a gentleness, about her that seemed to make the few women he had known well dull and commonplace, and even his sister, whom till now he had held as the perfection of all things feminine, suffered by comparison with this maiden of the frontier.

He was steeped in this sweet, grave melancholy when a knock came at his door, and he arose to find Necia herself there, excited and radiant. She came in without sign of embarrassment or slightest consciousness of the possible impropriety of her act.

"The most wonderful thing has happened," she began at once when she found they were alone. "You'll faint for joy."

"What is it?"

"Lee has made a strike—a wonderful strike—richer than the Klondike. I came as fast as I could, because tomorrow everybody will know about it, and it will be too late."

"Too late for what?"

"For us to get in on it, of course. Oh, but won't there be a stampede! Why, all the people bound for Dawson on the next boat will pile off here. Then the news will go up river and down river, and thousands of others will come pouring in from everywhere, and this will be a city. Then we will stake our town lots and sell them for ever so much money and go around with our noses in the air."

"Hold on! Hold on!" said the soldier, stopping her breathless patter. "Tell me all about this."

"Well, 'No Creek' came in this morning to tell dad and Poleon. Then the boat arrived with an old friend of Lee's, a Mr. Stark, so Lee told him, too, and now they've all gone back to his creek to stake more claims. They slipped away quietly to prevent suspicion, but I knew there was something up from the way Poleon acted, so I made Alluna tell me all about it. They haven't more than two hours' start of us, and we can overtake them easily."

"We! Why, we are not going!"

"Yes, we are," she insisted impatiently, "you and I. That's why I came, so you can get a mine for yourself and be a rich man, and so you can help me get one. I know the way. Hurry up!"

"No," said he in as firm a tone as he could command. "In the first place, these men don't like me, and they don't want me to share in this."

"What do you care?"

"In the second place, I'm not a miner. I don't know how to proceed."

"Never mind. I do. I've heard nothing but mining all my life."

"In the third place, I don't think I have the right, for I'm a soldier. I'm working for Uncle Sam, and I don't believe I ought to take up mining claims. I'm not sure there is anything to prevent it, but neither am I sure it would be quite the square thing. Are you?"

"Why, of course it's all right," said Necia, her eager face clouding with the look of a hurt child. "If you don't do it somebody else will."

But the lieutenant shook his head. "Maybe I'm foolish, but I can't see my way clear, much as I would like to."

"Oh, dear; oh, dear!" she exclaimed brokenly. "I do so want to go. I want you to be rich, and I want to be rich myself. I want to be a fine lady and go outside and live like other girls. Why, it means heaven to a girl like me!" Her eyes were wet with the sudden dashing of her hopes, and her chin quivered in a sweet, girlish way that made the youth almost surrender on the instant.

"We couldn't possibly overtake them if we tried," he said, as if willing to treat with his conscience.

"No, but we could beat them in. I know where Lee is working, for I went up last winter with Constantine and his dog team over a short cut by way of Black Bear creek. You see, his creek makes a great bend to the southward and heads back toward the river, so by crossing the divide at the source of Black Bear you drop into it a few miles above his cabin."

While she made this appeal Burrell fought with himself. There were reasons why he longed to take this trip more than he had longed for anything since boyhood. These men of Flambeau had disregarded him and insisted on treating him with contemptuous distrust despite his repeated friendly overtures, wherefore he was hungry to beat them at their own game, hungry to thrust himself ahead of them and compel them to reckon with him as an equal, preferring a state of open enmity if necessary to this condition of indifferent toleration. Moreover, he knew that Necia was coveted by half of them, and if he spent a night in the woods alone with her it would stir them up a bit, he fancied. By heaven, that would make them sit up and notice him! But, then, it might work a wrong upon her. And yet would it? He was not so sure that it would. She had come to him, she was old enough to know her mind, and she was but a half breed girl, after all, who doubtless was not so simple as she seemed. Other men had no such scruples in this or any other land, and yet the young man hesitated until, encouraged by his silence, the girl came forward and spoke again impulsively:

"Don't be silly, Mr. Burrell. Come! Please come with me, won't you?"

She took him by the edges of his coat and drew him to her coaxingly. It may have been partly the spirit of revolt that had been growing in him all day, or it may have been wholly the sense of her there beside him, warm and pleading, but something caused a great wave to surge up through his veins, caused him to take her in his arms, fiercely kissing her upturned face again and again, crying softly, deep down in his throat:

"Yes, yes, yes! You little witch! I'll go anywhere with you! Anywhere! Anywhere!" The impulse was blind and ungovernable, and it grew as his lips met hers, while, strangely enough, she made no resistance, yielding herself quietly till he found her arms wound softly about his neck and her face nestling close to his. Neither of them knew how long they stood thus blended together, but soon he grew conscious of the beating of her heart against his breast as she lay there like a little fluttering bird and felt the throbbing of his own heart swaying him. Her arms, her lips and her whole body clung to his in a sweet surrender, and yet there was nothing immodest or unmaidenly about it, for his strength and ardor had lifted her and drawn her to him as on the sweep of a great wave.

She drew her face free and hid it against his neck, breathing softly and with shy timidity, as if the sound of the words she whispered half frightened her.

"I love you. I love you, Meade."

It may happen that a man will spend months in friendly and charming intimacy with a woman and never feel the violence or tenderness of passion till there comes a psychic moment or a physical touch that suddenly inwraps them like a flame. So it was with Burrell. The sweet burden of this girl in his arms, the sense of her yielding lips, the warmth of her caressing hands, momentarily unleashed a leaping pack of mad desires, and it was she who finally drew herself away to remind him smilingly that he was wasting time.

"My lips will be here when those mines are worked out," she said. "No, no!" And she held him off as he came toward her again, insisting that if they were going they must be off at once and that he could have no more kisses for the present. "But, of course, it is a long trip, and we will have to sit down now and then to rest," she added shyly, at which he vowed that he was far from strong and could not walk but a little way at a time, yet, even so, he declared, the trail would be too short, even though it led to Canada.

"Then get your pack made up," she ordered, "for we must be well up toward the head of Black Bear creek before it grows dark enough to camp."

Swiftly he made his preparations. A madness was upon him now, and he took no pains to check or analyze the reasons for his decision. The thought of her loveliness in his arms once more far up among the perfumed wooded heights as the silent darkness stole upon them stirred in him such a fret to be gone that it was like a fever. He slipped away to the barracks with instructions for his corporal, but was back again in a moment. Finally he took up his burden of blanket and food, then said to her:

"Well, are you ready, little one?"

"Yes, Meade," she answered simply.

"And you are sure you won't regret it?"

"Not while you love me."

He kissed her again before they stepped out on the river trail that wound along the bank.

Two hours later they paused where the foaming waters of Black Bear creek rioted down across a graveled bar and into the silent, sweeping river, standing at the entrance to a wooded, grass grown valley, with rolling hills and domes displayed at its head, while back of them lay the town, six miles away, its low, squat buildings tiny and toylike, but distinctly silhouetted against the evening sky.

"Is it not time to rest?" said the soldier laughingly, yet with a look of yearning in his misty eyes as he took the girlish figure in his arms. But she only smiled up at him and, releasing his hold, led the way into the forest.

CHAPTER V.

A STORY IS BEGUN.

It's funny t'ing how two brown eye

An' winter's jus' lak spring.
Dey mak' my pack so very light,

But now I'm busy mak' fortune
For marry on dat girl,
An' if she's tole me yass, dat's soon,
Bonheur! I'm own de worl'!

POLEON DORET sang gayly as the trader came toward him through the open grove of birch, for he was happy this afternoon, and, being much of a dreamer, this fresh enterprise awoke in him a boyish pleasure. Had not this discovery of "No Creek" Lee's been providentially arranged for his own especial benefit? A fool could see that this was a mark of celestial approbation, and none but a fool would question the wisdom of the gods. Had he not watched Necia grow from a slip of thirteen and spoken never a word of his love? Had he not served and guarded her with all the gentle chivalry of an olden knight? Of course! And here was his reward, a gift of wealth to crown his service, all for her.

"Whew," said Gale, slipping out of his pack straps, "the skeeters is bad!"

"You bet your gum boots," said Poleon. "Dey're mos' so t'ick as de summer day kill Johnnie Platt on de Porcupine." Both men wore gauntleted gloves of caribou skin and head harnesses of mosquito netting stretched over globelike frames of thin steel bands, which they slipped on over their hats.

"Let's see. It was you that found him, wasn't it?" said Gale.

"Sure t'ing! I'm comin' down for grub in my canoe w'en I see dis feller on de bank walkin' lak he's in beeg borry. 'Ba gar,' I say, 'dere's man goin' so fast he'll meet hese'f comin' home!' Den he turn roun' an' go tear-

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granules, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

ONSTED NEWS SOLD.

Purchased by Will M. Hundley.

New proprietor comes well recommended.

G. S. Easton of the Onsted News has sold that paper to Will M. Hundley. The Onsted News has been a very successful paper and all regret to see Mr. Easton leave. The strain on his eyes was so great that he felt he had to give the work up although the severing of the ties causes him much saddness.

The new proprietor, Mr. Hundley has been actively engaged in newspaper work for the past 18 years and during that time has edited several newspapers in Ohio and Virginia.

Aside from this he has done much special writing for newspapers in Cincinnati, Columbus, Chicago and Richmond, besides he has quite a reputation as a writer of short stories and a contributor to the popular magazines. He will be assisted by Mrs. Hundley.

Mr. Easton will still continue to make Onsted his home.

NEW ORCHESTRA

Miss Bertha Wooden, sister of Will Wooden, director.

The Bertha Wooden Concert Orchestra, composed wholly of ladies, is a musical organization of which Battle Creek may feel proud. Organized several months ago it has under the direction of this city's popular lady violinist, Miss Wooden, steadily grown in competency, finish and style until it has become a prominent feature in the musical accomplishment of southern Michigan.

It has played to engagements in several surrounding towns and comment would indicate that it has attained phenomenal success in meeting the expectations and requirements of a cultured musical organization.

Miss Wooden is a sister of Will Wooden of Battle Creek, and well known in Tecumseh.

The Senate's Hole In the Wall.

When the nineteenth century was as yet only half grown, senators applied customarily for their toddies at the so called Hole in the Wall, a small circular room just off the postoffice of the upper house. The latter body then occupied what is now the chamber of the supreme court, and the postoffice was across the main corridor of the building on the same floor. When a wearer of the toga found himself in need of a "snifter" he had only to cross over to the mails department and pass through it to the little circular room aforesaid, which was about the size of a pantry. The Hole in the Wall was the first senate restaurant, and the bill of fare for edibles was short, though to the point. There was ham, guaranteed to have been smoked for six months, a veritable sublimation of the pork product; there were corned beef and bread and cheese, but very little else. They served, however, as an accompaniment for the fluids, and when the Hole was crowded, as was often the case, senators ate their sandwiches outside, in the postoffice.—Washington Post.

ACCIDENT

Willis Smith Badly Injured.

Willis Smith was seriously injured last night by falling down cellar. His little son Leo was taken sick during the night and called to his father. His call awakened him and getting up he opened what he supposed was the right door. It led down cellar however and Mr. Smith was precipitated down the steps. His arm and shoulder were badly bruised and his ear nearly severed from his head.

Although his condition is serious it is thought that he will recover.

Mrs. Foster who has been quite sick with the measles, died this noon. She leaves seven children and three step-children to mourn her loss.

Cream butter, add sugar gradually and cream until very light. Add well-beaten yolks, beat three minutes, then the flavoring and the dry ingredients and whites. Beat smooth and bake as other torte. This cake lends itself well to ornamentation; cover smoothly with an icing made with confectioner's sugar moistened with boiling water and a little orange or lemon juice; then ornament with halved and blanched almonds strips of citron and candied pineapple. McKINLEY CLUB BANQUET

BIG SUCCESS WITH EXCELLENT ADDRESSES.

Hon. J. Sloat Fassett and Congressman Townsend, Principal Speakers.

About six hundred attended the republican banquet held at Adrian last Tuesday evening, and it is said to be one of the best in the history of the club. The hall was appropriately decorated with flags and the Americans colors, and pictures of prominent republicans adorned the walls.

On the speakers table a beautiful bouquet of carnations, also a carnation at the plate of each guest. The serving of the banquet occupied about an hour and at its conclusion the program of the evening was taken up.

Clark E. Baldwin, president of the club, then introduced the toastmaster, Hon. Grant Fellows of Hudson. The first hit of the evening was made by Mr. Fellows in his opening remarks "Mr. President, gentlemen of the McKinley club, and candidates of the postoffice," which was greeted with much laughter. At the conclusion Mr. Fellows paid an eloquent tribute to Mr. Priddy.

The first speaker of the evening was W. E. Humphrey of Washington, who was a very pleasing speaker. He was followed by Geo. A. Loud, congressman from Bay City, answered to the toast, "Our Navy." Mr. Loud's address was unique, being illustrated with stereopticon pictures, many views being taken by Mr. Loud himself.

By the common verdict of all, the most eloquent address of the evening was that of Hon. Jacob Sloat Fassett the able and brilliant representative in congress from Elmira, N. Y. Mr. Fassett is a man of broad attainments, his interests being of a varied character.

Reserved for the last place on the program was Congressman Hon. Chas. E. Townsend, of this district, to whom was assigned the subject, "Washington and Lincoln," which was listened to with close attention.

At the close of the evening program the whole company arose and led by B. P. Thomas, sang "America," with fine effect.

Mr. Fellows made an ideal toastmaster, prefacing each toast with appropriate words, of introduction, droping in a number of good stories, and keeping up the interest and good humor of the occasion throughout.

On the whole the banquet was one of the most enjoyable and successful of all the series held by the club, and though nominailly a political event it was as enjoyable to those of opposing political faith as it was to the most orthodo.

CURED BRONCHITIS

Mrs. Hopkins Says Her Life Was Saved--Choked and Gasped for Breath

"Some five years ago I was taken with a bad attack of bronchitis. I was affected with a bronchial cough and cold, the cough was generally much more apparent at night, and I would wake up choking and gasping for breath, and there seemed to be a terrible stoppage in my throat and tubes. My throat was tender and irritable, and had an aching sensation, which was especially bad at times. I doctored and used several remedies, but received no permanent relief until I used Hyomei. This remedy is certainly infallible, and it saved my life, and I accord it the credit which it deserves. There is nothing too strong for me to say regarding Hyomei."—Mrs. Ada Hopkins, 8 Cutter Ave, Coldwater, Mich., August 23, 1908

WHAT WILL HE DO WITH IT.

Query of the Lady of the Wash Tub.

Asked of our new village president.

Wishing to inquire if this is to be the millennium dawn of a business administration of the affairs of the village "the lot of ladies who sweat over a wash tub to pay the tax of the business portion of the town," would like to be informed how these affairs are to be administered.

They also hope that a few well meant suggestions would be taken in the kindly spirit in which they are given.

As things are to be different we would suggest that our honorable council follow the example set by congress, and open their meetings, the first session at any rate, with prayer, as we are told to "watch and fight and pray," it might be well not to pay too much attention to the first two commands, ignoring the last altogether. We would suggest some member of the Business Men's Bible Class to "Look" after this part of the program.

As it is customary in selecting a jury to choose men who know nothing about the case to decide the issue and following a precedent already established by your honorable body we would suggest Mr. Gillespie to inspect bridges and Mr. Heesen to gather the hay mown from the streets, at your command, and that he be instructed to put it always in the right barn.

We also hope that Mr. Kempf being on the building inspectors committee will be retained in that capacity and instructed to place "escapes" on the stand pipe for the easy exit of the birds and reptiles which find there a watery grave.

This would be in aid of a clean administration of the public drinking water which is certainly an affair of the village

The two remaining members who have already served on the council may be a little more fastidious about their assignment of work, but in view of their excellent judgement in the past, they might be asked to attend to the future purchase of fire teams for the corporations use.

Now Mr. President as it is incumbent on you to make all your pre-election promises good we do not wish to add to your burden and hope these suggestions will not seem impossible to you.

We thank you for the promised remission of our taxes, but we warn you that at some time in the near future the ladies of the wash tubs may ask you for a sewer into which they may pour their suds on wash days, thereby greatly lessening their labor.

A CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Tecumseh Readers.

For months Tecumseh citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Tecumseh residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if the personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time. The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Tecumseh reader.

Mrs. Sarah E. Austin, Pearl St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "About three years ago I was suffering from kidney trouble and rheumatism. I had severe pains in the small of my back and the kidney secretions passed so frequently as to cause me great annoyance. When someone told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and they helped me so much that I continued their use. I have taken this remedy since when my kidneys have troubled me and I have always found the best of results. I willingly allow my name to be used again in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

GIRLS RESCUED WITH SCALING LADDERS.

Fire In Factory Results In Narrow Escapes.

New York, March 11.—Fire, which broke out on the fourth floor of a manufacturing building at Broadway and Bromme street, caused a panic among a hundred or more girls employed there. Smoke filled the halls and cut off the escape of several, who climbed out on the narrow window ledges overlooking Broadway. Most of these were rescued by the firemen, who ran up scaling ladders as soon as they arrived, and also spread the fire nets.

Two young women, terror-stricken, jumped before the firemen could reach them. One of these was caught in a fire net and escaped with a fractured leg. The other fell into an awning, which held for a moment and then gave way, dropping her into the arms of a policeman who was standing on the sidewalk. She suffered severe internal injuries.

The only others hurt were two young women who were burned about the head and shoulders. The fire was confined to the fourth floor of the building, with a loss not exceeding $7,000. The building was occupied by a number of manufacturers of women's clothing.

WEATHER CHIEF INDIGNANT.

He Terms Criticism of Newspapers "Hysterical Abuse."

Washington, March 11.—"Hysterical abuse" is the stormy English which Willis L. Moore, chief of the United States weather bureau, hurls at the newspaper critics who have found fault with the weather bureau for predicting "fair weather for inauguration day" when the day turned out to be one of the worst imaginable, due to what the forecaster termed later a "flareback."

Mr. Moore declares that "the same forecast would be made today if similar conditions existed."

In upholding the work of the bureau, Mr. Moore says that "in the past about one prediction out of ten failed to be verified and it may be expected that the same ratio will be maintained until meteorology can be made, what it is not now, an exact science."

He declares that the forecasters of the United States weather bureau are the equals of any in the world.

A Squid in Hawaii.

In discovering the failings or eccentricities of a person Hawaiians not only show perspicacity, but an aptness in applying a nickname to the one possessing such characteristics. The politician who changes his faith too often is called a squid (octopus). One species of this animal is caught by the aid of a torchlight in shallow water. While a bag net is held some distance in front of it, so that it can conveniently run into it and be caught, it is prodded behind by the fisherman's foot. Sometimes the squid will go directly into the trap, but often it will run forward, with every indication of being enmeshed, to a point within two feet of the net, when it will suddenly turn about and go back to its starting place. Then it is likely to describe a right, left or oblique angle, always contrary to the fisherman's desire. So in Hawaiian metaphor the politician or candidate who switches from the straight track is a squid.—"Paradise of the Pacific."

How to Kill and Cook Possum.

Just how a possum ought to be killed and cooked is told in the Atlanta Constitution by an expert known far and wide in Georgia. He says:

"To kill a possum his head should be placed beneath a stick. Stand on the stick and pull the possum's tail until his neck is broken. A possum requires careful treatment, and to cook one to perfection a peculiar arrangement is necessary. A pan on legs should be provided with a hole in one end which can be plugged. Coals placed under the pan will slowly cook the possum, and as the grease runs out of the carcass it should be drawn off from time to time. All the time the carcass should be basted with a sauce made of pepper and vinegar. In the meantime the potatoes should be boiled. When the possum is almost done the potatoes should be packed in the pan around the possum, a little sugar sprinkled over them, and then the gravy which has been drawn off from the pan should be poured on, after which possum and potatoes should be browned to a turn."

A Cure For Insomnia.

Next time your slumber fails to arrive on schedule time cast all thought of sleep from your mind and start in to name to yourself all the friends you have had or now possess. It's much more interesting than counting sheep. Perhaps you have only one friend, but one is enough—he may be the more appreciated. Just think of how you came to know each other, of how the friendship developed and of the happy incidents that have marked your acquaintance. Or, if you have no earthly friends whatever, let your thought dwell upon the great Friend of the friendless and how you came to know him. Somehow the most precious of our earthly friendships seem poor compared to this one that distance and time and even death itself cannot sever. And there is one advantage in this attempt to defeat insomnia—even your wakefulness will be enjoyable and restful.—Interior.

PERUNA EDITORIAL NO. 2.

Dr. Hartman has claimed for many years that Peruna is an EXCELLENT CATARRH REMEDY. Some of the doctor's critics have disputed the doctor's claim as to the efficacy of Peruna.

Since the ingredients of Peruna are no longer a secret, what do the medical authorities say concerning the remedies of which Peruna is composed?

Take, for instance, the ingredient HYDRASTIS CANADENSIS, OR GOLDEN SEAL. The United States Dispensatory says of this herbal remedy, that it is largely employed in the treatment of depraved mucous membranes, chronic rhinitis (nasal catarrh), atonic dyspepsia (catarrh of the stomach), chronic intestinal catarrh, catarrhal jaundice (catarrh of the liver), and in diseased mucous membranes of the pelvic organs. It is also recommended for the treatment of various forms of diseases peculiar to women.

Another ingredient of Peruna, CORYDALIS FORMOSA, is classed in the United States Dispensatory as a tonic.

CEDRON SEEDS is another ingredient of Peruna, an excellent drug that has been very largely overlooked by the medical profession for the past fifty years. THE SEEDS ARE TO BE FOUND IN VERY FEW DRUG STORES. The United States Dispensatory says of the action of cedron that it is used as a bitter tonic and in the treatment of dysentery, and in intermittent diseases as a SUBSTITUTE FOR QUININE.

OIL OF COPAIBA, another ingredient of Peruna, is classed by the United States Dispensatory as a mild stimulant and diuretic. It acts on the stomach and intestinal tract. It acts as a stimulant on the genito-urinary membranes. Useful in chronic cystitis, chronic dysentery and diarrhea, and some chronic diseases of the liver and kidneys.

These opinions as to the ingredients of Peruna are held by all writers on the subject, including Bartholow and Scudder.

Our Peruna Tablet Is Peruna With Fluid Removed.

OF HYDRASTIS, BARTHOLOW SAYS it is applicable to stomatitis (catarrh of the mucous surfaces of the mouth), follicular pharyngitis (catarrh of the pharynx), chronic coryza (catarrh of the head). This writer classes hydrastis as a stomachic tonic, useful in atonic dyspepsia (chronic gastric catarrh), catarrh of the duodenum, catarrh of the gall duct, catarrh of the intestines, catarrh of the kidneys (chronic Bright's disease), catarrh of the bladder, and catarrh of other pelvic organs.

BARTHOLOW REGARDS COPAIBA as an excellent remedy for chronic catarrh of the bladder, chronic bronchitis (catarrh of the bronchial tubes).

BARTHOLOW STATES THAT CUBEB, an ingredient of Peruna, promotes the appetite and digestion, increases the circulation of the blood. Useful in chronic nasal catarrh, follicular pharyngitis (catarrh of the pharynx), increasing the tonicity of the mucous membranes of the throat. It also relieves hoarseness. Useful in atonic dyspepsia (catarrh of the stomach), and in chronic catarrh of the colon and rectum, catarrh of the bladder, prostatorrhea, and chronic bronchial affections.

MILLSPAUGH, MEDICINAL PLANTS, one of the most authoritative works on medicinal herbs in the English language, in commenting upon COLLINSONIA CANADENSIS, says that it acts on the pneumogastric and vaso motor nerves. It increases the secretions of the mucous membranes in general. In the mountains of Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Carolina, collinsonia canadensis is considered a panacea for many disorders, including headache, colic, cramp, dropsy and indigestion. DR. SCUDDER regards it highly as a remedy in chronic diseases of the lungs, heart disease and asthma.

These citations ought to be sufficient to show to any candid mind that Peruna is a catarrh remedy. Surely, such herbal remedies, that command the enthusiastic confidence of the highest authorities obtainable, brought together in proper combination, ought to make a catarrh remedy of the highest efficacy.

This is our claim, and we are able to substantiate this claim by ample quotations from the HIGHEST MEDICAL AUTHORITIES IN THE WORLD.

MAJOR SEALINSKI DEAD.

Well Known Soldier and Inventor Passes Away.

New York, March 11.—Major Edmund Louis Gray Sealinski, U. S. A., retired inventor of the pneumatic dynamite torpedo gun and other military devices, is dead at the New York hospital from pneumonia, after a short illness, in his sixtieth year.

Major Sealinski was born in Kurnich, Prussian Poland, but came to the United States with his parents when four years old. The family settled at Seneca Falls, N. Y. When the civil war broke out Sealinski, at the age of fifteen, entered the army as a volunteer aide-de-camp on the staff of General Nelson A. Miles and served until the close of the war.

SOLDIER GETS LIFE.

Convicted of Killing His Wife and Throwing Body Into River.

New Bedford, Mass., March 11.—Guilty of murder in the second degree was the verdict in the case of William C. Howard of Sevierville, Tenn., a private in the United States coast artillery, at Fort Rodman, who was charged with the murder of his wife, Ida Howard, at New Bedford last September.

The young man was sentenced to serve a life term in the state prison at Charlestown.

The prosecution's claim was that Howard strangled his wife and threw her body into a river near this city, taking her life in order that he might be free to marry another young woman. The defense sought to prove an alibi. A few months before his arrest on the wife murder charge, Howard was acquitted on a manslaughter charge in connection with the shooting of Edward Dewhurst here in 1905.

Goes Back to Prison.

Lynchburg, Va., March 11.—H. C. Miller, known as "Kentucky Joe," who escaped from the federal prison at Raleigh, N. C., ten years ago and was recaptured at Bluefield, W. Va., last December, has been resentenced to the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., for four years. This is the remainder of his sentence for robbing a Virginia postoffice in 1898.

Ethel Barrymore to Wed.

Boston, March 11.—Official announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Ethel Barrymore, the actress, to Russell Griswold Colt, son of Colonel Samuel P. Colt of Bristol, R. I., president of the United States Rubber company. The marriage will take place at an early date. Mr. Colt is twenty-six years old.

Golf in High Altitudes.

It is strange how many golfers there are who fail to appreciate the great effect the density of atmosphere has on the flight of a golf ball. On a still, misty day the ball flies about five yards to ten yards less than it does on a frosty day, when the air is keener and more rarefied, and it is always stated—whether truly or not is unknown—that in an east wind the ball flies farther than it does when the wind blows from the opposite and more acceptable quarter. The writer was fortunate, or unfortunate, enough to play many rounds a few years ago on the Johannesburg links in South Africa. These links are situated some 6,000 feet above sea level, and the air is wonderfully rarefied. The ball consequently flew the most surprising distance. As proof of this the winner of a driving competition sent a ball a carry of 228 yards, the second player returning the modest distance of 223 yards. Yet neither of these two players could approach the driving capabilities of good amateur golfers.—Country Life.

Busy Woman.

Every monthly magazine carries as many as two continued stories in it. When a man takes six it means that his wife is carrying twelve continued stories in her head in addition to doing the cooking and trying to find out how much the new hat cost worn by the woman next door.—Oil City Derrick.

Australia's First Theater.

The first recorded production of a play in Australia took place in June of the year 1789. It was called "The Recruiting Officer." The proceeds of the first pay night (some £20) went to the family of a man who had been drowned. In January, 1796, a rough and ready playhouse was opened, and the public had to pay a shilling a head for admission. The payments were made in kind, wheat, flour or rum taking the place of the usual currency.—London Standard.

Disappearing Home Life.

The flat dweller ought not to keep a dog, prefers not to keep a cat, cannot have a garden, has no chance of keeping house, has no possible place for memories and, most emphatic of all, has no use or accommodation for babies. Although it may be possible to make homes without kittens or babies or flowers or memories or cupboards, the spirit of home is hard to woo and win without any of them.—Fortnightly Review.

Go Right at It.

"Of course you know that germs communicate sickness?"

"Yes," answered the man who is apprehensive about his health, "and the worst of it is that they get right down to business in their communications, instead of employing the scientific circumlocution of the medical profession."—Exchange.

Trying to Make a Hit.

Judge—Do you acknowledge the charge brought before the court of throwing your wife to the ground and knocking her head repeatedly against the floor? Prisoner (evasively)—I was only trying to make a hit with her, your honor.—Judge.

A Substitute.

"I am sorry, my dear sir, but I neglected to bring my surgical instruments with me."

"That will be all right, doctor. The plumber who has been working in the cellar has left his tools here."—Exchange.

The Fatted Calf.

That mighty unfair trick of killing the fatted calf for the prodigal causes more family rows than anything else on earth except the division of father's money.—Atchison Globe.

A good conscience is to the mind what health is to the body.—Addison

PACKING UP THIS WEEK.

Roosevelt and Son Make Ready For African Trip.

FAMILY REUNION TO BE HELD.

Former President Provides Himself With Plenty of Wearing Apparel, Including Dozen Pairs of Shoes and Boots—Kermit's Photograph Outfit Is Model of Its Kind.

Oyster Bay, March 15.—Former President Roosevelt today enters upon the final week of his preparation for the Roosevelt-Smithsonian African expedition. It will be a busy week, as considerable packing of the personal outfits of Mr. Roosevelt and his son, Kermit, remains to be done, and business affairs of the former president also will require some of his time.

Farewells to numerous friends and relatives are to be said, and a visit to Hoboken is contemplated to inspect the party's quarters aboard the steamer and see that the outfit of the expedition is safely stowed away where it can be quickly reached and trans-shipped at Naples.

One day of the week will be devoted to a family reunion at Sagamore Hill. His duties as a magazine editor will take him to New York several times during the week.

Mr. Roosevelt and Kermit have provided themselves with a large supply of clothing for tropical wear. Mr. Roosevelt has over a dozen pairs of shoes and boots of leather and rubber. Khaki cloth is the principal material from which their outer clothing is made. Several suits made from waterproof material are included in each outfit. The rifles of Mr. Roosevelt and his son will receive more care than anything else in their equipment. These are enclosed in special cases, made completely watertight.

The photographic kit of the expedition, of which Kermit Roosevelt has charge, he being the official photographer, is a model of its kind. The young man is very proud of it and feels that the photographs he is to make are to be of as great importance as the specimens of animals his father will shoot for the national museaum. These photographs will form a scientific collection of themselves.

MANY ARRESTS MADE.

Palermo, Sicily, March 15.—The assassination of Lieutenant Petrosino has stirred the police to unprecedented activity. Many arrests already have been made.

The suspicions of the police are especially centered on two notorious criminals, one of whom is a thief of international reputation and the other an assassin to whose door are laid many crimes committed in New York. The latter was obliged to leave the United States because of the stringent watch kept upon him by Petrosino. The police will give no names.

New York, March 15.—There is a feeling of chagrin and even resentment at police headquarters that not one word regarding the murder of the noted New York detective had come from the Italian police, despite the fact that a cable had been sent them seeking certain information.

Inspector McCafferty said that he was particularly anxious to know if Petrosino had been robbed after being shot. He said that Petrosino had letters of instruction which, if stolen by the murderers, would reveal to the criminals just what plans the police of New York have on foot for apprehending "Black Hand" leaders.

Two Students Arrested.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 15.—Two students who gave the names of Ralph Johnson and John Dickens, but it is known these are not their right names, were arrested on a charge of assaulting the clerk at the St. James hotel here. Each of the young men were released after Dean Reed of the literary department of the university gav bonds for their appearance. Prof. Reed refused to divulge their identity.

LIVELY DOINGS AT SPRINGPORT

Electric Road Promoters Sought to Spring Coup de 'Etat by Laying Spur in Early Morning Hours—Road Commissioner Stops Proceedings and Destroys Work Already Done.

Saginaw, Mich., March 15.—There have been big doings at Springport, a village near here. For a time a fight between workmen employed in the construction of the Saginaw & Flint electric line and villagers was threatened.

For several days the railway company has had its men adding the finishing touches to the newly constructed road at that place. The power house being situated there necessitated the building of a spur leading from it to the main line. The village council had never been asked for permission to do this.

In the morning, long before the sun had made its appearance, a gang of workmen were set to work on the proposed spur, the company deciding the day before to lay one. They chose the main street as the most suitable place to lay the new track. Workmen drudged away, rushing the work as much as possible. Two hundred feet had been laid, completed ready for traffic, when Springport people awoke to the fact that their main business thoroughfare was being monopolized by a plug railway.

Herman Buckhardt, county road commissioner, and 200 villagers bombarded the scene of activity, and soon several teams of horses, wagons, treshing machine engines and other vehicles were occupying the newly laid track. A band of five or six left and soon returned with a small derrick and pulley apparatus. A heavy logging chain was attached to the rails and ties and the derrick put into action. Within a few minutes the entire track was piled in a heap beside the roadbed and the several hours' work of the railroad employes reduced to naught.

Alex. J. Groesbeck of Detroit, attorney for the new road, and General Manager Traver arrived on the scene too late. After a meeting with the village board, the railroad company decided to put their spur on the property already acquired by them.

DIES WHILE BRYAN SPEAKS

Woman Collapses During Nebraskan's Talk at Ann Arbor.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 15.—William Jennings Bryan was in the midst of an attack on the theory of evolution as advanced by Professor Charles Darwin, in University hall here, when a loud shriek from the balcony interrupted his address. An investigation revealed that Mrs. Mary Grimes, sixty-five years old, a resident of this city, had died of valvular disease of the heart. The woman was quickly removed to the home of her daughter-in-law.

Mrs. Grimes, with several friends, was occupying seats in about the center of the balcony. Dr. J. A. Wessinger, who was in the audience, rushed to her side as soon as the alarm was given.

Mrs. Grimes' death is thought to have been due to the closeness of the hall. The building was packed, every available chair and space being taken. Nearly 300 were turned away. Two other women fainted during the lecture.

Mr. Bryan's subject was the "Prince of Peace." He opened by stating that he would be in religion longer than he would be in politics and incidentally added that he would not be in the latter much longer. He spoke at considerable length on the skepticism of university students at the present time and said that there was altogether too much of this.

CONGRESS MEETS TO TALK TARIFF.

Extra Session Begun Today In Both Houses.

BILL READY FOR COMMITTEE.

Latter Body, Having Held Hearings on Measure, Will Not Retain It Long. Speaker Cannon Re-elected—He Shares Honors of the Day With Representative Payne.

Washington, March 15.—The coming together of the hands in the big clock in the hall of representatives at noon today and the fall of the speaker's gavel from the hand of Clerk McDowell marked the opening of the representatives' part of the extra session of the Sixty-first congress, called by proclamation of President Taft.

Today's proceedings in the house consisted mainly of organization. The senate is a continuous body and never dies, but when the house adjourned before the inauguration it passed out of existence. It was necessary, therefore, to attend today to such details as the swearing in of the members, the election of a speaker and other officials, the assignments of members to committees and the drawing for seats.

Although the president's proclamation, issued on March 6, did not state

the reason for the extra session, his message, prepared for transmission to the two houses at the beginning of the session, calls upon them to deliberate over the advisability of preparing and passing a new tariff law for the United States. In many previous utterances—notably in his inaugural address—President Taft has made known his conviction that the Republican members controlling the two houses should carry out the provision of the Chicago platform pledging the party to a tariff law affording protection to the industries of the nation "equal to the difference between the cost of production abroad and the cost of production here." For months the ways and means committee of the old house, most of whose members were re-elected, were busy with the preparation of a bill declared to embody that idea.

Speaker Cannon Re-elected.

Probably first in interest and importance among the events of today in the two houses was the re-election of Speaker Cannon. The old Republican "war horse" has been too strong for the house "insurgents," and his face wore a little smile of triumph as he ascended the rostrum after the announcement by the clerk of the vote re-electing him and thanked the members for the honor. In accordance with ancient custom the oath of office was administered to the speaker by the "father of the house." That honor belongs to General H. H. Bingham, who today began his thirtieth year of continuous service in the house.

Speaker Cannon had to share the honor of the most conspicuous place in the attention of the crowded galleries today with Representative Sereno E. Payne, chairman of the committee on ways and means. Mr. Payne is the "father" of the new tariff bill, and its unofficial title is "the Payne bill,".

After the organization of the house and the adoption of the rules, the house program included the offering by Mr. Payne of the new bill, the fruit of long hours of work by him and his conferers on the committee. The bill goes for consideration to the new committee on ways and means, from whose hands it will soon emerge with the committee's "O. K." attached. The long hearings, during which such prominent men as Andrew Carnegie, Elbert H. Gary, Charles M. Schwab and others appeared before the committee, convinced that body that the country would welcome a speedy report on the bill, and the measure will therefore not be allowed to linger in the committee room.

The committee hearings on the proposed new bill, which is now ready for the consideration of congress, filled six week and were, according to Bourke Cockran, one of the Democratic members of the committee, "the most extensive and the fairest that were ever held for the purpose of revising the tariff." More than 300 men interested in the revision of the tariff appeared before the committee. They embraced importers and exporters, manufacturers, farmers and others. Included in their interests were an exceedingly wide variety of businesses. Government experts and other statisticians were also called upon to furnish information to the committee. Probably the most interesting witness was Mr. Carnegie, who had declared in a magazine article his belief that the iron and steel industry of America no longer needed protection. Judge Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, declared that the independent manufacturers needed high duties to protect them against monopoly of the trade. Among the other trades represented at the hearings were the lumber, wool, paper, sugar and fruit industries. In practically every case arguments for and against the continuance of high protective duties were advanced, placing on the members of the committee the burden of decision. The result of their deliberations has been guarded with great care. Despite forecasts of the contents of the bill alleged to be authoritative, few besides its authors know which schedules are to remain unchanged, which are to be advanced and which are to be lowered.

Senate Also In Session.

The senate also convened today, but for some time its sessions will not be as important as those of the house. According to the constitution, the tariff bill which is the end and aim of the extra session must originate in the house and be passed by that body before it goes to the senate for approval. After it reaches the senate what that august body does to it in committee and in open session become of importance and interest.

The senate has been in continuous session since March 4. After the formal reading today of the president's proclamation calling the two houses together a committee was appointed by Vice President Sherman to wait on the president and inform him that the senate was ready to receive any communication he might be pleased to send. A recess was declared until the president's message should come.

LIVELY DISCUSSION ENSUES

Veteran Publisher's Talk Arouses Ire of His Listeners.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 15.—Life fh plenty was injected into a meeting of the religion and life class of the All Souls' church, the most fashionable here, Sunday, when Edmund W. Booth, publisher of the Evening Press of this city took exception to the statements of S. White, veteran newspaper man and publisher, in his lecture on "The Influence of the Public Opinion by Suppression and the Coloring of News."

"Mr. White, do you believe the statements you have quoted to be true?" he asked.

"I certainly do or I would not have quoted them," White replied.

At that Mr. Booth would have left the church had not Judge Perkins of the circuit court placed a restraining hand on his arm and argued that it would be better to stay and take part in a following discussion.

"I consider not only myself, but the newspaper fraternity in general insulted by Mr. White's remarks," declared Mr. Booth.

In a discussion which followed everyone took part, even the ladies, but the final consensus of opinion was that while the newspaper might print some things which might be better left in the dark, yet the general trend of the talk was for the common welfare of the state and nation and a partial compromise in favor of the newspapers. During the argument many heated statements were made, but the session finally ended amicably.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's catarrh is the only positive cure now known to the fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The trouble with most schemes is the inability of their author to harness them to a practical whiffletree.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderfully merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. in dark, wavin' nees arms tak he's callin' me, till he fall down. W'en I paddle close up I dou' know 'im no more dan stranger, an' me an' Johnnie Platt is trap togeder wan winter. W'at you t'ink of dat?"

"Hello!" I say. 'W'at's de matter? An' den I see somet'ing 'bout 'im dat look familiar. Hees face she's all swell' up an' bleedin' lak raw meat." The Frenchman curled his upper lip back from his teeth and shook his head at the remembrance.

"Jesu, dat's 'orrible sight! Dem fly is drive 'im crazee. Hees nose an' ears is look lak holes in beeg red sponge, an' hees eye are close up tight."

"He died before you got him in, didn't he?"

"Yes. He was good man too."

"I guess you been purty glad for havin' Necia home again, eh?" ventured Poleon after awhile, unable to avoid any longer the subject uppermost in his mind.

"Yes. I'm glad she's through with her schooling."

"That's right."

"By an' by she's goin' marry on some feller—w'at?"

"I suppose so. She ain't the kind to stay single."

"Waal, waal! Dere's no trouble 'bout dat," exclaimed Doret fervently. "No man w'at's livin' could treat her bad. She's too good an' too purty for have bad husban'."

"She is, is she?" Gale turned on him with a strange glare in his eyes. "Them's the kind that get the he devils. There's something about a good girl that attracts a bad man, particularly if she's pretty, and it goes double too. The good men get the hellions. A fellow can't get so tough but what he can catch a good woman, and a decent man usually draws a critter that looks like a sled and acts like a timber wolf."

"Necia wouldn't marry on no bad man," said Doret positively.

Neither man had ever spoken thus openly to the other about Necia before, and, although their language was indirect, each knew the other's thought. But there was no time for further talk now, for the others were close upon them. As they came into view Gale exclaimed:

"Well, if Lee hasn't brought Runnion along!"

The three new arrivals dropped down upon the moss to rest, for the up trail was heavy. Lee was the first to speak.

"Did you get away without bein' seen?" he asked.

"Sure," answered Gale. "Poleon has been here two hours."

Runnion volunteered nothing except oaths at the mosquitoes and at his pack straps, which were new and cut him already. As no explanation of his presence was offered, neither the trader nor Doret made any comment then, but it came out later, when the old miner dropped far enough behind the others to render conversation possible.

"You decided to take in another one, eh?" Gale asked Lee.

"It wasn't exactly my doin's," replied the miner. "Stark asked me to let Runnion come 'long, bein' as he had grub staked him, and he seemed so set on it that I ackeressed. You see, it's the first chance I ever had to pay him back for a favor he done me in the Cassiar country. There's plenty of land to go around."

It was Lee's affair, thought the trader, and he might tell whom he liked, so he said no more, but fell to studying the back of the man next in front, who happened to be Stark, observing every move and trick of him and during the frequent pauses making a point of listening and watching him guardedly.

All through the afternoon the five men wound up the valley, following one another's footsteps, emerging from somber thickets of fir to flounder across wide pastures of "nigger heads" that wabbled and wriggled and bowed beneath their feet until, at cost of much effort and profanity, they gained the firmer footing of the forest. At one point Stark, hot and irritable, remarked:

"There must be a shorter cut than this, Lee?"

"I reckon there is," the miner replied, "but I've always had a pack to carry, so I chose level ground rather than climb the divides."

"S'pose dose people at camp hear 'bout dis strike an' beat us in?" suggested Poleon.

"It wouldn't be easy going for them after they got there," Stark said sourly. "I for one wouldn't stand for it."

"Nor I," agreed Runnion.

"I don't see how you'd help yourself," the trader remarked. "One man's got as good a right as another."

"I guess I'd help myself, all right," Stark laughed significantly, as did Runnion, who added:

"Lee is entitled to put in anybody he wants on his own discovery, and if anybody tries to get ahead of us there's liable to be trouble."

"I reckon if I don't know no short cut nobody else does," Lee remarked whereupon Doret spoke up reassuringly.

"Dere's no use gettin' scare' lak dat, because nobody knows w'ere Lee's creek she's locate' but John an' me, an' dere's nobody w'at knows he mak' de strike but us four."

"That's right," said Gale. "The only other way across is by Black Bear creek, and there ain't a half dozen men ever been up to the head of that stream, much less over the divide, so I don't allow there's any use to fret ourselves."

They went on their way, traveling leisurely until late evening, when they camped at the mouth of the valley up which the miner's cabin lay. Camp had been made early at Gale's suggestion instead of pushing on a few miles farther, as Lee had intended, and now, when the cool evening fell and the draft quickened, it became possible to lay off gloves and headgear, so they sat about the fire, talking, smoking and rubbing their tired feet.

It is at such hours and in the smoke of such fires that men bark backward and bring forth the sacred, time worn memories they have treasured to turn them over fondly by the glow of dying embers.

"No Creek" Lee, the one eyed miner who had made this lucky strike, told in simple words of his long and solitary quest, when ill luck had risen with him at the dawn and misfortune had stalked beside him as he drifted and drank from camp to camp, while the gloom of a settled pessimism soured him, and men began to shun him because of the evil that seemed to follow in his steps.

"I've been rainbow chasin' forty years," he said, "and never caught nothin' but cramps and epidemics and inflammations. I'm the only miner in Alaska that never made a discovery of gold and never had a creek named after him."

"Is that how you got your name?" asked Runnion.

"It is. I never was no good to myself nor nobody else. I just occupied space."

Finally Gale arose, remarking sleepily that it was time to turn in if they wished to get any rest before the mosquitoes got bad again, then sauntered away from the fire and spread his blanket. The rest followed and made down their beds, then, drawing on gloves and hat nets and rolling themselves up in their coverings, fell to snoring—all except the trader, who lay for hours on his back staring up at the stars, as if trying to solve some riddle that baffled him.

They awoke early and in half an hour had eaten, remade their packs and were ready to resume their march. As they were about to start Gale said:

"I reckon we'd better settle right now who has the choice of locations when we get up yonder. I've been on stampedes where it saved a heap of hard feeling."

"I'm agreeable," said Stark. "Then there won't be any misunderstanding."

The others, being likewise old at the game, acquiesced. They knew that in such cases grave trouble has often occurred when two men have cast eyes on the same claim and have felt the miner's causeless "hunch" that gold lies here or there or that the ground one of them covets is wanted by the other.

"I'll hold the straws," said Lee, "and every feller will have an even break." Turning his back on the others, he cut four splinters of varying lengths, and, arranging them so that the ends peeped evenly from his big hand, he held them out.

"The longest one has the first choice, and so on," he said, presenting them to Gale, who promptly drew the longest of the four. He turned to Doret, but the Frenchman waved him courteously to Stark, and when both he and Runnion had made their choice Lee handed him the remaining one, which was next in length to that of the trader. Stark and Runnion qualified in the order they drew, the latter cursing his evil luck.

They took up their burdens again and filed toward the narrow valley.

CHAPTER VI.

THE BURRELL CODE.

NOT until his dying day will Burrell lose the memory of that march with Necia through the untrodden valley, and yet its incidents were never clear cut nor distinct when he looked back upon them, but blended into one dreamlike procession, as if he wandered through some calenture where every image was delightfully distorted and each act deliciously unreal, yet all the sweeter from its fleeting unreality. They talked and laughed and sang with a rush of spirits as untamed as the waters in the course they followed. They wandered hand in hand into a land of illusions, where there was nothing real but love and nothing tangible but joy.

They held to the bed of the stream, for its volume was low and enabled them to ford it from bar to bar.

They had become so intimate by now as to fall into a whimsical mode of speech, and Necia reverted to a childish habit in her talk that brought many a smile to the youth's face. It had been her fancy as a little girl to speak in adjectives, ignoring many of her nouns, and its quaintness had so amused her father that on rare occasions, when the humor was on him, he also took it up. She now addressed herself to Burrell in the same manner.

"I think we are very smarts to come so far," she said.

"You travel like a deer," he declared admiringly. "Why, you have tired me down." Removing his pack, he stretched his arms and shook out the ache in his shoulders.

He built a fire, then fetched a bucket of water from a rill that trickled down among the rocks near by. He made as if to prepare their meal, but she would have none of it.

"Bigs should never cook," she declared. "That work belongs to littles," then forced him to vacate her domain and turn himself to the manlier duties of chopping wood and boughs.

First, however, she showed him how to place two green foot logs upon which the teapot and the frying pan would sit without upsetting and how long she wished the sticks of cooking wood. Then she banished him, as it were, and he built a wickiup of spruce tops, under the shelter of which he piled thick, fragrant billows of "Yukon feathers."

He filled his chest deeply and leaned on his ax, for he found himself shaking as if under the spell of some great expectancy.

"Your supper is getting cold," she called to him.

He took a seat beside her on a pile of boughs where the smoke was least troublesome. He had chosen a spot that was sheltered by a lichen covered ledge, and this low wall behind, with the wickiup joining it, formed an inclosure that lent them a certain air of privacy. They ate ravenously and drank deep cupfuls of the unflavored tea. By the time they were finished the night had fallen, and the air was just cool enough to make the fire agreeable. Burrell heaped on more wood and stretched out beside her.

"This day has been so wonderful," said the girl, "that I shall never go to sleep. I can't bear to end it."

"But you must be weary, little maid," he said gently. "I am."

"Wait. Let me see." She stretched her limbs and moved slightly to try her muscles. "Yes, I am very tired, but not the kind of tired that makes you want to go to bed. I want to talk, talk, talk, and not about ourselves either, but about sensibles. Tell me about your people—your sister."

He had expected her to ask this, for the subject seemed to have an inexhaustible charm for her. She would sit rapt and motionless as long as he cared to talk of his sister, in her wide, meditative eyes the shadow of a great unvoiced longing. He told her of his father, the crotchety old soldier whose absurd sense of duty and whose elaborate southern courtesy had become a byword in the south. He told her household tales that were prized like pieces of the Burrell plate, beautiful heirlooms of sentiment that mark the honor of high blooded houses, following which there was much to recount of the Meades, from the admiral who fought as a boy in the bay of Tripoli down to the cousin who was at Annapolis, the while his listener hung upon his words hungrily, her mind so quick in pursuit of his that it spurred him unconsciously, her great, dark eyes half closed in silent laughter or wide with wonder, and in them always the warmth of the leaping firelight, blended with the trust of a newborn virginal love.

Then he began to laugh silently.

"What is it?" she said curiously.

"Oh, nothing! I was just wondering what my straitlaced ancestors would say if they could see me now."

"What do you mean?" the girl asked in open eyed wonderment.

"I don't care," he went on, unheeding her question. "They did worse things in their time, from what I hear." He leaned forward to draw her to him.

"Worse things! But we are doing nothing bad," said Necia, holding him off. "There's no wrong in loving."

"Of course not," he assured her.

"I am proud of it," she declared. "It is the finest thing, the greatest thing, that has ever come into my life. Why, I simply can't hold it. I want to sing it to the stars and cry it out to the whole world. Don't you?"

"I hardly think we'd better advertise," he said dryly.

"Why not?"

"Well, I shouldn't care to publish the tale of this excursion of ours. Would you?"

"I don't see any reason against it. I have often taken trips with Poleon and been gone with him for days and days at a time."

"But you were not a woman then," he said softly.

"No, not until today, that's true. Dear, dear, how I did grow all of a sudden! And yet I'm just the same as I was yesterday, and I'll always be the same, just a wild little. Please don't ever let me be a big tame. I don't want to be commonplace and ordinary. I want to be natural—and good."

"You couldn't be like other women," he declared, and there was more ten-

Simplicity is a conspicuous feature of the modern dinner-party; even a large and important entertainment is not so elaborate as it was in the days of our grandparents, who lived in a more bountiful age. A few courses—eight or ten—is now the standard. An exquisite service is the ideal, and the hostess is allowed a great liberty of choice in her menu. The English custom of serving the hostess first is one it is wise to imitate. It enables her to see that the course is satisfactory before it is passed to her guests, and with an untrained servant it gives a definite point upon which to begin operations. The custom of refusing a course, which was at one time allowed, is now never permitted, nor can we be allowed to turn down our wine glasses when a word to the butler is sufficient to have the glasses left unfilled.—The March Designer.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds! It strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

In the Woman's Home Companion for March, Fannie Merritt Farmer gives some tried recipes for old-fashioned goodies. For those who have supper at night Sally-Lunn Tea Cakes are always popular. They taste just as good for a breakfast or luncheon bread to us who have dinner at night, and therefore do not need to plan for supper dishes. Put two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and one half teaspoonful of salt in a bowl, and pour on one cupful of scalded milk. When luke warm add one half yeast cake dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of luke warm water, three well-beaten eggs and enough bread flour (once sifted) to make a stiff batter, the amount required being about two and one fourth cupfuls. Cover, and let rise until very light. Pour into buttered tin or tins, again let rise, and bake in a hot oven. This mixture may be baked in a sheet, in muffin rings or in iron gem pans.

THE HOME TALENT PLAY.

"The Folks Up Willow Creek" last Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Many local talent entertainments have been given in Tecumseh, but seldom, if ever, before has a play of anything like the scope and difficulty of "The Folks Up Willow Creek" been attempted here by home talent. Considering this, and also that only four nights of rehearsal were possible under the supervision of Director Frank Davidson, the production was really remarkable and to be warmly commended. The play was, certainly worthy of a much larger audience than greeted it either evening. The "first nighters" were well pleased, many being heard to remark that it was the best local talent play ever seen here, and better than many professional shows which have held the New Bradley boards, though it is a matter of surprise and regret that they did not play to a crowded house on Saturday evening.

It would be difficult to pick the work of any one as excelling the rest. All were good.

Miss Margaret Furgeson as Jennie, the waif, was excellent. In good voice, full of spirit and "go," her portrayal of the loyal, impetuous little girl was irresistable.

The part of Joan, spinster house keeper for Darby, was taken by Miss Adah Denny. Miss Denny made the part a very attractive one and it was not surprising that Darby and Silas Gunder fall victims to her charms. Her love scene with Silas was one of the happiest bits of the play.

Chas Skinner's "Silas Gander, from way up the Creek," was a scream. His work as lover, and as the new constable brought down the house.

As Felice, Sister of the Refuge, Miss Allie Landon was fine. The part was comparitively short, but Miss Landon's work made it one of the strong characters of the play.

Another short but very strong piece of work was the Paoli of Ellsworth Ellis. His acting of this difficult part was excellent.

As Landers, Sheldon Southwick was the villian. This was a difficult character, both in lines and action, and Mr. Southwick acquitted himself very well indeed.

Earl Coller as Ketchem, a lawyer, old, mean and crooked, had a very exacting part and played it very creditably.

Mr. Frank Davidson, the professional in charge, was exceptionally good, in his parts. All special scenery was used.

READ THE LABEL.

Under the Pure Food Laws baking powder labels now show the ingredients of which the powder is made

Those who appreciate the importance to health and good baking of using a pure cream of tartar powder will read the back of the label carefully and make sure that the ingredients mentioned include cream of tartar.

The food law does not force consumers; it merely helps them to protect themselves. All good housekeepers want cream of tartar baking powders, and will not use alum substitutes in the food, if they know it. As the ingredients are printed on the back of the label, all may know the facts.

Good baking powder is one of the most useful things in the kitchen; it is easily obtained at any store; the better it is, the more economical it is in cooking materials, and the more it conserves the health of the family.

PYTHIAN SISTERS.

Eva L. Dunning, humorous and dramatic reader will be at the K. of P. hall, Friday, March 19th under the auspices of the Pythian Sisters. She will be assisted by local talent and the following program will be given:

1. Violin Solo—Duaine Service.
2. Duet—Miss McKinney and Mr. Ellis.
3. Solo—Edna Gaston.
4. Instrumental Duet—Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Hodges.

INTERESTING FACTS

B. J. Pulver, the druggist, Offer to Cure Catarrh. The Medicine Costs Nothing If They Fail.

When a medicine effects a cure in 98 per cent of cases, and when we offer that medicine on our own personal guarantee that it will cost the user nothing if it does not cure Catarrh, it is only reasonable that people should believe us, or at least put our claim to a practical test when we take all the risk. These are facts which we want the people of Tecumseh to substantiate. We want them to try Rexall Mucu-Tone, a medicine prepared from a prescription of a physician whose specially was Catarrh, and who has a record of thirty years of cures to his credit.

We sell more bottles and receive more good reports about Rexall Mucu-Tone than we do of all other catarrh remedies sold in our store, and if more people only knew what a thoroughly dependable remedy Rexall Mucu-Tone is, it would be the only catarrh medicine we would have any demand for.

Rexall Mucu Tone is quickly absorbed and carried by the blood until it thoroughly disinfects and cleanses the entire mucous membranous tract, destroys and removes the parasites which injure and destroy the membranous tissues, soothes and heals the irritation and soreness, stops the mucous discharge, and builds up strength, healthy tissue, relieves the blood and system of diseased matter, stimulates the muco cells, aids digestion and improves nutrition until the whole body vibrates with healthy activity. In a comparatively short time there is a most noticeable gain in weight, strength, good color and feeling of buoyancy.

We urge you to try Mucu-Tone, beginning a treatment today. At any time you are not satisfied, simply come and tell us, and we will quickly return your money without question or quibble. We have Rexall Mucu-Tone in two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. B. J. Pulver, the druggist.

L. O. T. M. M.

At a Special Meeting Last Night, the Local Hive Entertained Sister Hives.

Britton and Holloway responding to the invitation with about 50 members.

A special meeting of Tecumseh Hive, L. O. T. M. M. was held in Odd Fellow hall last evening. Invitations had been sent out to the hives in Britton and Holloway, about fifty responding. At 8 o'clock the work of the order was exemplified upon one candidate, Mrs. Ella Brisbin.

At the close of the work, the guards of the local hive gave their drill. Under the head of the "good of the order" remarks were made by different members of the visiting hives, each one paying a tribute to the officers and guards of the local hive, for their efficient work in exemplifying the degrees of the order.

Song—Bessie Pool.

Song, "My Idaho"—Edna Gaston, which was acted out by eight of the Maccabee ladies, four dressed as cow boys and four as Indian Maidens.

Instrumental Solo—Edna Lucas.

A dance was then executed by two of the members of the local hive, dressed as chickens, which created a great deal of merriment.

A delightful two course supper was served, by a special committee, to which 140 visitors and local members did ample justice.

The ladies of the local hive spared neither pains nor expense in making this affair a success, and their efforts were certainly rewarded. Dancing completed the evening's pleasure.

DESPONDENCY

And Old Age Caused Dr. Elwood T. White to Attempt to Take His Life Friday.

RESULTING IN HIS DEATH SATURDAY NIGHT.

Funeral held Monday afternoon.

Despondency and old age, caused Elwood White to attempt to take his life Friday night, which act, resulted in his death Saturday night about midnight.

Dr White was born near Trenton, N. J. on the 4th day of October, 1829, and came to Michigan with his parents when quite young. He was reared at the farm home of his parents in Raisin township and began his education in Tecumseh. He began reading medicine under Dr. Patterson of Tecumseh, then a prominent member of the medical profession, but now deceased, and afterward he entered the medical department at Ann Arbor college and was graduated from there in 1856.

Immediately upon leaving college he went to Adeline, Ogle Co., Ill., and began the practice of medicine, remaining there for 6 years. Leaving Adeline, he went to Dixon, Ill., where he practiced for some time, and then removed to Napoleon, Jackson county, Mich. After remaining there three years he came to the farm of his father in Raisin township, withdrew from the practice of medicine to devote the remainder of his life to farming.

Dr. White was married at Mt. Morris, on Sept. 15, 1857, to Miss Sarah Newman, a native of Pennsylvania, who was born near Chambersburg, March 10, 1829. She was educated in Maryland. Four children were born of this union, two of whom are living Alva, residing in Tecumseh, and Charles who lives in Edon, O. The names of the deceased were Elwood P, and Katie.

Mrs. White departed this life several years ago.

Dr. White was a man of a large general information, and one of the most companionable men in this section of the country. His sad death is regretted by a large number of friends.

The funeral was held from the home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and was largely attended. Rev. Cheney of the Friends church, officiated. The remains were laid at rest in Brookside cemetery.

MRS. HIRAM LEONARD.

Word was received here today of the sad death of Mrs. Hiram Leonard which occurred at Gage, Oklahoma, last Thursday of pneumonia. Mrs. Leonard was a former resident of Franklin, leaving there about 20 years ago for the west. Her husband died a year ago last October. She leaves three sons, Edward and Will Leonard, of Gage, Oklahoma, and Freemont Leonard of Monessen.

COUNCIL

The Policy for the New Year Outlined by the New President.

Will be presented Wednesday evening, at the council meeting.

Through an error, the council did not meet Monday night, but will meet Wednesday night instead. We give below the address that Mr. Wightman will deliver to the members of the council at this meeting, outlining the policy he will persue during the coming year. With such a policy, we think the coming administration of J. W. Wightman will certainly be successful

Gentlemen of the Council:—

I suppose you will be looking for me to say something on this occasion as an outline of the policy that we expect to persue: first, as to the appointments of those which it divolves upon me to make. Before the time for those appointments to be made shall have arrived, I am going to ask you gentlemen to meet with me and take into consideration the names that I have under consideration, and give me your best judgment, as to who will best serve the interests of the people of this Village. I am also going to ask you to consider with me what the needs of the different departments of the village government will be for the ensuing year, and I am not going to ask you to make any penurious appropriations, but that you will recommend what in your best judgment will be necessary to raise by taxation for the different departments

It is my judgment, gentlemen, that this question of running the village government in an economical and business like manner can best be settled by harmonious action of this board, it seems to me very clear, that no measure should be passed by this board without a thorough understanding of the results of our action before it is passed. I do not think that any arbitrary action should be taken by the President, or by the Council, but that all measures should have due consideration, and that all things that are done by us as the representatives of the people should be done as our best judgment directs. It seems to me that it is necessary for a system of sewerage in the business portion of this village, and if there should come to us in any authenticated manner, a request that a sewer be constructed in the business portion of the village, I will cheerfully and heartily recommend such steps to be taken as I understand to be necessary, or preliminary, to the construction of such sewer; first, there are some obstacles to be overcome, which in the consideration of a matter as important as the sewer question, will require considerable work of a committee who will necessarily have to be pretty diplomatic.

For illustration, I have positive knowledge that the inhabitants of the Township of Raisin have instructed their supervisor, that as soon as any action was taken by this Village to turn sewerage into the River Raisin, to commence a proceeding by injunction to restrain the same, therefore, I can see very clearly that there are some obstacles to be cleared away, or at least ought to be cleared away, before any action is taken by us for the expenditure of any considerable sum of the people's money.

We are aware of the dissatisfaction that has exhisted over the expenditure of so much money, we are also aware that our tax rate has reached a higher point during the past two years than ever before in the sixty odd years that Tecumseh has had an existance as a Village. It is my earnest desire, that we should so conduct the affairs of the Village that during our term of office, and when we shall retire from office, there shall not be grounds for such fault finding and villification of our friends and neighbors as has been current here during the past.

I am heartily in favor of keeping our streets, parks, public buildings and public grounds, in good condition, and I believe I thoroughly understand that in order to do so we must raise a sufficient amount of money to pay for the work, and in this connection allow me to make this statement, in making appointments my understanding is that all appointments made on my recommendation, the responsibility rests entirely upon me, and I now state that should any appointee recommended by me, fail to do his duty and preform the service for which he is appointed in a manner that is commensurate with the pay he is drawing from the Village Treasury, I shall at once ask you gentlemen to take the necessary steps to remove him from office. It is not my desire to appoint any man to office who is so radical on any subject that he is liable to enforce his own ideas regardless of the rights of others, and in that connection allow me to state here that I have been appraised of the talk that is going around in relation to the question of saloons.

It is my judgment, gentlemen, that while the Legislature of the State sees fit to keep the liquor laws of the State upon the statute books as they are today, the saloon has the same rights under the law that any other business has, and that all I shall ask of the saloon men is a compliance with the law. I shall expect them to observe the hours for opening and closing their places of business. I shall expect them to close on Sundays and on all legal holidays as the law requires, and I shall expect them, and I believe that every one of them understand that the word "closed" in the sense used here, means front doors and back doors.

There are many other questions that to my mind is very important to the welfare of this Village, but I do not think it best at this time to discuss all of these questions, but as time passes and we are led by circumstances up to these other questions. I shall try to recommend them to you in such a manner that we may all get a thorough understanding of the question before us. And I do sincerely hope, gentlemen, that at no time during this year any member of this council will discuss any matter in such a way as to make any feeling between members of this council. A good long experience has taught me that the only way to arrive at intelligent conclusions is by fair dispassionate discussion of the question always with the idea in view that the majority have the right to rule and that we should cheerfully acquiesce in the same.

A CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Tecumseh Readers.

For months Tecumseh citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Tecumseh residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elasped if the personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time. The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Tecumseh reader.

Mrs. Sarah E. Austin, Pearl St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "About three years ago I was suffering from kidney trouble and rheumatism. I had severe pains in the small of my back and the kidney secretions passed so frequently as to cause me great annoyance. When someone told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and they helped me so much that I continued their use. I have taken this remedy since when my kidneys have troubled me and I have always found the best of results. I willingly allow my name to be used again in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

For Sale by all Dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sole Agents for the United States.

The Magnet as a Detective.

In America the magnet has come rather extensively into use in the handling of iron and steel castings. Suspended from a locomotive crane, it can also be used for collecting scraps of metal from floors and yards. Large amounts are said to be saved in this way. And as the magnet moves over the ground it may bring to light pieces which have mysteriously disappeared—so needed, it may be, by employees to hide blunders in their work. Some years ago in England the magnet was found useful in a somewhat similar way in the detection of fraud. Manufacturers of bone manure found that they were buying old iron along with the bones. Collectors found that it was profitable to insert bits of old metal in the larger bones and thus increase the weight. So the manufacturers provided themselves with a powerful magnetic apparatus under which all the bones were passed before being weighed. As the bones were slid along a broad groove a large one would suddenly jump up and cling to the wall where the magnet was concealed. On examination it would be found to contain perhaps a rusty old poker in place of marrow.—London Globe.

"Thou Diest on Point of Fox."

Fox blades were celebrated all through the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries for their excellent temper, and mention of them is frequent in English drama. This is their history:

There was a certain Julian del Rei, believed to be a Morisco, who set up a forge at Toledo in the early part of the sixteenth century and became famous for the excellence of his sword blades, which were regarded as the best of Toledo. That city had for many ages previous been renowned for swordmaking, it being supposed that the Moors introduced the art, as they did so many good things, from the east.

Julian del Rei's mark was a little dog, which came to be taken for a fox, and so the "fox blade" or simply "fox" for any good sword. See "Henry V.," act 4, scene 4, "Thou diest on point of fox." The brand came to be imitated in other places, and there are Solingen blades of comparatively modern manufacture which still bear the little dog of Julian del Rei.—London Notes and Queries.

A Royal Snake Slaughterer.

The "secretary bird" is one of the most precious birds in South Africa. It is royal game, and any person destroying one is liable to a fine of £50. Majestic looking birds, they stand about three feet high and generally go in pairs. They are of drab color, with black, feathery legs, and are valued for their propensity for killing snakes. Where the secretary bird is seen there are sure to be many reptiles about. The bird beats down its adversary first with one wing and then with the other, at the same time trampling on it with its feet until the snake is sufficiently stunned to catch it by the head with its claws. Then the bird rises far up in the air and drops its victim to the ground, to be killed. By this means thousands of venomous reptiles are destroyed.—London Scraps.

Overplayed His Hand.

"Sir," began the bumptious applicant for a job, "I have been told that you are looking for a clerk."

"So I am," answered the man at the desk.

"I suppose you want a person who neither smokes, drinks nor swears and never engages in games of chance; one whose character is the best; one who is honest, industrious and thoroughly capable; one who will stop at nothing, consistent with his principles, to further the interests of his employer. In short, a brisk, intelligent all around man who knows business from A to Z and will never be caught napping? If so, I am the individual you are looking for."

"You will pardon my diffidence, I hope," said the man at the desk. "If you are half as competent as you claim to be I feel myself unworthy of becoming your boss. Good morning!"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Headache?

If it does, you should try Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. Why not do so. They will relieve the pain in just a few minutes. Ask your druggist There are 45,000 druggists in the U. S. Ask any of them. A package of 25 doses costs 25 cents. One tablet usually stops a headache. They relieve pain without leaving any disagreeable after-effects—isn't that what you want?

"My son Frank Snyder has used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for a long time. He never had anything to help him so much for headache. A year ago he came home, and I was down sick with such a dreadful nervous headache. He gave me one of the Anti-Pain Pills, and after while I took another and was entirely relieved. I always keep them in the house now, and gave many away to others suffering with headache."

What Travelers Leave.

"Of the thousand and eight things left at hotels from time to time," remarked the hotel clerk, "razor strops have the other commodities pushed across the border in point of numbers. About 10 per cent of the people who have razor strops in their grips leave them behind. Of course the reason is that the strop is hanging up on a nail out of sight somewhere when the man packs up, and he doesn't think about it. His comb and brush are right on the dresser before him, and that's easy.

"Next to razor strops, though not hustling the strops for position, come the nighties of both genders. A good many send back after them, but a lot more people who leave them behind just abandon them. After so long we give them to charitable institutions. Then there are toothbrushes, slippers, combs, curling irons, soap boxes, clothesbrushes and a list of other things left behind longer than an expense account every month. People are just that forgetful."—New York Press.

Told It in Rhyme.

The late Rev. John Skinner, author of "Annals of Scottish Episcopacy," was first appointed to a charge in Montrose, whence he was removed to Banff, and ultimately to Forfar. After he had left Montrose it reached his ears that an ill natured insinuation was circulating there that he had been induced to leave this town by the temptation of a better income and of fat pork, which, it would appear, was plentiful in the locality of his new incumbency. Indignant at such an aspersion, he wrote a letter, directed to his maligners, vindicating himself sharply from it, which he showed to his grandfather, John Skinner of Langside, for his approval. The old gentleman objected to it as too lengthy and proposed the following pithy substitute:

Had Skinner been of carnal mind,
As strangely ye suppose,
Or had he even been fond of swine

Learning English.

The essential difference between the signification of words and terms in the English tongue which are almost the same in etymology and origin is a great element of difficulty to a foreigner who is learning the language, a fact to which a certain attache of a foreign mission at Washington recently testified.

When the budding diplomatist in question arrived at our national capital a year or two ago he soon capitulated to the charms of a young woman of the official set, and they speedily became the best of friends. A month or so ago the attache returned to this country after a lengthy leave of absence passed in his own land. About the first thing he did on reaching Washington was to send a note to the lady of his admiration, wherein, to her astonishment and indignation, he gave expression to this sentiment:

"Once more, my dear friend, I shall gaze upon your unmatched eyes."—Harper's Magazine.

The Origin of the Periwig.

The periwig, which played so important a part in the toilet of a man of fashion during part of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, owed its origin to Louis XIV. of France. When a little boy (he succeeded to the throne at five years of age) he possessed a profusion of remarkably beautiful waving hair which fell in clustering curls over his shoulders. The courtiers imitated the boy king by having heads of false hair to imitate his natural locks, and when Louis grew up he adopted the periwig himself.

During the reign of William and Mary periwigs were worn in exaggerated dimensions, and the beaux used to comb their wigs in public with special combs of ivory and tortoise shell, which became at last quite indispensable to these fine gentlemen.

The Precise Scientist.

A Pennsylvania official said of a noted Philadelphia scientist:

"He is the most exact man I ever met. He believes in nothing but proved facts. Continually he pins you down.

"One day I said to him:

"'Cannibalism—what an abomination! To eat of human flesh! Br-r-r!'

"The old scientist frowned.

"'Pardon me, but have you ever eaten of human flesh?' he said severely.

"'No,' said I.

"'Well, then,' he demanded, 'why do you speak of things that you know nothing at all about?'"—Philadelphia Record.

One Needed Rest.

"Your husband needs rest, madam," said the doctor.

"I know it!" she exclaimed triumphantly. "I've told it to him forty times a day for the last two months if I have told it to him once. I've just kept telling it to him all the time. John, how many times have I told you that you need rest?"

"On second thought," interrupted the doctor, "perhaps it would be better if you rested."

Troubled Even in Death.

"How is this? I thought you disliked your mother-in-law, and here you are carrying flowers to her grave?"

"Exactly! She hated 'em."—Journal Amusant.

A Constipation Remedy Free

There is no action of your daily life of greater importance than to see that your bowels move. They should move at least once a day naturally, and by that is meant without any help. If they do not move at least once a day you can consider yourself constipated and it is time you did something about it.

You will be glad to know there is a way out of the difficulty. Lemuel Landerdale, an old soldier at Quincy, Ill., Elmer McMillan, of Speed, Mo., Mrs. Monahon, of Stonewall, Miss., and many others were as you are now. But one day they awoke to the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin was curing their friends, so they bought it too and it cured them. Today they are loud in praise of it.

What Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin did for them it should do for you. Surely your constipation is no worse than theirs, one of whom had it since '61. It only remains for you to realize that salts are of but temporary good, and what you want is a permanent cure; that purgative tablets, cathartic pills and such violent things make a great show of doing something, but do nothing that is lasting. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientific preparation, a laxative tonic, a mild syrupy liquid that contains ingredients that not only cure the constipation, but tone the intestinal muscles so that they learn again to work without help. A bottle can be bought of any druggist for the small price of 50 cents, and there is a dollar size for families who have already found out its wonderful value in stomach, liver and bowel troubles, in old or young.

Send your name and address to the doctor and a free trial bottle will be sent you so that you can test it before buying.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Carving a Hippopotamus.

To cut up a hippopotamus is no easy task. In some places the hide is almost two and a half inches thick, and before you have got through a hand's breadth your knife has completely lost its edge and requires to be resharpened. The head and the feet are put on one side to be preserved as trophies of the chase, while the remainder of the flesh is cut into long, thin strips, which, after they have been dried by hanging them on the tree branches, will keep good for a very long time. The ivory of the teeth and tusks, which is of very fine quality, used to be employed almost exclusively in the manufacture of false teeth. Nowadays, says the Wide World Magazine, it is turned to all the purposes of ordinary ivory. As for the hide, cut into strips it is made into sticks, which are as good defensive weapons as one could wish to possess. Treated with oil, they become transparent as tortoise shell and look quite pretty. Out of hippopotamus hide bullock drivers likewise make thongs for their whips which are positively everlasting and fetch relatively speaking quite a good

STOCK QUARANTINE IS LIFTED TODAY.

Government Removes Remaining Restrictions In State.

Detroit, Mich., March 15.—This morning the last lingering grip of the quarantine placed on Michigan Nov. 25, 1908, by the United States department of agriculture was relaxed.

This quarantine went into effect after the discovery of the outbreak of the hoof and mouth disease among herds of cattle in Livonia township, Wayne county, and at first covered the entire state, even prohibiting the interstate or foreign transportation of cattle, sheep and swine from the upper peninsula. By successive modifications the quarantined area was reduced to a few townships in the southern portion of the state, in Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties.

Announcement of the lifting of the quarantine came from Dr. A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, department of agriculture, to Dr. P. H. Mullowney, inspector in charge of the local office.

The removal of the federal quarantine probably will be immediately followed by the lifting of the quarantine imposed by the state livestock sanitary board.

What the cost of the quarantine has been to Michigan shippers of livestock, hay and hides in the way of curtailment of business it would be difficult to estimate. Some have set the figure as exceeding $1,000,000.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Charles E. Wakeman, pioneer manufacturer of Pontiac, is dead at Goshen, Ind. Mr. Wakeman has been a resident of Pontiac for thirty years.

Miley, Burke and Hadley, the three robbers who were found guilty of robbing the Hillsdale postoffice, were sentenced to not more than fifteen nor less than seven and one-half years in the state prison at Jackson.

Frank Kyser, son of John Kyser of Flint, was run over by an engine on which he was trying to catch a ride in the Pere Marquette yards at Flint. Both his legs were terribly crushed and later amputated. The boy died.

An eighteen-year-old girl in the guise of a decidedly "green" country maiden flimflammed two of the Lansing banks out of nearly $600 on two forged checks supposed to be drawn on the State Savings bank of Mason to Helen Carpenter.

The jury in the case of Rosetta Wood vs. The White Star Line company at Port Huron, in which the plaintiff asked $20,000 for injuries sustained by a fall on the South Park dock on Aug. 11, last, returned with a verdict of $6,000 for the plaintiff.

Frank N. Chartier of Mt. Clemens was instantly killed by a Rapid railway car which struck his milk wagon as he was driving across the tracks. The impact of the collision threw Chartier from the wagon and under the wheels of the car, crushing out his life.

Because the county clerk of Monroe forgot to order the publication of the board of supervisors' resolution of submission of the local option question at the April election the county will have to pay for the publication of special editions of both Monroe papers.

The fourth death at Pontiac directly traceable to measels was that of Katherine Agnes, the three-year-old daughter of Cashier F. L. Perry of the Oakland County Savings bank. Pneumonia followed, which developed into cerebro pneumonia, with fatal results.

The Aurora Borealis.

The aurora borealis, or northern light, is something that we have all heard about, but very few, perhaps, can give any explanation of it. No one definitely knows what causes it, but the scientists are pretty well agreed that it is due to electricity. They believe that the light is made by the recomposition of the positive and negative electricity always in the upper and lower strata of air, respectively. M. Lenstrom made an interesting experiment in Finland in 1882, his object being to determine the nature of the aurora. He had the peak of a mountain surrounded by a copper wire, pointed at intervals with tin nibs. When he had charged the wire with electricity a yellow light appeared on the tin tips, and an examination of the light by the spectroscope revealed the greenish yellow ray that is a marked feature of the aurora. This evidence among scientists is almost convincing, for it is by means of the spectroscope that we discover the constituent parts of the sun and the stars.—Exchange.

MORE MONEY FOR JUDGES.

GIVES 'EM EACH $1,000 MORE

Governor Sends In Message Urging Laws Doing Away With Contract Labor—Both Houses Adopt Resolutions Thanking Retiring President Angell For His Service to State.

Lansing, Mich., March 18.—The house has passed a salary rising bill which will add $45,000 to the state tax rolls annually. It is the Flowers bill to increase by $1,000 the salary of each of the forty-five circuit judges in the state.

The salary raising promoters first tried to make the raise $1,500, but lost, 54 to 38. Seventy-nine of the members voted to make the raise $1,000 and only six against it.

The existing state law gives the circuit judges $2,500 a year, but allows each county of a judges' circuit to vote, through their boards of supervisors, additional compensation to their judges. Many counties do so.

Warner's Message.

Governor Warner has sent a message to the legislature on contract labor in Michigan prisons. The governor uges the passage of laws doing away with the letting of prison contracts and advising the state to use its own convict labor in the manufacture of such articles as will least compete with outside labor.

The house committee on elections has agreed to report favorably the Colby primary bill, so as to provide for the nomination at primaries of all elective officers from ward and township up to state officers and United States senators. The senate is on record in favor of the nomination only of United States senators, governors and lieutenant governors.

Both houses have adopted resolutions expressing appreciation and thanks of the state of Michigan to President James B. Angell of the state university at Ann Arbor for his notable public service as head of the university since 1871. President Angell, who on Jan. 7 celebrated his eightieth birthday, submitted his resignation to the board of university regents on Feb. 17, and the resignation will take effect at the close of the present academic year next June.

No More Fish Nets.

No more fishing in the Detroit river with nets, or in any other connecting waters of the great lakes so far as the state of Michigan has jurisdiction, if the general fish bill just introduced by Senator Ming becomes a law.

The bill says that it shall be unlawful to fish with nets in the connecting waters between Lake Superior and Lake Huron and between Lake Huron and Lake Erie. Furthermore, it is made unlawful to set nets in any of the big lakes within half a mile range of the mouth of any river or outlet of inland lakes.

Senator Ming's bill bears the approval of State Game and Fish Warden Charlie Pierce.

It has developed at a hearing before the joint committees on labor that there is widespread opposition to Senator Taylor's bill amending the child labor law.

The main points to which the manufacturers are objecting are provisions that no female shall be employed during any hours of the night, that no person under sixteen years of age shall be employed at night, or more than eight hours a day or more than forty-eight hours a week in any manufacturing establishment.

Traverse City, Mich., March 18.—Professor William A. Smith, head of the Traverse City School of Music, leader in the Second Christian Science church and teacher of deportment, is in jail, held on a charge preferred by two boy pupils, sixteen and seventeen years old.

He was arrested by Chief of Police Ashton, pleaded not guilty and was bound over to the June term of the circuit court, with bail at $1,000. He has failed to find bondsmen as yet.

Train Kills Flint Man.

Detroit, Mich., March 18.—A man identified as Charles Bush of Flint was struck and instantly killed by a Michigan Central outbound Bay City train at the Third avenue crossing. Bush was walking along the tracks with a companion named John Smith, 26 Hecla street. Smith had barely time to avoid the train, and he thinks his companion did not hear it coming.

LOOKING OVER PAYNE BILL.

Full Session of House Ways and Means Committee Today.

GENERAL DEBATE POSTPONED.

Will Not Begin Until Monday—Measure Likely to Be Before House For Ten Days—Senator Hale Finds Bill Very Objectionable.—Significant Drawback Feature.

Washington, March 18.—The full membership of the house committee on ways and means, including Democrats as well as Republicans, are in session today for the formal consideration of the Payne tariff bill, which saw the light for the first time in the house Wednesday. The senate committee on finance is also today giving informal consideration to the measure.

General debate will be postponed until Monday if Mr. Payne's program is followed, and after that time the measure probably will be before the house from ten days to two weeks.

This plan of operation is slightly different from that which has been followed in the consideration of other tariff bills of recent years, and it had been expected that the Democratic members of the committee would be afforded more time than is now contemplated for the consideration of the bill in committee. It is still possible that if they insist upon delay and succeed in presenting good reasons for their request they may be accommodated. Mr. Payne's inclination is to get the bill into the house at the earliest practicable moment. It is probable that a compromise will be reached and that the Democratic members will accept a proposition which will permit them to present their amendments on the floor.

Payne Is Wary.

No announcement as to the length of time that will be given for debate has been made, and Mr. Payne is quite wary on this point. The Dingley bill was under discussion in the house for only ten days, and of that time four days were devoted to general debate.

Senator Hale, chairman of the Republican caucus, is among those who find the bill objectionable. "It absolutely murders the wood pulp and paper industry of Maine," he said. "This is the most important industry in our state, and we shall resist the change with the utmost possible vigor."

One of the most significant features of the Payne bill is the new drawback provision. It extends this privilege so that an American manufacturer need not use the material which he has imported in order to secure the refund of the duties which he has paid on his material. If he uses materials produced in this country in equal amount with the material which he has imported he will be entitled to the drawback benefits, provided the domestic materials are of equal productive manufacturing quality and value.

Following are the features of the Payne tariff bill:

Cut of 50 per cent is made in steel and lumber schedules and 40 per cent on boots and shoes.

No duty is imposed on coffee, but tea is taxed eight and nine cents, according to specified circumstances.

Re-enacts the provision for the issue of treasury certificates, the amount being increased from $100,000,000 to $250,000,000.

Iron Ore Free.

Iron ore is placed on the free list; also wood pulp coming from any country that does not have an export duty on certain forest products.

Downward revision, maximum and minimum provisions, which impose an average maximum duty 20 per cent in excess of the present tariff.

Issuance of Panama canal bonds to the amount of $40,000,000 to reimburse the treasury for the original purchase of the canal is provided for.

Numerous provisions by which it is estimated that the revenue to the government will be increased by from $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 annually.

The greater part of the increases have been placed on luxuries, and cuts have been made where it was thought they would increase the revenue to the best advantage.

Bituminous coal and coke, from any country admitting American coal free, transferred from 67 cents per ton for coal and 20 per cent ad valorem for coke, to free list.

Recommendations by President Taft that an inheritance tax be provided and that a limited amount of tobacco and sugar be admitted free from the Philippines are incorporated.

In Saxony no one is permitted to shoe horses unless he has passed a public examination and proves that he is properly qualified.

FRANCE IS IN BAD SHAPE.

Strikers Have Tied Up All Kinds Public Utilities.

PREMIER IS OBDURATE

Refuses to Make Any Concessions. Country For Time Completely Isolated From Telegraphic and Telephonic Communication—Letter Carriers Join Strikers.

Paris, March 18.—France for a time last night was practically completely cut off from telegraphic and telephonic communication with the remainder of the world, and Paris was isolated. After a few hours, however, telephone communication between this city and London and Berlin was restored by means of volunteers from other branches of public service. About 150 military telegraphers are now at work in the central station, and naval telegraphers are on their way here from Brest.

Premier Clemenceau has flatly refused to offer terms to the strikers. He told the justices of Paris, who called to see him relative to what the government proposed to do to end the serious situation and who suggested a bill creating a superior council of the administration which could consider the employes' grievances, that the government would promise nothing while the employes remained away from their posts.

The premier declared that the strike was senseless, entailing the gravest consequences not only to the business of France, but to the country itself, from an international point of view.

The situation in the provinces is serious, the public service employes in most of the larger cities following the lead of their Paris comrades. The international and interurban mails are at a standstill, entailing heavy business losses.

The letter carriers today joined the striking telegraphers, telephone operators and mail clerks employed by the postoffice department.

Eight thousand strikers met last night and passed a resolution to maintain the struggle to the bitter end.

DASHED INTO DEPOT.

Train Running Wild Kills Four People in Montreal.

Montreal, March 18.—Four persons are dead and a score of others were more or less seriously injured as the result of the blowing out of a washout pipe on the locomotive hauling the Boston express, due at the Windsor street station of the Canadian Pacific railway, three miles out from the station.

Scalding steam filled the cab, and the engineer and fireman were forced to jump. The engineer was fatally hurt. The train, without a guiding hand at the throttle, dashed into the station, through the granite wall into the women's waiting room and then into the rotunda, where the locomotive, after demolishing one massive granite pillar, was brought to a standstill by another.

The four persons killed were sitting in the women's waiting room. They are:

MRS. W. J. NIXON, Montreal; her thirteen-year-old son and nine-year-old daughter.

ELSIE VILLIERS, twelve years old, Montreal.

A score of men were knocked down.

Judge Willing to Keep Them Week In Order to Get Verdict.

Nashville, Tenn., March 18.—The jury is out in the trial of Colonel Duncan B. Cooper, Robin J. Cooper and John D. Sharp for the slaying of former United States Senator E. W. Carmack.

Judge Hart began his charge to the jury at 9:30 a. m. and finished at 11:15, at which time the twelve men retired to deliberate. The typewritten charge of sixty-two pages, about 400 words to the page, was handed to Juror S. J. Hyde, and, according to custom in this county, this makes him foreman.

Judge Hart has declared his intentention of holding the jury together for a week or two if necessary in order to get a vredict.

San Juan, P. R., March 18.—Two Rican commissions are now on their way to Washington to submit to the United States government the reason for the deadlock of the Porto Rican legislature, the extraordinary session of which came to an end a day or two ago without passing the budget.

One commission, composed of Luis Munos Rivera, leader of the Unionist party in the house of delegates; Cayetano Coll and Eugenio Benetiz, has been appointed by the Unionist party.

The other commission represents the insular government and is composed of William F. Willoughby, secretary of Porto Rico; George Cabot Ward and Henry M. Hoyt, attorney general.

HONOR CLEVELAND IN NEW YORK TODAY

President and Chief Justice at Mass Meeting.

New York, March 18.—In the metropolis of the nation America is doing honor today to the only man who was ever elected to the presidency, then defeated for that office and again elected. Today would have been the seventy-second birthday of Grover Cleveland if he had not died last June. For the purpose of paying proper tribute to his memory the president of the United States, the chief justice of the United States and the governor of New York state came here to join with the mayor of New York and other notabilities in two great mass meetings.

The first of the two meetings took place in Carnegie hall today, and the other will be held this evening in the great hall of the College of the City of New York. Mayor McClellan of New York presided at the first meeting. Addresses lauding the place held by Mr. Cleveland in the nation's memory and history were delivered by President Taft, Chief Justice Fuller, Governor Hughes and others. A letter from former President Roosevelt expressing regret at his inability to join in the meeting was read. Richard Watson Gilder, the famous editor and poet, who was a close personal friend of Mr. Cleveland, read an original poem.

Among the purposes of the meetings is the planning of a permanent memorial to the memory of President Cleveland.

Mr. Taft will remain in this section of the country two days. Tomorrow morning he will go to New Haven to attend a meeting of the Yale corporation, of which he is a member. He will return here in time to attend the dinner of the Yale alumni of New York.

"HANDS THEM STONE."

Workers In Steel View With Alarm Tariff Bill.

Washington, March 18.—The workingmen of the country employed in the iron and steel trades view with alarm the Payne tariff bill, according to a statement issued here by L. Lewis, vice president, and John Williams of Pittsburg, secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America. The statement is as follows:

"The tariff bill presents so many and drastic reductions in the iron and steel schedule as to be viewed with alarm by the workingmen employed in those industries included in the iron and steel schedule, and other industries dependent thereon, especially at this time following a long period of depression, with hundreds of thousands of American workmen idle and actually asking for bread. The bill as presented literally hands them a stone."

EXTRA DUTY ON TEA.

British Exporters Do Not Like Idea of Such Proposition.

London, March 18.—The most interesting points of the tariff bill for the British public are the proposed application of an extra duty on tea, which will severely affect the British exporters, and the patents clause, which is regarded as a retaliation for the act promulgated by David Lloyd-George. The reduction in duties is expected to benefit the British trade to a slight degree.

There is much interest also in the free admission of works of art, which is calculated to act as a further incentive to American collectors in denuding Europe of its art treasures.

Broker Gone; Heavy Debts.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 18.—Harry D. Brown, a broker, has been missing since Monday, and a felony warrant for his arrest is in the hands of city detectives. Brown's liabilities are said to amount to nearly $200,000, with his assets but a small proportion of that sum. Several creditors, it is said, lost upwards of $20,000 each.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's catarrh is the only positive cure now known to the fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address:

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderfully merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensable and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

The things that are bad for one to eat have a mean way of tasting so much better than those the doctor says you may help yourself to liberally.

This is the most dangerous time of the year to catch cold, and it is the hardest time to cure it. If you should take a cold, a few doses of Kennedy Laxative Cough Syrup will act very promptly. Its laxative principle cures the cold by driving it from the system by a gentle but natural action of the bowels. Children especially like Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup, as it tastes so good, nearly like maple sugar. It is sold by all druggists.

So live that when age comes upon you, you will be like the mighty oak, sound at the heart, rather than like the hollow linden, rotten at the core.

A Religious Author's Statement

Rev. Joseph H Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." Sold by all druggists.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

ness than hunger in his tone now as she looked up at him trustingly from the shelter of his arms. "It would spoil you to grow up."

"It is so good to be alive and to love you like this!" she continued dreamily, staring into the fire. "I seem to have come out of a gloomy house into the glory of a warm spring day, for my eyes are blinded, and I can't see half the beautifuls I want to, there are so many about me."

"Those are my arms," interjected the soldier lightly in an effort to ward off her growing seriousness.

"I've never been afraid of anything, and yet I feel so safe inside them. Isn't it queer?"

The young man became conscious of a vague discomfort and realized dimly that for hours now he had been smothering with words and caresses a something that had striven with him to be heard, a something that instead of dying grew stronger the more utterly this innocent maid yielded to him. It was as if he had ridden impulse with rough spurs in a fierce desire to distance certain voices and in the first mad gallop had lost them, but now far back heard them calling again more strongly every moment. A man's honor if old may travel feebly, but its pursuit is persistent. It was the talk about his people that had raised this uneasiness and indecision, he thought. Why had he ever started it?

"The marvelous part of it all," continued the girl, "is that it will never end. I know I shall love you always. Do you suppose I am really different from other girls?"

"Everything is different tonight—the whole world," he declared impatiently.

"I've had a big handicap," she said, "but you must help me to overcome it. I want to be like your sister."

He rose and piled more wood upon the fire. What possessed the girl? It was as if she knew each cunning joint of his armor, as if she had realized her peril and had set about the awakening of his conscience deliberately and with a cautious wisdom beyond her years. Well, she had done it, and he swore to himself. Then he melted at the sight of her, crouched there against the shadows, following his every movement with her soul in her eyes, the tenderest trace of a smile upon her lips.

"Oh, my! What a fierce you are all at once!"

Her smile flashed up as if illumined by the leaping blaze, and he crossed quickly, kneeling beside her.

He piled up a great sweet scented couch of springy boughs and fashioned her a pillow out of a bundle of smaller ones, around which he wrapped his khaki coat; then he removed her high laced boots and, taking her tiny feet, one in the palm of either hand, bowed his head over them and kissed them with a sense of her gracious purity and his own unworthiness. He spread one of the big gray blankets over her and tucked her in, while she sighed in delightful languor, looking up at him all the time.

"I'll sit here beside you for awhile," he said. "I want to smoke a bit."

At times a great desire to feel her in his arms, to have her on his breast, surged over him, for he had lived long apart from women, and the solitude of the night seemed to mock him. He was a strong man, and in his veins ran the blood of wayward forbears who were wont to possess that which they conquered in the lists of love, mingled with which was the blood of spirited southern women who had on occasion loved not wisely, according to Kentucky rumor, but only too well. Nevertheless they were honest men and women, if oversentimental, and had transmitted to him a heritage of chivalry and a high sense of honor and courage. Her love had placed a barrier between them greater and more insurmountable than her blood.

He gently withdrew his fingers from her grasp and, seeing the other side of the wicklup, covered himself over without disturbing her and fell asleep.

It was early dawn when Necia crept to him.

"I dreamed you had gone away," she said, shivering violently and drawing close. "Oh, it was a terrible awakening"—

"I was too tired to dream," he said.

"So I had to come and see if you were really here."

He quickly rekindled the fire, and they made a hasty breakfast. Before the warmth of the rising sun had penetrated the cold air they had climbed the ridge and obtained a wondrous view of broken country, the hills alight with the morning rays, the valleys misty and mystical.

"I wish Stark was not one of Lee's party," he said once. "He may misunderstand our being together this way."

"But when he learns that we love each other that will explain everything."

"I am not so sure. He doesn't know you as Lee and Poleon and your father do. I think we had better say nothing at all about—you and me—to any one."

They clung to the divide for several hours, then descended into the bed of a stream, which they followed until it joined a larger one a couple of miles below, and there, sheltered in a grove of whispering firs, they found Lee's cabin nestling in a narrow, forked valley.

"There's no one here," said Necia gleefully. "We've beat them in! We've beat them in!"

They had been walking rapidly since dawn, and, although Burrell's watch showed 2 o'clock, she refused to halt for lunch, declaring that the others might arrive at any moment, so down they went to the lower end of "No Creek" Lee's location, where Burrell blazed a smooth spot on the downstream side of a tree and wrote thereon at Necia's dictation. When he had finished she signed her name, and he witnessed it, then paced off 440 steps, where he squared a spruce tree, which she marked:

Lower center end stake of No. 1 below discovery. NECIA GALE, Locator.

"Now you stake the one below mine," she said. "It's just as good and maybe better. Nobody can tell." But he shook his head.

"I'm not going to stake anything," said he.

"You must!" she cried quickly, the sparkle dying from her eyes. "You said you would, or I never would have brought you."

"I merely said I would come with you," he corrected. "I did not promise to take up a claim, for I don't think I ought to do so. If I were a civilian it would be different, but this is government land, and I am a part of the government, as it were. Then, too, in addition to the question of my right to do it, there would be the certainty of making enemies of your people, old 'No Creek' and the rest, and I can't afford that now."

All arguments and pleading were in vain. He remained obdurate and insisted on her locating two other claims for herself, one on each of the smaller creeks where they came together above the house.

"But nobody ever stakes more than one claim on a gulch," objected the girl. "It's a custom of the miners."

"Then we'll call each one of these branches a different and separate creek," he said. "The gold was carried down one of those smaller streams, and we won't take any chances on which one it was."

CHAPTER VII.

THE MAGIC OF BEN STARK.

BEFORE the party came in sight the sound of their voices reached the cabin, and Burrell rose nervously and sauntered to the door. Uncertain how this affair might terminate, he chose to get first look at his enemies, if they should prove to be such, realizing the advantage that goes to a man who stands squarely on both feet. Then he heard Lee say:

"We've been beaten!" growled Stark angrily, pushing past him and coming around the corner, an ugly look in his eyes.

"Good afternoon," Burrell nodded pleasantly.

Lee answered him unintelligibly. Stark said nothing, but Runnion's exclamation was plain.

"It's that cursed blue belly!"

"A few hours ago."

"How did you come?" asked Lee.

"Black Bear creek," said the soldier curtly, at which Runnion broke into profanity.

"Better hush," Burrell admonished him. "There's a lady inside." And at that instant Necia showed her laughing face under his arm, while the trader uttered her name in amazement.

"Lunch is ready," she said. "We've been expecting you for quite awhile."

"Ba gar! Dat's funny t'ing for sure," said Poleon. "Who tol' you 'bout dis strike, eh?"

"Mother. I made her," the girl answered.

"Take off your packs and come in," Burrell invited, but Stark strode forward.

"Hold on a minute. This don't look good to me. You say your mother told you. I suppose you're Old Man Gale's other daughter, eh?"

Necia nodded.

"What time of day was it when you learned about this?"

"Cut that out!" roughly interjected Gale. "Do you think I double crossed you?"

The other turned upon him.

"It looks that way, and I intend to find out. You said yesterday you hadn't told anybody."

"I didn't think about the woman," said the trader, a trifle disconcerted, whereupon Runnion gave vent to an ironical sneer.

"But here's your girl and this man ahead of us. I suppose there's others on the way too."

"Nonsense!" Burrell cut in.

"I call it sleeck work," chuckled the Canadian, slipping out of his straps. "De nex' tam' I go stampedin' I tak' you 'long, Necia."

"Me, too," said Lee. "And now I'm goin' to tear into some of them beans I smell a-bilin' in yonder."

The others followed.

and Runnion looked black and had little to say. It was an uncomfortable meal. Every one was ill at ease. Gale in particular was quiet and ate less than any of them. His eyes sought Stark's face frequently, and once the blood left his cheeks and his eyes blazed as he observed the gambler boldly eying Necia.

"You are a mighty good looking girl for a 'blood,'" remarked Stark at last.

"Thank you," she replied simply, and the soldier's dislike of the man crystallized into hate on the instant. There was a tone back of his words that seemed aimed at the trader, Meade thought, but Gale showed no sign of it, so the meal was finished in silence, after which the five belated prospectors went out to make their locations, for the fear of interruption was upon them now.

First they went downstream, and, according to their agreement, the trader staked first, followed by Poleon and Stark, thus throwing Runnion's claim more than a mile distant from Lee's discovery. From here they went up the creek to find the girl's other locations, one on each branch, at which Stark sneeringly remarked that she had pre-empted enough ground for a full grown white woman.

Runnion's displeasure was even more open, and he fell into foul mouthed mutterings, addressing himself to Poleon and Stark while the trader was out of earshot.

"This affair don't smell right, and I still think it's a frame-up."

"Bah!" exclaimed Doret.

"The old man sent the girl on ahead of us to blanket all the good ground. That's what he did!"

"Wait wan minnit," interrupted Poleon, his voice as soft as a woman's. "I tol' you dat I know all 'bout dis Black Bear creek too. You 'member, eh? Waal, mebbe you t'ink I'm traitor too? W'at? W'y don' you spik out?"

The three of them were alone, and only the sound of Gale's ax came to them, but at the light in the Canadian's face Runnion hastily disclaimed any such thought on his part, and Stark shrugged his denial.

There are men quite devoid of the ability to read the human face, and Runnion was of this species. Moreover, malice was so bitter in his mouth that he must have it out. So when they paused to blaze the next stake he addressed himself to Stark loud enough for Poleon to hear.

"That lieutenant is more of a man than I thought he was."

"How so?" inquired the older man.

"Well, it takes nerve to steal a girl for one night and then face the father, but the old man don't seem to mind it any more than she does. I guess he knows what it means, all right."

Stark laughed raucously.

It seemed a full minute before the Frenchman gave sign that he had heard; then a strange cry broke from his throat, and he began to tremble as if with cold. He was no longer the singer of songs or the man who was forever a boy. The mocking anger of a moment ago was gone. In its place was a consuming fury that sucked the blood from beneath his tan, leaving him the pallor of ashes, while his mouth twitched and his head rolled slightly from side to side like a palsied old man's. But evidently Poleon meant no violence, for he allowed the passion to run from him freely until it had spent its vigor, then said to Runnion:

"Somebody goin' die for w'at you say jus' now. Mebbe it's goin' be you, m'sieu; mebbe it's goin' to be him. I can't tell yet, but I'm hope an' pray it's goin' be you, biccause I t'ink w'at you say is a lie, an' nobody can spik dose kin' of lie 'bout Necia Gale."

He went crashing blindly through the underbrush, his head wagging, his shoulders slumped loosely forward like those of a drunken man, his lips framing words they could not understand.

When he had disappeared Runnion drew a deep breath.

"I guess I've framed something for Mr. Burrell this time."

"You go about it queer," said Stark. "I'd rather tackle a gang saw than a man like Poleon Doret. Your frame-up may work double."

"Huh! No chance. The soldier was out all night alone with that half breed girl, and anybody can see she's crazy about him. What's the answer?"

"Have you got your eye on her too?"

"Sure! Do you blame me?"

"No, but she's too good for you. Better stay out," the gambler advised. "As a matter of fact, I don't like her father any better than you like her lovers"—

"Well, it's mutual. I can see Gale hates you like poison."

—"and I don't intend to see him and his tribe hog all the best ground hereabouts."

"They've already done it. You can't stop them."

"Yes, I can stop them," said Stark. "I want the ground that girl has staked, and I'm going to get it. It lies next to Lee's, and it's sure to be rich. Ours is so far away it may not be worth the recorder's fees. This creek may be as spotted as a coach dog, so I don't intend to take any chances."

"She made her locations legally," said Runnion.

"You leave that to me. When will the other boys be here?"

"Tomorrow morning. I told them to follow about four hours behind and not to run in on us till we had finished. They'll camp a few miles down the creek and be in early."

"You couldn't get but three, eh?"

"That's all I could find who would agree to give up half."

"Can we count on them?"

"Huh!" the other grunted. "They worked with me and Soapy Smith on the Skagway trail."

"Good—five against three, not counting Lee."

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.
Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

Harry G. Selfridge Announces Completion of Years of Planning.

MANY INTERPRETERS TO AID.

Mr. Selfridge was a nephew of the late Benjamin Baxter.

Next week will be one of the most thrilling ever experienced by the London shopper. Harry G. Selfridge, the American dry goods king, begins his attack on London Monday, March 15th.

A somewhat hurried reading on the long, eloquent announcements that are appearing all over London about these great stores shows that on Monday morning 1,000 windows will be uncurtained, eleven elevators of various speeds will start traveling up and down and a regiment of interpreters, who will be able to converse sympathetically in German, French, Japanese, Dutch, Persian, Turkish and Gaelic, will form in line to assist strangers and guide them to the various clubrooms, each decorated and equipped in appropriate style for the different nationalities.

A silence room, a rest room, a first-aid room and a roof garden are other attractions, and, of course, there is a great shop where things may be bought.

PROF. C. H. VANTYNE

Of Ann Arbor left Wednesday for a trip through Southern Europe.

Prof. C. H. Van Tyne, professor of American history in the university at Ann Arbor, left last Wednesday for a six weeks' trip through southern Europe. Prof. Van Tyne for the past ten years has been a busy man taking practically no vacation in that time, and working at a tremendous strain, having with his regular university teaching, written two books beside much additional work. His lectures during his absence will be given by Professor Paxon. Mr. Randall will take charge of his quizzes and Professor Paxon's quizzes will be conducted by Mr. Harris.

Professor VanTyne will sail Saturday from New York on the Finland of the White Star line. Maderia will be his first stopping place. After visiting Gibraltar and spending five or six days in Spain, he will go to Naples, then to Brindisi, from where he will take a small steamer to Petras in Greece. Athens will be his next stop, and it is here that he will remain the greater part of his stay.

VAUDEVILLE.

Another big vaudeville bill is promised the patrons of the Bradley opera house for to-night headed by Elwyn and Margie Edwards presenting "The Biddy and the Ragman" a character change singing act introducing six different characters. Creighton's Roosters are next on the bill and from advance reports will make a big hit here. Frank Sayre with his trick violin will close the vaudeville end of the bill which with the new illustrated song and moving pictures will more than please the audience.

THE DIFFERENCE.

What is the difference between high-grade and low grade baking powders?

All baking powders are white and are sold in round cans with bright labels. They look alike, but in contents they are very different.

High grade baking powders are made of pure cream of tartar derived from grapes. They are healthful and economical to use.

Low grade baking powders are made of alum an astringent mineral acid.

But now baking powders have the ingredients printed on the back of the label. By reading the label the housekeeper knows the ingredients and being careful of the welfare of her household, avoids the Alum kind of baking powder.

Good baking powder is one of the most useful things in the kitchen—and there is a difference.

CLEVELAND BOY IS WIRELESS WIZARD

Princeton Students, Without Money, Erect Perfect Apparatus.

Princeton, N. J., March 6.—Interest in the remarkable advancement of wireless telegraphy led a half dozen students in Princeton university to undertake within the last few months the building of a wireless station for experimental purposes. Ever since the opening of college last September, they have worked on the equipment and now can boast apparatus that enables them to listen to the world sounds in the telephone receiver which spell, in code, the messages sent broadcast almost incessantly throughout the day.

The experimenters have formed a wireless club. The members are L. F. Lowe (1910) of Cleveland, O., president; Paul B. Findley (1909) Pittsburg, Pa., secretary; William Shand (1909) Lancaster, Pa.; W. Allan Butler (1909) New York city; L. C. Stryker (1910) New York city, and Lyman C. Butler (1910) New York city.

The students have worked wireless wonders. Limited in their resources and even handicapped by a dearth of working material from which to fashion the old apparatus necessary for the building of a wireless station, they spent all their spare time, afternoons and evenings in making the most of the situation and have met with such success that they hope soon to transmit news to other college stations — Pennsylvania and Columbia.

The first wireless instrument in Princeton was set up in the spring of last year by Lawrence Francis Lowe of Cleveland, O., a member of the junior class. He had been interested in the subject ever since Marconi's wonderful results. The instrument which he had constructed at his home in Cleveland, he moved to his dormitory room in Princeton. The aerials were strung between the flag pole on the tower and the chimney of Seventy-nine hall. Leads were run down into his window to the instrument. He had no difficulty in picking up messages from Manhattan beach, Atlantic City and other points.

Lowe's success interested other students. They regarded the uncanny sounds in the receiver with awe. As Lowe caught the various sounds in the receiver and translated them to a written message, their awe increased. Paul B Findley of Pittsburg, Pa., a member of the senior class, undertook the building of an instrument near the roof of the John C. Green School of Science. Lowe co operated with him in the construction of his wireless apparatus, which at first, was hastily knocked together in the physics laboratory. It was tried out with an automobile coil. Things worked well, and an attempt was made to construct an instrument more like the standard pattern. The materials were raked together from the scrap heaps of the laboratory—the only expenditure being about 45 cents for wood with which to make stands and a box. As soon as the instrument was finished the aerials were put up. They consisted of a galvanized iron wire, running from the roof of the school of science, to the top of a tower near by and back.

As usual in mechanical experiments after all the apparatus was set up and the expectations of the workers were raised to a high pitch—the thing failed to work. Not a sound was heard. In digust, the experimenters retired, determined, however, to enlist the aid of a member of the faculty in ascertaining the cause of the hitch. Prof. Augustus Trowbridge consented to inspect the apparatus. He suggested that the local battery in the instrument was connected in the wrong direction. The defect was quickly remedied and to the apparatus worked.

At the opening of college this year plans were laid for greater accomplishment. The United Wireless Telegraph Co. loaned the Princeton Wireless club a transformer and very kindly allowed the students to calibrate, by their standard, a wave meter which the Princetonians constructed themselves. This instrument, designed after the Fleming "cynometer" will enable them to measure the length of the waves sent out, thus avoiding interference with commerical stations in the vicinity—that is, within fifty miles — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The pleasant evening was terminated by a sumptuous after theatre supper at the beautiful new home of E. N. Smith. The Adrian hosts were Messrs Harry Waldby, Will Burnham, E. N. Smith, Chas. Hart, Bert Clark, Chas. Whitney, Leslie Robertson, A. P. Southworth, Dr. Treat, Dr. Gibson, Dr. Seager and Judge Larwill. The guests from Tecemseh were Messrs F. S. Anderson, H. R. CURED BRONCHITIS

Mrs. Hopkins Says Her Life Was Saved--choked and Gasped for Breath

"Some five years ago I was taken with a bad attack of bronchitis. I was affected with a bronchial cough and cold, the cough was generally much more apparent at night, and I would wake up choking and gasping for breath, and there seemed to be a terrible stoppage in my throat and tubes. My throat was tender and irritable, and had an aching sensation, which was especially bad at times. I doctored and used several remedies, but received no permanent relief until I used Hyomei. This remedy is certainly infallible, and it saved my life, and I accord it the credit which it deserves. There is nothing too strong for me to say regarding Hyomei."—Mrs. Ada Hopkins, 8 Cutter Ave., Coldwater, Mich., August 22, 1908.

C. A. Wright & Son sell Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) and he guarantees it to cure bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, croup, hay fever, coughs and colds, or money back.

The price for a complete outfit is only $1 00, which includes a bottle of Hyomei and a neat hard rubber inhaler.

A CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Tecumseh Readers.

For months Tecumseh citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Tecumseh residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elasped if the personal esperience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time. The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Tecumseh reader.

Mrs. Sarah E. Austin, Pearl St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "About three years ago I was suffering from kidney trouble and rheumatism. I had severe pains in the small of my back and the kidney secretions passed so frequently as to cause me great annoyance. When someone told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and they helped me so much that I continued their use. I have taken this remedy since when my kidneys have troubled me and I have always found the best of results. I willingly allow my name to be used again in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

For Sale by all Dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sole Agents for the United States.

JURY'S QUESTIONS PUZZLE MURRAY.

Declares He Doesn't See What They Are Driving At.

Jackson, Mich., March 18.—"If I were asked what the grand jury was getting at in questioning me today, I'd have to say that I did not know," said Mark E. Murray, secretary of the pardon board, as he quit the stand before the prison investigating jury on Wednesday afternoon and hurried for a train to Lansing.

"I don't know what they're driving at. For the life of me I can't see their object."

Murray put in two solid hours before the jury, explaining the procedure of the pardon board in granting paroles and recommending pardons, reading sample applications and recommendations.

Murray was succeeded on the stand by Elliott, the Pontiac well digger, who told his story, that has already been aired, about Armstrong "sticking him up" for $200.

The grand jury in the morning listened to testimony contributed by T. J. Navin, member of the prison board; George W. Merriman, another member, and T. C. Quinn of Caro, ex-member.

Saginaw, Mich., March 18.—J. M. Jost of this city submitted to an operation at the Saginaw general hospital for a sore on his right foot which has been causing him considerable pain. The physician took from the foot the point of a surgeon's needle which Jost says has been there over twenty-two years.

At that time, while he was working with a drawshave, the tool slipped, cutting a large gash in the foot, and in sewing up the wound the doctor broke the point off the needle, leaving the piece in the foot.

AFTER THE GRIPPE

Vinol Restored This Man's Strength

"Several years ago I was attacked by a severe case of grippe, which left me with a hacking cough, soreness in my chest, and bronchitis. I took nearly every kind of cough syrup sold on the market, besides medicine given me by physicians.

I received no permanent relief until my druggist asked me to try Vinol, and after taking three bottles I was entirely cured.

I believe Vinol to be the greatest blessing ever offered to the public, as it does what is claimed for it." R. E. R. Hicks, Maplesville, Ala.

The reason Vinol cures chronic coughs, colds and pulmonary troubles is because it contains tonic iron and all the healing and body building elements of cod liver oil but no oil.

Vinol is also unexcelled as a strength builder for old people, delicate children, weak and run-down persons, and after sickness.

VINOL is sold in Tecumseh by C. A. Wright & Son, Druggists.

MRS. MARY MEYER.

MRS. MARY MEYER, Thomson Avenue, near Shell Road, Winfield, L. I., N. Y., writes:

"I have been annoyed with a cough for years. Often it was so bad that I could not sleep half the night. Many people thought I had consumption.

Consumption Was Feared.

"A woman recommended Peruna to me two years ago. I began to take Peruna, and now I am perfectly free from a cough. I am glad to say that Peruna cured me entirely.

"I take Peruna occasionally, when I do not feel well, and I also give it to my children.

"Peruna is the best medicine for coughs and colds. I have told many people how much Peruna has helped me."

Mrs. Hettie Green, R. R. No. 6, Iuka, Ill., writes as follows of the efficacy of Peruna:

"Last November I had catarrh and felt so miserable I thought that I would go into consumption.

"I tried so many doctors and medicines, but nothing did me any good, only Peruna.

"After I began the use of Peruna I began to improve in every way. My head did not hurt so much, my stomach is all right, my bowels are regular, my appetite good, my complexion clear, my eyes are bright and am gaining in flesh and strength.

"I think Peruna has no equal as a catarrh remedy."

Peruna tends to lessen the cough, decreases the expectoration, strengthens the patient, increases the appetite and in many cases procures sound, refreshing sleep.

MISS BEULAH B. BROOMS.

Miss Beulah B. Brooms, 409 12th St., N. E., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I have suffered from weak lungs and catarrhal troubles for four years, brought on by many neglected colds, but on the recommendation of a friend I gave Peruna an honest trial and I am pleased to state that it restored me to perfect health. There is not the slightest trace of catarrh in my system and my lungs are perfectly sound.

Weak Lungs For Years.

"I unhesitatingly give this testimonial."

Mrs. William Hohmann, 509 N. Paulina St., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I suffered with catarrh of the bronchial tubes and had a terrible cough ever since a child. After a while it got so bad I had to cough both winter and summer. Finally, I burst a blood vessel in my throat from the strain of coughing, next a blood vessel in my stomach, so I kept getting worse and doctoring, and even then could get no relief. I thought, and everybody else, that I had consumption.

"Reading the papers about Peruna I decided to try it, without the least bit of hope that it would do me any good. But after taking three bottles I noticed a change. My appetite got better, so I kept on, never got discouraged.

"Finally I seemed not to cough so much, and the pains in my chest got better. I am well now. I cannot tell you how grateful I am, and I cannot thank Peruna enough. It has cured where doctors have failed. People who think they have consumption better give it a trial."

MISS JOSIE SCHAETZEL.

Miss Josie Schaetzel, General Delivery, Appleton, Wisconsin, writes:

"I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs in very short order, and it was not long until it developed into a serious case of catarrh. Every morning I would raise a lot of phlegm, which was very disagreeable. My digestion was poor and my lungs sore.

"After a few doses of Peruna I began to mend, and felt that if I kept on taking it it would not be long until I would be well. I was right, for in four weeks I was well again.

Consumption Prevented.

"I think Peruna is a grand medicine, and wish to add my testimony to the many others you have."

The fight against consumption is becoming a national problem.

Everywhere we hear of sanitariums established at the expense of the state for the treatment of the vast army of consumptives.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague.

The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

"That," remarked Tommy interestedly, "is the grate my brother lost a shilling down."

The workman's eyes lit up.

"Well, young man," he said, with a show of carelessness, "you'd better get forward with that dinner before it's cold."

In about half an hour Tommy returned to find the man still at the same grate.

"Are you quite sure it was this grate the shilling was lost in?" said the workman.

"I am certain," replied Tommy, "because I saw my father get it out."—London Answers.

Wanted Papa to Enjoy It.

Francis, aged four and a half, had annoyed his father until that individual finally lost patience. He was trying to do some varnishing. Thinking to get rid of him for a few minutes, he said, "Hurry, son, to the window and watch the parade." The lad ran to the window and climbed upon a chair, while the father smiled at the success of his little lie.

The smile was still on his face when a tug at his coat and a "Hurry, papa, quick!" caused him to start toward the window. "What is the matter?" he asked.

"Come and see the elephant in the parade!"—Delineator.

DRAGGING CREEK.

Clairvoyant Declares Harold Moon's Body Lies Therein.

Flint, Mich., March 18.—Dragging operations in the portion of the creek leading to Thread pond in which a Port Huron clairvoyant claims that the body of Harold Moon is concealed has been going on, but the body was not recovered.

Weeds and debris, as was described by the Port Huron lady, were discovered in the bed of the stream, and Sheriff Parkhurst places sufficient confidence and belief in her story to continue the search. Only a portion has been dragged, and it is thought by many that the lad's body is held fast among the weeds and roots in the other portion of the stream.

Representatives from twelve western Michigan cities met at Grand Rapids and organized, with a view of fighting the railroads on the alleged exorbitant freight rates.

Word has been received of the death, in St. Louis, Mo., of James F. Ewing, former general manager of the Michigan Salt association, and a prominent resident of Bay City.

City Treasurer E. E. Corliss of Bay City has been cited to appear in court and show cause why he did not turn over certain rolls of state and county taxes to the county treasurer.

John Schmidt, a prominent farmer of Clam Lake, is dead as the result of being struck over the heart by a board which was "kicked" from a saw on which he was working.

Eldridge DeLong of Caro has been awarded a verdict of $5,647.50 against the Pere Marquette railway. DeLong sued for the damage to his hotel from a fire said to have been started by a spark from one of the company's locomotives.

The mail clerk on a Pere Marquette train, while passing through Burt, forgot to throw off the mail pouch. The bag was pitched into a ditch a mile or so from the station and was found by an Indian. The mail was disturbed, but it is not believed any was stolen.

Detective P. S. McGregor of the Pere Marquette Railroad company, assisted by the Flint police, arrested twenty-five men and boys for catching on trains. They were taken to police headquarters at Flint and released with a warning that if ever caught again they would not get off so easy.

Venezuela received its name from the early Spanish residents, who saw in it a resemblance to Venice.

FREE BOOKS FOR SCHOOLS.

Bill to Be Introduced Will Surprise Publishers.

FIXES SCHEDULE OF PRICES.

Creates Commission For Selection of Books—Kansas, Indiana, California and Ontario Buy Books Cheaper by Reason of Laws Compelling Publishers to Reduce Prices.

Lansing, Mich., March 22.—The special committees of the house and senate that were appointed to investigate the allegation that publishing companies are charging exorbitant prices for school books in Michigan will report this week and recommend the passage of a bill that will cause the publishers to open their eyes.

The bill, if introduced as it now stands, may also stir up a furore among the legislators, since it provides for free text books in all public schools below the ninth grade. There is still some difference of opinion among the members of the committee as to whether it is advisable to leave this provision in the bill, and it may be eliminated before the bill is introduced.

In the matter of prices of school books, the bill fixes a schedule of maximums above which the publishers cannot go. It establishes what is to be known as the state school book commission, to be composed of the state board of education and the president of the Michigan State Normal school. The members are to draw no extra pay beyond actual expenses for serving on the commission.

Commission's Duties.

It is to be the duty of this commission to select from the school books that are on the market those that are of proper standard to be used in the schools. From this list of eligibles the county school authorities are to choose the books they desire to use and notify the commission of the number needed. The commission is to negotiate with the publisners for the books, and if the prices are not within the maximum fixed by law the commission is empowered to procure manuscript and copyrights and advertise for bids for publishing the books.

The scale of prices fixed in the bill are on an average of 100 per cent lower than the prices the publishing companies have been charging in Michigan. Here are a few examples of the reductions:

Spelling book, 10 cents, formerly 25 cents; third reader, 23 cents, formerly 50 cents; fourth reader, 30 cents, formerly 60 cents; United States history, 50 cents, formerly $1; complete geography, 75 cents, formerly $1.25.

The committee has found on investigation that Kansas, Indiana, California and Ontario have been enjoying such prices as are fixed in the bill for some years, all because they have a law which they can hold as a club over the heads of the publishers.

Paying For Books.

In case the free text book clause is allowed to remain in the bill it will provide that the books are to be paid for out of the primary school fund not needed for teachers' salaries. If, after the teachers are paid, there is an insufficient amount remaining to pay for the books the money is to be raised by taxation, the same as other school money is raised.

ANOTHER QUARANTINE.

Parkdale Farm and Livonia Township Again Under Ban.

Detroit, Mich., March 22.—Two quarantine proclamations have been issued by the state livestock sanitary commission affecting the Parkdale farm, owned by Parke, Davis & Co. of Detroit, near Rochester, and another placing a quarantine on Sections 23, 24, 25, 26, 35 and 36 of Livonia township, Wayne county.

These orders became operative at noon, March 19.

Comparison of the two orders shows that while the movement of stock from Livonia area, where diseased cattle were destroyed last December, is permitted, under specified conditions, no such alternative is offered in the case of Parke, Davis & Co.'s farm. The proclamations raise no bar against the movement of stock into these areas, but stock that has been taken to the pharmaceutical company's farm must remain there or be destroyed.

Cannot Extradite Young Iowan.

Owosso, Mich., March 22.—The attorney general's department at Lansing has refused to issue extradition papers for Guy Pague, a young Iowa solicitor for a New York magazine, who has been located in Indiana by the local police. Pague is alleged to have left town owing a $10 board bill and is said o have fleeced several people out of subscriptions to the magazine which he represented.

PUTS BAGGAGE ON STEAMSHIP.

Roosevelt Also Inspects His Quarters on Hamburg.

FINDS THEM SATISFACTORY.

Nation's Former Chief Executive Starts on His African Expedition Tuesday—Surprised to Learn Big Crowd Would Be at Dock to See Him Off.

New York, March 22.—Ex-President Roosevelt visited New York today, bringing with him his baggage, containing rifles, ammunition, one tent, books, scientific instruments, wearing apparel etc., for his African trip, upon which he starts Tuesday.

After seeing that the baggage was stored carefully aboard the steamship Hamburg, on which he will journey as far as Naples, he visited the quarters assigned to him and expressed himself as well pleased with all arrangements made for his comfort.

Mr. Roosevelt was shown a dispatch stating that a gentleman from the west would join the expedition here as an additional member.

Won't Let This Chap Go.

"I don't know anything about it," said Mr. Roosevelt. "If any one else is going, I don't know. If they try I think there will be some way to stop them. There is a story that a man went to Texas with a 22 caliber revolver, and a cowboy said to the newcomer: 'Stranger, if you shoot me with that thing and I find it out, I'll kick you out of Texas.' Well, if I find anyone trying to follow me I may think of the cowboy story."

Oyster Bay, N. Y., March 22.—Happy in the prospect of his departure Tuesday morning for his long planned African "Safari" or hunting trip, ex-President Theodore Roosevelt was the soul of good humor Sunday at his home in Sagamore Hill, where the members of his family gathered for a final reunion before the long journey to the jungle. The ex-president was in high spirits and took a lively interest in the final preparations for shipping his personal baggage to the Hamburg-American steamship Hamburg.

W. Emlen Roosevelt and his family, cousins of the ex-president, called Sunday afternoon and joined the family party. Ex-Secretary of the Interior James R. Garfield visited Mr. Roosevelt and extended his wishes for a safe journey.

Walked to Church.

The entire family went to church, walking both ways, a distance of three miles. Several of the congregation pressed about Mr. Roosevelt at the close of the church service and wished him a fine journey and good luck.

While in a jovial mood regarding his trip, Mr. Roosevelt laughingly refrained from talking about it to visitors to Sagamore Hill, and to the correspondents who called on him he said:

'I want to say now that I do not intend to make and will not make any statement regarding my African trip or on any other subject here, at Naples or Mombasa, so that any appearing as coming from me will be false on its face."

Mr. Roosevelt was surprised when informed that several delegations from civic and political organizations from various parts of the country would be at the dock and that several thousand people undoubtedly would be on hand to give him a parting cheer as the steamship goes out.

Roosevelt Shocked.

"Gracious me," said Mr. Roosevelt, "you don't really mean to say there will be such a crowd as that. Are all those people coming? The French ambassador, M. Jusserand, wrote me that he would see me at the dock. If a big crowd is coming I will write the company to see that he has no trouble in getting through the crowd. There will be no speeches or statements from me at the steamer."

The intelligence that many packages had been received at the pier from various friends, containing everything from an assortment of pills to cure all the evils that flesh is heir to in the jungle to ammunition and guns, caused Mr. Roosevelt to exclaim:

"I might say now, that I have engaged all my equipment, and I won't take them. I won't even look at them. It's no use to send those things to me."

Mr. Roosevelt said he was a private citizens and as such he was entitled to a private citizen's rights and would decline to make any statement on American political affairs.

POLICE DETAIN MAN AND BOY

Believed Whitla Lad Has Been Found at Cuyahoga Falls.

FATHER SADLY DISAPPOINTED.

Placed Ransom Under Stone at Night in Ashtabula Park—Kidnapers Did Not Come and Get It—Parent Also Gets Letter From Abductors at Ashtabula Hotel.

Cleveland, March 22.—A man and a little boy, believed to be Willie Whitla and one of his kidnapers, are being detained by the police of Cuyahoga Falls. The man claims he is from Harrisburg, Pa.

Cleveland, March 22.—After failing in an attempt to negotiate a settlement for the return of his kidnaped son, Willie, in a park at Ashtabula Sunday, J. P. Whitla has returned to his home in Sharon.

A letter from the captors of Willie Whitla came to the boy's parents in Sharon Friday afternoon.

Instructions were given Whitla to go alone to Ashtabula on Saturday night, place the $10,000 under a rock at the base of a gorge in the park at 10 o'clock. At 3 o'clock on the following morning, if the money was obtained by the kidnapers, they promised that the stolen boy would be sent to the Smith hotel in Ashabula, unharmed.

Must Go Alone.

In order that there might be no mistake made, another letter, it was promised, would be written to Whitla under the name of "C. A. White" Saturday night. He was to receive this letter at the Smith hotel in Ashtabula. Whitla was instructed specifically that he was to be accompanied by no one when he went to the park to deposit the money.

At 8 o'clock Whitla left Cleveland for Ashtabula. He was accompanied by Detective McCabe. The latter was to act as his bodyguard, but was not to go with Whitla to the park.

A few minutes after 9 oclock, the kidnapers, in keeping with their promise, sent a letter addressed to "C. A. White" to the Smith hotel in Ashtabula. The boy, who was unknown to any of the clerks at the hotel, handed the letter to Albert Temple, a night clerk.

Half an hour later, when no one called for the missive, the clerk became curious and opened the envelope.

Failing to grasp the importance of the letter to the man to whom it was addressed, the clerk handed the letter to a traveling man. The latter read it and at once notified Mayor A. D. Cook and Chief of Police J. W. Laskey. The mayor ordered all of his police to institute a search for the captors.

Policemen Were Watching.

Promptly at 10 o'clock Whitla, supposedly alone, left the package of bills in the park. Three policemen, who had been sent out from the Ashtabula central station, saw Whitla leave the money in the park. They apprised Chief Laskey of their discovery and received instructions to remain on guard at the park and capture the kidnapers should they appear.

After five hours of anxious waiting, Whitla started after his boy at the hotel. As he was on his way a policeman informed him that three police officers had been on guard at the park and no one had called for the money. Whitla was overcome when this news was broken to him. He went to the park and found his package of money undisturbed.

Officers have searched the country around Ashtabula, attempting to get a trace of the boy and the kidnapers.

MEETS IN BUFFALO.

National Conference of Charaties and Corrections Takes Place in June.

Buffalo, March 22.—Announcement has been made of the preliminary arrangements for the thirty-sixth national conference of charities and corrections to be held here June 9-16, inclusive.

Local committees are preparing to entertain 2,000 philantrophists and social workers.

This conference is one of the institutions of the country. It has no constitution. In the thirty-five years it has never committed itself in favor of or opposed to any given program for social or charitable betterment by resolution. In short, it has always been, as its name signifies, a conference, and not in any sense a convention.

In Saxony no one is permitted to shoe horses unless he has passed a public examination and proves that he is properly qualified.

SWIMMER DROWNS.

Canoe Capsized With Him on Kalamazoo River.

Plainwell, Mich., March 22.—Unable to keep above water long enough to reach shore, Fred Church, twenty years old, a shoe cutter, was drowned in the swift current of the Kalamazoo river, near the Plainwell dam, one mile west.

Church, with Clyde Gray, a chum, started down the river in a canvas boat. Nearing the dam, Gray suggested that they carry the boat around the small pond and launch it on the other side of the dam. Church let Gray out and said that he would row it a little farther. A moment later Gray looked ou in the stream and saw his friend clinging to the boat. Gray yelled and told Church to swim for shore, knowing him to be a good swimmer. The latter attempted to do so, but when fifteen feet from land he threw up his hands and sank in deep water.

STATUE TO MARQUETTE ON MACKINAC ISLE.

Heirs of Peter White to Carry Out His Desires.

Marquette, Mich., March 22.—Through the initiative of the late Peter White of this city and the liberality of his heirs there is to be erected on Mackinac island a monument to Father Marquette, the pioneer Jesuite missionary and explorer of the upper lake country.

The dedication of the statue will take place the first week in August.

The monument project was first launched thirty years ago. Some $1,200 was raised at that time. A long period elapsed, and then the fund was increased to $2,600 by popular subscription. Peter White then ordered a bronze statute of Pere Marquette, ten feet high, and a granite pedestal. It was his intention to personally pay the balance needed, but before the project could be carried out he dropped dead while on a business mission in Detroit. His heirs will carry out his intentions.

IN TOILS OF LAW.

Young Men Worked Unique Deception In Selling Potatoes.

Ionia, Mich., March 22.—Postoffice Inspectors Cookstan of Ionia and Fyle of Grand Rapids have arrested Robert A. Johnson and Nicholas M. Fader, two young men, for using the United States mails for fraudulent purposes. Both have confessed. Johnson was taken into custody at Indianapolis and Fader at Waupaca, Wis.

The two men have been buying and selling potatoes at Reed City and at Greenville. Their scheme has been to contract for all the small product they could find at 15 and 20 cents per bushel and sell it to Cincinnati and St. Louis merchants at 85 and 90 cents. They would fill a car with small potatoes and then spread a layer of nice, large ones on top, and in this way the purchaser was deceived into buying them.

They will be taken to Grand Rapids, where they will be tried before a federal jury in October.

The two men claim to have cleaned up nearly $3,000 by their scheme.

MANY SUNDAY DRUNKS.

Flint People Receive Shock on Sabbath Day.

Flint, Mich., March 22.—Flint people, especially the local option element, were astounded Sunday, when twenty intoxicated men were taken to jail by the police department.

In the possession of each man was found evidence that he had been supplied Saturday for over the holiday. The majority of the arrested had empty flasks, while a few had bottles in which is sold whisky at drug stores.

The wholesale arrests for intoxication, it is thought, will add strength to the workers for local option, but the "wets" maintain that such conditions will prevail if the county is voted "dry."

It is reported that 1,200 arrests have been made at Jellahabad, Afghanistan, in connection with the plot recently discovered to murder the ameer, the heir apparent and the other members of the royal family.

Despondent because of ill health, Michael Harrison, a retired advertising agent, formerly of St. Louis, Mo., committed suicide in bed in his home in New York by shooting himself through the head.

Mrs. Georgia Wheeler, organist at the Gibson Heights Presbyterian church, near St. Louis, dropped dead Sunday as she entered the organ loft to play the first hymn of the morning service. The congregation was dismissed.

Hall's catarrh is the only positive cure now known to the fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ing the girl and the lieutenant." Stark mused. "Well, that will do it." He outlined his plan; then the two returned to the cabin to find Lee cooking supper.

Poleon had finished several pipes and after supper sat in the shadows in the open doorway apparently tired and dejected, though his eyes shone like diamonds and roved from one to the other. Half unconsciously he heard Stark saying:

"This girl was about your size, but not so dark. However, you remind me of her in some ways. That's why it puts her in my mind, I suppose. She was about your age at the time—nineteen."

"Oh, I'm not eighteen yet," said Necia.

"Well, she was a fine woman anyhow, the best that ever set foot in Chandon, and there was a great deal of talk when she chose young Bennett over the Gaylord man, for Bennett had been running second best from the start, and everybody thought it was settled between her and the other one. However, they were married quietly."

The story did not interest the Canadian. His mind was in too great agitation to care for dead tales. His heart burned within him too fiercely, and he felt too great a desire to put his hands to work. As he watched Burrell and Runnion bend over the table looking at a little can of gold dust that Lee had taken from under his bunk his eyes grew red and bloodshot beneath his hat brim. Which one of the two would it be? he wondered. From the corner of his eye he saw Gale rise from Lee's bed, where he had stretched himself to smoke, and take his six shooter from his belt, then remove the knotted bandanna from his neck and begin to clean the gun, his head bowed over it earnestly, his face in the shadow. He had ever been a careful and methodical man, reflected Poleon, and evidently would not go to sleep with his firearm in bad condition.

"Nobody imagined that Gaylord would cause trouble," Stark was saying, "for he didn't seem to be a jealous sort, just stupid and kind of heavy witted. But one night he took advantage of Bennett's absence and sneaked up to the house." The story teller paused, and Necia, who was under the spell of his recital, urged him on:

"Yes, yes. What happened then? Go on!" But Stark stared gloomily at his hands and held his silence for a full minute, the tale appearing to have awakened more than a fleeting interest in him.

"It was one of the worst killings that ever happened in those parts," he continued. "Bennett came back to find his wife murdered and the kid gone."

"Oh!" said the girl in a shocked voice.

"Yes, there was a deuce of a time. The town rose up in a body, and we—you see, I happened to be there—we followed the man for weeks. We trailed him and the kid clear over into the Nevadh desert, where we lost them."

"He died of thirst in the desert maybe, he and the little one."

"That's what we thought at the time, but I've crossed his trail since then. No. Gaylord is alive today, and so is the girl. Some time we'll meet." His voice gave out, and he stared again at the floor.

"Couldn't the little girl be traced?" said Necia. "What was her name?"

Stark made to speak, but the word was never uttered, for there came a deafening roar that caused Lee's candle to leap and flicker and the air inside the cabin to strike the occupants like a blow. Instantly there was confusion, and each man sprang to his feet, crying out affrightedly, for the noise had come with utter unexpectedness.

"My God, I've killed him!" cried Gale. And with one jump he cleared half the room and was beside Stark, while his revolver lay on the floor where he had been sitting.

"What is it?" exclaimed Burrell. But there was no need to ask, for powder smoke was beginning to fill the room, and the trader's face gave answer. It was whiter than that of his daughter, who had crouched fearfully against the wall, and he shook like a man with ague. But Stark stood unhurt and more composed than any of them. Following the first bound from his chair, he had relapsed into his customary quiet. There had blazed up one momentary flash of suspicion and anger, but it died straightway, for no man could have beheld the trader and not felt contrition. His condition was pitiable, and the sight of a strong man overcome is not pleasant. When it was seen that no harm had been done the others strove to make light of the accident.

"My God, I've killed him!" cried Gale.

"Get together, all of you! It's nothing to be excited over!" said Stark.

"How did it happen?" Runnion finally asked Gale, who had sunk limply upon the edge of the bunk, but when the old man undertook to answer his words were unintelligible, and he shook his head helplessly.

Stark laid his finger on the hole that the bullet had bored in the log close to where he was sitting and laughed.

"Never mind, old man; it missed me by six inches. You know there never was a bullet that could kill me. I'm six shooter proof."

"Wha'd I tell you?" triumphantly ejaculated Lee to the lieutenant.

Doret off all in the cabin had said nothing. Seated apart from the others, he had seen the affair from a distance, as it were, and now stepped to the bed to lay his hand on Gale's shoulder.

Poleon led his friend down the trail for half a mile without speaking till Gale had regained a grip of himself and muttered finally:

"I never did such a thing before, Poleon; never in all my life."

"Why?" insisted the Frenchman.

"I—I—I— What do you mean?"

"Don't lie wit' me, John. I'm happen to be watch you underneat' my hat w'en you turn roun' for see if anybody lookin'."

"I thought you were asleep," said Gale.

CHAPTER VIII.

THE KNIFE.

In every community, be it ever so small, there are undesirable citizens, and while the little party was still at breakfast on the following morning three such members of society came around the cabin and let fall their packs, greeting the occupants boisterously.

"Well, well!" said Lee, coming to the door. "You're travelin' kind of early, ain't you?"

"Yes, early and late," one of them laughed, while the other two sprawled about as if to rest.

"How far are you goin'?"

"Not far," the spokesman answered. "We want a piece of this creek."

"What are you goin' to do with it?"

"Cut that out, Lee. We're on."

"Who wised you up to this?" inquired the miner angrily.

"Never mind who put us Jerry. We're here, ain't we?"

The harm was done, and there was no use in concealment, so Lee reluctantly told them of his discovery and warned them of the stakes already placed.

"I'll step along with the boys and show them where our upper stakes are," volunteered Stark, and Runnion offered to do the same, adding that it were best to make sure of no conflict so early in the game. The five disappeared into the woods, leaving the others at the cabin to make preparations for the homeward trip.

"I don't like the look of this," observed the lieutenant thoughtfully. "I'm afraid there's some kind of a job on foot."

"There's nothing they can do," Gale answered. "We've got our ground staked out, and it's up to them to choose what's left."

They were nearly ready to set out for Flambeau when the five men returned.

"Before you go," said Stark, "I think we'd better organize our mining district. There are enough present to do it."

"We can make the kind of laws we want before the gang comes along," Runnion chimed in, "and elect a recorder who will give us a square deal."

"I'll agree if we give Lee the job," said Gale. "It's coming to him as the discoverer, and I reckon the money will be handy, seeing the hard luck he's played in."

The group assembled in the cleared space before the cabin to make rules and regulations governing the district, for it is a custom in all mining sections removed from authority for the property holders thus to make local laws governing the size of claims, the amount of assessment work, the size of the recorder's fees, the character of those who may hold mines and such other questions as arise.

It was of wondrous interest to Necia to be an integral part of such important matters, and she took pride in voting on every question, but Burrell, who observed the proceedings from neutral ground, could not shake off the notion that all was not right. Things moved too smoothly. It looked as if there had been a rehearsal. Lee, Poleon and the trader, however, seemed not to notice it.

The surprise came when they had completed the organization of the district and had nearly finished adopting bylaws.

Runnion moved the adoption of a rule that no women be allowed to locate mining claims, and one of the strangers seconded it.

"What's that?" said Lee, raising his one eye from the notebook in which as secretary he was transcribing the minutes.

"It isn't right to let women in on a man's game," said Runnion.

"That's my idea," echoed the seconder.

"I s'pose this is aimed at my girl," said Gale, springing to his feet. "I might have known you bums were up to some crooked work."

Poleon likewise rose and ranged himself with the trader.

"Ba gar, I don' stan' for dat!" said he excitedly. "You want for jump Necia's claims, eh?"

"As long as I'm chairman we'll have no rough work," declared Stark, glaring at them. "If you want trouble, you two, I reckon you can have it; but, whether you do or not, the majority is going to rule, and we'll make what laws we want to."

He took no pains now to mask his dislike for Gale, who began to move toward him in his dogged, resolute way. Necia, observing them, hastened to her father's side, for that which she sensed in the bearing of both men quite overcame her indignation at this blow against herself.

"No, no; don't have any trouble!" she pleaded as she clung to the trader. "For my sake, daddy, sit down." Then she whispered fiercely into his ear: "Can't you see he's trying to make you fight? There's too many of them. Wait! Wait!"

Burrell attempted to speak, but Stark, who was presiding, turned upon him fiercely.

"This isn't aimed at you in particular, Gale, nor at your girl, for a motion to disqualify her isn't necessary. She isn't old enough to hold mining property."

"She's eighteen," declared the trader.

"Not according to her story."

"Well, I can keep her claims for her till she gets of age."

"We've just fixed it so you can't," grinned Runnion cunningly. "No man can hold more than one claim on a creek. You voted for that yourself."

Too late Gale saw the trick by which Stark had used him to rob his own daughter.

"No Creek" Lee had the name of a man slow in speech and action and one who roused himself to anger deliberately, much as a serpent stings itself into a painful fury, but now it was apparent that he was boiling over, for he stammered and halted and blustered, explosively.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., March 20, 1909.

The new tariff measure which takes its name, the Payne Bill, from Chairman Payne of the Ways and Means Committee, taken as a whole, makes provision for a material reduction of the duties imposed by the Dingley law, and experts predict that it will at the same time produce an important increase of revenue. It is estimated, by the framers of the bill, that its revenue producing power will be $335,000,000 from imports, and $275,000,000 from internal revenue, making an increase in the government's annual revenue of $10,000,000.

The provision for a graduated inheritance tax, similar to that of New York, is the most striking innovation and the system of maximum and minimum duties whereby the principle of reciprocity is to be carried out practically automatically, is another innovation. To make up the needed revenues, among other provisions, luxuries have been transferred to the dutiable list, such as perfumes and highly perfumed soaps, and a long list of spices have been taken from the free list and put upon the dutiable schedules.

It is expected that general debate on the Payne bill will begin in the House on Tuesday next, as the minority members of the committee on ways and means have been given until that day to file their reports, and the present indications are that party lines will be eliminated during the consideration of the bill. Each member of the House will look after the interests of his own district during the fight, with but few exceptions.

* * *

Secretary NoVeagh of the Treasury Department expressed satisfaction with the general features of the new tariff bill. From the viewpoint of the Treasury Department the maximum and minimum feature of the bill is one of its most important provisions. By this provision the government is given a weapon by which it is in a position to retaliate for any discrimination sought to be practiced by a foreign government, and it is considered that in this way the interests of American exporters will be conserved and promoted.

Another feature of the bill commended by the Treasury officials is the paragraph providing an improved way of establishing "market value" for imports. The new bill provides that in the absence of a home market in the country of origin, the market value of such imports is to be determined by working backward from the selling price in the United States. Under this plan a certain percentage will be allowed for profit on the goods, and to this will be added freight, cartage, and other charges. Under the method now in force, the so-called German agreement, the market value of imports from that country, of goods which have no sale there, is determined by taking an average of the export price of such goods sold to all other countries.

Senator Aldrich, Chairman of the committee on Finance, intends to push the consideration of the tariff bill in the Senate committee with all possible dispatch and it is expected that, beginning with Friday, the committee will be in continuous session. In this way the delay incidental to the usual method of committee consideration will be avoided. The Senate leaders will engage their own experts in tabulating information and preparing comparative tables so that all senators may have abundant data bearing upon every schedule.

* * *

The Central American situation, in all its phases, was discussed with Secretary Knox by the various representatives from these republics, at the State Department on Thursday of this week, the regular diplomatic day. From advices received at the State Department, military activities in Nicaragua still continue, and she is blamed with being the the cause and the sole cause of the unsettled conditions in Central America.

* * *

Official announcement is made that the 600-foot tower, which the government proposes to construct for wireless telegraph purposes, will be erected at either Annapolis or in the District of Columbia. It will be capable of sending messages three thousand miles and of receiving them from a distance of a thousand miles. It is expected that bids for the concrete work will soon be in the hands of the Navy Department officials, and it is hoped to have the tower started in about a month. It will require three and four months to erect it.

The Commissioner of Pensions, Col. Vespasian Warner, is the recipent of an unusual tribute. President Taft is to be presented with a petition asking the retention of Col. Warner and signed by nearly every member of Congress, regardless of political affiliation, in recognition of the able way in which he has administered the affairs of his office.

The Invisible Point.

It was an awfully old joke, but the American thought it might cause his English friend to generate a smile.

"Just before I sailed for Liverpool," said the American, "I dreamed that I was dead, and the heat woke me up."

"So?" rejoined the Englishman seriously. "The weather must be beastly hot in America."—Chicago News.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least so says Dr. Shoop, and he proves it he has created a little pink tablet, that tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.

If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

MRS. JOHN J. McELROY, SR.

Thursday night as the hands in the dial marked midnight, the life clock of Mrs. Agnes Herbison McElroy struck twelve, and the soul obedient to the summons left its house of clay and took its flight to God. Thus endeth a life on earth, long in years and full of busy activity and deeds of love and mercy.

Agnes Herbison was born Sept. 25th, 1830 at Carnlea, Antrim Co, Ireland. She was reared in a Christain home, and united with the Presbyterian church as a young girl, and through all her years her faith in her Lord never wavered. She left to her family the greatest heritage that can be left the example of a pure Christian life and to the last her Bible was her constant companion.

At the age of twenty-four she was united in marriage to John J. McElroy and returned as a bride to her old home that had been in her family name over two hundred years. Here they continued to live and seven children came to bless their union.

In 1879 they came to this country and settled near Tecumseh where their remaining years was passed.

She survived her husband twelve years, he having passed away Oct 20th, 1897, after which she gradually gave up active life while increasing infirmities finally forced her to the confines of her home.

She leaves six children Joseph having passed away in 1893. James of Mead, Kansas, John J. of Holloway, Mrs. D. D. Watson of North Adams, Mrs. E. A. Smith of Adrian, Hugh and May, who reside at the old home; also seven grandchildren.

Her dreams were ever of the beautiful sometime, when she should once more behold her children and loved ones, and know no parting nor pain again. Her favorite poem was that beautiful littlegem by Ella Wheeler Wilcox entitled

"THE BEYOND."

It seemeth such a little way to me
Across to that strange country, the beyond,
And yet not strange, for it has grown to be
The home of those of whom I am so fond;
They make it seem familiar and most dear,
As journeying friends bring distant countries near.

ONE MILLION DOLLARS FOR A GOOD STOMACH

This Offer Should Be a Waring To Every Man and Woman.

The newspapers and medical journals recently have had much to say relative to a famous millionaires' offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.

This great multi-millionaire was too busy to worry about the condition of his stomach. He allowed his dyspepsia to run from bad to worse until in the end it became incurable.

Everyone who suffers with dyspepsia for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach.

Dyspepsia is caused by an abnormal state of the gastric juices. There is one element missing. The absence of this destroys the function of the gastric fluids. They lose their power to digest food.

We are now able to supply the missing element—to restore to the gastric juices their digestive power, and to make the stomach strong and well.

We want you to try them and will return your money if you are not more than satisfied with the result.

A Mere Hint.

The young man had married the rich man's daughter and wasn't killing himself with work to support her. One day the old man took him to task.

"Look here," he said emphatically, "why don't you go to work?"

"I don't have to," the son-in-law replied, with brazen effrontery.

"Well, you will have to."

"Why will I?"

"Because, sir, I cannot live always to support you."

"But you will leave us something?"

"Not much I won't. There won't be anything to leave."

The son-in-law was alarmed.

"Great Jupiter!" he exclaimed. "You don't mean to tell me you have nothing?"

"That's about the size of it."

The son-in-law devoted himself to profound thought for several seconds.

"I have a suggestion to offer," he said in a businesslike manner.

"What is it?" asked the old gent.

"Well, I suggest that you take out, say, £25,000 life assurance on yourself to save wear and tear on my mind."—Illustrated Bits.

A Dear Dish.

"Learning by experience in New York is expensive business," said an out of town man. "Last night a lesson cost me just $8.50 and was cheap at that. You see, I had a little dinner for a few friends in a private room at one of the best restaurants. Everything was just right, and I was mighty well pleased. One thing was especially pretty, and that was the dish of spun sugar in which the fruit was served. It had all sorts of little flowers and bowknots sticking out from it, and every one of the crowd broke off a piece to nibble on. When I went to pay the bill one item surprised me. 'Eight dollars and a half for a dish' was something I didn't understand. 'What's it for?' I asked, pointing to this item. And it was then and there explained to me that a dish of spun sugar was just as much the property of the establishment as one of cut glass or silver, and any damages must be paid for. It was all right enough, but it was new to me."—New York Sun.

Near Death in Big Pond.

It was a thrilling experience to Mrs. Ida Soper to face death. "For years a severe lung trouble gave me intense suffering," she writes, "and several times nearly caused my death. All remedies failed and doctors said I was incurable. Then Dr. King's New Discovery brought quick relief and a cure so permanent that I have not been troubled in twelve years." ELECTRIC ROAD

Ex-Gov. Lee of South Dakota and W. E. Niles of Chicago Owners of the Line.

Running from Toledo to Ann Arbor by Way of Petersburg.

Meet business men in Tecumseh and lay plans before them to extend the road to Tecumseh and Jackson.

Ex-Gov. Lee of South Dakota and W. E. Niles of Chicago, who purchased the electric line from Toledo to Ann Arbor by way of Petersburg last fall, have been in Tecumseh for the past few days in contemplation of extending the road to Tecumseh and Jackson by way of the lakes. It is their plan to make Tecumseh the divisional point, locating the power plant here. This plant would cost about $300,000 and it is estimated that this would bring 80 or more families to Tecumseh. They ask the people of Tecumseh to purchase $25,000 of 5 per cent bonds.

A meeting of the business men of Tecumseh was held last Saturday at the Hotel Barrett, the company meeting with them, made known their plans and requirements. The proposition looks favorable to Tecumseh people and the road would certainly be a benefit to the town. The road is completed and a work train is working on the road bed from Petersburg to Toledo. The line from Petersburg to Ann Arbor is all graded, culverts are in ready for the rails. The company have an option on a power plant which is to be delivered on May 1st. If the proposition made to Tecumseh is accepted, the company state they will have cars in operation on Sept. 1st.

O. W. Sluedell of Chicago, an engineer was here in company with Mr. Niles, and with Mr. Lee and J. R. Keeney drove over the route as proposed, to Brooklyn Sunday. They were well pleased with the route and surrounding country. They went to Ann Arbor Monday morning. While in Tecumseh Messrs Lee and Niles met and talked with a number of the farmers, who were in from the country on Saturday, all of whom are in favor of the proposed line and hope soon to see the cars in operation.

BURGLARIZED

Office of Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Was broken into some time Saturday.

Some time Saturday or Sunday night the office of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company, situated over the Commercial Bank, Adrian, was broken into, but nothing has been missed so far. Monday morning when R. M. Boyd, the secretary, arrived at the office he discovered a pane of glass broken out of the door. Investigation revealed the fact that the parties had forced the door with a board as the marks could be seen on the sash. They had tried to open the safe.

It has been the custom of Mr. Boyd on leaving at night to merely give the knob of the safe a short turn beyond the day lock and leave it that way. A person turning the knob back could easily have gained access to the safe. The parties turned the knob the wrong way and not being familiar with the combination, were unable to open it.

Mr. Boyd deposits the money each night, and the booty would have been small even if the burglar had succeeded in gaining entrance.

AMUSEMENTS.

The large audiences which are everywhere enjoying the new "Peck's Bad Boy" speak well for the coming engagement of this popular comedy at the Bradley opera house, Friday, Mar. 26 James H. Callahan as the bad boy is surrounded with an organization which works unceasingly to provide amusement that never fails to please. Anyone who has treasured up pleasant memories of his youth is sure to have it brought back again while witnessing "Peck's Bad Boy" in its new and improved condition,—brighter, bigger and better than ever.

Samuel Mobbs will leave tomorrow for Oklahoma for an indefinite stay.

PEOPLE OF TECUMSEH

Here is What a Resident Says in Praise of Mi-o-na, the Mighty Cure

"For about two years I had a severe time from stomach trouble. The malady got me nervous, and I could not sleep. Hearing Mi-o-na highly spoken of, I procured a treatment, and after a short time, the trouble left me. I can, and have recommended the use of Mi-o-na, which is surely a wonderful remedy." Walter R. Eberly, Oneida st., Tecumseh, Mich., October 16, 1908.

Mi-o-na cures dyspepsia. There isn't any doubt about it. Thousands of just such testimonials as the above from every city and town in America prove it. Mi-o-na does not digest the food in your stomach, but in a few days it tones up the walls of the stomach and makes it strong enough to digest its own food. Digesters never cured dyspepsia, and never will; they may help a tired stomach do its work, temporarily, but that is all. Mi-o-na tablets are sold by C. A. Wright & Son for 50 cents a large box.

And remember, that Mi-o-na is guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, to cure dyspepsia, sea or car sickness, vomiting of pregnancy, and all stomach ills, or money back.

A CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Tecumseh Readers.

For months Tecumseh citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Tecumseh residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elasped if the personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time. The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Tecumseh reader.

Mrs. Sarah E. Austin, Pearl St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "About three years ago I was suffering from kidney trouble and rheumatism. I had severe pains in the small of my back and the kidney secretions passed so frequently as to cause me great annoyance. When someone told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and they helped me so much that I continued their use. I have taken this remedy since when my kidneys have troubled me and I have always found the best of results. I willingly allow my name to be used again in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

For Sale by all Dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sole Agents for the United States.

Sarcasm In the Commons.

The reluctance of the house of commons to adjourn over Derby day recalls a story related of one of the Roman Catholic peers who took their seats some four or five years before the passage of the first reform bill after an exclusion of a century and a half. He gave notice that on a certain day he would make a certain motion, whereupon there arose from his noble colleagues a general cry of "Derby!" The astonished novice named another day, only to be greeted with an equally unanimous expostulation of "Oaks!" At this he explained that he would have to ask the forgiveness of their lordships; but, having been educated abroad, he was forced to acknowledge that he was not familiar with the list of saints' days in the Anglican calendar.

His Glasses.

He came home in the small hours of the morning, and his loving spouse confronted him with wrath in her eye and a telegram in her hand, saying, "Here is news that has been waiting for you since supper time."

He blinked, looked wise and, braced up against the hatrack, felt through his pockets, murmuring, "I left my glasses down town."

"Yes," she replied, with scathing irony, "but you brought the contents with you."

Not Grasping.

"What a grasping fellow you are, Hawkins! You've bothered me about this bill fifty times in ten days."

"You wrong me, Jarley. I'm not grasping. I've bothered you about the bill, I admit, but I haven't been able to grasp anything yet."

ENGLISH FEAR OUR HORSES

American Cracks Entered In British Races Beginning This Week.

London, March 22.—The opening of the English racing season this week with the Lincolnshire handicap begins a season full of interest to sportsmen on both sides of the Atlantic.

Many of America's best runners are entered in the big English events, and leading native horsemen have given it as their belief that the foreigner will carry off some of the stakes.

See display and photos of cures at the drug store.

A Phonetic Purchase.

The late Henry Miller, who was guide, philosopher and friend to many book lovers within a thousand miles of New York, was a most successful salesman. One day he called on Collis P. Huntington and showed him a rare copy of a book.

"There are two volumes of this," said Mr. Miller. "The other volume is in perfect order, as you see this one is. You cannot possibly let them escape you, for you know you have nothing like this in your library."

"What is the price?" asked the railroad king.

"Seven hundred dollars," said the bookman.

"Those are too valuable volumes for my library," Mr. Huntington exclaimed.

Mr. Miller went back to his place and sent the books to Mr. Huntington's house with a bill for $700. Next day the railroad king sent for him.

"Why did you send me those books?" he demanded sharply.

"Because you bought them," was the bookman's calm reply.

"I certainly did not!" cried the millionaire.

"Oh, yes, you did!" answered Mr. Miller. "You'll remember perfectly well when I tell you what you said. You told me distinctly, 'Those are two valuable volumes for my library.'"—Harper's Weekly.

Books of Reference.

Newspaper editors like to answer questions addressed to them by their readers—if they are not too hard—and they deem themselves as arbiters rather than as accessories to a misdemeanor when they are appealed to for information "to decide a bet." But they wonder sometimes why certain questions are put to them for arbitrament when the answers are to be found in one of three very accessible books—an almanac, a grammar and a small dictionary.

These are books of reference that ought to be in every home library, however small. We guess that they are, but that they are sometimes dusty with misuse or out of easy reach on a top shelf. It is well to have an almanac, a dictionary or an atlas handy when you are reading your newspaper. By consulting them frequently the reader will find his daily paper relates his early historical studies to present events and makes his touch with the world closer and more significant. Get the habit!—New York Mail.

A Sporting Parson.

The inhibition of a hunting rector by his bishop reminds a correspondent that the Rev. Jack Russell, the famous west country sporting parson, was once cited to appear before the bishop of Exeter to answer charges of neglecting his spiritual and parochial duties, and he was also remonstrated with for keeping and following a pack of hounds. The charges were proved unfounded, and Russell refused to give up the sport, which he continued to pursue almost to the day of his death in 1883, at the age of eighty-eight. Besides being an insatiable hunter, he was, as his biographer pithily remarks, "a stanch supporter of Devonshire wrestlers, an admirable sparrer and an enthusiastic upholder of the virtues of Devonshire cider and cream." And in the pulpit he tried to reform conduct rather than to expound doctrine and was a stern denouncer of bad language, strong drink and "the filthy habit of smoking."—St. James' Gazette.

CURE

Cures Dyspepsia; Trial Is Free

It is a popular mistake that only wealthy people who eat rich and highly-spiced foods suffer from dyspepsia, or, as it is also known, indigestion. The laborer in the street, the worker in the field also finds himself a victim of this disorder. Among the very greatest sufferers from it are women.

Dyspepsia is indicated by a constant feeling of laziness, by loss of appetite and troubled sleep, by sour stomach and distress after eating, by bad complexion and lusterless eyes.

There is no surer and speedier cure for this trouble than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which dyspeptics have been using successfully for twenty years. This great herb laxative compound cured Capt. Clark, of Buffalo, N.Y., of dyspepsia and sour stomach that he had had for forty years, or until the lucky day that he heard of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It cured Joel Adams, of Montgomery, Ala., after suffering continuously for sixteen months. These are only a few of the many. But it is not expensive to be cured with this grand remedy, as it can be bought at any drug store in a 50-cent or $1 bottle.

Your very neighbors are probably lifelong users of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, but if you want to know without expense what it will do for you personally, send your name to Dr. Caldwell and he will be glad to send you a free trial bottle. He is actually anxious to have you make a test of his remedy.

Thousands of families everywhere keep it in the house against such an emergency as constipation, sour stomach, indigestion, biliousness, dyspepsia, heartburn, torpid liver, etc., which may come on a member of the family any day. It is pleasant to the taste, acts gently and does not gripe. It is the great children's laxative tonic.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 650 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Feats That Never Happened.

A grotesque and foolish view of the west leads many who are not acquainted with that part of the country to perpetrate amusing blunders regarding the possibilities of the typical western weapons, the rifle and the six shooter. To shoot an animal's eye out at a hundred paces is a common feat in wild west literature. Sometimes it is done with a six shooter—in type, not anywhere else. Of course, no man can see the eye of an animal that far. I have had a good rifleman tell me he could cut off a robin's head at a hundred steps. The truth is that he could not see the head clearly that far. You read that the desperado Slade could with a six shooter at fifty or sixty steps hit a man in any button of his coat that he chose, but you may be sure that neither Slade nor any one else could do anything of the kind. Even trick and fancy shooting at its best could ever cover feats ascribed as matters of course to the average frontiersman by those devotees of frenzied fiction who never saw the frontier.—Outing Magazine.

Eluding the Officers.

Here is an amusing description of one of Balzac's periods of impecuniosity. Mery, the poet, a great friend of Balzac, was an inveterate gambler and rarely left the card table before daybreak. His way lay past the Cafe de Paris, and for four consecutive mornings he had met Balzac strolling leisurely up and down dressed in a pantalon a pieds (trousers not terminating below the ankle, but with feet in them like stockings) and frock coat with velvet facings. The second morning Mery felt surprised at the coincidence; the third he was puzzled; the fourth he could hold out no longer and asked Balzac the reason of these nocturnal perambulations roundabout the same spot.

Balzac put his hand in his pocket and produced an almanac showing that the sun did not rise before 3:50. "I am being tracked by the officers of the tribunal de commerce and obliged to hide myself during the day, but at this hour I am free and can take a walk, for as long as the sun is not up they cannot arrest me."

Milk on a Stick.

In winter time milk goes to the buyer in a chunk instead of a quart, says a Glasgow paper. The people in Siberia buy their milk frozen, and for convenience it is allowed to freeze about a stick, which comes as a handle to carry it by. The milkman leaves one chunk or two chunks, as the case may be, at the houses of his customers. The children in Irkutsk, instead of crying for a drink of milk, cry for a bite of milk. The people in winter time do not say, "Be careful not to spill the milk," but "Be careful not to break the milk." Broken milk is better than spilled milk, though, because there is an opportunity to save the pieces. A quart of frozen milk on a stick is a very formidable weapon in the hand of an angry man or boy, as it is possible to knock a person down with it. Irkutsk people hang their milk on hooks instead of putting it in pans, though, of course, when warm spring weather comes on they have to use the pans or pails as the milk begins to melt and drop down the hooks.

The Illusion of Night.

I sometimes fancy that every great city must have been built by night. At least it is only at night that every part of a great city is great. All architecture is great architecture after sunset. Perhaps architecture is really a nocturnal art, like the art of fireworks. At least I think many people of those nobler trades that work by night (journalists, policemen, burglars, coffee stall keepers and such mistaken enthusiasts as refuse to go home till morning) must often have stood admiring some black bulk of building with a crown of battlements or a crest of spires and then burst into tears at daybreak to discover that it was only a haberdasher's shop with huge gold letters across the face of it.—G. A. Chesterton in London News.

Tax on Hats.

Not only have hats at various times been subject to taxation, but have even been made the subject of special laws. Thus in Henry VII.'s reign none was allowed to sell hats at a larger price than 20 pence or caps for more than 2s. 8d. Some compensation, however, for this interference with free trade could be found in the fact that in 1571 on Sundays and holidays every one above seven years of age was required to wear a cap of wool of English make under penalty of 3 farthings fine for every day's neglect.—London Chronicle.

Needed Mourning.

The Lady—I haven't much in the house to give you, my poor man, but would you like a piece of my pie? The Hobo—No, lady. But have yer got a old black coat? The Lady—Why do you want a black one? The Hobo—De feller yer gave a piece o' pie to de odder day was a pal o' mine.—Cleveland Leader.

UP TO MINERS.

Expect to Make Final Decision Tuesday Relative to Dealing With Operators.

Philadelphia, March 22.—The convention of anthracite mine workers which meets at Scranton, Pa., on Tuesday is expected to make a final decision so far as the men are concerned in the matter of a new agreement with the coal mine operators to take the place of the present working arrangement, which expires March 31.

All sorts of stories of the final outcome of the negotiations between the men and their employers have been circulated, but it is safe to say that no one can do more than speculate as to the result of the convention and of the conference with the operators which will be held after the Scranton meeting.

The mine workers are not unanimous with regard to what should be done, and, therefore, the operators are more or less in the dark as to the conditions that will prevail April 1st.

BUILD REPLACIA OF FULTON'S STEAMBOAT

To Be Used on Hudson at Coming Celebration.

New York, March 22.—The officers of the Hudson-Fulton celebration commission have let the contract for building the replica of Fulton's steamboat Clermont to the Staten Island Shipbuilding company. Work has already begun on the fac-simile of the first boat to steam up the Hudson, and the contract calls for its completion Aug. 1.

The Clermont, with the replica of Hudson's Half Moon, which is being built by the Dutch, in Holland, will be the center of the great naval parade which will start from New York and steam to New Newburgh on Friday, Oct. 1. To convoy these two little vessels there will be fleets of American and foreign warships, great river craft and ocean steamships that have evolved from Fulton's awkward little steamboat.

ONLY THIRTEEN.

Germany Will Not Have Seventeen Big Battleships In 1912.

Berlin, March 22.—In view of the assertions made in the British house of commons that Germany in the spring of 1912 would have seventeen warships, all of them of the big gun type, the navy department authorizes the statement that in the autumn of 1912 Germany will have thirteen such vessels.

These will be the battleships Nassau and Westfalen, which will be ready for sea in the autumn of 1909; the battleships Rheinland and Posen and the cruiser Von Der Tann, which will be ready for sea in the spring of 1910; three battleships to replace the Oldenburg, Siegfried and Beowolf and a cruiser to replace the armored cruiser "G," which will be ready in the summer or autumn of 1911, and three battleships to replace the Frithof, Hildebrand and Heimdahl and a vessel to replace the cruiser "H," which will be ready for sea in the autumn of 1912.

CHAMPLAIN'S DISCOVERY.

Three Hundredth Anniversary of Date to Be Observed.

New York, March 22.—Walter C. Witherbee, a member of the New York tercentenary Champlain commission, has just returned from Washington, where he had a conference with Secretary of the Navy Meyer with regard to authorizing a naval display on Lake Champlain during the five days' celebration of the 300th anniversary of the discovery of that body of water, next July.

"As a result of this conference," said Mr. Witherbee, "I expect that quite a flotilla of torpedo boats will be sent to Lake Champlain, including possibly a submarine torpedo boat.

"President Taft, Vice President Sherman and Speaker Cannon each has accepted invitations to be present. Senator Root will make the principal address on the New York side, and it is expected that Premier Laurier of Canada will make the principal address on the Vermont side."

EDWARD SNEDECOR.

Edward Snedecor was born at Blooming Grove, Orange county, New York, August 10, 1840 and went to his heavenly home from Tecumseh March 25, 1909.

Came to Monroe, Mich., when a small boy. His boyhood was full of toil with none of the luxuries of life About 38 years ago he came to Tecumseh and went to work for Henry Smith in the paper mill helping to make the first paper made in Tecumseh.

He remained with Mr. Smith sixteen years working twelve hours daily beginning at midnight.

He then became engineer for H Brewer & Co. and remained in the employ of that firm until his death.

During all these years, conditions were such at his home that there was little rest for him there either day or night. He was as near perpetual motion as a human machine could be.

And yet, with all his toil and the hardness of his life, because of his sunny cheerful nature he continued to get considerable enjoyment out of life.

More than thirty years ago he said to the writer "I have made up my mind to take what is coming to me in this life and carry it as best I can without complaint."

How well he succeeded, you who have watched his life may answer. In all the relatives of life—as husband, father, christian, citizen and employee he measured up to the full stature of a man.

The last months of his life were months of great weakness and suffering. He was anxious to be released.

A few hours before his death, he said to the attending physician "Doctor, I won't be here much longer will I? And then he added "You need'nt be afraid to tell me. I am all ready to go."

His acquaintance with the Father was very close and intimate. No immortal soul ever started on the long journey with a more full and complete assurance of a welcome home. And as the end drew near, it was so quiet and peaceful that the watchers at his bedside could almost hear the master saying "Poor weary soul—your day has been long—your task has been hard. Faithfully have you wrought all the long, long day You are very tired tonight. Come home."

He was a member of the Royal Arcanum and the M E church.

He leaves a wife, son, daughter-in-law, three grandchildren, one brother and several neices and nephews who will long remember the faithfulness and unselfishness of his life. They are not left to mourn but rather to rejoice that, for him, the long hard journey is closed.

The funeral services were conducted by his pastor Rev. D. S. Shaw at the M. E church on Saturday afternoon.

The Brewer foundry was closed and the employees attended in a body.

The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful, the songs that were sung were his own selection. The bearers, men of his choice All that was mortal of "Uncle Ed" was conveyed to Brookside and he is resting now. If it were mine to write his epitaph it would surely be.

"He giveth his beloved sleep."

CARD OF THANKS.

To the members of the firm of H. Brewer & Co., their employees who have all been most kind, the Royal Arcanum and all friends for their kindness in our bereavement we thank you.

EDWARD PRITCHARD.

After a serious illness lasting six months Mr. E. Prichard passed away Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. He was born in Clinton township Jan. 1st, 1837. Mr. Prichard is one of our oldest residents having lived here since he was 23 years of age. He was married to Miss Mary Strong of this city in 1861. He leaves a wife and seven children. Mrs. Nellie E. Goodrich of Battle Creek, Mrs. Fannie A. Mattausch of Adrian, Mrs. Bessie McCaughlin, Burt, Edward and Roy Prichard of Tecumseh and Mrs. Stella Rossman of Chicago. Just a little journey
To the other shore
Where the loved ones waiting
Clasp his hand once more.

What a glorious meeting
What a happy time
In the heavenly mansion
With every thing sublime.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness in our recent sorrow. Especially thank the ladies Guild and Telephone Co. for their beautiful floral pieces.

MRS. FARMER ELECTROCUTED

Paid Penalty at Dawn For Murder.

LAST HOURS SPENT IN PRAYER

Father Hickey of Auburn Holy Family Church, Woman's Spiritual Adviser, Leads Death March — She Issues Statement, Declaring Husband is Blameless of Mrs. Brennan's Death.

Auburn, N. Y., March 29.—Mrs. Mary Farmer met death in the electric chair at sunrise this morning for the killing of Mrs. Sarah Brennan at Brownville. She passed the night in prayer and meditation.

Brought from the women's prison to the receiving cell in the condemned row, Mrs. Farmer bade farewell to her husband, James Farmer, at 7 o'clock last night and then was lodged in a cell that adjoins the execution chamber, there to await the call to the chair.

Farmer, the husband, who also is under the sentence of death for the killing of the Brennan woman and whose case is before the court of appeals, was taken to another part of the prison that he might not hear the tread of the witnesses on their way to the room of execution, or the march of his wife to her death.

Father J. J. Hickey, pastor of the Holy Family church, administered the last sacrament and offered prayers for the dying before the short march to the execution chamber.

March to Chamber.

Father Hickey visited her about 3 o'clock and remained until the end. The witnesses met at the warden's office at 6 o'clock this morning and marched across the prison yard to the execution chamber.

Father Hickey and an assistant led the death march. The leg electrode was adjusted by Captain Patterson, the two women nurses assisting him. State Electrician Davis turned on the current. In a few moments the woman was dead.

The warden asked Father Hickey to take charge of the body, and the priest will have it buried in St. Joseph's cemetery, near here.

During hr long incarceration in Auburn prison, Mary Farmer has occupied a cell in the women's department and has spent most of her time in reading religious books.

Warden Benham says that he understands Mrs. Farmer has written an account of her life, which will be given to her son when he becomes of age.

Mrs. Farmer has made a statement which she believes will exonerate her husband. She prepared the statement Sunday in the presence of a notary public and Father Hickey.

IS HE CHARLIE ROSS?

Railroad Brakeman Believes He Is Famous Kidnaped Lad.

Pittsburg, March 29.—William Grant Eyester of McKees Rocks, a suburb, formerly a coal miner at Shamokin, now a brakeman on the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad, has stated to the Associated Press that he believes he is the Charlie Ross, kidnaped from Germantown, Pa., thirty-five years ago and never recovered.

He said he learned early in life that he was not the child of his supposed parents, and that many things they did led him to believe that he was Charlie Ross. He said that he tallies in every respect with the description of Charlie Ross, even to the moles. The memories of his early home tally with the description of the Ross home.

He has no evidence of his identity and is not making any effort to prove his connection with the famous case, dreading the notoriety it would give him.

INDIANS FLEE BEFORE MILITIA

Crazy Snake and Followers First Burn Tepees.

RETREAT TO STRONG PLACE.

Trouble in Oklahoma Has Resulted in Many Deaths—Posse Loses Six Men. More Than Twenty Indians and Negroes Killed—Deputies Get Information from Chief's Son.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 29.—Chief Crazy Snake and 100 followers retreated before five companies of Oklahoma militia last night, thus deferring an expected battle.

Hastily setting fire to his tepees and tents, the Indian leader, with his mixed company of Snake Creek Indians and negroes, fled from their camp as the troops advanced. They took up a strong position between the North Canadian river and Deep Fork creek, about seven miles east of Henryetta.

Colonel Hoffman, in command of the state troops, decided it would be unwise to push the pursuit and engage the Indians in the darkness. Accordingly, he bivouacked for the night. Early this morning, reinforced by a company of cowboys, all crack shots, he started with his forces in pursuit of the Indians.

Surrender, Fight or Retreat.

Crazy Snake, with his braves, will have a chance to surrender. If they refuse the battle will be on, unless the redskins again retreat.

Colonel Hoffman sent out numerous scouts to watch the movements of the enemy and to give the alarm if the Indians attempt to escape to a stronger position.

The militia officers believe Crazy Snake wants to reach the Tiger mountains with his followers before engaging in a general fight. That the old chief is striving to stir the Creeks to an uprising and strike for what he conceives to be liberty was evident from the smoke of three signal fires on adjacent hills, just before sundown. Old time frontiersmen who insist they know what such things mean declare this is a sign which always ushers in Indian trouble.

Major Charles F. Barrett, in charge of the commissary, has received hurry orders by courier to send supplies and additional ammunition to the troops in the field. From this it is inferred that the officers expect a long chase before a fight.

Six Killed.

Six men have been killed, and a dozen wounded since the trouble began Thursday. This is the official report, but Dr. I. M. Wallace of Dustin, Okla., who went to the Hickory hills with the troops, declared more than twenty negroes and Indians were killed Thursday and Saturday and were rudely buried without coffins in the field where the troops camped last night.

The Indians have prepared for two months for this, their final stand against lawful authority. They have defiantly sent out word that they would fight to the death.

Crazy Snake's band strongly entrenched itself early Sunday and was reinforced from time to time by roving companies which were scared away from Henryetta by the approach of the troops.

Crazy Snake Commands.

Crazy Snake, whose real name is Chitte Harjo, is in personal command. This was established by the testimony choked out of his college bred son by means of a nice new inch rope. Young Harjo was strung up by the determined deputies until nearly dead. Then he gasped out that his father was in command; named the Indian who killed the deputies; told the officers how to trail the band and did everything which a stoical redman is supposed not to do when he is in the hands of his enemies.

This first real Indian uprising of years has held this region on edge for three days. It broke out last Thursday, when several deputy sheriffs went to Henryetta to arrest negro cattle thieves. They were fired on by negro and half breed friends of the criminals and forced to retreat. A few hours later they returned with additional forces and were fired on by the band, then augmented by a number of Crazy Snake's Indians. In this fight three negroes were killed and five wounded, according to the official reports, although it is thought many more Indians were wounded, as scores of shots were fired at close quarters. This clash resulted in forty-one arrests.

Plans Prematurely Sprung.

Meantime Crazy Snake's followers determined on an aggressive campaign. The chief's plans had to be prematurely sprung on account of the unexpected attack of deputies on Henryetta. Deputies fanned the flames by hunting strenuously for the leaders, and Crazy Snake, forced to the wall, determined to strike a hard blow in an effort to escape.

Saturday night part of his band was run to cover by deputies in a search for leaders of Thursday's fight. Marshal Baum of Checotah and Deputy Odom of Eufaula paid their lives as a price. They were shot down, according to Crazy Snake's son, by Charles Coker, a Seminole Indian. This event aroused the state authorities. Governor Haskell ordered out the militia, and the word was passed out that the band must be captured or killed.

Not till Sunday did the people of Henryetta realize the dangerous situation. Threatened by raids by some of Crazy Snake's men, they hurriedly armed, patrolled the roads leading to the town, sent to surrounding towns for arms and ammunition and sent urgent appeals to Governor Haskell to hurry the militia to the scene. Not until the soldiers arrived last night were he people's fears relieved. Then the Indian bands scurried away to avoid a battle with the military, preferring to cast their lot with the larger band entrenched under Crazy Snake's command in Hickory hills and to take part in a guerilla fight that appeared inevitable.

VISITED WASHINGTON

Crazy Snake Was There When Taft Was Inaugurated.

Washington, March 29. — Crazy Snake and several of his tribesmen of Creek Indians, who are reported to be on the warpath, were in Washington during President Taft's inauguration and witnessed the ceremonies incident to the convening of the extra session of congress. A few days later they returned to Henryetta, Okla. Crazy Snake's second son, known here as Thomas Wilson, accompanied them here, but did not return home with them.

With the stoicism characteristic of his race, when seen at his boarding house, he professed to know nothing of the outbreak of the Snake clan and was apparently uninformed about the troubles of his father. He looked downcast and depressed when told of the capture of his elder brother, and he inquired if he was still alive. Assurance in the affirmative brought an expression of hope over the redskin's face.

RED HOT MEETING AT MARINE CITY.

Union and Independent Marine Men Talk over Situation.

Marine City, Mich., March 29.—Nothing but the red hot meeting of members of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial association and the individual contract men who had quit the organization, in the hall of the local branch Saturday night, and which lasted until Sunday morning, is being discussed today to any great extent in the homes of the thousands of lake faring people scattered from Detroit to Port Huron.

Never before in the history of M. E. B. A. local No. 53 has anything of the like ever occurred. It was the first occasion for the loyal members of the association and the individual contract men of this district to assemble and talk over the conditions of the lake labor situation.

That some vigorous language was indulged in is putting it mildly.

With the opening of navigation but a few days away, the situation between the vessel owners and the union men has reached a straining point. Whether it will break or mend is a matter on which no one appears able to express an opinion.

There is not a marine man on the lakes who is not watching the outcome of the trouble between the owners and the M. E. B. A. men. Many are of the opinion that the final result of the difficulty between the two factions will have a bearing on trouble of other lake unions with the owners in regard to the "welfare plan" adopted by the Lake Carriers' association.

OVER THE FALLS.

Crowd of People Powerless to Aid Duck Hunters.

Waterloo, Ia., March 29.—While scores of persons watched, powerless to help, Christ Anderson and Henry Rothman, duck hunters, clinging to an upturned boat, from which Frank Bentz had already jumped and drowned, went over the falls on the Cedar river and drowned.

The three men tried to cross the river just above the falls, and the boat upset. Their screams for help attracted a crowd, but no one could do anything to aid the doomed men.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderfully merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. The things that are bad for one to eat have a mean way of tasting so much better than those the doctor says you may help yourself to liberally.

This is the most dangerous time of the year to catch cold, and it is the hardest time to cure it. If you should take a cold, a few doses of Kennedy Laxative Cough Syrup will act very promptly. Its laxative principle cures the cold by driving it from the system by a gentle but natural action of the bowels. Children especially like Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup, as it tastes so good, nearly like maple sugar. It is sold by all druggists.

A Religious Author's Statement

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly striken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." Sold by all druggists.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppose it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good! Hereafter for this very reason mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said by be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

"ALL DEALERS"

ELECTRIC RAILROAD

Credentials of "The Men Behind the Gun."

"In view of the various disappointments that Tecumseh, in company with other cities and villages, has suffered from the vain promises of electric railway promoters, it is but fair to ex-Governor Lee and Mr. W. E Niles, as well as our townspeople, to publish the result of the inquiries affecting their standing in the commerical world, as divulged by the replies received by the Business Men's Association to letters sent some of the most prominent business houses in the United States, who have had business dealings with these gentlemen. It would be obviously inappropriate to publically publish the names of the concerns which have given this information, it will be well to remember that many of them are rated at more than $1,000,000.00 and all enjoy the highest grade of credit. The letters are on file and can be seen by any interested investor. The extracts therefrom are as follows:

"We have known Mr. Lee for a great many years and he has always paid promptly and we consider him good."

"Mr. Andrew E. Lee is a member of the firm of Lee & Prentiss who have kept a very satisfactory account with us for thirty years. We consider them reliable and safe."

"We have known Mr. Lee long and favorably. We have always found him a man of his word, straightforward and dependable; and we so regard him. We would place confidence in any statement made us."

"We have known Mr. Lee for twenty-seven years and have always found him a gentleman beyond reproach. We consider him strictly honest and reliable Mr. Lee has been a resident of South Dakota for nearly forty years, he has been Governor of the State, and we do not think there is a man who stands higher for integrity than he."

"Mr. Lee is an excellent business man of good judgment, a hard worker, quick to act, reliable, trustworthy, and sustains this reputation thruout the state. We should regard him worth $500,000.00,—probably more."

"We regard Mr. W. E. Niles as a man of good integrity and business ability."

"We have known Mr. W. E Niles for a period of years and have found him honest, fulfilling at all times all obligations and promises. He has a wonderful ability for work. He is president of the Louisiana Sulphur and Development Company, and of the Niles Heater and Manufacturing Company."

One of the largest New York Trust Companies says:

"The information furnished us regarding the gentlemen identified with the corporation indicated that they were men of excellent and correct business standing."

Another very large N. Y. Trust Company says of the financial plan:

"The proposed bond issue, amounting to only twenty thousand dollars per mile, impressed us as being very conservative, and from what we learn and know of the territory thru which the road is projected, it ought to prove a paying proposition."

These representations ought to be sufficient to convince any fair minded man that we are dealing with sound business men who are serious in their work and who are not constructing the road as a "gamble" but for permanent operation by themselves and for a fair profit, just as in any other line of business.

BALD HEADS NOT WANTED

Baldness Is Too Generally Considered a Sign of Advanced Age.

A bald headed person does not have an equal chance with one blessed with a healthy head of hair, because baldness is too generally accepted as an indication of age. Many large corporations have established an age limit, and refuse to take men over 35 years of age as new employees.

Almost 65 per cent of bald headed people may regain a good head of healthy hair if they will follow our advice and accept our offer. We have a remedy that we positively guarantee to grow hair on any head, unless the roots of the hair are entirely dead, their follicles closed, and the scalp has become glazed and shiny. We want people to try this remedy at our risk, with the distinct understanding that unless it does exactly what we claim it will, and gives satisfaction in every respect, we shall make no charge for the remedy used during the trial.

We know exactly what we are talking about, and with this offer back of our statements no one should scoff, doubt our word or hesitate to put our remedy to an actual test.

We want everyone in Tecumseh who is suffering from any scalp or hair trouble, dandruff, falling hair or baldness to try our Rexall '93' Hair Tonic. We want them to use it regularly—say until three bottles have been used—and if it does not eradicate dandruff, cleanse and refresh the scalp, tighten the hair in its roots, and grow new hair, we will return every cent paid us for the remedy for the mere asking. There is no formality expected, and we exact no obligation from the user whatever.

We are established right here in Tecumseh, and make this offer with a full understanding that our business success entirely depends upon the sort of treatment we accord our customers, and we would not dare make the above offer unless we were positively certain that we could substantiate it in every particular.

Dalton's Experiment.

The English chemist Dalton was a schoolteacher. He worked without a laboratory and with crude apparatus, mostly made by himself from simple materials. Here is an example described in his own words:

"Took an ale glass of a conical figure, two and a half inches in diameter and three inches deep; filled it with water that had been standing in the room and consequently of the temperature of the air nearly; put the bulb of the thermometer to the bottom of the glass, the scale being out of the water. Then, having marked the temperature, I put the redhot tip of the poker half an inch deep in the water, holding it there steadily for half a minute, and as soon as it was withdrawn I dipped the bulb of a sensible thermometer into the water, when it rose in a few seconds to 180 degrees."

He then determined the temperature of the water at the bottom after five minutes, after twenty minutes and after an hour and found that it rose gradually from 47 to 52 degrees. This simple experiment proved that water has the power to conduct heat, which had been denied by no less an authority than Rumford.—Youth's Companion.

The Mistake He Made.

He sauntered into the central police station and approached the desk sergeant. There was a careworn look on his face. He stood there a moment as if in reverie. Finally as tears coursed down his cheeks he timidly said:

"I want to give myself up."

"What have you done that you should seek a felon's cell?" the sergeant asked.

"I have long been a fugitive from justice. The welfare of society demands that I should be punished."

"But what is it? What heinous offense have you committed?"

"I am a bigamist—yes, a polygamist—and I don't dare think what worse. No longer must I keep it from the world. Lock me up. I am ready to do penance."

"But will you not explain?"

"Yes, if you insist. I thought I married only the daughter, but I have found, to my sorrow, that the whole family was included."—Kansas City Independent.

About half an hour had been expended by the bashful young man in a series of advances and retreats, and little Johnny's cramped position behind the sofa was becoming somewhat painful.

"I wish I dared"— the young man commenced on a new attack, when the couple were electrified by an impatient exclamation behind them: "Aw, make a break! She's dead easy!"—Brooklyn Life.

HOWE'S MOVING PICTURES.

Lyman H. Howe's moving pictures delighted a large audience at the Ishpeming theatre. This entertainment improves with each succeeding visit. Fourteen years ago Mr. Howe's exhibition took front rank for the kind, a position which it has never lost.

Mr. Howe is now featuring the recent terrible disaster in Sicily. He shows the cities as they were and now are. The pictures taken immediately after the earthquake illustrate the awful force of nature which laid waste this historic island. Among other interesting scenes were trips through Egypt and Russia. Wilbur Wright's aeroplane flights at LeMans, France, the Italian cavalrymen in dangerous feats of horsemanship, and the runaway train. At the Bradley Opera House, Wednesday, April 7th.

MRS. MARGARET JANE McCONNELL.

Mrs. Margaret Jane McConnell died at the home of her son Leo H. McConnell in Raisin township, Monday, aged 89 years. Margaret Colvin was the daughter of J. B Colvin, born in Monroe county, N. Y. and came to Michigan with her father, when quite young. Her husband, Hugh McConnell, died on a farm in Fairfield township, June 9, 1878 at the age of 58 years. Seven children were born to them, three of whom survive. The funeral will be held from the house Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the remains will be taken to Weston Thursday morning for burial.

TO INLAND AUSTRALIA FOR YOUR HEALTH

Round Trip Only $1.00

If you are a catarrh, asthma or hay fever sufferer, what would you say if the above offer was made to you?

How would you like to go to the mountainous forests of pine and eucalyptus, where catarrh and asthma do not exist? Where people do not have to hawk every morning, to spit out the lump of disgusting mucous? Where the healing, antiseptic balsams purify the air and kill all germs?

You can't go to this ideal spot, of course. You haven't time, and possibly not money.

Ask C. A. Wright & Son about Hyomei, the Australian dry air cure. Get an outfit, which includes inhaler, for $1, breathe the same air that you would find in Australia, and if it does not heal the raw membrane and cure you of catarrh, snuffles, cough, cold or asthma, you can have your money back.

A CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Tecumseh Readers.

For months Tecumseh citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Tecumseh residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elasped if the personal esperience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time. The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Tecumseh reader.

Mrs. Sarah E. Austin, Pearl St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "About three years ago I was suffering from kidney trouble and rheumatism. I had severe pains in the small of my back and the kidney secretions passed so frequently as to cause me great annoyance. When someone told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and they helped me so much that I continued their use. I have taken this remedy since when my kidneys have troubled me and I have always found the best of results. I willingly allow my name to be used again in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

For Sale by all Dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sole Agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The mystery of the negro mind is illustrated by a story which the Philadelphia Record prints. John, the colored applicant for the position of butler in a family living in one of the fashionable suburbs of Philadelphia, strove to impress his would be employer with his entire fitness for the place.

"Oh, yes, suh," he said, "I's sholy well educated, suh. I's passed a civil service examination."

"Indeed," responded the gentleman, "that is very fine, I'm sure, but I can't say that that will be of any particular value to me in a butler."

"No?" said the surprised applicant. "It shore is strange how gemmen's tastes do differ. Now, Mr. Williams," naming his former employer, "he say, 'John, one thing I deman' is civil service to mah guests,' an' he done gave me a zamination ri' there, suh, an' that's the truf."

Then the gentleman saw a great light. He replied:

"Yes, you are quite right, John. Civil service is a very important and rather unusual virtue, so if you have passed that examination I think we'll consider you engaged."

A Mogul Hero.

Here is a little vignette of Babar, the first of the great moguls. At eleven he succeeded to his kingdom of Ferghana. His father was accidentally killed, and "I," says the boy, "immediately mounted in great haste and, taking such followers as were at hand, set out to secure my throne." He succeeded in holding it, nearly lost it by trusting a traitor who was "the best player at leapfrog he had ever seen" and actually lost it by grasping at the possession of Samarkand. Then came two years of wandering. Then he got Ferghana again and lost it a second time by trying to make his Mongol soldiers restore their loot to the peasantry. And all this before he was seventeen! Thirty-two years later he died, the last scene being the most striking of all. His darling son Humayun was desperately ill. Only some great sacrifice could save him, said the doctor. He entered the chamber, walked round the bed three times, saying, "On me be thy suffering," and a few days afterward died.—London Spectator.

The Dogskin Wouldn't Go Round.

Hungary swarms with barristers. It is the greatest ambition of the Hungarian peasant to make one of his sons an advocate.

The son of a small farmer in the neighborhood of Budapest was sent by his father to the law school of that town, but either from lack of parts or the necessary application he was plucked in the qualifying examination.

Not daring to return to the paternal abode empty handed after all the money that had been spent on his education, he conceived and executed the plan of forging a legal diploma. The father was not, however, so ignorant as not to be aware that such diplomas are always written on parchment—kutya-ber (dogskin)—in Hungary.

"Why is your certificate not made out on kutya-ber?" asked the old man.

"The fact is, father," coolly replied the youth, "there are more barristers than dogs in Hungary, and so there is not enough kutya-ber to make diplomas for us all."—London Answers.

Gam's Dry Humor.

When the gallant Welsh captain David Gam was sent forward by Henry V. to reconnoiter the French army before the battle of Agincourt he found that the enemy outnumbered the English by about five to one. His report to the king is historic:

"There are enough to be killed, enough to be taken prisoners and enough to run away."

This quaint forecast of the result of the battle at once spread through the camp, and doubtless every yeoman archer of the valiant company felt an inch taller. We know that it was almost literally justified by the event. Poor Gam's dry humor was equaled by his courage. He was killed while in the act of saving the life of his prince.—London Standard.

Sleep

Sleep is nature's rebuilding period, when the energy used by the brain, muscles and organs is renewed. If you lose sleep, your system is robbed of the strength sleep should give. Continued loss of sleep multiplies this loss until you become a physical wreck. Dr. Miles' Nervine quiets the irritated nerves and brings refreshing, invigorating sleep. Nervine contains no opiates, and therefor leaves no bad after-effects.

"For over two years I suffered untold agonies; my friends thought I was going crazy. I could not sleep nor rest at all. I tried different doctors, but failed to find relief. My head would ache all the time; I was like one drunk; could not concentrate my mind, and was so restless and worried that sleep was out of the question. After taking one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine I felt wonderfully changed. I am now on my third bottle and am gaining all the time. I can lie down and sleep like a child, and am able to do my work." MRS. MAY SCOTT, English, Ind.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Nervine, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.

A very pleasant event occured at the home of Mrs. Lillie A. Gray on Orange Ave. on Mar. 12, in honor of James McIntyre, it being his 70th birthday. Being a beautiful warm evening the spacious screened porch was illuminated and decorated. Conspicuous among the decorations was a Michigan banner whose colors of blue and gold made a very pretty contrast with the beautiful palms and ferns characteristic of Florida. Here the guests (Lenawee Co. people) to the number of 20 were assembled when Messrs. McIntyre and Lowe arrived, they having spent the day fishing on lake Joanna. Though a complete surprise, Mr. McIntyre proved equal to the occasion and contributed a reading in Irish dialect to the evening's entertainment. Refreshments consisting of fruit followed by ice cream, wafers and macaroons was served by Mrs. Gray assisted by Mrs. Chas. Craig and Miss Winnifred Morrell. The time was spent in social intercourse and closed with singing "Michigan My Michigan" and "God be with you till we meet again.".

A rising vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Gray, who had proved herself to be a delightful hostess. All united in wishing Mr. McIntyre many happy returns of his natal day before departing at a late hour for their different homes. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McIntyre, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Pocklington and daughters, Mrs. Jno. Hardman and Miss Frances, Mr. and Mrs Chas. A. Pocklington. Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Zeluff, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Pocklington, Mrs F. E. Cause of Car Sickness.

W. C. Wood attributes car sickness to the nystagmus produced by looking out of the car windows. Look out of a car window and observe how rapidly the telegraph poles flit by. Each one is seen and involuntarily followed by the eye until it is opposite, when the eye shifts to the one following. This is true of near buildings. Objects farther away seem to move slower, and those very far off seem to be almost stationary until the whole landscape appears to be revolving round a common center. The unconscious effort to take in everything produces a rapid lateral oscillation of the eyeballs, as any one can observe by watching the eyes of his fellow passengers. The eye strain is enormous and is the chief factor in producing car sickness. This can be proved by asking a patient who is subject to car sickness to look steadily at a mirror which is moved rapidly to and fro or tilted backward and forward. He will immediately complain of nausea and vertigo. The treatment consists of advising the patient to avoid looking out of the car windows and in giving him a grain of citrated caffeine shortly before he takes the cars and repeating it every hour as long as there is any tendency to be sick. The author has been enabled by this procedure to relieve many sufferers from car sickness.—New York Medical Journal.

Best Stomach Remedy Free

It is an old saying that if the stomach is sound the whole body is safe, because so much depends upon the proper working of the stomach. Many persons find themselves with a disorder of the stomach which produces dyspepsia or a peculiar state of biliousness.

If you suffer from both stomach trouble and constipation you are on the way to a very serious disease. From just such conditions come appendicitis, rheumatism, skin diseases and similar disorders, because the waste matter that should have been dispelled from the system through the bowels has found its way into the blood and vitiated it. What is needed at this point is not simply a violent cathartic tablet or salt, which usually does more harm than good, but a gentle laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which people have been using for these ailments for nearly a quarter of a century. It cured J. C. Lanham, of Warrensburg, Mo., of stomach trouble of long standing; also William Voll, of 903 Ellison St., Louisville, Ky., who had the trouble for fifteen years.

However, if you have stomach trouble you want to know from personal experience what Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will do for you. If so, send your name to the doctor and a free trial bottle will be sent you. You are urged to send for the free bottle, as the results from it will be the best recommendation for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Then you will do as over two million people did last year—go to your druggist and buy a regular bottle at 50 cents or $1, according to the size you prefer. We could mention hundreds and hundreds of families who are never without it. You can never tell when some member of the family will need a laxative, and then no time should be lost taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

John Gilman, a well known civil war veteran, who moved to Marshall from Kansas about ten years ago, is dead, having passed away very suddenly. He was about seventy years of age.

Rev. J. R. Mitchell, D. D., who went to Marshall from Pontiac six years ago and was pastor of the First Presbyterian church until Jan. 1, when he resigned, has accepted a call extended him by the Presbyterian congregation of Manistique.

Official announcement has been made that the Cullen House has been designated as the Michigan headquarters during the annual encampment of the National G. A. R., to be held at Salt Lake City, Utah, some time during August.

Distilled Water.

Distilled water after having been exposed to the air is one of the most salubrious of drinks. Its daily use in measured quantities is helpful in cases of dyspepsia and greatly assists the general functions of the body. Every large steamer carries a water distilling apparatus by which sea water is made fresh. In the days before steamers primitive distilling apparatus was used on warships and vessels carrying passengers.

BOYLE'S ENJOY REST.

Woman Believes She Will Be Acquitted of Kidnaping.

Mercer, Pa., March 29.—After a week intense with movement and excitement, James H. Boyle and Mrs. Boyle, or McDermott, or Thurston, or whatever her real name may be, are enjoying hours of rest. It is thoroughly appreciated by them, and, while the woman spends the greater part of the time quietly reading, the man indulges himself in the luxury of reading and smoking.

The brilliant woman has never lost her nerve. The man, too, is in good condition and talks of making a fight for his liberty. The county jail is visited by many who desire to get a glimpse of the now noted prisoners. Sheriff William Chess cheerfully and courteously refuses to allow any of them to enter the jail. No one had been permitted to speak to the woman, and all the published interviews are imaginery.

McDermott, the retired fireman of Chicago, has not as yet come here for the purpose of seeing the woman he alleges answers the description of his missing daughter, Anna.

The woman protests her absolute innocence and declares her belief that she will ultimately be acquitted. Boyle is rather nervous as to the hearing and wishes it to be held here rather than at Sharon.

It is the opinion here that there are three more accomplices to be arrested, and it is reported that efforts have been begun to locate them in this county as well as in Ohio. District Attorney J. M. Lininger, when seen, said he had no information he could afford to give out on this point just at present.

THE TARIFF BILL.

Activities of Congress Will Be Confined Almost Exclusively to It.

Washington, March 29.—The activities of congress during the present week will be confined almost exclusively to the consideration of the tariff. The house will proceed with the consideration of the Payne bill in general debate, and the hours of the daily sittings will be extended, the sessions beginning in the morning at 10 o'clock and ending at night at 10:30, with an intermission for dinner between 6 and 8 o'clock.

The senate will not be in position to take up the bill until it is passed by the house, but the senate committee on finance will continue consideration of the various schedules of the measure. In the meantime, the senate will attempt no regular business beyond the introduction of bills.

Opinions differ as to how long the discussion of the tariff bill by the house may continue under the order of general debate, but the greatest latitudinarians do not extend the time beyond the present week, and most members predict that the end will be reached by Wednesday.

THWARTS JUSTICE.

Confessed Murderer Kills Himself in Tombs Prison.

New York, March 29.—James Vango, a young negro, who, after his arrest in Chicago, confessed that he had murdered Isadore DeVallant, night clerk in the Eastern hotel here, for the purpose of robbery, is dead at the Toombs prison, having strangled himself in his cell. When found life was almost extinct, and, despite heroic treatment by the prison doctors, he died within fifteen minutes.

Vango used a unique method to encompass his death, and one that required almost Spartan courage. He twisted a handkerchief around his neck and, after tieing it securely, tightened it with a small piece of lead pencil, which he used as a tourniquet, until it closed his windpipe. He then threw himself on his cot, placed his hands under his abdomen, buried his face in the pillow and waited for death. With the piece of pencil he had previously written two notes, one to his wife and the other to Detective James Murphy, who captured him in Chicago.

To his wife he wrote this brief line: "Dear Wife—Death is but eternal sleep; why should I stay and suffer? Forgive me. (Signed) "JIM."

Found Him Guilty.

Counsel (to the jury)—The principal fault of the prisoner has been his unfortunate characteristic of putting faith in thieves and scoundrels of the basest description. I have done. The unhapy man in the dock puts implicit faith in you, gentlemen of the jury!

CLARK BEFORE THE SENATORS

Questioned Concerning Propagation of Fish.

HIS SON HOLDS CONTRACT.

Furnishes Northville Institution With Spawn Taken From Fish—He Hints Passage of Ming Bill Would Mean Abolishment of State Institutions. Clark Is Authority on Fish Culture.

Lansing, Mich., April 1.—F. M. Clark of Northville, superintendent of the Michigan branch of the United States bureau of fisheries was submitted to a rigorous cross-examination Wednesday before the fisheries committee of the state senate. Mr. Clark came here to oppose the bill introduced by Chairman Ming of the fisheries committee to regulate fishing.

This bill provides that spawn be taken from fish in the great lakes under the direction of the state game warden instead of under federal supervision. Senator Ming questioned Mr. Clark regarding fish taken from the Detroit river last fall during the spawning season under Clark's direction.

Superintendent Clark admitted that the Cyclone Fish company, which had the contract to catch fish and deliver the spawn to the hatcheries, was composed of his son, C. D. Clark, and Dwight Lydell, superintendent of the state hatcheries at Mill Creek, but he explained that his son and Lydell had not gotten the contract until the Booth company, who had formerly done the work, had refused to continue it. Superintendent Clark was also questioned as to Lydell being listed as a federal employe.

Would Close Hatcheries.

That the United States fish commission bureau will close the government hatcheries at Northville, Charelvoix and Alpena and cease their work of propagating fish in Michigan if the Ming bill becomes a law was the pretty strong intimation made by Clark.

Mr. Clark has been in the government fish service for many years and is recognized as one of the best authorities on fish culture in the country.

By the working arrangement the bureau has in Michigan it employs tugs to take the fish during the spawning season. Government experts on each tug strips the fish of the spawn, which is then hatched in one of the three hatcheries. Seventy-five per cent of the spawn is planted in the big lakes in Michigan. Only commercial fish are hatched in the government hatcheries and planted in the big lakes. Game fish alone are hatched in the state hatcheries, and they are planted only in inland waters.

The Ming bill proposes that the game warden shall cut out the federal bureau so far as gathering spawn is concerned. The warden is to issue permits to take fish in the closed season. His employes shall secure the spawn impregnated and, after loading up the hatcheries, shall plant the surplus in the lakes.

THRESHERS AT LANSING.

State Association Is In Convention In State Capital.

Lansing, Mich., April 1.—One hundred and fifty members of the State Threshermen's association are holding the third annual convention in Lansing. Horatio S. Earle, state highway commissioner, delivered the principal address at the meeting last night. His subject was "Better Roads and Better Bridges."

A delegation from the association met with the senate and house committee at the capitol last evening for the purpose of emphasizing importance of the two bills which it is hoped will be passed at the present session.

LEAVES HER HOME.

Pretty May Dell of Clare Is Reported Missing.

Flint, Mich., April 1.—May Dell, eighteen years old, considered one of the prettiest girls of Clare, Clare county, has been missing several days and is believed to have been given money to leave her home by a young man with whom she had been keeping company. The police of this city have been asked to locate her. She is believed to be in this city or Detroit.

The girl, her parents claim, had no reason for leaving.

Drops Dead at Funeral.

St. Johns, Mich., April 1.—While returning from the funeral of William Lyon, with the members of the Grand Army post, George W. Lieby, a veteran of the civil war, dropped unconscious in the procession, and before medical aid could be procured he was dead. Mr. Lieby has been in failing health for a number of months and over exerted himself in attending the funeral.

COMPROMISE AGREED TO.

Committee Will Accept Amendments to Payne Measure.

"STAND PATTERS" GIVE WAY.

Important Schedules Will Probably Be Voted On—Change Comes Because of Fears of Senate—Michigan Delegation Among Those Which Demands Vote on Certain Schedules.

Washington, April 1.—A comprise is to be agreed to by the various factions on the Republican side of the house regarding the consideration of the Payne tariff bill, and it is confidently expected that the measure will be be voted upon on April 10.

There was a noticeable disposition on the part of the "stand patters" Wednesday, following their conference with President Taft Tuesday, to accede to the wishes of those who have opposed any "gag rule" which would prevent a vote on certain important schedules. The ways and means committee have agreed to submit amendments to the bill which will keep tea on the free list, strike out the countervailing duty on coffee and make the rate on barley 25 cents a bushel.

While it probably will be impossible to have a rule to limit amendments favorably acted up before Monday, Representative Dwight (N. Y.) is making every effort to get the members in line. Speaker Cannon, Chairman Payne and Representative Dalzell, in their desire to have the bill passed by the house without delay, are endeavoring to restrict, as far as possible, the amendments to those which the committee will offer.

Fear the Senate.

Fears that the senate will not make changes in the bill which they desire, and their determination to satisfy their constituents that are looking after their interests in the house, are the main reason certain Republican representatives are holding out for a rule which will permit them to accomplish these objects.

The Republican members of the Michigan, Iowa and Wisconsin delegations have held conferences, each delegation deciding upon the schedules on which they demand that the special rule shall provide for a vote. Most of the members of these delegations desire an increased tax on beer and the lowering of the duties on gloves and hosiery. Some wish the repeal of the provision for an inheritance tax.

The Michigan delegates unanimously indorses these changes in the Payne tariff bill: Free tea instead of a tax of 8 and 9 cents a pound; free coffee by eliminating the provision for a countervailing duty, and the transfer of iron ore from the free to the dutiable list.

James J. Hill, the railroad magnate, called on Speaker Cannon and informally discussed the tariff with him and with members of the tariff framing committee

MILITARY PRISON BURNS.

Fire at Fort Leavenworth Does Great Amount of Damage.

Leavenworth, Kas., April 1.—The military prison at Fort Leavenworth, containing hundreds of prisoners, has burned. The prisoners in the cell house became greatly alarmed when the fire got under way and threatened for a time to make trouble. Under heavy guard they were finally removed. The prison building was destroyed, as were the blacksmith, tailor and clothing shops.

ADJOURNMENT TAKEN.

House and Senate Honors Memory of Dead Legislator.

Lansing, Mich., April 1.—Immediately after roll call Wednesday afternoon the house adjourned for the day out of respect to the memory of Representative M. L. Agens, who died Tuesday night. Members marched in a body, as an escort of the remains, to the train, and the senate and house sent a committee to attend the remains on the homeward journey and at the funeral at Leamington.

The senate, in an effort to reach a final adjournment by May 1, has authorized Lieutenant Governor Kelley to appoint a steering committee.

TEN INJURED.

Train on St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Leaves Tracks.

Springfield, Mo., April 1.—Ten persons were injured when the fast express on the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, from St. Louis to Oklahoma, left the track at Ritchey, Mo. None of the injured is fatally hurt.

HARRIMAN NEVER SPOKE HARSHLY.

Denies Ever Criticizing Government and Roosevelt.

REACHES CHICAGO FROM WEST

Talks at Length on Various Subjects. Favors Combinations of Railroads Where Economy Demands—Says He Is on Record In Washington as Favoring Government Supervision.

Chicago, April 1.—Edward H. Harriman has arrived here from California, apparently in good health and ready to talk on all subjects. Mr. Harriman expressed a series of frank opinions on railroads and the attitude of past and present national administrations. On tariff reform, Mr. Harriman said:

"If the government had revised the tariff or given the country a good currency law, or both, we should not have had the Landis decision, and we would not have had all this wasteful prosecution of corporations, nor all of this hostile legislation against railroads, and the country would today be going along swimmingly.

Wrongly Quoted.

"I have been quoted," he continued, "as speaking harshly against the government and our former president for having prosecuted me and the interests which I represent. I have never spoken bitterly regarding him, and I have no criticism to make. The prosecutions were all right, for there is nothing about the railroads which I represent that I desire to conceal."

On combinations of railroads, Mr. Harriman said:

"I am for combinations where economy demands them and where the best service requires them. I would not have the combination of parallel or competing lines permitted without restraint. I would have it permitted under the consent of the interstate commerce commission and under its supervision.

"I am in favor of government supervision and regulation, but not just because it has come. I am on record in Washington as being in favor of this, and I told Mr. Roosevelt so early in his campaign."

MAHMOUT-ROGERS BOUT.

Big American and Hefty Bulgarian Ready to Grapple.

Cleveland, April 1.—Two of the world's best and biggest wrestlers will meet tonight in this city. They are Yussiff Mahmout, the Bulgarian, who has been taking falls out of some of the best American grapplers, and Joe Rogers, the American, whom Frank Gotch, champion of the world, failed to defeat in a handicap match. Rogers lost to Hackenschmidt in Europe.

Rogers says he gained a clean fall from Mahmout in practice in a New York gymnasium and has been chasing the Bulgarian for some time. There is considerable bad feeling between the two men, and their match should be fast and furious.

TROUBLE IN MEXICO.

Indians Make War on the Tax Collector.

El Paso, Tex., April 1.—Rebellious at the attempt of the authorities to collect taxes and confiscate property, the Temosachic Indians in the state of Chihushua, Mexico, broke into open warfare, killing several tax officials, terrorizing the town of San Andreas and cutting the telegraph wires.

The Indians then sent out a general call for reinforcements to resist the enforcement of the taxes and the confiscation of property. Two trainloads of troops have been sent from Chihuahua to quell the rebellion.

New York, April 1.—Mrs. Hetty Green, richest woman in the world, has moved from her $34 per month flat, 1409 Bloomfield street, Hoboken, to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mathew Astor Wilks, in this city.

The furniture in Mrs. Green's flat was moved to the home of the janitor, who will store it. It only took one van to do the moving.

GET ATHLETICS INTO SHAPE

Schoolmasters' Club Will Arrange High School Affairs.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 1.—The organization of a state interscholastic athletic association will be the most important action of the Michigan Schoolmasters' club at its business meeting Friday forenoon. A new set of rules has been drafted and will be offered at the meeting.

After the adoption of the rules the association will be organized along entirely different lines than were in vogue for the previous unsuccessful attempts. The new organization will not limit its activities to foot ball, but will superintend base ball contests and various other phases of athletics, even including track meets, both in and outdoor.

The plan is to admit only those high schools which agree to the rules and consistently live up to them.

LIKELY ATTEMPT AT KIDNAPING.

Jackson Child Accosted and Given Doped Candy.

Jackson, Mich., April 1.—What appears to have been an attempt to poison a child, after the failure of an attempt to kidnap it, has been reported at 233 East Wesley street in this city.

A tall, swarthy stranger, looking something like a Mexican and wearing a long black overcoat and a black hat, was seen to pick up Freddie Jorn, four years old. When the barking and snapping of neighborhood dogs forced the stranger to release the child, the would-be kidnaper handed the boy a piece of candy, which the lad put immediately in his mouth.

Mrs. E. L. Jorn, the mother, became aware of her child's predicament just in time to see the stranger walking away, but as the lad seemed to be all right she dismissed the matter from her mind. However, when the lad went to sleep a short time later and could not be aroused for six hours, Mrs. Jorn became alarmed and called several neighbors to her assistance. After a quarter of an hour of hard work, the lad was roused, but his swollen eyes and bloated face gave evidence of his having been under the influence of a powerful drug. The lad recovered completely from the attack.

Mrs. Jorn said she thought the stranger might have been a tramp to whom her husband had refused to give a meal.

Hoopfer Claims Insanity.

Mancelona, Mich., April 1.—George Hoopfer, who killed his wife and child, is now in a cell in the county jail in Bellaire. He says he knows the enormity of his deed, but at the same time feels no regret, and confidently expects to be released on bail until the regular term of court convenes. He has had no hearing yet. Hoopfer complains of excruciating pains in his head. When a youth, he says, he was kicked in the chin by a horse, the blow knocking him down and injuring is head. He also claims that he goes temporarily insane.

TWELVE WEEKS, NO JURY.

Calhoun Case Still Needs Two to Be Complete.

San Francisco, April 1.—After twelve weeks of wearisome effort, the jury that will try Patrick Calhoun, president of the United railroads, on an indictment charging attempted bribery, needs two members to be complete.

Women Go to Prison.

London, April 1.—The proceedings in the Bow street police court in connection with the raid on the house of commons Tuesday of a band of twenty-seven women suffragettes followed the customary lines. All the eleven women arrested elected to go to Holloway jail for periods of from one to three months rather than to find sureties for their good behavior.

Appeal to Supreme Court.

Lansing, Mich., April 1.—An appeal to the supreme court has been taken in the case of the state of Michigan against the several companies on the bond of ex-Treasurer Frank P. Glazier. The suit involves a total of $150,000.

Can't Give Account of Herself.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 1.—A well dressed woman, about forty-eight years old, was discovered wandering around the Union depot, and she was taken to the detention hospital. The woman is unable to give any account of herself.

Catch Deer In Menominee.

Menominee, Mich., April 1.—Right in the heart of Menominee, only a few blocks from the business district, a young buck was caught Wednesday by two pedestrians.

Any lady reader of this paper will receive, on request, a clever "No-Drip" Coffee Strainer Coupon privilege, from Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. It is silver-plated, very pretty, and positively prevents all dripping of tea or coffee. The Doctor sends it, with his new free book on "Health Coffee" simply to introduce this clever substitute for real coffee. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee is gaining its great popularity because of: first, its exquisite taste and flavor; second, its absolute healthfulness; third, its economy—1½lb 25c; fourth, its convenience. No sediment 20 to 30 minutes boiling. "Made in a minute" says Dr. Shoop. Try it at your grocer's, for a pleasant surprise. Sold by all Grocers.

The things that are bad for one to eat have a mean way of tasting so much better than those the doctor says you may help yourself to liberally.

People past middle life usually have some kidney or bladder disorder that saps the vitality, which is naturally lower in old age. Foley's Kidney Remedy corrects urinary troubles, stimulates the kidneys, and restores strength and vigor. It cures uric acid troubles by strengthening the kidneys so they will strain out the uric acid that settles in the muscles and joints causing rheumatism. Sold by all druggists.

So live that when age comes upon you, you will be like the mighty oak, sound at the heart, rather than like the hollow linden, rotten at the core.

You should not delay under any circumstances in cases of Kidney and Bladder trouble. You should take something promptly that you know is reliable, something like DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They are unequaled for weak back, backache, inflammation of the bladder, rheumatic pains, etc. When you ask for DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills, be sure you get them. They are antiseptic. Accept no substitutes: insist upon getting the right kind. Sold by all druggists.

The man who was born in a cellar is just as much entitled to sleep in the guest chamber as the one who was born with a silver spoon in his mouth.

The novelist tells us of the kindling eye. He says, "His eye kindled as he beheld her beauteous form," and after marriage she had to kindle the fires.

Up Before The Bar.

N. H. Brown, an attorney of Pittsfield, Vt., writes: "We have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for years and find them such a good family medicine we wouldn't be without them." For Chills, Constipation, Biliousness or Sick Headache they work wonders, 25c. C. A. Wright & Son, the druggists.

The head of the learned blockhead is filled with loose lumber. If he unload the lumber, he is still a fool.

Rheumatic poisons are quickly and surely driven out of the blood with Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy—liquid or tablet form. Dr. Shoop's booklet on Rheumatism plainly and interestingly tells just how this is done. Tell some sufferer of this book, or better still, write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. for the book and free test samples. Send no money. Just join with Dr. Shoop and give some sufferer a pleasant surprise. Sold by all dealers.

"Some men work on the square to some loaf on the corner," says J. W. VanDorn. And again, some men loaf on the square and work up a corner on corn.

During the spring every one would be benefitted by taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. It furnishes a needed tonic to the kidneys after the extra strain of winter, and it purifies the blood by stimulating the kidneys, and causing them to eleminate the impurities from it. Foley's Kidney Remedy imparts new life and vigor. Pleasant to take. Sold by all druggists

FARMER'S RALLY

Farmer's Two Day Rally at Slayton's Ware House on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Travelling Men Representing the Various Implement Houses Were Also Present.

Prizes were given and the rally largely attended.

On Tuesday and Wednesday Slayton & Son conducted a Farmer's rally at their ware house, which was largely attended both days. Twenty-five travelling men, representing the various firms, from whom Slayton & Son buy, were in, and explained about the different farm implements with their many improvements.

During the two days the business amounted to about $3,000, in new goods sold and accounts paid. Among the numerous articles that were sold at this time were, 4 carriages, 1 wagon, 5 plows including 3 sulky plows, 2 drags, 4 sets of harness, 1 corn planter, 30 rods of fence, 4 cultivators, and 2 mowers, besides two cars of fertilizer.

About three hundred men signed the prospect cards, and in awarding the prizes, three names were drawn from these cards.

The first prize went to Charles S. Nobles of Tecumseh, a single harness.

The second prize was given to Sam Patterson of Britton, a fine stable blanket, and the third prize, a roll of roofing was drawn by Sidney Cadmus of Raisin.

All those who were not able to redeem their whip crackers, if they will bring them in any time during the next week, and sign the prospect card, they will receive a whip.

The travelling men, who were in attendance, informed Mr. Slayton that this rally was the most successful one they had ever attended. They thought the farmers in and around Tecumseh, were intelligent and about the best looking crowd of men, it had been their pleasure to meet in some time.

How To Gain Flesh

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of Scott's Emulsion. It is strange, but it often happens.

Somehow the ounce produces the pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health; if you have not got it you can get it by taking

When the large and healthy looking individual who has asked at the door for "a little something to eat" was told that he might have it if he would work awhile at the wood pile he shook his head mournfully.

"I've got the ague," he explained, "and my hand is that unstiddy I couldn't hit more'n one stick in seven."

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

In its most ordinary form the ship's bell clock is a stout, well made clock, a good timekeeper, contained in a round nickel plated case six or seven inches in diameter which is mounted on a board that can be hung on or screwed to a wall or bulkhead. The face of the clock, the dial, is of finished steel, and its pointers are of blued steel, so that with its nickeled case the whole clock has a metallic, solid, serviceable look.

Attached to a projection of the board upon which the clock is placed, outside the clock and immediately below it, is the clock's gong, with the hammers—there are two of them—brought down into it on arms extending through an opening in the clock's case and striking on the gong's inner side. It is a sturdy gong two or three inches in diameter, and it sounds with a strong, clear, resolute note when the hammer strikes it. On this clock's face you can tell the time in the usual way, but the hours are struck as they are at sea on a ship's bell.—New York Sun.

HOWE'S MOVING PICTURES.

Lyman H Howe's moving pictures delighted a large audience at the Lyceum theatre. This entertainment improves with each succeeding visit. Fourteen years ago Mr. Howe's exhibition took front rank for the kind, a position which it has never lost.

Mr. Howe is now featuring the recent terrible disaster in Sicily. He shows the cities as they were and now are. The pictures taken immediately after the earthquake illustrate the awful force of nature which laid waste this historic island. Among other interesting scenes were trips through Egypt and Russia. Wilbur Wright's aeroplane flights at LeMans, France, the Italian cavalrymen in dangerous feats of horsemanship, and the runaway train. At the Bradley Opera House, Wednesday, April 7th.

The Telegram correspoddent desires to acknowledge receipt of a post card picture from far off and ancient Egypt. In the background towers one of the majestic pyramids; nearer is the classical Sphinx; and the foreground reveals a familiar figure—none other than Ed. Frensdorf, the well-known Democratic politician of Hudson. He is astride a camel and presents a dreamy look as if his mind was reverting to the days of the Ptolemies. But he was doubtless thinking of the appearance he presented in this attitude and what Lenawee people would say if they could see him. Certainly he had his mind on Michigan when he wrote on one side of the card: "If they had here our Republican state gang this might be quite a country." Ed is never sarcastic. His sister, similarly mounted is also seen in the picture. —Morenci Correspondent in Adrian Telegram.

Vast audiences in the great New York Hippodrome and all New York papers were enthusiastic over the remarkable pictures of Sicily before and after the earthquake shown by Lyman H Howe. Mr. Howe will show the same scenes here at the opera house on Wednesday, Apr. 7.

The earthquake in Sicily marks a new epoch in history. No great event was ever so clearly and truthfully pictured as the scenes in Messina to be shown by Lyman H. BIG BUSINESS BANQUET.

Commercial Tecumseh shook hands with itself and patted itself on the back last Tuesday evening at the first annual banquet of the Tecumseh Business Men's Association, held at Witherell's Hall.

It was a most pleasing exhibition of the "stick together" sentiment which has ever been the predominating feature of the business life of the village.

One hundred and twenty-five representatives of the best business life of "The Biggest Little Town on Earth," and of its immediate vicinity came together willing to felicitate over the acquisition of the expected branch of the Jackson Corset Company, but equally willing, when they were told that Charlotte had been more fortunate, and secured the coveted industry, to join in the prayer of all undaunted men:

"O Lord, help me to win,
But, if in Thy inscrutable wisdom
Thou willest me not to win,
Then, O God, make me a good loser.

The Tecumseh Business Men's Association is a good loser and we congratulate Charlotte.

Nevertheless, "One swallow doesn't make a summer," and one lost industry doesn't daunt Tecumseh. "There are as good fish in the sea as were ever caught," and this is proven by the fact that Tecumseh now has the opportunity of capturing an electric railroad industry which, for capital invested, and for labor employed, so overshadows the branch corset factory, excellent though it was, that regrets are changed into congratulations.

Willett's Orchestra of Adrian discoursed pleasing melodies whilst the guests were assembling and enjoying an impromptu social session. At the strains of a march the hosts of the occasion and their many invited guests from this vicinity, filed down to the beautifully decorated tables.

Dr. North, President of the Association called the meeting to order and the Rev. Kamm pronounced an appropriate blessing.

The banquet proper, then became the "first order of business" and it was unanimously voted that Mr and Mrs Heins were caterers par excellence. The soup was hot and the ice cream cold.

Along with the cigars arose our portly toastmaster, Frederick Bissell Wood who "took a fall" out of the victims who were obligated to respond to the various toasts, while they in turn, in attempting to "get even" added to the gayety of the occasion

In a characteristically pleasant manner, Dr. North told of the aims and efforts of the Association, and outlined the future policies and future possibilities in store for our citizens. He was followed by Mr. W. E Niles of Chicago, who gave a very clear outline of the plan which he and his associate, ex-Governor Lee of South Dakota, would pursue in constructing their electric line between Toledo and Jackson via Tecumseh, and from Toledo to Ann Arbor via Dundee. Mr. Niles satisfactorily replied to every question and criticism which could be directed toward him, and impressed upon every auditor that the plan to be pursued was not only eminently fair, so far as Tecumseh is concerned, but liberal and just to every person thru whose property, or near whose property the road may come. Mr. Niles explained that his conception of conducting a railroad, was to give it the same commercial conduct that a successful retailer would give his mercantile establishment—that is, to give every customer a square deal and to make a friend of every patron.

Tecumseh is especially interested in this project, for, if the citizens comply with the very reasonable terms of the railway management, the enormous $200,000.00 power house of the company, the large repair shops, the principal division point and the general offices will all be located here. And yet we are not requested to give a dollar of bonus, only to INVEST in a sound five per cent twenty year gold bond, and to virtually secure what, in all probability will be a dividend bearing stock, absolutely free. There is no question but what Tecumseh will quickly respond to this square deal offer.

Following Mr. Niles, who was compelled to leave for Chicago in company with Mr. Brotherton, his engineer, on an early train, Mr. Look discussed the financial side of the question, and discussed it most ably and convincingly. Mr. Dunning happily responded to "Our Homes" and Mr. J. H. Smith "Pushed Tecumseh" most effectually. Our new president gave a lucid lecture on franchises and breathed the spirit of the entire village by advocating the adoption of a vigorous campaign in behalf of this road. Mr. Hurst regaled us with a bit of wit and with some sound advice as to what is the real foundation of the best in a village. Mr. Temple read a humorous poem, apropos to the occasion, and Mr. Fitzsimmons explained, somewhat in detail, the manifest advantages of the new electric railway project.

Barrister Wood closed the program with a well worded address which emphasized Tecumseh's present opportunity. Willett's Orchestra rendered an appropriate selection and the Biggest and best banquet ever given in the "Biggest Little Town" came to a successful end.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong Dr Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys. If one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! PRIEST A BANKRUPT.

Kieran Crash Carried Down With It Cleveland Prelate.

Cleveland, April 1.—Rev. William McMahon, rector of St. Bridget's Catholic church, Cleveland, and editor of the Catholic Universe, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States court. In the petition his total liabilities are stated to be $1,594,141.64, with assets aggregating $75,207.08, of which $71,300 is real estate. The secured claims amount to $946,925.75, unsecured claims to $371,207.91 and commercial paper to $185,508.

Father McMahon was a director of the Fidelity Funding company of New York, founded by P. J. Kieran and which now is in the hands of receivers. Thus it came about that his name was signed to many of the papers issued by the company and for which he is now held liable by the receivers.

Late in 1905 Father McMahon came first in close contact with Kieran. The friendship between the priest and the financier grew to such an extent that the former signed or endorsed the notes which now are held against him. The Catholic church property is not involved in a way that the church can lose.

Mrs. Sarah Montamat, a widow, sixty-four yars old, of Columbia, Mo., has given up a pension of $15 a month and a salary of $20 a month as housekeeper to be married to Turner Acton, nineteen years old, who worked at the same house with her. The boy's mother gave consent.

How He Knew.

A ragman who was gathering up wornout clothing in the country purchased a pair of discarded trousers at a farmhouse and remarked to the man of the house as he paid for the stuff he had bought:

"I see, sir, that you are about to lose your land on a mortgage."

"Guess you are right," said the discouraged looking farmer, "but will you tell me how the Sam Hill you found that out?"

"Easy enough," said the cheerful ragman as he settled back on the seat of his peddling wagon. "I notice that these old pants are completely played out, so far as the part of 'em you sat down on is concerned, but they show mighty little wear anywhere else."—Exchange.

Literary Irrigation.

"Your latest novel seems very dry," said the reader of the publishing house to the young but rising author.

"I was pretty sure you would say that," rejoined the author. "Consequently if you will count them you will find the heroine weeps real tears in just 253 pages of my story."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WE ALL USE PE-RU-NA IN OUR HOME

Who is best able to judge of the value of Pe-ru-na? The housewife who has used it in her home for years, or prejudiced, sensational writers who have never used Pe-ru-na in their lives? It will not take any fair-minded reader a minute to decide which is the best evidence. The mothers of the United States believe in Pe-ru-na. The half million women who praise Pe-ru-na receive no pay for doing so, and the half dozen editors who disparage Pe-ru-na get big pay for doing so. Which is the best evidence?

MRS. ANNIE TESCH.

Now Eats and Sleeps Well.

Mrs. Annie Tesch, 337 23rd Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "When I wrote to you for advice, my health was a total wreck. I could not sleep and thought I would die, as there seemed to be no help for me. But I followed your advice and took Peruna and Manalin.

"I am now cured. I can eat and sleep well, and enjoy life.

"I never will be without Peruna, should any of us be sick."

Catarrh of Worst Form.

Mrs. Amanda Long, 7237 Seeley Avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I believe that I am cured of catarrh of the worst form and of long standing.

"I was almost a total wreck. I tried almost everything and doctored with a number of doctors, but they did me no good.

"I tried Peruna as a last resort, and by the time I had taken one bottle I could see that it was helping me, and so I continued taking it. I can say now that I have not felt the slightest symptoms for three months, and I think there is nothing like Peruna. I still keep it in the house, and think there is no medicine like it. I cannot praise it too highly, and bless the day that I learned of it."

Mrs. Judge J. F. Boyer, 1421 Sherman Avenue, Evanston, Ill., writes that several complications united in pulling her down, and she thanks Peruna for new life and strength.

Pe-ru-na Tablets.

For two years Dr. Hartman and his assistants have incessantly labored to create Peruna in tablet form, and their strenuous labors have just been crowned with success. People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets. Each tablet is equivalent to one average dose of Peruna.

Sore Throat for Years.

Mrs. O. Dashel, 384 Irving Avenue, Chicago, Ill., Curator Natural History Society, writes:

"I am glad to be able to recommend Peruna for chronic sore throat. I had been troubled with sore throat for years, but could find nothing to help me. I had an awful gagging in the morning and was subject to dizzy spells. I could not draw a free breath and life had no pleasure for me. My throat was dry and parched.

"I supposed I was doomed to spend the rest of my days in this condition, when I heard what good Peruna had been to others, so I tried a bottle of it. After using it I was much better and six bottles of it cured me.

"I cannot say too much for Peruna, and I hope that some poor sufferer like myself will see this and give it a trial."

MRS. J. C. RUSSELL.

MRS. C. DASHEL.

Acute Indigestion.

Mr. John C. Russell, 810 County Street, Portsmouth, Va., writes regarding his wife's case as follows:

"I thought it would be doing but justice to your great medicine to tell you what it has done for my wife.

"Two years ago the doctor called at our house, on an average, three times a week, in attendance upon my wife, who was suffering from acute indigestion. Her suffering was so great that nothing but morphine would give her relief.

"While on a visit to some friends in Norfolk she had an attack and I prepared to go for the doctor, when our friend proposed Peruna. I gave her a dose, repeating it in a half hour, and her pains passed away. Since that time my wife has gained thirty pounds.

Gained Thirty Pounds.

"We are never out of Peruna. When the children or I have a cold we take some of mamma's Peruna. I find it has cut my doctor bills down to almost nothing."

Pe-ru-na for Her Children.

Mrs. Alice Bogle, 803 Clinton St., Circleville, Ohio, writes:

"I want to inform you what Peruna has done for me.

"I have been afflicted with catarrh for several years. I have tried different medicines and none seemed to do me any good until I used Peruna. I have taken six bottles and can praise it very highly for the good it has done me.

"I also find it of great benefit to my children."

Fresh.

There was no doubt about it. He was very angry when he entered the village grocery store and demanded to see the proprietor.

"You sold my wife some eggs yesterday, Mr. Peavey," he said when the grocer appeared.

"Waal, yes," said Mr. Peavey genially, "believe I did."

"And you told her that they were fresh eggs," continued the visitor.

"Waal, yes; it seems to me I did," said Mr. Peavey.

"But, see here, Peavey, you had no business to say they were fresh eggs."

"Why not? I bought 'em for fresh—from Si Wiley too."

"I don't believe it. Si Wiley's an honest man."

"Waal, Si said it, all right. He come in here with his basket full of 'em and put 'em down on the counter and traded 'em off for a box of sody biscuits."

"When was this?"

"Oh, I dunno. 'Bout six weeks ago, I guess."—Baltimore American.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

The large bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

YOUNG WOMAN ON TRIAL FOR LIFE

Case Against Mrs. Harry Sampson Is Called.

VICTIM ADMIRAL'S NEPHEW.

Widow, Who Is Only Twenty-three, Must Face Jury In Lyons, N. Y., on Charge of Shooting Husband After Quarrel—She Declares He Committed Suicide.

Lyons, N. Y., April 5.—With the execution of Mrs. Mary Farmer last Monday fresh in the mind of every one, the case of Mrs. Georgia E. Sampson, accused of shooting to death her husband, Harry Sampson, on Nov. 1, 1908, was called for trial today.

It is expected that the procuring of a jury to hear the evidence for and against the young woman will consume much time. Almost every one in Wayne county is acquainted with either the Sampson family or with the Allyn family, to which Mrs. Sampson belongs by birth. The prominence of the two families—Harry Sampson's uncle was the late Rear Admiral William T. Sampson, who commanded the fleet at Santiago, while the Allyns are among the wealthy folks of this part of the state—has made the alleged murder the principal topic of conversation around the hearths of the county all through the winter. It will be difficult to find twelve men willing to swear that they have formed no opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused woman. District Attorney Gilbert is Mrs. Sampson's cousin.

Great Interest in the Trial.

Intense interest in the case extends beyond the limits of the county. The papers of Rochester, which lies in Monroe, the next county to the west, have made special arrangements to cover the trial. The courtroom contains a large number of press representatives from Rochester, Buffalo and other cities.

In the courtroom today Mrs. Sampson preserved the same nonchalant demeanor that has marked her since her arrest. She has declared that her lawyer will prove that Harry Sampson committed suicide after a quarrel with her, despite the damaging testimony that will be adduced against her. Justice Adelbert P. Rich of Auburn presides at the trial.

The shooting of Harry Sampson occurred at Macedon, a village about eighteen miles west of here. He was twenty-seven years old and had been married to Georgia Allyn six years. She is now only twenty-three. The young couple lived in a house occupied partly by the family of the wife's parents. Probably it would be more correct to say that the Sampsons lived with the Allyns. The shooting took place in the Allyns' dining room, and the young man died in a living room used by the two families.

Held Food in Hand as He Died.

The young couple were happy for several years after their marriage. Then, according to the stories told against the wife, she commenced to pay mysterious visits to Rochester and was seen in the gay resorts of that place. The fatal quarrel with her husband followed the receipt by him of a letter addressed to "Miss Allyn." She declares that he killed himself in a fit of jealousy, but her lawyers will have to explain away several strange circumstances. Mrs. Allyn, Georgia's mother, will testify that when her son-in-law fell at her feet, with blood flowing from a mortal wound in the breast inflicted by his own rifle, his right hand held a bit of bread and cheese. After the shooting the rifle was found standing in a corner of the room which saw the tragedy, and medical men will declare on the witness stand that the bullet which killed young Sampson ranged downward, as though fired from the stairs down which his wife ran after the report was heard. There were no powder marks on his clothing.

Georgia Sampson was indicted on Feb. 8, the grand jury charging her with murder in the first degree. On the following day George Sampson, father of the man whom she is accused of killing, died suddenly of Bright's disease. It is asserted that grief over the shooting hastened his death.

WHY KILL HIMSELF?

Flint Young Man Commits Suicide by Taking Poison.

Flint, Mich., April 5.—Ending his life by drinking a dose of potassium cyanide in the office of a local lumber company by which he was employed, Saturday afternoon, Harry Campbell, one of the city's prominent young men, committed a deed for which no one can give a reason. He wrote several letters. One of these was to his wife, another to the lumber firm and one to each of the several insurance companies in which he held policies. In none of them did he give a reason for taking his own life.

Thursday King Alfonso, assisted by the grandees, will wash the feet of twelve poor men, in imitation of Christ, and will subsequently set before them with his own hands a mammoth feast.

POLICE ARE POSTED.

St. Louis, April 5.—On Tuesday a new set of municipal officers will be elected in St. Louis, and this morning the police department received from Circuit Attorney Jones more than 500 informations which have been issued against falsely registered names now on the poll books.

The election board furnished the names to the circuit attorney, and the arrests are to be made if the names are voted.

Among the minor European states protectionism seems likewise to be asserting itself with renewed force. Spain, —the first nation, by the way, to make use of the maximum and minimum system which the United States seems on the point of adopting,—has been thoroughly protectionist since 1877. Portugal has recently authorized her diplomatic agents to make reductions of 10 to 30 per cent from her present tariff rates in the negotiation of commercial treaties, but remains essentially protectionist. Sweden and Norway have been since 1888 protectionist, and Switzerland mildly so since 1887-1891.

Holland and Belgium are still pretty loyally attached to the free-trade policy which they embraced half a century ago, though even they (especially Belgium) have been obliged to give way in part.—From "Europe's Tariff Laws and Policies," by Frederic Austin Ogg, in the American Review of Reviews for April.

BIG SUIT NEARS ITS END.

Prosecution of Standard Oil by Government Reaches Argument Stage.

St. Louis, April 5.—The calling for argument of the case of the United States against the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey in the United States circuit court today marked the beginning of the end of the government's attempt to prove that the great company is a corporation in restraint of trade within the meaning of the Sherman act.

This is the case which has been prosecuted by the government more than two years and in which hearings have been held in New York, Chicago and other cities. John D. Rockefeller and other big men of the company appeared to tell of its history and dealings. Nineteen typewritten volumes, containing 25,000 pages of testimony and more than 1,500 documentary exhibits, have been filed for the consideration of the judges. They are Judges Adams, Vandeventer, Hook and Sanborn.

The government is represented in the suit by Frank B. Kellogg, C. B. Morrison and J. Harrison Graves. For the Standard appear John S. Miller and Moritz Rosenthal of Chicago and Judge Henry Priest of St. Louis.

ROOSEVELT IS EXONERATED.

Did Not Coerce Office Holders Into Supporting Taft.

New York, April 5.—The report of the special committee appointed by the National Civil Service Reform league to investigate the matter of political activity on the part of the federal office holders has just been made public. The report recommends a state-wide application of civil service principles.

The conclusions of the committee, briefly stated, are that the charges to a great extent are sustained. A notable expection is reported in the allegations made during the last campaign to the effect that Mr. Roosevelt coerced certain federal office holders into the support of Mr. Taft for the Republican nomination. With his permission, the list of the president's appointments for a considerable period prior to the national convention were scanned by the committee, which finds than evidence to sustain the charges made is wholly lacking.

FORT WORTH'S FIRE.

Believed to Have Been Caused by Careless Boy and Cigarette.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 5.—To boys and a carelessly thrown cigarette stub is generally credited the fire which has destroyed property in Fort Worth valued at $2,000,000, caused the death of J. J. Newton, a bank employe, the serious injury of six persons, rendered 300 families homeless, and caused the temporary idleness of several hundred workmen employed in the manufacturing plants and business houses burned.

The burned area is under the guard of state troops to prevent looting, and the entire fire department is still engaged in extinguishing the burning embers, which, with the wind still high, spasmodically spring into flames.

A mass meeting has been held, and relief committees were named.

The fire originated in a barn near May and Tucker streets.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

The crashing into a tree of an automobile at Tarrytown, N. Y., said by eye witnesses to have been racing at a rate of forty miles an hour, caused the death of Charles Lindlow, a chauffeur.

The death of Mrs. Fannie Friedman at the age of 112 years has been reported to the health board in New York. She was born in Hungary, Jan. 7, 1797, and had been ill only a few days. It was her boast that she never had a doctor in her life.

Colonel Samuel H. Stone, formerly state auditor of Kentucky, is dead at his home in Louisville, Ky., aged fifty-nine years. In 1899 he was defeated for the Republican gubernatorial nomination by W. S. Taylor by a few votes.

"Race improvement in the United States" and "The development of physical welfare through social environment" will be principal topics discussed at the thirteenth annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, in Philadelphia, April 16 and 17. Among those asked to take part in the various discussions are men of national prominence.

Indalecio Alarcon, twenty-seven years old, said to be the son of a plantation owner of Farral, Mexico, unsuccessfully tried to commit suicide in Chicago by stabbing himself twelve times in the left side, cutting his throat, swallowing carbolic acid and port wine and throwing himself out of a third story window. He was found lying in an alley under his bedroom window.

ST. LOUIS DEFEATED.

Detroit American League Team Played Them at Dallas, Tex.

Dallas, Tex., April 5.—The Detroit American league team won an easy victory over the St. Louis team of the same league Sunday. The score:

Detroit	2 0 0 4 0 0 1 0 0	7	12	1
St. Louis	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	0	4	6

Fire Endangered Insane People.

Woodward, Okla., April 5.—Six hundred insane persons were in danger of death Sunday, when flames, starting from a prairie fire, destroyed several buildings of the state insane asylum at Fort Supply.

Sardou's Quip.

"Victorien Sardou hated shams," said a New York theatrical manager. "If you tried to impose on him he would call you down.

"At the Ambigu during a rehearsal he said he doubted an actor's statement that he had given forty hours of study to his lines.

"'You doubt me?' said the actor hotly. "I assure you, M. Sardou, I have never lied but twice in my life.'

"Sardou smiled dryly.

"'Then this makes thrice, eh?' said he."

MRS. CHARLES BIRD.

Mrs Charles Bird died in the University Hospital at Ann Arbor Saturday night at 6:30 The remains were brought to Tecumseh Sunday night at 9:25, and the funeral was held this afternoon, from the home one half mile south of Tecumseh at 2 o'clock.

Eva Cadmus was born in Raisin township April 9th, 1855, and had she lived until next Friday, she would have been 54 years of age. Her parents were, Mr. and Mrs. John Cadmus of Raisin township, where the mother still resides, the father having passed away, a year ago Sunday, April 4th.

On December 16th, Mrs. Bird went to the hospital in Ann Arbor for treatment for tubercular meningitis. An operation was found necessary, the first one occurring shortly after she entered the hospital and another one about a week ago. From the last operation she grew steadily weaker, until the end on Saturday, which marked the 15th anniversary of her marriage to Charles Bird, her death occuring at the same hour of her marriage.

Beside the mother and husband she leaves three brothers, John Cadmus of Ridgeway, Albert and Sidney Cadmus of Raisin, and three sisters, Mrs. Oliver T. Rose of Toledo; Mrs. John McIntyre of Tecumseh and Miss Agnes Cadmus, who resides at home.

Two sisters, Mrs. Ross and Miss Cadmus, beside Mr. Bird were with her at the last.

Her love for her home was very strong, and when she realized that her life was near its close, she longed for her home and friends.

Mrs. Bird was not a member of any church, but her numerous friends testify to her Christian character. Her retiring nature led her to hide her best qualities from public gaze, but they were revealed to those who enjoyed her acquaintance, yet it was in her home that her true worth was most conspicuous. She was a kind and loving wife, and her devotion to her family knew no limit.

The funeral was largely attended, Rev. Shaw officiating. Burial in the Ridgeway cemetery.

ROLLAND G. GOFF.

On Wednesday, March 24, 1909 at his late residence, occurred the death of Rolland Garrett Goff, after a six months illness. On Oct. 9, 1908, he was taken with a complication of diseases, from which he never rallied. During the whole illness he was a great sufferer.

Mr. Goff was born June 7, 1851, in Palmyra township and spent his boyhood days on the farm where he was born. He was the youngest of four children, two of whom died in infancy. On March 1, 1876, he and his mother moved to Tecumseh.

On May 19, 1878, he was married to Miss Elzora Pease of Palmyra and settled in Raisin, later removing to the village of Tecumseh where he had lived ever since. To this union five children were born two of whom died in infancy, also Mabell who died March 28, 1908.

To the people of this vicinity there is no need of a eulogy, as a man of integrity and honor his life speaks for itself. Of a quiet reserved nature he never cared to mingle much outside his own home circle. He leaves a widow and the two daughters, Mrs. Charles Collins of Adrian and Eleanor who resides at home, also one sister Mrs G. J. Huey.

His funeral was held from the late residence March 27, the Rev. J. W. Dunning of the Presbyterian church officiating. Burial was made at Brookside cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our many neighbors and friends for their kindness in our sad bereavement in the loss of our dear one, to the singers and Rev. Dunning.

MRS. R. G. GOFF,
MRS. CHAS. COLLINS,
MISS ELEANOR GOFF.

MRS. ANN M. MATTHEWS.

Mrs Ann Matthews died at her home just south of Clinton Saturday morning of heart trouble, aged 71 years.

She leaves to mourn her loss five children, Francis, who teaches at Milwaukee, Wis., Thomas and Albert, who reside on farms near Clinton; Will, who lives in Clinton and Esther at home.

The funeral was held from the house Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Kemp officiating. Burial at Clinton.

HOWE'S MOVING PICTURES.

Lyman H. Howe's moving pictures delighted a large audience at the Ishpeming theatre. This entertainment improves with each succeeding visit. Fourteen years ago Mr. Howe's exhibition took front rank for the kind, a position which it has never lost.

Mr. Howe is now featuring the recent terrible disaster in Sicily. He shows the cities as they were and now are. The pictures taken immediately after the earthquake illustrate the awful force of nature which laid waste this historic island. Among other interesting scenes were trips through Egypt and Russia. Wilbur Wright's aeroplane flights at LeMans, France, the Italian cavalrymen in dangerous feats of horsemanship, and the runaway train. At the Bradley Opera House, Wednesday, April 7th.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—at the sneeze stage—they break, or head off these early colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics.

Preventics are little Candy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thoroughly safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Promptness may also save half your usual sickness. And don't forget your child. If there is feverishness, night or day, Herein probably lies Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sold in 25c boxes for the pocket, also in 50c boxes of 45 Preventics. U. OF M. STUDENTS IN QUEER CONTEST.

Langdon Larwill, '12 lit, from Adrian, wagers with George Neuhoff of Ann Arbor that he can walk to his home at Adrian, a distance of 40 miles in 24 hours. Both are members of the Sigma Nu fraternity, and their fraternity brothers are interested in the outcome. Should the Adrian youth fail to make good he will pay for a dinner to be given Sunday. But should any dish at that banquet remain entirely uneaten, the guests will pay one dollar for each dish.

A STRANGE COINCIDENCE.

A party of Sicilians—all from Messina—were among the thousands who crowded the great New York Hippodrome lately to see Lyman H. Howe's remarkable reproduction of the city of Messina after the awful disaster. The pictures made a profound impression on every spectator. But none gazed upon them as intently as the Sicilians. They saw their beautiful city reproduced as they had known it in their youth. Then they witnessed the awful havoc caused by the earthquake in their native city. The pictures impressed them more than anything they had read about the catastrophe. They gave vent to their feelings by frequent and ill suppressed gasps of emotion. Suddenly one of them—a man about 45 years of age—succumbed to continued long and bitter moanings betraying the deepest anguish. His emotions appealed at once to the sympathy, as well as curiosity, of others in the audience. For a while he was deaf to consolation. Finally in muttered accents he said that the little girl shown in the picture who was being tenderly nourished back to life after five days imprisonment in the ruins, was his own daughter. This was the first news he had of his family being still among the living. He had failed to get in communication with any of those near and dear to him and attended Mr. Howe's exhibition in a desperate hope for news of friends. But he was not prepared for the actual fact that at least one of his family was on the road to recovery under the care of red cross nurses. So the pictures awakened in him emotions which he could not repress. The same pictures which Mr. Howe produced at the New York Hippodrome will be shown here at the Bradley Opera House on Wednesday, April 7th. They are so complete and tell the tragic story of the world's greatest disaster in such detail that probably many Sicilians will recognize their own friends in the pictures.

In the Woman's Home Companion for April is begun a stirring new novel by Cyrus Townsend Brady, entitled "Hearts and the Highway." The various instalments of the story are to be illustrated by F. C. Yohn. The Reverend Dr. Brady is a typically strenuous American. In addition to writing popular and successful novels and lecturing he is a militant minister of the gospel. He has recently become rector of a large parish in Kansas City, Missouri.

"Imagination in Business," by Lorin F. Deland, which leads the table of contents of the April Atlantic, is a brilliant discussion of the possibilities of trade through the exercise of that single quality which makes a man capable of succeeding in any business. The April installment of Gideon Wellee's Dairy gives novel and intimate details concerning the Emancipation Proclamation and the cabal against Seward, which almost disrupted Lincoln's cabinet. In J. O. Fagan's railroad series the switchman-author takes up the fundamental problem of Unionism and efficiency. John Burroughs contributes an imaginative paper on what he calls "The Long Road" of evolution, and Charles M. Harvey a picturesque account of "Fur Traders as Empire-Builders." In this number appears the last of Mr. R. L. Hartt's witty descriptions of various phases of social life in the back street, and an entertaining paper on "The Forty Immortals" of the French Academy, which comes from Mrs. Mary Bigot.

The downward path—that road which only partly makes up in the excellence of its paving what it loses by the climate of its terminal.

LIFE ISN'T WORTH LIVING

This Statement May be Generally Attributed to the Lack of Good Health.

We want to talk to people who are nervous, who suffer frequent headaches, who don't enjoy their food, who are irritable, quickly lose their temper, are so tired and worn out that they feel they must give up, and have become so despondent that life doesn't seem worth living. We know exactly what is the matter with people in this condition, and if they will follow our advice, we can tell them how to regain good health and that bouyancy of feeling which makes life seem all sunshine and happiness.

Most of the above described conditions are chiefly caused by catarrhal inflammation of the mucous membranes This delicate web-like lining of the body becomes inflamed and congested until weakness and mental depression follows. The only way that this can be overcome is through a treatment of the blood. We have the treatment, and we are so positive that it will produce the results we claim for it that we will supply it to anyone with the understanding that we will return to them every penny they paid us in every instance where the treatment is not in every way satisfactory and beneficial to them.

We want you to try Rexall Mucu-Tone, which is a powerful nutritive tonic and body builder, and a mucous membrane alterative that cleanses these membranes and restores their natural and healthy functions.

Rexall Mucu-Tone drives out all the catarrhal poison, restores the mucous cells to good health, tones up the whole system, allays inflammation, removes congestion, and stimulates the whole system to healthy activity. It is splendid for building up flesh and muscle tissue and removing all weakness.

Come to our store today and get a bottle of Mucu-Tone, and after giving it a reasonable trial, if you are not satisfied simply tell us so, and we will hand back your money without question. Surely, nothing could be more fair than this.

B. J. Pulver, the druggist.

"When today died, an epoch ended. Inter it in the crypt with Alexander's, with Cesar's, with Napoleon's." Thomas W. Lawson writes in the April Everybody's, a characteristically stirring appreciation of Theodore Roosevelt, under the title, "The Passing of the Man"; and the editors add to this a brief review of the ex-President's career as public servant and citizen, and a godspeed to the new chief executive.

E Alexander Powell writes interestingly of the life of the Ottoman woman in "Prisoners of the Harem"; Hartley Davis explains the slum's penetration into modern plays; and in the closing chapter of "The Woman's Invasion" William Hard and Rheta Childe Dorr consider the effect of woman's work after marriage upon the home and family life.

The earthquake in Sicily marks a new epoch in history. No great event was ever so clearly and truthfully pictured as the scenes in Messina to be shown by Lyman H. Howe at the opera house on Wednesday, Apr. 7. These are entirely different earthquake pictures than those shown in Tecumseh some time ago.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A BONUS.

So many electric lines have called on Tecumseh for a bonus in one form or another, that it is actually difficult to conceive of a road which is willing to come through our village and ask for nothing that savors of a gift, except the right to pass through the village. But, the fact has been established that this is all that the O. N. & M. R. R is asking us to give it for all the advantages which come from having the road. For the magnificent power plant which is to supply the entire system with electrical energy and for the big repair shops which will keep in repair all of the rolling stock of the road and for the privilege of having Tecumseh the principle division point of this splendid system we are asked to provide a ten acre site for the buildings and yards and to invest in, not donate to, a stable five per cent twenty year gold bond secured by the entire assets of the road and to have given us an equal amount of the common stock of the road a stock which ought to return a handsome profit on the entire investment within a few years.

The best evidence that those who are in a position to judge of these things believe in the road and the soundness of its securities is the fact that each of the local banks, the Lilley State Bank and the Tecumseh State Savings Bank headed the subscription to these bonds by each taking a one thousand dollar bond, the Miller Estate, John Quincy Look and P. W. A. Fitzsimmons have also purchased a like amount and a considerable number of others are in line for a substantial investment. Immediate action in this matter is necessary and when the committee calls on you, please be willing to promptly take hold of this unusual opportunity. The payments are arranged so as to fall thirty days apart in amounts of 25 per cent of the sum subscribed and none of this money is to be paid over to the Railroad Company until they have fully fulfilled their obligations and the power plant, shops and railroad are in operation.

This is undoubtedly the greatest opportunity that Tecumseh has ever had to secure a large and profitable industry, permanent in character and of the first class and at the same time profit by so doing. Let every friend of Tecumseh help Tecumseh help hereself.

Q Jones of Tecumseh was summoned, who found that four ribs were broken besides other internal injuries. He is still in a very serious condition.

SICK HEADACHE

Sour Stomach, Heartburn, and Canker Sore Mouth Cured by Mi-o-na

Where there's a will there's a way. Sick headaches are caused by indigestion and a general disturbed condition of the stomach.

Cure the indigestion, and the headache, nausea, heartburn, sour stomach and that "all in" feeling will vanish.

Mi-o-na tablets will cure indigestion or any other stomach trouble. C. A. Wright has so much faith in them that he will give you your money back if they don't.

Mi-o-na cures by making the stomach strong enough to digest its own food, by putting new life and energy into the overworked and played out walls of the stomach.

Use Mi-o-na for a week, and you can eat what you want any time you want it, and take pleasure in doing it.

Your blood will be richer, redder, purer after taking Mi-o-na. 50 cents a large box.

"I have for years had at sundry times, attacks of biliousness, which made me about down sick. I tried Mi-o-na, and the use of this great remedy cured my trouble. Gone Forever

Ten years ago an Allen Co., Kansas, farmer put his initials on a dollar bill. The next day he went to the nearest town and spent it with a merchant. Before the year was out he got the dollar back. Four times in six years the dollar came back to him for produce, and three times he heard of it in the pockets of his neighbors. The last time he got it back was four years ago. He sent it to a mail order house. He has never seen that dollar since and never will. That dollar bill will never pay any more school or road tax for him, will never build or brighten any of the homes of the community. He sent it entirely out of the usefulness to himself and to his neighbors.

The No. 1 Cultivator may be fitted with many different styles of gangs. No question about exactly suiting you.

EASIEST of all cultivators to guide, raise and lower—that's saying a good deal, but it's true.

The Olivers now make a Riding Cultivator. When you see it you will say they should have done it before.

It was used two years in all the big corn states before they said much about it.

Now they say—and it's a fact—that this new OLIVER implement absolutely guides, raises and lowers easier than any other cultivator on earth.

That it does better, easier, slicker work in all soils and conditions. and—

That it comes nearer making a day's cultivating seem like a picnic than any other cultivator.

Come and see it, and also take a look at Oliver Plows of various kinds—extra good this year.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments, the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling 'on inside' nerve. When these nerves fail then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by all dealers.

Given Royal Welcome by People at Italian Port.

GRISCOM THERE TO MEET HIM

Receives Him In Behalf of American Colony—Trip to Africa to Be Made on Steamer Admiral—Will Stop and View Ruins at Messina—Number of Americans Will Also Go.

Naples, April 5.—With vessels in the harbor tooting a welcome and thousands of people lining the water front shouting and waving hats, handkerchiefs, etc., the steamer Hamburg, bearing former President Roosevelt, his son, Kermit, and the Roosevelt party of hunters bound for Africa, came into port today. The demonstration was one equalling anything ever seen here before.

On the deck of the Hamburg as she came in stood Colonel Roosevelt, waving his hat in salutation of the cheers that greeted the vessel's arrival.

The former president was greeted on board the steamer by representatives of the city council who extended to him an official greeting and a party of ladies who literally strewed his path with roses. The German consul extended the personal greetings of the German emperor, and Ambassador Griscom represented the hundreds of Americans who have gathered here and who would like to meet the former president personally, but who probably will not have an opportunity.

The steamship Admiral, which is to carry ex-President Roosevelt to Mombasa, is lying in the harbor, decorated with flags, and the special quarters set side for Mr. Roosevelt and his party show evidences of the welcome which awaits him. Numerous gifts of flowers for the distinguished Americans have been sent to the ship, among them remembrances from the German emperor and the Shah of Persia. Masses of carnations typical of the German color have been placed in Mr. Roosevelt's cabin.

Mr. Roosevelt telegraphed from Gibraltar, expressing his pleasure at the idea of stopping to see the ruins of Messina, and Ambassador Griscom and a party of friends will go that far with him on the Admiral.

It is the intention of a number of American and foreign newspaper representatives to go to Messina also, but as no boat leaves here for that place it will be necessary for them to proceed south by train, taking the risk of not arriving on time.

We can give you names of many who have been cured through its use. Write for advice.

I had almost given up in despair, but knowing the virtue of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for sick headache, I concluded to try the Nervine. During June, 1906, I gave him a teaspoonful three times a day, then in July I gave it as directed, and I could see that he was improving, and he has not had a spell since August 28, 1906, and has taken no medicine since Jan. '07. I am writing the case just as it is hoping it will induce others to try it."

She would not lie down in the daytime and take a rest like most old ladies, but had a favorite window where she sat and would wave her hand to those that were passing by as she was well known to all in Dundee and a friend and peace maker to all. She loved her friends and worshiped all her grandchildren and was in sympathy with all the sick who came to the office to be treated by her son.

Mrs. Richardson was in bed only a couple of days and passed away without a pain, or struggle at 7:45 on Monday evening, March 29th.

She had her senses until the very last and held a conversation with a friend in the afternoon at 2 p. m. and died without fear of death or anything.

CURE

An Indigestion Remedy Free

Many people who are otherwise healthy suffer from indigestion, or dyspepsia. When you consider that the stomach and allied digestive organs are the most important organs of the body, it would seem that a disorder there is to be taken very seriously.

Dyspeptics cannot eat the things they like, food sours in the stomach; then chronic constipation begins, or, as is often the case, you have been constipated all along, and the stools are forced and irregular.

But there is no use letting indigestion go until it becomes chronic and undermines your health. It is good advice to suggest to you that you go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the wonderful cure for stomach, liver and bowel troubles. That is what C. Fowler, of Carson City, Mich., did and he is well today. Others who did the same and are cured are Ida A. Fortune, of Grand Junction, Tenn., B. F. Thompson, of Shenandoah, Ia., who actually considers that it saved his life. You can obtain a 50-cent or $1 bottle of the druggist, and, taken according to directions, it will probably be all you need. It is a liquid, acts gently, never gripes, and besides the laxative effect, contains exceptional tonic properties which tone the stomach. And that is what is especially needed in indigestion.

All sufferers from indigestion who have never used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can obtain a free test bottle by writing the doctor. It will be sent direct to your home without any charge. In this way thousands have proven to their own satisfaction, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the very remedy they needed to cure indigestion. When once you use this grand remedy you will throw violent cathartics, tablets, salts, etc., away.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

MUST SALOONS QUIT BUSINESS?

Twenty-Seven Counties Vote on Question Today.

FIGHT HAS BEEN WARM ONE.

Waged Up to Very Last Hour—Neither Side Positively Sure of Winning. Both Sides Out In Force — Dickie Sunday Sought to Challenge Rose to Debate in Battle Creek.

This is the day of days in Michigan. Citizens of the state are marching to the ballot box to exercise their right of suffrage, and many an important question hinges in the balance.

No question stands out more prominently, however, than that of deciding whether the saloon shall go or no, and in twenty-seven counties this is the chief issue.

Never before has there been such a vigorous contest waged between the "wets" and "drys." What will be the outcome, no one felt so perfectly sure that they were willing to quit the battle. It has waged up to the last hour with a vehemence which showed the vote will be large.

For weeks and weeks this fight has been waged, the liquor men employing large sums of money and bringing to the platform to speak in their behalf not only orators of the state but many a speaker from the outside. Pamphlets and other literature, too, have been circulated with a free hand.

Not one whit behind them have been the anti-saloonists with their money, orators and literature. One day perhaps the "drys" would draw the larger audiences, the next the liquor interests had the crowd. So it continued.

Brought In Speakers.

The antis during the campaign brought speakers from Ohio and Canada to assist the Michigan orators who urged the passage of the local option law, while the "wets" pressed into service Clarence Darrow, the famous criminal lawyer of Chicago; ex-Governor Peck of Wisconsin, and Mayor Rose of Milwaukee, besides several other prominent men.

Sunday night marked the closing of the campaign. Speches were held in nearly every section of the state where the question is to be voted on. Final rallies were held, and thousands turned out to hear the last pleas of both parties.

Both sides are out today in force. Hundreds of vehicles will be used to carry the voters to the polls.

The counties which will vote on the proposition to abolish the saloons are: Alcona, Allegan, Berrien, Benzie, Branch, Clare, Calhoun, Charlevoix, Emmet, Eaton, Genesee, Hillsdale, Livingston, Huron, Ionia, Jackson, Kalkaska, Montcalm, Mecosta, Monroe, Newaygo, Ottawa, Sanilac, Tuscola and Washtenaw.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 5.—Washtenaw county anxiously awaits the result of the election today on the local option question. Sunday night speeches were made by both sides, marking the close of the campaign. In University hall Judge A. Z. Blair of Portmouth, O., addressed a large audience in the interest of local option. James B. Angell, retiring president of the university, presided. This is the first time that the hall has ever been used for strictly political purposes.

Both sides maintain that they will win at the polls.

Charlotte, Mich., April 5.—Both sides are claiming victory in the local option fight which is being put to a vote today and which the "drys" closed last night with a big union meeting in this city. Rev. Adam Clark of Eaton Rapids, county superintendent of the local option forces, was the principal speaker.

The three city elections at Charlotte, Grand Ledge and Eaton Rapids will have a tendency to help the liquor men in every instance, but the cities will not roll up sufficient majorities to offset the "dry" vote in the county, although the "wets" claim the rural voters are going to use them better than they have before in local option fights.

Benton Harbor, Mich., April 5.—Eleven years ago Berrien county voted on local option and went "wet" by over 2,000. Today the same question is being submitted to the voters. The "drys" are claiming the county by a majority ranging anywhere from 350 to 500, while the "wets" assert an eleventh hour canvass shows Berrien decidedly "wet."

Many spectacular features marked the wind up campaign in Berrien Sunday. Children wearing slips marked "Vote For Me" paraded the streets, while elders in large numbers gathered at mass meetings and joined in the cry, "Saloons must go."

Leaders of the anti-saloon league have charged fraudulent registration in the First ward of the city. It is estimated that the campaign cost the two sides $10,000.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 5.—The citizens of Calhoun county are out in force today voting on the local option question.

Mayor Rose of Milwaukee closed the campaign for the "wets" here last night. While he was speaking to a large crowd President Samuel Dickie of Albion college, who was his opponent in the debate last week, was winding up the campaign for the "drys" in the First Methodist church, scarcely a stone's throw away.

Just before Mayor Rose was introduced, the Rev. Clarence Hoag, representing the "drys," tried to get onto the platform to present a challenge for an immediate debate with President Dickie. The crowd shouted and hissed, drowning out his efforts to make himself heard. He was requested to leave the hall. He declined to leave, and a patrolman was called to escort him out. Former Prosecuting Attorney Joseph L. Hopper, tipped it off to Hoag that the policeman had been called, and he quietly left.

Muskegon, Mich., April 5.—With a large number of women permitted to vote through the provisions of the new state constitution on the proposition to bond Muskegon county for $52,000 for new roadways and bridges, the election today will see the largest vote polled in the history of the various townships.

Besides the vote on the bonding proposition, which is an almost exact duplicate of the proceeding which was questioned in the Mona lake bridge hearing in the circuit court recently and led to the charges of the lax methods employed by the board of supervisors, representatives from the various townships and wards of the cities are to be chosen for the county board.

Flint, Mich., April 5.—Today is witnessing the climax of the local option fight. Citizens with ballots in hand are marching to the ballot boxes.

Sunday afternoon and evening this city was crowded with local option speakers. A special car conveyed a delegation of Pontiac people to this city, and at 2 o'clock a big parade, headed by the Salvation Army band and consisting of men, women and children, was made through the principal streets. In the evening in seven churches addresses were made in favor of local option, and at two open air meetings Pontiac speakers told of the benefits derived by their city since the saloons were crushed.

RETURNS FROM CHICAGO.

Moon Boy's Father Returns In Time For Lad's Funeral.

Flint, Mich., April 5.—Luman Moon, father of Harold Moon, the finding of whose body in Thread pond brought a dramatic climax to a plot of some person who had represented himself as the kidnaper of the long missing boy to extort money from the grief-stricken parent on promise of the return of the child, has returned from Chicago. He had been to Delavan, Wis., for the purpose of complying with instructions laid out in an anonymous letter which, if he did as directed, would mean the safe return of Harold.

"I will return to Delavan to appear against the blackmailer should he be arrested, and if the officers insist on it," said Mr. Moon.

The remains of the drowned lad will not be viewed by members of the family. The services will be held from the Court Street M. E. church today.

FRENZIED MAN

Fires Buildings and Gashes Self on Account of Wife.

Grand Rapids, Mich April 5.—Frenzied because his wife refused to live with him and withdraw an action for divorce, George Englerth, thirty-four years old, a former ice cream manufacturer of this city, gashed himself across the right wrist in a desperate effort to kill himself after he had set fire to a barn and two greenhouses belonging to Charles Chadwick, three miles east of this city.

Four horses were cremated, and two buildings were damaged. The loss is $1,200, insured. Englerth is in jail, weak from loss of blood, but will recover.

Boston, April 5.—Dr. Charles W. Eliot, retiring president of Harvard university, has arrived here from New York. He is to spend the next few weeks here, making everything ready for his successor.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say, that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

STORM WAS GENERAL.

Terrific Wind Swept the Entire Country.

BOATS ON THE LAKE MISSING

Sixteen Lives May Have Been Lost on Erie—Damage Is Reported in Toledo, New York, Buffalo and Througsout Canada—Man Killed in Rochester, N. Y,

Cleveland, O., April 8.—The fishing tug George Flood, with seven men aboard, and the sandsucker Mary H., with a crew of nine men, are missing and the barge Norman Kelley, with a crew of four persons, was rescued after a desperate struggle, as a result of a fierce windstorm which raged on Lake Erie. The wind blew a sixty-mile gale throughout Wednesday. Life savers have been unable to do effective work, and but one tug, the Anson M. Bangs, which rescued the barge Kelley near Sandusky, has been able to make any headway on the water.

The steel barge Kelley was tossed about like a cork on the lake for hours. The crew, three men and a woman, were picked up after floating fifteen miles away from Kelley's Island, the mooring point of the boat. They had given up all hope of being rescued when the tug found them. They greeted the tug with feeble cheers and tears coursed their cheeks as the barge was taken in tow to Sandusky.

It was while Joseph Enlo, Charles Todd, Mrs. Wood and a deckhand were attempting to strengthen the moorings of the Kelley that the ropes broke and they drifted out to sea. There was neither an engine or an oar on the barge, so the crew was at the mercy of the waves.

ONTARIO FEELS WIND.

Six Persons Hurt and Much Damage Done.

London, Ont., April 8.—Six persons were injured, one fatally, and a financial loss of fully $50,000 was entailed by a northwest hurricane which passed over this city Wednesday.

At the Aberdeen public school a tall chimney crashed through the roof, imprisonng 300 pupils and creating a panic. Mary Laburtis, aged 9 years, was fatally injured and four other pupils were severely hurt. The fire department worked rapidly and succeeded in quietening the children, who were removed by means of ladders.

A number of roofs were blown off. One of the steeples of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church was blown down and several persons narrowly escaped death.

TOLEDO HARD HIT.

Scores of Persons Hurt By Wind That Blew 70 Miles an Hour.

Toledo, April 8.—Northwestern Ohio Wednesday experienced one of the most severe wind storms in its history. Scores of persons were injured, many of them seriously, and the property damage is large. In Toledo, the loss is estimated at $25,000.

The wind attained a velocity of 70 miles an hour, according to the instruments at the local weather station. This is but two miles per hour less than the record here.

The lives of pedestrians were endangered by falling signs, parts of roofs, chimneys, limbs of trees and glass blown out of window sashes. A boy was blown out of a skiff into the Maumee river and was rescued with difficulty.

WIRES ARE DOWN.

Many People Injured in Chicago on Account of Wind.

Chicago, April 8.—Telegraph wires east of Chicago as far as Pittsburg went down rapidly in Monday's gale, according to the telegraph companies. Wheeling, W. Va., reported every wire down east of that point.

In Chicago several persons suffered injuries from toppling fences and loosened sign boards. Scores of plate glas windows were broken.

Several Hurt in New York.

New York, April 8.—The high gale which prevailed to the west and north of New York city Wednesday, reached New York city last night when the wind reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour. Several persons were hurt, and much damage and discomfort resulted.

House Passes Resolution to That Effect.

BELIEVED SENATE WILL AGREE

Laundrymen and Manufacturers Working Against New Child Labor Bill—Warden Fuller Demands Apology—Colby Succeeds in Getting His Statewide Primary Bill Before House.

Lansing, Mich., April 8.—The legislature will adjourn Tuesday, May 6, with final adjournment on May 15.

A resolution to this effect was passed Wednesday afternoon, 53 to 33, by the house, and it is certain that the senate will concur, as the latter body is anxious to get away as soon as possible and is able to work much faster than the house.

It sounded like a joke when Representative Willoughby introduced the adjournment resolution, but after an hour's talk it was rushed through, a majority of the members refusing to listen to the pleas that nothing has yet been accomplished, and that it would be extremely dangerous to fix a day at this time and thus enable the special interests to hold up the passage of a lot of legislation.

The legislature has been in session three months.

A big delegation of laundrymen and manufacturers are here working against the new child labor bill introduced by Senator Taylor at the request of the National Humane society. Their opposition is centered against section 3, which would radically change the present law. The latter simply provides that no female under 21 or male under 18 should be permitted to clean machinery while it is in motion, while the new bill specificaly states the kind of employment to be prohibited.

Warden Fuller, of the Ionia reformatory, sent a communication to the house of representatives Wednesday dealing with the attack made upon him in the house by Representative Ogg, in which he demands that Ogg make a public apology or that the house reprimand him.

Representative Colby finally succeeded in getting his statewide primary election bill before the house, reporting it out Wednesday afternoon from the committee on elections as a substitute for the Dickinson bill passed by the senate. The bill was ordered printed immediately and will be made a special order for next Wednesday.

It will then be up to the house to decide whether the members favor a primary election law covering the nomination of all public elective officers or simply governor and lieutenant-governor, as under the present law.

Colby says he expects the house to adopt his bill and put it up to the senate to accept tse bill.

LOOK FOR LOOPHOLE.

Genesee Saloonkeepers Believe Local Option Is Irregular.

Flint, Mich., April 8.—That the verdict of the voters of Genesee county last Monday is not to the liking of the liquor dealers of this city is evidenced by the fact that they are seeking some possible loophole in the local option election through which they might project themselves in their efforts to escape the necessity of closing up their places of business on May 1.

They are said to be trying for instance to make out that the election was irregular for the reason that the local option question and the county road system proposition were submitted together on one ballot.

STORM IN NORTH.

Foet of Snow Fell in Vicinity of Calumet.

Houghton, Mich., April 8.—The copper country was isolated for a time Wednesday as the result of a blizzard which swept down on this region last night. Telephone and telegraphic communication is demoralized, there being miles of wires down, with hundreds of telephones out of commission. Between five and six inches of snow fell in Houghton and a foot in Calumet.

Senator Burrows Asks Him to Attend Kalamazoo Event.

Washington, April 8.—Senator Burrows, of Michigan, has invited President Taft to attend the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of the founding of Kalamazoo, to be held in September. The president regretted that probably he would not be able to attend.

Damage Done in Bay City.

Bay City, Mich., April 8.—Bay City was swept by a 50-mile southwest wind Wednesday. Considerable damage was done to trees, fences and outbuildings. Two cement walls on new warehouse being erected collapsed.

EIGHT DEAD IN MICHIGAN.

Storm's Demands on State Were Enormous

GREAT DAMAGE ALSO DONE.

Flying Plank Kills Boy Near Howell—Falling Wall Crushes Three to Death at Cadillac—Lightning Takes Lad's Life at Ionia—Three Men Drown at Wyandotte.

Eight deaths and hundreds of thousands of dollars damage resulted from the electrical storm which prevailed over most of the state Tuesday night and the gale which followed it Wednesday.

The gale, which in many places reached the magnitude of a cyclone, was responsible for most of the damage. It blew down buildings in course of construction in the cities, razed or unroofed barns in the country, leveled shade and fruit trees by the thousand and worked much destruction in various other ways.

By blowing down telegraph and telephone poles it tied up much railroad traffic and cut off business communication between cites. In several cities the street car service was put out of business and the lighting service knocked out.

In the copper country of the upper peninsula the gale was accompanied by snow and sleet which completely tied up traffic of all kinds for the time being.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 8.—A heavy rain, hail and electrical storm that swept over western Michigan was followed by a terrific gale that did much damage, particularly to the telegraph, telephone, interurban and power lines. The Grand Rapids & Muskegon Power company is partly crippled as a result of lightning burning out transformers. Lightning fired numerous barns in western Michigan in the night, causing considerable damage.

Detroit, Mich., April 8.—Three Wyandotte men, Anthony Kaup, Joseph Kadich and Adam Felin, tried to row across the Detroit river Wednesday during the gale. The rowboat overturned and the men were drowned.

At 8:45 a. m. yesterday the wind attained a velocity of 70 miles an hour, which was the highest wind Detroit has felt since November 26, 1895. The average velocity from 8 to 9 a. m. was 61 miles an hour.

The storm entailed a property loss to Detroiters of perhaps $50,000. Roofs were wrenched loose from their moorings, plateglass windows were smashed and many vehicles came to grief.

In the hight of the terrific gale, the three men who were drowned, put off in a skiff from Wyandotte, to row to the Canadian shore. Kadich had bet Kaup $5 he didn't have nerve enough to cross. Felin was stakeholder.

While watchers on shore alternately raged at their folly and prayed for their safety, the little boat crept up along the American shore, then started in a long slant to round the head of Grosse Ile. When they struck the main channel the rowboat was overturned and, before help could reach them the men drowned.

Saginaw, Mich., April 8.—The wind blew down the mammoth stack of the Saginaw Valley Traction and Lighting plant, putting the city's entire street car system out of commission, as well as all its electric lighting service. It was nearly three hours before a temporary stack could be raised.

Howell, Mich., April 8.—Ray Miller, 16 years old, was instantly killed and his brother, Guy Miller, 19 years old, sustained severe injuries when the roof of a small shed on the Henry Gerkin farm, near Long lake, four miles east of here, was torn off by the gale that prevailed.

The boys were driving by the Gerkins farm when the accident occurred. A heavy piece of timber struck Ray on the back of the head and broke his neck. The same missile cut off one of Guy's ears and otherwise injured his head.

Owosso, Mich., April 8.—Shocked into unconsciousness by a bolt of lightning which struck and set fire to their home in Shiawassee township, Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Deseniss barely escaped being burned to death. When Deseniss recovered his senses one end of the house was in flames. He succeeded in arousing his wife and they escaped from the burning building in their night clothes as the roof caved in.

Muskegon, Mich., April 8.—Throwing Lake Michigan into a furry, the like of tearing down telephone and telegraph poles, uprooting trees and causing damage throughout the farming country, the high wind that has prevailed abated last night. Telegraph and telephone wires are crippled. Many broken window panes and other nominal damage in this city is reported.

Fenton, Mich., April 8.—Arthur Wendell, village marshall, and a companion named Smith, narrowly escaped drowning in Long lake when a gale struck them and capsized their boat while duck hunting. Both are good swimmers and to this and the further fact that they were not far from shore when the accident happened they owe their lives.

Cadillac, Mich., April 8.—Four men and boys were tying up short bundles of maple flooring in the Mitchell Bros. plant at Jennings, when without a second's warning a large section of the brick wall was blown in by the gale and crashed down through the roof of the stock room upon the four workers.

Hurried work for a few minutes brought to light the men. John Torrey, aged 35 years, and Charles Jacobson, aged 16, both were crushed to death. Bernard Carlson, aged 15, so badly crushed about the face that his death followed a few hours later.

Ionia, Mich., April 8.—During a severe electrical storm, lightning entered the house of Charles Helmer, three miles west of Ionia, over a telephone wire while the family of seven persons, including the parents and five children, were at supper. Benjamin Helmer, aged 8 years, was instantly killed and his two little sisters were severely shocked.

Saginaw, Mich., April 8.—Commencing at an early hour Wednesday morning the worst windstorm in years prevailed here all day. The gale reached a maximum velocity of over 60 miles an hour and considerable damage was done locally.

REFUSE DEMANDS.

Operators Again Decline to Meet Desires of Miners.

Philadelphia, Apri 8.—At a meeting held here Wednesday between committees representing the coal operators and the officials of the United Mine Workers of America, representing the anthracite workers of Pennsylvania, to consider demands made by the miners, the operators refused all the demands and submitted instead a proposition to extend the wage agreement brought about by the anthracite strike commssion for another term of three years. In order that the proposition be laid before the officers of the mine workers' organization of the three anthracite districts who are now in this city, the conference adjourned for the day.

The wage agreement, which the operators seek to have reviewed, expired on March 31. The miners, however, pending the outcome of the conference, are working under its terms.

The agreement does not provide for recognition of the miners' union and this, it is said, is the bone of contention, as the operators absolutely refuse to recognize the union.

UNITED IN DEATH.

Sisters Separated Forty Years to Be Buried Together.

Port Huron, Mich., April 8.—After being separated in life for 40 years, Mrs. Sallie B. Southerland, aged 79 years, of this city, who died Wednesday morning, and her sister, Mrs. Minerva Booth, aged 74 years, who died at her home in Kansas, Ill., are united in death. The bodies of the two women were taken to their old home in Oxford this morning, where a double funeral wil be held Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Southerland resided here with her son, D. E. Southerland. She was born in Royalton, Mass., and came to Michigan with her parents, locating in Macomb county. She lived there from 1834 to the year 1865, and then moved to Shiawassee county for about six months. Later the family moved to Oxford, where the deceased had resided until about six months ago.

Mrs. Booth moved to Kansas, Ill., with her husband 40 years ago, and although the two women often talked of visiting each other, neither made the long journey.

Man Killed in Buffalo.

Buffalo, April 8.—Wind tore through the streets of Buffalo at 52 miles an hour Wednesday and one man was killed and many persons were injured by detached boards and signs. Many plate glass windows were shattered.

Any lady reader of this paper will receive, on request, a clever "No-Drip" Coffee Strainer Coupon privilege, from Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. It is silver-plated, very pretty, and positively prevents all dripping of tea or coffee. The Doctor sends it, with his new free book on "Health Coffee" simply to introduce this clever substitute for real coffee. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee is gaining its great popularity because of: first, its exquisite taste and flavor; second, its absolute healthfulness; third, its economy—1½c. 25c; fourth, its convenience. No sediment 20 to 30 minutes boiling. "Made in a minute" says Dr. Shoop. Try it at your grocer's, for a pleasant surprise. Sold by all Grocers.

The things that are bad for one to eat have a mean way of tasting so much better than those the doctor says you may help yourself to liberally.

People past middle life usually have some kidney or bladder disorder that saps the vitality, which is naturally lower in old age. Foley's Kidney Remedy corrects urinary troubles, stimulates the kidneys, and restores strength and vigor. It cures uric acid troubles by strengthening the kidneys so they will strain out the uric acid that settles in the muscles and joints causing rheumatism. Sold by all druggists.

So live that when age comes upon you, you will be like the mighty oak, sound at the heart, rather than like the hollow linden, rotten at the core.

You should not delay under any circumstances in cases of Kidney and Bladder trouble. You should take something promptly that you know is reliable, something like DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They are unequaled for weak back, backache, inflammation of the bladder, rheumatic pains, etc. When you ask for DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills, be sure you get them. They are antiseptic. Accept no substitutes: insist upon getting the right kind. Sold by all druggists.

Rheumatic poisons are quickly and surely driven out of the blood with Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy—liquid or tablet form. Dr. Shoop's booklet on Rheumatism plainly and interestingly tells just how this is done. Tell some sufferer of this book, or better still, write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. for the book and free test samples. Send no money. Just join with Dr. Shoop and give some sufferer a pleasant surprise. Sold by all dealers.

"Some men work on the square to some loaf on the corner," says J. W. VanDorn. And again, some men loaf on the square and work up a corner on corn.

During the spring every one would be benefitted by taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. It furnishes a needed tonic to the kidneys after the extra strain of winter, and it purifies the blood by stimulating the kidneys, and causing them to eleminate the impurities from it. Foley's Kidney Remedy imparts new life and vigor. Pleasant to take. Sold by all druggists.

STOMACH LIVER LUNGS

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.

GIVEN AWAY.—Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, new revised Edition, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

IN MEMORIAM.

In the death of Mrs. J. J. Wilson another of Tecumseh's daughters has gone to her last long rest. Francina Adams was born, January 15th, 1849, and received her education in her native town, Tecumseh, Mich. In the early eighties while visiting friends in Chicago she met Mr. J. J. Wilson, a prominent business man of that city. A warm attachment was formed that led to their marriage which placed her at the head of a family of motherless children. The love and tenderness those children have for her memory well attests how successfully she performed her duties.

Some weeks ago Mrs. Wilson went to Lincoln, Nebraska, to visit her daughter, Mrs. Julia Chapman, expecting to return to her home in Lake Village, Indiana, in time for Easter. On April 1st, came the tidings of her sudden and serious illness. A few hours later her relatives and friends were shocked by receiving a telegram announcing that she was dead.

Mr. Pinney Chapman, her son-in-law, reached Chicago on Saturday, the 3rd, with the remains, and on Sunday, the 4th, the interment took place in Mapleville, Illinois, where she now lies by the side of her daughter, Olie.

Mrs. Wilson was a devoted wife and mother, a kind and sympathetic friend, ever ready to sacrifice her own pleasure and comfort to serve others. A fond husband, six daughters, a son and a brother are left to mourn the passing away of this noble, earnest soul.

A UNIQUE BIRTHDAY PARTY.

In this age of hurry and tremendous nervous strain nonogenarians are rare. But we have in our village a sweet faced, bright dispositioned happy old lady who passed the ninety years mark three years ago. Last Saturday relatives and friends gathered together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wilson to pleasantly observe the ninety third birthday of Mrs. Susan Williams, the mother of Mrs. Wilson. A strange co-incidence is found in the fact that her great grandson Percy VanEtten of Lansing was born on the same day of the month. It was his nineteenth birthday and he was present to enjoy the day.

Mrs. Williams has lived in Tecumseh about seven years and during all that time has not been able to move about except as wheeled in a chair, consequently she is not widely known in the village. But in Addison where she lived for over sixty years everybody knows Grandma Williams. She has been a life long member of the Methodist church and when able was associated with all its activities. Today she is as mentally alert as ever and unlike many ageing persons she has a keen relish for all things new.

An informal programme was rendered in which Misses Brush, Ferguson and others took part, after which refreshments were served, felicitations exchanged and sometime spent in social chat. Mrs. Williams was the recipient of many birthday tokens. Her many friends unite in the hope that she may be spared to round out the full one hundred years and if her present vitality meets no violent check she certainly will.

MRS. B. I. LAING.

At the home of her daughter Mrs. J. L. Richard, Wednesday eve., April 7 at 11:30, Mrs. B. I. Laing passed on to the better land. Six weeks ago she had an attack of lagrip. For a time she seemed to be recovering but suddenly and peacefully the end came. Funeral services at the house Friday at 1:30 p. m. Burial at Raisin Valley.

Equal to the Occasion.

The author of "Across England in a Dogcart" once stopped to examine a church in the little village of Enstone:

The day was warm, and on leaving the church I rested for awhile in the grateful shade of the building and for the sake of the coolness still kept my hat in my hand. While standing there I overheard one workman ask of another:

"Why do 'e keep 'is 'at off like that out of doors, mate?"

Here was an opportunity not to be lost. "No," said I, "I am not a Quaker. I am an Episcopalian."

There was a short, awkward pause. Then the first workman, evidently of an inquiring turn of mind, said to his fellow mason, who seemed to be considered an authority:

"A E-piscopale one, 'e says 'e is. Wot's that, Bill?"

"Oh," replied the learned Bill, quite equal to the occasion, "that's one of them fancy foreign religions, sure!"

The Emperor's Orderly.

Frenchmen of every rank and class dearly love titles. The manager of a Paris insurance company was decorated with the Legion of Honor a few days ago, and the clerks in the employ of the company presented him with a piece of plate to which their visiting cards were attached. On looking over these he was a good deal puzzled and amused by the visiting card of the office "boy," an old soldier from the Invalides, who was employed to open the office doors from 9 to 4. Under the man's name was the title "the emperor's orderly." He sent for the old soldier, who stumped in and saluted.

"Of what emperor are you the orderly, and how?" he asked. The old Invalide drew himself up to attention.

"I am the orderly of the emperor," he said, "Napoleon, le Petit Corporal."

"But he is dead. He has been dead some time," answered the puzzled manager.

No Morals In Dreamland.

If, as many writers have suggested, it is the soul itself that guides the imagery of dreams, how are we to explain the fact that in this chaos of ideas and feelings there is so little distinction between right and wrong that when dreaming we commit acts for which we should weep tears of blood were they as real as they seem to be.

As Professor Hoffman has said, "The familiar check of waking hours, 'I must not do it because it would be unjust or unkind,' never once seems to arrest us in the satisfaction of any whim which may blow about our wayward fancies."

From all of which we must conclude that the dream realm is a world that is entirely oblivious to any moral sense and that, though it may be true that a troubled conscience may produce or affect our dreams, the dreams themselves are never burdened with a conscience.—Bohemian Magazine.

A Necessity.

"Twenty dollars for retrimming your hat!" exclaimed Mr. Madison. "But we agreed to spend nothing except for things that were positively needed."

"Well, John, this is. You see, my best friend has just had hers retrimmed, and I have promised to go with her to the concert on Friday."

"Oh, all right. But I can't give you more than fifteen this morning, because I broke my meerschaum and must have it mended."

"Can't you smoke your old brier wood?"

"Certainly, dear. And you can wear your old hat."

"John, let's begin to economize next month after we get things all straightened out."

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak Kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

Going Some.

Being pursued by a farmer and his three sons after being caught in the chicken yard, a young colored person had just made up his mind that he was not eluding his followers as quickly as might be when a long eared jack rabbit jumped up from the roadside and started down the road ahead of him. The would be chicken thief had run a few hundred feet farther when the farmer and his boys were astonished to hear the negro shout in a voice that quavered with fright, though unrestrained, "Say, for de Lord sake, you rabbit, get out ob de way and let some one run who can run."—Argonaut.

A Doleful Mood.

The propietor of a Paris cafe noticed that after he had refused to give his pianist an increase of salary the number of his customers dwindled rapidly. It was only when all but one diner had deserted him that he discovered that the pianist had been inflicting Chopin's "Funeral March" on the audience nightly. The pianist, who was proceeded against in the law courts and was fined 50 francs, pleaded that he played according to the mood he felt in after his request had been refused.

One In; T'other Out.

"It must be very nice," said the caller to the author's wife, "to have your husband at home so much of the time."

"Yes," replied Mrs. Richard Darlington Spriggles. "It gives me a chance to go out."—Harper's Weekly.

No Novelty.

"A novel always ends with the marriage."

"Which is proper. There's nothing novel about the subsequent hunt for a flat and a cook and a job lot of furniture."—Puck.

Helping Him.

"Mr. Chairman," began the man who is unaccustomed to public speaking. "I—er—I—er—I—er"—

"Well," interrupted the chairman kindly, "to err is human."—Washington Herald.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.

Designating, Friday, April 30th, as Arbor Day.

To the People of the State of Michigan:

A third of a century ago Governor John J. Bagley by proclamation called the attention of the people of Michigan to the planting of trees as a duty devolving upon good citizens and urged the setting aside of one day in each springtime for that purpose. The custom has been followed by each executive since that time, and, in accordance with it, I hereby designate

Friday, April 30th, 1909, as ARBOR DAY.

Every year emphasizes the need of such a day and its observance should be statewide. The day should leave its influence and impress upon the minds of those upon whom the burdens of the future will devolve, and, to this end, the exercises in the schools should be of a nature that will bring out and develope a love for the forest, field and flower.

The splendid endowment of riches our state was given in its forests no longer exists in its entirety, but it was not to be expected that its resources of timber would not be drawn upon for the needs of our people. We can and should, however, by our efforts now, intelligent and energetic, provide resources for those who come after us that will prove that our mission here was not alone to use and destroy.

"Plant a tree" should be the watchword on April 30th, 1909.

The Commission on Country Life appointed by President Roosevelt suggested that the people in the rural communities come together in their schoolhouses on Arbor Day and form an organization with the school as the center and meetplace, for the purpose of developing and making better the general life of the community.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at Lansing, this 26th day of March, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nine.

Governor.

EASTER

With Easter only a few days away, the merchants of Tecumseh seem to have been vieing with one another to secure the handsomest window. Among the most attractive ones, are Heesen & Heesen, Spayde Shoe Co., McCann Bros., Novelty Store and J. J. Belcher.

The milliners held their openings last week, at which time their stores and windows were made unusually attractive with the charming display of millinery. Their windows are full of flowers and fruit, the season's trimmings, and their pretty and dainty hats add greatly to the beauty.

The stores of this village have a broad reputation for attractiveness, and many shoppers from neighboring towns come here to buy, relying on the good taste of the merchants for their goods.

Satterthwaite Bros.'s Handsome Window.

We note with much interest the way some of our enterprising local dealers are putting forth every effort this spring to make their stores attractive. This week the Satterthwaite Bros, whose progessive policy has been strongly shown this Spring by their large, attractive advertisements in our columns, have a fine window devoted entirely to house paint.

On close inspection one finds not only the usual display of paint cans but long cards showing rows of houses in new and handsome combinations of colors for exterior painting. An attractive window border brightens the appearance of the whole store and draws much attention from the passers-by. Its four corners attractively illustrate how easily and well any shabby surface in or about the home can be fixed up.

Satterthwaite Bros., deserves much credit for this window and we are sure it will prove of much benefit in reminding people of the many things around their homes that can easily be beautified at house—cleaningtime.

SICK HEADACHE

Sour Stomach, Heartburn, and Canker Sore Mouth Cured by Mi-o-na

Where there's a will there's a way. Sick headaches are caused by indigestion and a general disturbed condition of the stomach.

Cure the indigestion, and the headache, nausea, heartburn, sour stomach and that "all in" feeling will vanish.

Mi-o-na tablets will cure indigestion or any other stomach trouble. C. A. Wright has so much faith in them that he will give you your money back if they don't.

Mi-o-na cures by making the stomach strong enough to digest its own food, by putting new life and energy into the overworked and played out walls of the stomach.

Use Mi-o-na for a week, and you can eat what you want any time you want it, and take pleasure in doing it.

Your blood will be richer, redder, purer after taking Mi-o-na. 50 cents a large box.

"I have for years had at sundry times, attacks of billousness, which made me about down sick. I tried Mi-o-na, and the use of this great remedy cured my trouble. There has been no recurrence since I used Mi-o-na, therefore, I praise it highly." Mrs. L R McIntyre, Maiden Lane, Tecumseh, Mich., Oct. 16, 1908.

Gone Forever

Ten years ago an Allen Co., Kansas, farmer put his initials on a dollar bill. The next day he went to the nearest town and spent it with a merchant. Before the year was out he got the dollar back. Four times in six years the dollar came back to him for produce, and three times he heard of it in the pockets of his neighbors. The last time he got it back was four years ago. He sent it to a mail order house. He has never seen that dollar since and never will. That dollar bill will never pay any more school or road tax for him, will never build or brighten any of the homes of the community. He sent it entirely out of the usefulness to himself and to his neighbors.

MORAL—Trade with us, where your dollar buys the most anyway, and where you may get it back again.

SUCCESSFUL INCUBATOR AND BROODER

The Poultry Machines Backed by a Guaranty that says something and means what it says

The poulty raisers who are using the Successful are making big money. They not only get big hatches but they raise the chicks.

With such an equipment you are independent of the weather—you can hatch in the dead of winter and have broilers ready for an early market when they are worth something. Don't sink your money, time, and eggs in the ordinary unreliable, disappointing, cheaply built incubator, Such machines are bad enough at any time and practically worthless in cold weather.

An investigation will cost you nothing and may mean many dollars in your pocket. Look over our line. We've got the machine you want at the right price.

The old fashioned way of doing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by all dealers.

SHE MUST PAY.

Physician Gets Heavy Judgment Against Hawaii's Former Queen.

Washington, April 8.—Former Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii, otherwise Mrs. Lydia Dominis, must pay $11,600 to her "court physician," under a judgment rendered by Chief Justice Clabaugh of the supreme court of the District of Columbia. The judgment is in favor of Dr. Charles H. English, of Washington, who declared he had a contract to act as medical adviser to Mrs. Dominis for two years at a monthly salary of $500 and a bonus of $5,000. At the end of two months, during which he received his salary, he said, she made it impossible for him to fulfill his contract. The former queen made no defense. The papers will be served in Honolulu.

ANNIVERSARY OF LEE'S SURRENDER.

To Be Celebrated In Chicago With Banquet.

Chicago, April 9.—The forty-fourth anniversary of Lee's surrender at Appomattox, which marked the downfall of the Confederacy and the close of the great Civil War, will be celebrated Friday night by a public banquet given by the Hamilton Club to General Frederick Dent Grant, son of Lee's conqueror, and other distinguished guests.

The list of speakers at the banquet includes Senator Smith, of Michigan, and Senator Borah, of Idaho, two of the senate's best orators, besides General Grant. Among the invited guests is Secretary of War Diskinson, who promised to attend if his duties in Washington would permit of his leaving them. Senator Smith will speak on "The Integrity of the Nation," while Senator Borah will have for his subject "The Integrity of the State."

WIELDED HIS AX.

Woodsman Nearly Struck Down Under Sheriff Rimmele.

Saginaw, Mich., April 8.—While making an arrest in Taymouth township Under Sheriff Leo J. Rimmele had a sensational encounted which nearly cost him his life. Rimmele went to Taymouth to arrest Andrew Somske on a charge of burglary. Rimmele found his man chopping wood.

When the officer informed Somskie he was under arrest, the latter, Rimmele alleges, without a moment's warning raised the ax and made a terrific swing at Rimmele's head. The deputy dodged, and the blow just grazed his skull. Somskie then fled into the barn with the ax, and when Rimmele finally routed him out, started across the fields.

Rimmele later captured his assailant.

STRICKEN DOWN.

Judge Gage, of Saginaw, Dies of Heart Failure.

Saginaw, Mich., April 8.—Judge Chauncey H. Gage of the ninth judicial district was suddenly stricken with heart failure while walking past the Hotel Vincent and died a half hour later. The judge had been in perfect health.

Judge Gage was elected to the circuit bench in 1905 when he ran with the late Byron A. Snow on a non-partisan ticket. He had previously served one term. He is survived by the widow who is now ill in California, and a son, Harold H. Gage, who attends a Virginia military school.

Judge Gage was known as one of the ablest jurists in Michigan and has had a long and distinguished career at the bar in this city. He was about 65 years of age.

A Maker of Bulls.

Some excellent bulls are credited to William Arolin, who was a London police judge in the thirties of the last century. He once remarked to counsel, "If you can show precisely at what moment the offense was committed and prove that the prisoner was not there when he did it, he could not possibly have done it." And he sagely added, "We cannot divest ourselves of common sense in a court of justice." Of a similar character was an axiom he once delivered himself of, which has been maliciously fathered on many other occupants of the bench, "If ever there was a case of clearer evidence than this case, this case is that case."

Inspector-General Union Veteran Legion

Says: "I Can Recommend Peruna as a Safe and Reliable Medicine."

High Officials and Prominent Citizens

Give Unqualified Endorsement to Pe-ru-na.

No Medicine in the World Can Produce a More Impressive Array of Testimonials.

Every Testimonial Given in the Exact Words of the Testifier.

COL. HOMER RIGGS.

Col. Homer Rigge, Inspector General on the staff of the National Commander of the Union Veteran Legion, writes from the Pension Bureau, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"I thank you very much for calling my attention to Peruna. It is a pleasant and effective tonic, cures and prevents colds and catarrhal affections, and also acts upon the liver. I can recommend it as a safe and reliable medicine."

Terrible Case of Indigestion.

Mr. Donald Robb, Jr., 16 Wrights Ave., Nova Scotia, Canada, Deputy Supreme Chief Ranger, Independent Order of Foresters, writes:

"While on a visit to Boston I must have eaten something that did not agree with my stomach, as a terrible case of indigestion followed. Peruna was recommended to me, and after using three bottles I was entirely cured. I therefore recommend Peruna to any one suffering with stomach trouble."

Every Trace of Catarrh Gone.

Mr. James P. Bracken, 610 Tenth Ave., New York City, N. Y., has occupied the office of Water Inspector of New York City for the past fifteen years. He carries on an extensive plumbing business at 610 Tenth Ave. He is Post Deputy of Grand Knights of Regina Celia Council Knights of Columbus, N. Y. He writes as follows:

"For nearly a dozen years catarrh has bothered me in one form or another. I was troubled with nasal catarrh, that had affected my stomach, which troubled me most in the morning. My appetite was poor, and I did not seem to relish my food. Indigestion bothered me at times also.

"I was advised to take Peruna, and I took it as prescribed for a month, when my cure was almost complete. Today there is not a trace of catarrh in my system, and I can say without hesitation that Peruna cured me."

Agreeable and Effective Tonic.

Corporal John Finn, Washington, D. C., veteran soldier of the Civil War, a prominent Grand Army man and commander of the oldest post in the United States, John A. Rawlins Post No. 1, department of the Potomac, Grand Army of the Republic, writes:

"Peruna was recommended to me by many of my associates, and I have given it a fair trial. Have found it a most agreeable and effective tonic, pleasant, soothing, and leaves one free from the deleterious effects produced by the many nostrums now on the market. I have suffered from catarrhal afflictions the past winter, and have found Peruna most beneficial and commend it for what it has done for me."

Relieves Mind and Body.

Mr. G. W. Woodbury, Rogers, Ohio, formerly Captain and Center of the Hiram College Basket Ball Team, writes:

"When body and mind alike were weary and refused to work, a few doses of Peruna restored lost strength and invigorated quicker and more permanently than anything I know."

Unhesitatingly Recommends Pe-ru-na.

J. Edwin Browne, National Commander Army and Navy Union of U. S. A., 410 11th St., N. E. Washington, D. C., writes:

"I have no hesitation in endorsing your Peruna as a most efficient cure for catarrh. My own experience and that of many friends who have been benefited by its use recommend it to all persons suffering from that complaint."

Pe-ru-na Tablets.

For two years Dr. Hartman and his assistants have incessantly labored to create Peruna in tablet form, and their strenuous labors have just been crowned with success. People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets. These tablets represent the medicinal ingredients of Peruna, and each tablet is equivalent to one average dose.

The Family Relies on Pe-ru-na.

A. Howitt Nickerson, Captain U. S. Army, Adjutant General on General McCook's staff, writes from the Census Building, Washington, D.C., as follows:

"It affords me great pleasure to commend Peruna as a most excellent tonic with many medicinal qualities that assist nature in overcoming the various ills with which the human family is often afflicted, and is always in danger.

"As a general thing, I have been opposed to what are known as patent medicines, but Peruna has long since overcome this feeling. It is now, as it has been for a long time, a well-established family medicine with us, upon which we rely to give tired nature substantial restoration."

AGREES TO SEARCH AND SEIZURE BILL

Senate Unanimously Passes Measure.

Lansing, Mich., April 8.—The senate Wednesday unanimously agreed to the search and seizure bill which allows search for contraband liquor in local option counties, and has passed the bill providing penalty for making false statement to obtain credit. Senator Shields has introduced his steel passenger car bill requiring that after January 1, next year, all cars constructed must comply with specifications, and all lines equipped with steel cars after 1917.

The house Wednesday passed a bill requiring schools in pharmacy to have a course of at least two years in length if graduates are to secure state registration and prohibiting the issuance of a certificate as registered pharmacist to any person under 21 years of age; also a bill requiring a stamp to be placed on renovated butter.

An evening session was held by the house last night to work out bills on general order, among those agreed to being a bill providing for state registration of nurses. The bill provides for a registration board of three nurses and two physicians.

Stevens Quits Pere Marquette.

New York, April 8.—Frederic W. Stevens, of Detroit, general counsel of the Pere Marquette railroad, has resigned that position and has become associated with J. P. Morgan & Co. Mr. Stevens has also withdrawn from the Detroit firm of Angell, Boynton, Stevens, McMillan & Bodman, and has taken up his permanent residence in New York.

An Awful Rebuke.

Once upon a time a certain community planned to give a dinner to a judge there. When the judge came to scan the list of those invited he raised vigorous protest against one name, that of a man who had been the most brilliant lawyer in town, but who was now the town drunkard. They finally overcame his opposition, but the town drunkard had heard of it. He was the last speaker called upon. He arose and said: "Mr. Toastmaster—Fifteen years ago I had a practice in this town that amounted to $12,000 a year. I had a wife and family whom I supported in comfort. I had my own horse and carriage. At that time the guest of the evening was on his way west in an emigrant wagon. He landed in this town and started in to make his living. Since then, Mr. Toastmaster," he cried, with a pathetic break in his voice—"since that time I have been going steadily down, down, down, and our guest has been going up, up, up, until now we are just about on a level."

Luck.

"Do you believe there is anything in luck?" asked the young man.

"Yes," answered the home grown philosopher. "There is a lot of intelligence and perseverance in it."—Exchange.

PRINCE GEORGE OF SERVIA.

According to numerous reports from Servia, Prince George, eldest son of King Peter and heir to the throne until he renounced his rights recently, is a hot tempered, ungovernable young man. He will be twenty-two years old in August.

Robertson, the celebrated aeronaut who ascended from Petersburg last year, is endeavoring to obtain the necessary assistance at that place for the construction of an air balloon on a very large scale. He proposes that it shall be 722 feet in diameter, which he calculates will carry up thirty-seven tons and which he supposes, therefore, will easily support fifty people and all necessary accommodation for them. It is to have attached to it a vessel furnished with masts, sails and every other article required for navigating the sea in case of accidents and provided with a cabin for the aeronauts, properly fitted up, gallery for cooking, proper stores for stowing provisions and several other conveniences. To render the ascent more safe, it is to take up another smaller balloon within it and a parachute, which will render the descent perfectly gentle if the outer balloon bursts. From its construction it will be calculated to remain in the air several weeks.—From Hudson (N. Y.) Balance and Columbian Repository of July 15, 1806.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

GIRL'S TRICK DIDN'T WORK.

Tried to Rob Her Grandfather and Aunt.

BOUND AND GAGGED HERSELF.

Jackson Miss, Visiting Detroit Relatives, Claimed Robber Had Entered House—She Had Money and Jewels Hid In Sofa Pillow—Finally Confesses She Played "Hoax."

Detroit, Mich., April 12.—What at first appeared to have been a bold robbery in broad daylight has turned out to be only a clever ruse on the part of Ethel Cones, aged eighteen, to rob her grandfather, William E. Cones, and her aunt, Mrs. May Hagan, both living at 795 Pennsylvania avenue. Under sharp questioning by detectives the girl broke down and told where the property was hidden.

Mr. Cones, who is about seventy years old, went out for a walk during the afternoon with Ethel, who lives in Jackson and who has been visiting at his home for the past two weeks, and, returning about 5 o'clock, left her to go to the grocery store, while she went on home. Both Mrs. Hagan and her sister were away from home at the time.

When the old man came home he found Ethel in a chair in the sitting room, her hands and feet bound and a gag in her mouth. When she had been released she told a story of a man entering the house shortly after she did and, after binding and gagging her, ransacking the house.

Cash Was Gone.

Cones looked under the rug in the sitting room, where the cash is kept, and $60 which he says was there when he left was gone. Two gold watches, a gold breast pin, a bracelet and several small gold pine were gone from a writing desk.

He became confused and forgot to report the matter to the police until Mrs. Hagan came home. Then the detective bureau was notified, and Detectives Lombard and Clare were assigned to the case. Examination of the house and a review of all circumstances connected with the case showed that someone well acquainted with the premises and habits of the family was the robber.

Not until the officers threatened to back the patrol wagon up to the house and take her away did the girl break down and confess.

Confesses Everything.

"Go to the sitting room and get the settee pillow, rip it open, and you'll find the money and jewelry," she told the detectives, between sobs. They did as directed, and there, neatly packed between the layers of cotton batting, the missing jewelry and money were found. Although Cones claims $60 was taken, only $37 was found. The girl says this is all she found under the rug.

AGED PRELATE DEAD.

Passed Away While Sitting In His Armchair.

Detroit, Mich., April 12.—Rev. John Geerts, chaplain of the Home for the Aged Poor, formerly pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Sorrows, is dead at his residence, 48 Scott street.

When he retired at night he gave instructions to be called early. At 5 o'clock his housekeeper received no response to her calls. She aroused several neighbors, who forced an entrance into the priest's room. They found him sitting in an armchair, dead.

Death was due to heart failure, with which Rev. Geerts had been ailing many years.

Father Geerts was beloved by all his people because of his quiet devotion to duty. He was seventy-four years old. He was born in St. Nicolas, Belgium.

Superintendent Clark Ill.

Northville, Mich., April 12.—Frank N. Clark, Michigan superintendent of United States fish hatcheries, is critically ill at his home here as the result of a hemmorhage of the bronchial tubes. Mr. Clark, a few nights ago, tripped over a piece of wood while leaving the opera house and fell down a long flight of stairs. He was injured internally, and his present sickness is due to the accident.

Train Crushes Lad's Arm.

Detroit, Mich., April 12.—Hazen Zang, aged eight years, son of C. C. Zang, 438 Milwaukee avenue east, was hitching on cars in the Grand Trunk yards near his home when he rolled beneath the wheels, and his arm was crushed. He was taken to Grace hospital, and the members was amputated. It was said at the hospital that he is in a critical condition.

SIX PERISH IN BIG FIRE.

Four Business Blocks In Lenox, Mass., Burn.

LOSS IS OVER $200,000.

Flames Probably Started From Spontaneous Combustion In Cellar of Hardware Firm — Woman's Death Was Tragic—Leaps From Veranda of Second Story.

Lenox, Mass., April 12.—Six people lost their lives, three others were badly burned, and a property loss of between $200,000 and $300,000 was caused by a fire that has occurred in the heart of the business section of this city. Four business blocks, two dwellings and two other structures were destroyed in a section bounded by Franklin, Main, Housatonic and Church streets. The fire is believed to have started in the Clifford building, from spontaneous combustion. The dead:

EDWARD C. VENTRES, electrician.
MRS. EDWARD C. VENTRES.
MISS LESLIE VENTRES, twelve years of age.
MISS ALICE FRENCH, bookkeeper.
MISS ISABEL COOK, bookkeeper.
MISS MARY SPARKS, schoolteacher.

Mrs. Katherine Root and her two sons, George and Arthur, were severely burned.

A fortunate shift of the wind saved the public library and the fashionable Curtis hotel. In the hotel there were several Easter parties from New York and Boston.

The loss of life occurred in the Clifford building, where the blaze started, and resulted primarily from a series of explosions among the turpentine, paints, oils and dynamite stored in the cellar of the James Clifford and Sons' company, hardware dealers.

The death of Miss Alice French was one of the pitiful tragedies. While the fire in the Clifford Block was at its height a woman was seen to climb out of a flame filled room onto a veranda on the second story with her night clothes and her hair ablaze. Staggering to the railing, the woman leaped to the sidewalk beneath, landing in a heap within five or six feet of the blazing walls. The bodies of the other victims have not been recovered.

NIAGARA'S VOICE MUTE.

Shift of Wind Blocks Ice, and Flow of Water Stops.

Buffalo, April 12.—The voice of Niagara was mute Sunday for the second time in the memory of man. The first time was late in February, when, following a severe northerly blow, the falls ran dry. Now, following a severe south-wester, the river is frozen solid from bank to bank.

Unprecedented weather has brought about unprecedented conditions. On Wednesday of last week the worst gale of the season was recorded and, following the lakes and the channel of the Niagara, left ruin in its wake. The solid ice fields of Lake Erie were churned from end to end and piled in a huge conglomrate mass at the lower end of the lake.

At Niagara Falls there had been a heavy ice bridge in the pool below the cataract since the middle of the winter. Under the impact of the mass of ice from the lake above and the added floods brought down by the wind the bridge gave way and began to surge down the rapids, but before it could win freedom in the ample waters of Lake Ontario the wind shifted again to the north. Instantly the moving floes packed at the mouth of the river. Each instant of cold congealed the pack more solidly, and each hour brought added pressure from above.

Unable to escape by its natural channels, the level of the river arose by leaps and bounds. The highest flood level recorded from previous years is twenty-eight feet above the normal. Friday night the river was forty feet above normal.

Conservative estimates place the damage at $1,000,000. All day Sunday a constant stream of visitors came to see the sight that is not likely to repeat itself within the generation. Under a brilliant sun the river lay white and glistening to the horizon. And it was silent, absolutely voiceless.

AMENDED BILL IS PREPARED.

Payne Measure Ready For Full Senate Committee.

MINORITY IS IN A HURRY.

Want Measure Turned Over at Once to Senate—Large Number of Articles to Be Submitted to Judgment of Senate—Senator Aldrich Declares There Is Surprise In Store.

Washington, April 12.—The Payne tariff bill, as amended by the senate committee on finance, was sent to the public printer late last night and is ready today for presentation to the full committee.

An effort will be made to induce the minority to consent to the reporting of the bill to the senate today, in which even it will be allowed to go over until Thursday, when Chairman Aldrich will make a detailed explanation of its provisions. It is probable that he will be followed by Senator Daniel, the ranking Democratic member, who will outline the position the minority members expect to assume.

No Predictions.

Senate leaders decline to predict how much time is likely to be occupied in the discussion of the portion of the bill fixing rates of duty. A large number of important items are to be submitted to the judgment of the senate without recommendation, the purpose being to convince the senate and the country that the committee has not arbitrarily assumed the power to make a tariff bill and that it recognizes the right of members of congress not on the tariff framing committee to help to shape the tariff bill so far as the controverted schedules are concerned.

Members of the finance committee have discussed their proceedings with greater freedom than ever before in the history of tariff legislation. Senator Aldrich has asserted that 75 per cent of articles used by all the people had been reduced and that the free list had been lengthened to an extent that would be surprising to everybody. The members of the committee have done their best to make their recommendation popular, and they predict that their efforts would be appreciated.

In placing a large number of articles on the free list and in reducing duties on many others it has been found necessary to materially increase the duties on many luxuries in order to produce necessary revenues. The Payne bill increased materially the rates on brandy, alcohol, gin, grain spirits, cordials and liquors, but made practically no increase on champagnes and still wines. The senate committee has decided upon an increase amounting to about 25 per cent above existing rates on wines of all kinds and has made increases above the Payne bill on other spirits.

Tariff Will Cause Loss.

No announcement was made as to the amount of additional revenues which these increases will produce.

The estimates of the revenue which the Payne tariff bill will produce for the government have been reduced nearly $20,000,000 through the amendments made to the measure before it was passed by the house, and the senate will have to provide means for making up this difference if the original estimates are to be met. The striking out of several countervailing duty clauses on which no estimates were made probably will lessen the bill's productiveness another $20,000,000.

In addition to placing tea and coffee on the free list, the committee proposes to admit cocoa free.

The senate stands about two to one against free lumber. The fight which will be made on the floor for free hides has begun already, and an effort is being made to line up the members.

REFUTES PARIS PAPERS.

Roosevelt Denies Interview Which It Printed.

Suez, April 12.—The steamer Admiral, with ex-President Roosevelt on board, which has just passed out of the canal, made a brief stop at Suez and then proceeded. The Admiral will make stops at Aden and Mogadiscio, on the east coast of Italian Somililand.

Mr. Roosevelt took occasion to deny vehemently an alleged interview with him which appeared in the Paris Journale, saying, "I have not seen any representative of that paper and have made no statement to the public except that given out at Messina."

Thieves Stole Locomotive.

Fishkill Landing, N. Y., April 12.—Thieves stole a locomotive on the New Haven railroad at Hopewell and, after running it ten miles, abandoned it when the steam gove out. The thieves escaped.

SCHOOL LADS PULL TRIGGERS

Begin Firing In National Interschool Rifle Shooting Competition.

Washington, April 12.—Boys in public and private schools throughout the country in which interest is taken in rifle shooting began firing today in the first interschool rifle shooting competition of a national charecter ever held in this country under the auspices of the National Rifle association.

The prize will be gallery championship of the United States for 1909, the trophy being the Astor trophy recently presented by Colonel John Jacob Astor of New York. This will be kept in competition for twenty years, at the end of which time it is to be presented to the school whose team has won it the greatest number of times.

"PLAY BALL!" IS THE CRY TODAY.

American League Season Opens With Two Games.

Washington, April 12.—Last month Washington had an inauguration day that was a fairly big thing in its line. Today it has another that is even bigger in the eyes of the men and women and little children who turn first to the sporting page to see what the baseball players have been doing. With the playing of the game today between the Washington and New York teams here and the Boston-Philadelphia game in Philadelphia the American league baseball season will be pried open.

All roads lead to the Senators' park today. The indications are that the show in the building with the big dome, where the tariff is being discussed, is running a very dismal second in public interest. The senators and representatives are going to play "hookey," and even President Taft is expected to forget the cares of office for awhile and go to see the game. He is one of the leading fans of Cincinnati, his home town, and has lost many a bet on the Reds' failures to win pennants.

Tomorrow there will be a rest all around for the ball players, and on Wednesday comes the grand opening, when all sixteen teams of the two big leagues will be on the job. In the American league Chicago will play at Detroit, Cleveland at St. Louis, while New York and Washington will clash again here, and Boston and Philadelphia will again forget brotherly love in Philadelphia. While all this is happening in the American league, the National league will have openings in New York, Boston, Cincinnati and Chicago. The visitors who will be entertained in those cities will be respectively, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and St. Louis.

FILED WRITTEN PROTEST.

Castro Says His Deportation Is Breach of International Law.

Fort de France, Martinique, April 12.—Prior to being taken aboard the steamer Versailles for deportation to France, ex-President Castro prepared a written protest against the action of the French government which has been submitted to the authorities here. His reasons for protest were because "I have committed no offense against the government of France and the authorities of Martinique during the time I was permitted to remain on that island; and, finally, because the decree of expulsion which orders my deportation out of French territory compels me to take passage aboard a vessel which will again land me on French territory. Moreover, the considerations aside from the case constitutes a breach of international law and a denial of the rights of citizens."

Immediately on the announcement by the medical commission, who made a lengthy physical examination of Castro, that he was quite capable of making the voyage, the commissary of police, with an escort of gendarmes, invaded the hotel where he was stopping and put him on litter and carried him on board the Versailles.

CAN LIVE IN FRANCE.

Government Has No Objections to Castro Providing He Behaves.

Paris, April 12.—The return of Castro is not regarded here as of great importance, the principal object of the French government being to prevent the use of French territory as the headquarters for a revolutionary movement and a campaign by Castro to recapture his lost power in Venezuela.

There will be no opposition made to his landing, or even his remaining in France, provided he lives peaceably. It is regarded, however, as more likely that Castro will disembark at Santander, where he will try to charter a ship.

THE BARRIER

By Rex Beach

Copyright, 1908, by Harper & Brothers

"You're a bunch of rascals, all or you, tryin' to down a pore girl and get her ground. But who put you wise to this thing, in the first place? Who found this gold? Just because there's enough of you to vote that motion through that don't make it legal, not by a d—d sight, and it won't hold because I won't write it in the book. You—you"— He glared at them ma-

"No, no; don't have any trouble!" she pleaded.

levolently, searching his mind for an epithet sufficiently vile and, finding it, spat it out—"dressmakers!"

So this was why both Stark and Runnion had gone up the creek with the three new men, thought Burrell. No doubt they had deliberately arranged the whole thing so that the new arrivals could immediately relocate each of Necia's claims—the pick of all the ground outside Lee's discovery and the surest to be valuable—and that Stark would share in the robbery.

Carefully slipping around the corner of the cabin and keeping the house between him and the others, Burrell broke into a swift run, making the utmost possible speed for fear they should miss him and guess his purpose, or, worse yet, finish their discussion and adjourn before he could complete his task. He was a light man on his feet, and he dodged through the forest, running more carelessly the farther he went, visiting first the upper claims; then, making a wide detour of the cabin, he came back to the initial stake of Necia's lower claim, staggering from his exertions, his lungs bursting from the strain. He had covered nearly a mile; but, even so, he laughed grimly as he walked back toward the cabin, for it was a game worth playing, and he was glad to take a hand on the side of the trader and the girl. Coming within earshot, he heard the meeting vote to adjourn. It could not have terminated more opportunely had he held a stop watch on it.

Runnion addressed the other conspirators loudly:

"Well, boys, there are three good claims open for relocation. I'm sorry I can't stake one of them."

"They won't lie open long," said one of the undesirable citizens, starting to turn downstream, while his two companions made for the opposite direction. But Burrell stopped them.

"Too late, boys. Your little game went wrong. Now, now, don't get excited! Whew, I had quite a run!"

Gale paused in his tracks and looked at the young man queerly.

"What do you mean?"

"I've jumped those claims myself."

"You jumped them!" cried Necia.

"Sure! I changed my mind about staking."

"It's a lie!" cried Runnion, at which Burrell whirled on him.

"I've been waiting for this, Runnion, ever since you came back. Now"—

"I mean you haven't had time," the other temporized hurriedly.

"Oh, that sounds better. If you don't believe me take a look for yourself. You'll find my notice just beneath Miss Gale's." Then to "No Creek" Lee he continued, "Kindly record them for me so there will be no question of priority."

"I'll be d——d if I do!" said the belligerent recorder. "You're worse'n these crooks. That ground belongs to Necia Gale."

Up to this time Stark had remained silent, his impassive face betraying not a shadow of chagrin, for he was a good loser, but now he spoke at large.

"Anybody who thinks the American army is asleep is crazy." Then to Burrell, "You certainly are a nice young man to double cross your friends like that."

"You're no friend of mine," Meade retorted.

"I? What do you mean?"

"I double crossed you, Stark; nobody else. There's no use mouthing words about it," said he. "These thugs are your tools, and you tried to steal that ground because it's sure to be rich."

Stark exclaimed angrily, but the other gave him no time to break in.

"Now, don't get rough, because that is my game, and I'd be pleased enough to take you back a prisoner." Then, turning to Lee, he said: "Don't make me force you to record my locations. I staked those claims for Miss Gale, and I'll deed them to her when she turns eighteen."

Poleon Doret called to Runnion: "M'sieu, you 'member w'at I tol' you yestidday? I'm begin for t'ink it's goin' be you."

Seeing that the game had gone against him, Stark got his feelings under control quickly and shrugged his shoulders as he turned away.

"You're in the wrong, lieutenant," he remarked, "but I don't want any trouble. You've got the law with you." Then to Runnion and the others he said, "Well, I'm ready to hit the trail."

When they had shouldered their packs and disappeared down the valley Gale held out his hand to the soldier. "Young man, I reckon you and I will be friends."

"Thank you," said Burrell, taking the offer of friendship, which he knew was genuine at last.

"I'm in on that," said "No Creek" Lee. "You'll do right."

Poleon had been watching Stark's party disappear, but now he turned and addressed the young soldier.

"You mak' some enemies today, m'sieu."

"Very well. That is his privilege."

"You don't savvy what it means to get him down on you," insisted Lee. "He'll frame things up to suit himself, then pick a row with you. He's the quickest man on a trigger in the west, but he won't never make no open play, only just devil the life out of you with little things till you flare up; then he'll down you. That's how he killed the gold commissioner back in British Columbia."

Necia had said little so far, but the look in her eyes repaid the soldier for his undertaking in her behalf and for any mischief that might ensue from it. She came forward and laid her hands upon his.

"Don't worry, daughter," reassured Gale. "There's nothing Stark can do, and whatever happens we're with the lieutenant. He's our kind of people."

Burrell liked this grizzled old fellow with the watchful eyes and was glad now that he could grip his hand and face him squarely with no guilt upon his conscience.

By this time Doret had hulshed with their blankets, and the four set out for town, but instead of following the others they accepted Necia as guide and chose the trail to Black Bear creek.

The party reached Flambeau on the following day, sufficiently ahead of Stark and his men for Lee to make known his find to his friends, and by sunset the place was depopulated, while a line of men could be seen creeping slowly up the valleys.

Gale found Alluna in charge of the store, but no opportunity of talking alone with her occurred until late in the evening, after Necia had put the two little ones to bed and had followed them wearily. Then he told his squaw. She took the news better than he expected and showed no emotion such as other women would have displayed, even when he told her of the gunshot. Instead she inquired:

"Why did you try it there before all those others?"

"Well, when I heard him talking the wish to kill him was more than I could stand, and it came on me all at once, so that I was mad, I suppose."

"Does this man suspect?"

"No."

"Then it is child's play. We will lay a trap."

"No, by heaven!" Gale interrupted her hotly. "I tried that kind of work, and it won't do. I'm no murderer."

"These are only words," said the woman quietly. "To kill your enemy is the law."

When he made no answer the squaw slipped out into the shadows, leaving him staring into the flames, to return a moment later bearing something in her hands, which she placed in his. It was a knife in a scabbard old and worn.

"There is no magic that can turn bright steel," she said, then squatted again in the dimness outside of the firelight. Gale slid the case from the long blade and held it in his palm, letting the firelight flicker on it. He balanced it and tested the feel of its handle against his palm, then tried the edge of it with his thumb nail and found it honed like a razor.

The glancing, glinting light flashing from the deadly thing seemed to fascinate the man, for he held it a long while silently. The he spoke:

"For fifteen years I've been a haunted man, with a soul like a dark and dismal garret peopled with bats and varmints that flap and flutter all the time. I used to figger that if I killed this man I'd kill that memory, too, and those flitting, noiseless things would leave me, but the thought of doing it made me afraid every time, so I ran away, which never did no good—you can't outfoot a memory—and I knew not all the while that we'd meet sooner or later. Now that the day is here at last I'm not ready for it. I'd like to run away again if there was any place to run to, but I've followed frontiers till I've seen them disappear one by one. I've retreated till my back is against the circle, and there isn't any further land to go to. All the time I've prayed and planned for this meeting, and yet—I'm undecided."

"Kill him!" said Alluna.

"No! I don't think I can do it—not in cold blood, anyhow. Good night! I'm going to sleep on it." He crossed to the door of his room, but as he went she noted that he slipped the knife and scabbard inside the bosom of his shirt.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend is, by no means, the dreadful disease it is thought to be—in the beginning.

It can always be stopped—in the beginning. The trouble is: you don't know you've got it; you don't believe it; you won't believe it—till you are forced to. Then it is dangerous.

Don't be afraid; but attend to it quick—you can do it yourself and at home. Take

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "are your bowels regular?" He knows that 98 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver. This condition poisons the system with noxious gases and waste matter which naturally accumulates and which must be removed through the bowels before health can be restored.

Salts, ordinary pills and cathartics may be truly likened to dynamite. Through their harsh, irritating action they force a passage through the bowels, causing pain and damage to the delicate intestinal structure which weakens the whole system, and at best only produces temporary relief. The repeated use of such treatments cause chronic irritation of the stomach and bowels, hardens their tissues, deadens their nerves, stiffens their muscles and generally brings about an injurious habit which sometimes has fatal results.

We have a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of its great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when it fails to produce entire satisfaction. This remedy is called Rexall Orderlies. We urge you to try them at our entire risk.

Rexall Orderlies are very pleasant to take, they act quietly and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhœa or other annoying effect, and they may be taken at any time without any inconvenience.

Rexall Orderlies overcome the drugging habit and cure constipation and all similar ailments, whether acute or chronic. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Price, 36 tablets, 25c., and 12 tablets, 10c. B J. Pulver, the druggist.

SERMON

BY REV. J. W. DUNNING.

Showing in a Forceful Manner the Application of the Text, "Who Shall Begin the Battle and He Answered, "Thou."

The Herald is glad to print the following sermon, at the request of his many hearers.

Then he said, "Who shall begin the battle?" and he answered "Thou!"—1 Kings 20-14.

This text is the heart of a very interesting story. A very wicked king is getting toward the close of a long and wicked reign. He was a lineal of Jereboam, the son of Nebat, who made Israeal to sin. If there is anything in orignal sin. Abab got an awful inheritance from his ancestors. Then to his inherited evil, he added out of his own wicked heart, about all that could be crowded into one long life, and it is written, "Ahab the son of Omri did that which was evil in the sight of Jehovah above all that were before him".

Whatever of evil he might have lacked from these two sources he acquired in another way. He married it! His wife is the world's most notorious example of a sinner in the feminine gender. Her name was Jezebal. She was the last woman that ever bore that name. No mother since then would ever think of calling her daughter Jezebel. The Bible tells us this was his greatest sin. Listen! "And it came to pass as if it had been a light thing for him to walk in the sins of Jereboam, he took to wife Jezebel:

Do you wonder he turned out bad? Sin had an awful hold on him. He inherited it; he originated it and he married it.

Intrigne, blood, chasteless revellings, and heathen orgies marked his whole reign. Now at the close of it he is beginning to reap the wages of sin.

For years he has been the vassal of the Syrian king Ben-Hadad. Each year tribute money has flowed from the treasures of Samaria to Damascus. But the Syrian king is not satisfied. He determines to make further levies upon the Israelitish king. So he gathers a magnificent army and besieges Samaria. His demand is for the "Silver and gold and wives and children of King Ahab." These are granted, and then other messengers came. Ben Hadad's demand is still tha this soldiers be allowed to come and search the houses "that whatsoever is pleasant in thine eye, they may put it in their hands and take it away."

There is a time when even the 'worm turns." Ahab, for the moment forgets his cowardice. He summons the elders and together they decide to give Ben-Hadad a battle. So they send a messenger back saying, "This thing will the king of Israeal not do." Ben Hadad sends back a haughty reply, that not a handful of dust shall be left of Samarias dwellings. Then Ahab makes his historic reply, "Let not him that gird eth on his armour, boast himself, as he that taketh it off." The scene shifts to the battle field. In spite of Ahab's wickedness, Justice is on his side. God is on his side. A prophet of God appears in his camp and says, "Hast thou seen the great multitude? Behold I will deliver it into thy hands today, thus saith Jehovah".

But now in the calm before the battle, Ahab's cowardice gets the better of him. He begins to hang back. He is loth to go forward and fight his battle and afraid to make a move, he says "Lord who shall begin this battle; and as quick as a flash the answer came from God "Thou!"

I want you to think this morning about that answer. How direct and compact it is! The king asks a question, "Who shall begin the battle"? Straight as a bullet the reply "Thou, thou, thou!"

I. That is the way God always speaks to men. He never addresses them in crowds. His dealings are with individuals. He is always saying, "Thou." When he has some great work to do he does not call into the ears of a city's throng, "Come you 10,000 men here, follow me".

In the eve of a great moral battle when virtue and vice are standing, waiting with chips on their shoulders and one is afraid and the other dare not; and a feeble voice is timidly raised from one of God's faltering warriors, "Who shall begin the battle?", he doesn't say, "Oh about 50,000 of you charge!" No! Down deep in the heart of an Ehrfurt monk; into the imaginative brain of Joan of Arc; into the blinded eyes of a kneeling Paul, ring the words "thou, thou, thou."

If you will search your Bible you will discover that there are a great many things commanded in it. It is full of orders. You will say "here are a great many commands for somebody, but who are they for? Thou, thou! Go through the book again and you say, "this is indeed a great book, there are many wonderful promises in it." He promises to be with some people, a companion who will never leave them, so that they will never feel lonely; he promises to be their Helper so that they will never fall; to be their Comforter when trouble comes. He promises to give them rewards. He says he will give eternal life to somebody. Then you close the book and say, "well these are beautiful promises, somebody is going to be very happy. I wonder who these promises can be for." They are yours. They are for you. God's answer is "Thou."

You search the Bible again. You see that it is just full of examples of God's loving dealings with his creatures. You look around you and you see everywhere in overflowing measure, the love of God poured out upon the earth. "Oh these are wonderful blessings I see. These are surpassing deeds of love That cross and its dying victim can leave no equal as a deed of love. "I wonder whom it is all for." Again the divine answer, "Soul of man, for thee, for thee, for thee." Luther understood it all when at death he held the crucifix before his dimming eyes and whispered, "for mich, for mich." God's eye like the eye of the portrait on the wall, looks down upon all, but it follows the individual to any corner of the room he may go. The one sheep lost, the one son wandering, the one sparrow falling from the tree, are the things God is watching. His commands, his promises, his works of love are personal, individual. His great answer to every human question is Thou!

II. There is another thing I want you to notice about this text.

We all admit that God's promises, his love, his commands are to us, and we know too, that every command has for its object getting us to do something. But like Ahab we are loth to begin. We hang back in dread and we say, "Who shall begin the battle." We are waiting all the while to see what other people are going to do before we make a move.

1. This is characteristic of your private life.

We have quarreled with someone. We are so angry with one another that we do not speak as we pass on the street. Rankling jealousy fills the heart every time we see our enemy favored. We get so worked up over it that life becomes almost unbearable. Something must be done. Gradually we both begin to see how foolish is the attitude we are keeping—how useless our hate, how trivial its cause. There is but one way to clear things up. A word spoken by either will change the whole thing. A little pride thrown aside, will settle our difficulty forever. "But who shall begin the battle?" "Aye, there's the rub." Who shall begin? Who shall speak first? THOU. That is God's command. Hanging back sullenly expecting the other fellow to make the first move never settles the trouble.

2. This is true in Public life.

Here for instance is a city or village whose civic conditions are well nigh intolerable. Here are Saloon doors open indefiance of Sunday closing laws. Here are gambling joints, where young boys are learning to steal, and breaking their mothers hearts. Here are club rooms and houses of ill repute whose wickedness and immorality and filth "smell to heaven." Here are political rings and grafters stealing the levies of the poor.

Everyone is saying, "Something ought to be done. Somebody ought to get a move on. Why will the public tolerate such things?" Meanwhile the sinner and the grafter are saying, "The public be damed." The public has never accomplished anything. "Who shall begin the battle?"

Mr. Office Holder, you whom the public has elected to guard it against these very things; you who are sitting around waiting for someone to bring in a complaint. "Who," you ask, "Shall begin the battle?" "Thou thou," is the voice of God to you.

3. This is true of the Christian life.

Experience has taught you, Christian, that there's only one way to conquer sin. To rise and grappe with it!

But you are playing with that sin. Temptation has come. You know you must either conquer or yield. Meanwhile Satan is setting his snares about you. "Who shall begin the battle?" You are letting him start it. He is getting the under hold upon you. Meanwhile God is shouting in your ears "Thou, thou."

Here is some work God wants done for him. He wants a few men in the prayer meeting to inject a little real Christian manhood into its life. Yes, you know men ought to be there. "Who shall begin the battle?" Thou.

It may be your church trustees are running behind, and you say, "Its too bad. Some of the fellows will have to give more." "Who shall begin the battle?" Thou.

Here are vast mission fields, and numberless churches without preachers. Here are mission schools without teachers and hospitals without doctors. Here is Christs command "Go ye." "Yes, Lord some ought to go." Who shall go. Thou, thou.

Here is a class in Sunday school that needs a teacher, here is a pastor who needs help is raising his missionary money and needs its sadly; he needs some workers to help in a soul—wining campaign: here are some empty seats that need to be filled on a Sunday evening. Here is a young peoples society that needs workers! All these things ought to be done. Someone must do them. Who? Thou and thou!

The very fact that there are things to be done, and that you see they ought to be done, is God's hint, that you are the one to do them. Every chance you have of doing something, and standing for something, is the voice of God saying, Thou!

Jesus disciples had a wonderful lesson in this once. They came together on the last night of his earthly life. It was the last time they were to meet together in this world. They were tired and footsore. In such cases it is the custom of one of the party to wash the feet of the others. Everyone felt that someone ought to do it. John, and Thomas and Peter all knew it ought to be done. But on one did it until Jesus, who was to bear his cross next day, took a towel and humbled himself to became their servant. How often they must have wished to have that chance again. But it was gone.

If you know military tactics at all, you know there is only once, when one may begin the battle with hope of victory and that is now. Righteousness has no sleeping foes.

The armor of God's enimies is always flashing, the camp of evil is always astir.

"He strikes a double blow who is the first to strike."

Every follower of the living God is a soldier "on business for the king." In his hand sealed with the kings signet, is the great commission. "The kings business demands haste." Why should any fearing soldier, stand facing the foe, with the hesitant cry on his lips, "Lord, who shall begin the battle?"

If any of you have been standing there. I bring you God's answer

THOU, THOU, THOU.

FIRES

Fire Department Called, Out Twice Monday Afternoon Inside of One Hour.

HEESEN'S FOUNDRY BEING THE FIRST CALL.

The fire department was called out twice yesterday inside of an hour. The first call at 4 o'clock was for Heesen's foundry where a fire had been discovered in the rattle room. The men had been running off heat and it is thought the fire caught from the cupolo. After only a slight damage to the roof, the fire was controlled. When the team was returning to the barn, the second alarm was turned in, this time for north Maiden Lane where some boys had set fire to straw and brush in a field. Being near Floyd Waring's barn and fanned by the high wind the fire was making rapid progress toward the barn. The fire was soon extinguished.

THE EASTER STAMPS ARE VERY POPULAR.

Something About the Pretty Stamp that is Being Sold by the Association.

The pretty Easter stamp of the Anti-Tuberculosis association is deservedly, quite as popular as was the Christmas stamp of that organization. The stamp was designed by Miss Alice V. Guysi and is extremely artistic. The proceeds of the sale of the stamps go to assist the work of the association in stamping out tuberculosis. The blue star in its white circle rests in a square of blue and on either side of this square rise the lilies, conventionalized to white flower and stem and leaf. Around this blue square is a border of white on which is printed in blue on three sides the name of the society issuing the stamp—Michigan Anti-Tuberculosis Association, and at the bottom—Easter. There is no date as the stamp is to serve for more than one year.

This design is printed in blue and white, the colors of the association, but for this purpose a lighter and more brilliant blue than that generally used has been chosen. This further increases the resemblance to an Oriental tile, which the stamp suggests, for it is a true Persian blue luminous like a bit of spring sky.

The symbolism of stars comes from the Orient. The five point star in the old astrology is man dominating the lower elements of his being. The Star of Bethlehem traveled over Arabia and Syria stopped above the cradle of the Hope of the World—the God-Man who came to heal the diseases of body and soul. What more fitting emblem than the star, for an effort which aspires to give new life through hope to those afflicted with a dread disease? The color of the star, blue, means the constancy which such an effort requires.

PASTOR MAY BE POLICE CHIEF

Methodist Minister Offered Post by Mayor of Mason City, Iowa.

Mason City, Iowa, April 7.—Dr. W. W. Carlton, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of this city, has been tendered the position of chief of police of this city by Mayor Fred A. Kirschman. In the election of a week ago Mr. Kirschman pledged to give the city a clean administration, and in fulfillment of this pledge has made this tender to one of the most aggressive and capable exponents of municipal reform in the West, and, so that salary would not interfere, one of the wealthy citizens has come forward and made a tender of $10 per month in addition to the regular salary.

THIRD DEATH

In the Whitmarsh Family at Lenawee Junction Occurs Sunday.

Miss Erma Whitmarsh Passes away After Several Weeks Illness.

The nurse and the youngest boy are also seriously sick.

Erma Whitmarsh, 16 years old, died Sunday morning, making the third member of the afflicted Whitmarsh family of Lenawee Junction to be claimed by death in a little more than a month. Five weeks ago Sunday another daughter, Lulu, 18 years old, died; four weeks ago today, the father, George Whitmarsh, was taken. Meantime Edith, the eldest daughter, was taken ill with the same disease, but she survived. Now the 8-year-old son is ill, and his condition is reported very serious.

The disease that has so terribly depleted the Whitmarsh family has been officially diagnosed by Dr. Shumway of the state board of health, as typhoid fever. It first made itself known a short time after a car that had contained cattle affected with the foot and mouth disease, had been run upon a side track and disinfected in the near vicinity of the Whitmarsh house. Symptoms unusual in typhoid and present in all the cases, led to a special investigation by the state health authorities. The result of this investigation was an official announcement that the fatal malady was typhoid fever. It was regarded as possible that the water used by the afflicted family may have become contaminated during the disinfection of the cattle car, or it may have come from some other source. The case is attracting state wide attention.

The funeral, which was strictly private was conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The nurse, Miss Bertha Clark, who has been nursing in Tecumseh the past winter, and her sister, Mrs. August Spletstoesser, who resides about a mile from the Whitmarsh home are sick with the same disease. Mrs. Havi land is caring for them.

DANGEROUS FAKES.

Tricks to Introduce Alum Baking Powders which should be Exposed.

There has recently been attempted at some of our grocery stores, and also at dwelling houses, by agents who are trying to sell alum baking powders, what the exhibitors call a baking powder test. They pretend to show by some boiling test that pure cream of tartar baking powders contain something which every woman of intelligence knows they do not.

It does not need a chemist to expose this trick. Cream of tartar, which is the chief constituent of the best and most wholesome baking powder, is originally a clear, white crystal. This is ground into a fine, creamy flour in which form, mixed with baking soda it is present in the baking powder. Cream of tartar, when mixed with water and boiled simply returns to its crystalline form, and that is all there is to the so-called test.

The matter of special interest to the public is to know what these people offer in place of cream of tartar powders of well known purity and established reputation against which these slanders are directed. They are offering a baking powder which official analyses have repeatedly shown is made from alum, a drug so well recognized by physicians and scientists as injurious to health that in many countries its use in bread is entirely prohibited! So cheap and inferior are the ingredients of this powder that it costs to make less than three cents a pound. No prudent housewife will knowingly put such stuff as this into her food.

EASTER SERVICES

Appropriate Easter Sermons and Music.

Churches Prettily Decorated, with Easter Lillies, Ferns, Palms and Carnations.

Large crowds attended morning and evening.

Easter day dawned clear and beautiful. The first service of the day was held in the Episcopal church at 6 o'clock in the morning, when the communion service was observed. The church was decorated with easter lilies and white bunting. The music was rendered by the choir. Services were again held in the afternoon at 4 o'clock, with special Easter music by the choir. Miss Edith Magers rendered a solo during the offertory.

The Methodist church was decorated with sword ferns and white bunting. Easter lillies further enhanced its beauty. The morning hour of service was given to the children of the Sunday school, who gave their exercises of music and recitations and which was thoroughly enjoyed by the older ones. The Easter offering, was very successful, as they raised the entire sum, that had been apportioned to this church.

In the evening the pastor gave an Easter sermon, "Truths seen through Easter Windows," to a highly appreciative audience. The music was given by the choir, Mrs. Anna Mead rendering the solo.

At the Baptist church, Rev. Kamm spoke in the morning upon, "The Power of the Risen Christ." The decorations were of Palms. At 5 p. m. the special Easter concert was given, the choir showing their fine training by Prof. Lagerquist, in the excellent music rendered. Some of the best music of the day was given by the chorus choir of twenty voices. The solo work was beautifully done by Mrs. Robert Moore, Metta McKinney, Earl Coller, Edna Gaston, Nellie Minigay, Mrs. Ruthruff and B. J. Pulver. Lynne Rogers accompanied Mrs. Moore on the violin with Mrs. Harry Moore at the organ.

The Presbyterian church was decorated with smilax, easter lillies and carnations. The cross of easter lillies occupied the center of the platform. The services in the morning were given by the Sunday school, Miss Louise Phelps presiding at the organ. Edith Wilson rendered a solo, "Eastertide."

In the evening at 6 o'clock the choir gave an easter program of music. The first part consisted of solo work, by Miss Kreidler, Miss Magers, Mr. Ellis and Mrs. Reason. The quartette, Messers Dickenson, Ellis, Slayton and Slater closed the first part.

Part second consisted of a contata by Grieg Parks, "At the Empty Tomb," the duet parts being taken by Misses Kreidler and Magers. The solo work in this part was done by Mr. Slater, Miss Kreidler and Miss Brush.

Mrs. Fred Wood as accompanist, added to the enjoyment of the program, the members of the choir appreciating the efforts she made, to assist them with the music, on account of the absence of the regular organist.

The Universalist church was decorated with white bunting and easter lillies. In the morning communion was observed. At 7:30 a music program was given by the choir, the solo work being done by Miss McKinney, Edna Gaston, Ellsworth Ellis, Mr. Tansley. Mrs. Wood rendered two piano solos, with deep feeling. Rev. Young, the pastor, gave a sermonette, "The Easter Promise," which was in part a farewell sermon.

Gone Forever

Ten years ago an Allen Co., Kansas, farmer put his initials on a dollar bill. The next day he went to the nearest town and spent it with a merchant. Before the year was out he got the dollar back. Four times in six years the dollar came back to him for produce, and three times he heard of it in the pockets of his neighbors. The last time he got it back was four years ago. He sent it to a mail order house. He has never seen that dollar since and never will. That dollar bill will never pay any more school or road tax for him, will never build or brighten any of the homes of the community. He sent it entirely out of the usefulness to himself and to his neighbors.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong Dr Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by all dealers.

Scorched Table Linen.

When the three men sat down the leader of the trio began a minute inspection of the tablecloth. Presently he put his finger on several little scorched spots.

"See this?" he said to the waiter.

"Yes, sir."

"Well," said the man, "just bear in mind, won't you, that these holes were here when we came in? And when we get through don't tack a dollar on to our bill to pay for burned table linen."

"That's all right," said the waiter. "I'll look out for that."

The order having been given, the cautious diner elucidated his remarks still further. "That is a trick those fellows have," he said. "Somebody burns the tablecloth with sparks from a cigar and gets away before the damage is discovered, and the next comer, if he happens to be a smoker, is blamed for his predecessor's sins and is charged with the cost of the linen. I have had to pay well for other people's carelessness, so nowadays I make it a point to examine tablecloths at the beginning of a meal."—New York Press.

A Royal Romance.

The second son of Prince Oscar II. fell in love with a Miss Ebba Munck while at Bournemouth. She was one of the ladies in waiting to the Swedish crown princess, and King Oscar wished his son to make an alliance with one of the royal houses of Europe. The difficulty seemed one to be met only by drastic steps on the part of the lovers, but Queen Sophie's heart was won, and she it was who obtained the king's consent. She was very ill, and a dangerous operation was the only chance of saving her life. "If I undergo it and it is successful, will you allow Oscar and Ebba to be married?" she asked the king, and of course the king promised. A year later the queen was quite well again. The lovers were in her room when the king approached. At the door he stood and listened. Miss Munck was singing to the queen, and he waited until it was over. Then he advanced, held out one hand to his son and gave his other to Miss Munck, and so his pledge was fulfilled and the couple came into their happiness.

A Narrow Escape.

An old circus man tells this incident as one of the narrow escapes he had in the show business. He had trained lions, zebras, leopards, rhino—you know—and all sorts of beasts of prey, but this, he says, was his narrowest escape. It was when he was running a dime museum in Milwaukee.

One day a mild mannered Russian came out of the railway station with a valise in his hand. He was a heavily bearded man and with shaggy hands and arms like George Esau. He hunted up a cabman and inquired modestly, "Where is the dime museum?"

The cabman told him and then asked, "Want to ride up?"

"Yes," the bearded stranger told him quietly, almost bashfully. "I'm to be employed up there. I'm the wild man."

"The narrow escape," says the circus man, "lay in the fact that no newspaper man heard the man's remark and that the cabman was an Englishman, with no sense of humor who never thought to repeat it."—Exchange.

Origin of the Word "Mustard."

Our English word "mustard" is traceable to the French "moutarde," the origin of which is curiously given. In 1382 Philip the Bold, duke of Burgundy, granted to the town of Dijon the privilege of bearing his armorial ensigns, with the motto "Moult me tarde" ("I wish ardently"), in return for a handsome contingent of a thousand men furnished to him at his expense. Pleased with the royal condescension, the authorities ordered the device to be affixed over the principal gates of the city. Time or accident at length obliterated the middle word, and the two remaining, moult tarde, were printed on the labels which the merchants of Dijon pasted on pots in which they sent this commodity all over the world.

The Pictured Cowboy.

I recall one picture by a celebrated artist of the east who does western things. It depicts a "Cowboy at Rest." He is lying on his stomach in the sun, his chin in his hands. His horse stands nearby, with the reins thrown over the horn of the saddle. Now, a cowboy in the daytime, well filled with beans and canned tomatoes, would not lie thus, and, above all, he would not leave his horse standing thus. He would pull the reins down over the horse's head and let them hang, elsewise his cowhorse would depart. I recall yet another picture of a faithful cowpuncher who with his trusty rifle defends himself from behind his dead horse, which he uses as a fortress. The dead horse is about four feet and a half through sidewise—excellent for a fortress, but a trifle wide for a thin flanked cowhorse. It would be useless to point out any detail like this to any earnest artist of today. Worse than useless would it be to suggest that a cowpuncher is the laziest created thing, for in art he must do perpetual stunts of "action."—Collier's Weekly.

An Easy Grade.

Patronage, political, religious and social, has seen its best days in England, and it is becoming more and more difficult, St. James' Budget opines, to find material for such a story as follows:

At the end of a political campaign many years ago a young man who had worked valiantly for the successful candidate claimed a reward. The prize promised was a sergeantcy in the artillery. But the candidate found that he was unable to carry out his promise, inasmuch as it required six years' service to qualify a man for the rank. He became thoughtful, but finally saw light.

"Does it require six years to qualify a man for a lieutenancy?" he asked one who knew.

"Certainly not," was the reply.

"Well, make young Blank a lieutenant, then," said the candidate, with a sigh of relief.

Blank was thus made a lieutenant for no other reason than that he was not fit to be a sergeant.

They Knew the Pole.

Some years ago when Dr. Nansen visited Leeds on his return from the polar regions he was welcomed by a large crowd of spectators, who cheered vociferously. Two of the most ardent admirers of Nansen were a couple of old men, who kept shouting and waving their sticks. When the celebrated explorer had passed, immediately following in the wake of the carriage came a wagon dragged by three horses, bearing a long iron pole, which belonged to the electric tramways company.

Directly the old men saw it the following conversation took place:

"Well, I'll be blowed! Sitha, Bill, he's brout the pole back wi' him!" said one.

"Aye," said the other admirer of Nansen, "and we t' only two 'at's noticed it. The're all running after t' carriage. Sitha, the're that ignorant they can't tell t' pole when they see it!"

A Bernard Shaw Joke.

After addressing an Edinburgh meeting for ninety minutes once Mr. Bernard Shaw remarked that the time was a quarter to 10, and he had intended to finish at 9 o'clock. He did not seem in the least fatigued; the audience were also quite fresh, and when the speaker was about to sit down loud cries of "Go on!" were raised on all sides.

"Do you really wish me to go on?" Mr. Shaw asked. He was answered by renewed cheering and more shouts of "Go on!"

Great was the disappointment, therefore, when he replied, "That is the exact point at which an experienced speaker sits down," which he accordingly did.

An Artist's Mustache.

The mustache was not viewed with favor in England in the middle of the last century. An anecdote is told of the late Thomas Cooper, the English artist, to illustrate. He was brought before a magistrate in 1846 on some minor charge and was described in the police report as being "fashionably dressed, with large mustaches." The Art Journal of the date, commenting on it, said that "no member of the Royal academy perpetrates the atrocity of mustaches, a most un-English affectation." Mr. Cooper became a member of the academy a few years later.

An Eccentric Russian Doctor.

The famous Russian, the late Dr. Zaharin, was noted for his eccentric methods. When summoned to attend Czar Alexander III. in his last illness, Dr. Zaharin required the same preparation for his visit to the palace as to any of his patients' houses. That is to say, all dogs had to be kept out of the way, all clocks stopped and every door thrown wide open. He left his furs in the hall, his overcoat in the next room, his galoches in the third, and, continuing, arrived at the bedside in ordinary indoor costume. He sat down after walking every few yards and every eight steps in going upstairs. From the patient's relatives and every one else in the house he required absolute silence until he spoke to them, when his questions had to be answered by "Yee" or "No" and nothing more.

Liver Trouble Remedy Free

Any intelligent person can be his own doctor in the ordinary case of liver trouble, for the symptoms cannot be mistaken. If the white of the eye becomes yellowish, if the skin becomes sallow, if pimples and blotches appear, if the bowels do not move, if you have sick headache, if you are bilious, you may be sure that your liver is torpid or inactive.

The quickest and surest remedy yet found for the cure of liver trouble or any of its symptoms is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great herb laxative compound. This wonderful remedy is not only a laxative, but a tonic as well. It will start the flow of gastric juice, thereby soon enabling the liver to do its work naturally. A bottle of this great liver remedy can be bought of any druggist for 50 cents or $1, and in many cases a single bottle has cured a chronic case.

For example, John W. Lee, 615 S. Pennsylvania ave., Indianapolis, Ind., had a stubborn and very long-standing case of liver trouble, with pimples, blotches, jaundice, etc., and it cured him. Mrs. B. Flinchum, Jackson, Ky., says the same of it. Thousands of families keep it in the house against just such an emergency, as you can never tell when some member of the family will need a good laxative.

In order to have you or any other sufferer from the liver make a test of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin without personal expense, Dr. Caldwell will send you a free test bottle if you will send your name and address. The sample will show you how pleasant it is to take, how gently it works. It will start you on the cure of your trouble and convince you that you have found a cure. That is the object of the sample, and the doctor urges you to send for it today.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

A Prophecy.

A certain college president in Indiana, a clergyman, when addressing the students in the chapel at the beginning of the college year observed that it was "a matter of congratulation to all the friends of the college that the year had opened with the largest freshman class in its history."

Then, without any pause, the good man turned to the lesson for the day, the Third Psalm, and began to read in a voice of thunder:

"Lord, how are they increased that trouble me!"—Detroit News-Tribune.

A Drawing Card.

The Word "Wallop."

The origin of the familiar vernacular verb "to wallop" is not generally known. It comes from the family name of the earls of Portsmouth. Sir John Wallop, K. G., was admiral commander in the reign of King Henry VIII. of the fleet which avenged French raids by burning French ships and twenty-one French villages. This was called, in the current parlance of the times, "walloping" them, and the phrase passed into the language and still survives.

A Convenient Topic.

"I wonder what persuaded Mr. Biggins to believe in reincarnation?"

"The fact," replied Miss Cayenne, "that so few people know anything about it. It enables him to have the conversation, almost entirely to himself."—Washington Star.

BOY ARRESTED.

Alleged He Attacked Little Girl In Woods.

Marine City, Mich., April 12.—Otto Schroeder, a fifteen-year-old boy living seven miles from this city, will be taken before the probate court at Port Huron to answer to a charge of assault, alleged to have been made by him on Fona Fhaderman, twelve years old, daughter of Henry Rhoderman, a farmer.

Young Schroeder, it is claimed, attacked the girl while she was on her way home. The child was compelled to pass through a small wood, and it is alleged it was while she was there she was attacked.

FLINT MAN'S WIFE STRANGELY MISSING

Left St. Clair to Return to Supposedly Sick Husband.

Flint, Mich., April 12.—Mrs. Nora Greer, aged nineteen years, wife of an automobile factory employe of this city, is missing. The local police were asked to try and locate her.

Mrs. Greer Saturday went to St. Clair to visit a married sister of that place. Saturday night it had been arranged that her husband go there to spend Easter Sunday and the two return here today. In the afternoon of that day Mrs. Greer told her sister that a letter written by Edward Kennedy, a fellow employe of her husband, stated that the latter had been seriously hurt while at work and asked that she return immediately. Mrs. Greer left, supposedly for Flint.

Late Saturday night Greer reached St. Clair. He was dumbfounded when told the news his wife had stated as coming by letter. He notified ex-Sheriff Moore of St. Clair county, and the latter immediately got in communication with local officers. Kennedy, when questioned, denied being the author of any such letter described to him, and he said that while he knew the Greers, his acquaintanceship was only of a passing nature.

The police of several cities are now in search of the woman. No reason can be given for her act.

QUARRELLED WITH MEN.

Dimondale Girl Gives Clue Concerning Clyde Saben.

Dimondale, Mich., April 12.—Miss Ida Schmolbreaugh, the young girl of this place who, it has been said, knows something of the circumstances which led up to the death of Clyde Saben, the young farmer whose lifeless body was found in the Grand river a few days ago, declares she had nothing to do with the crime, if any were committed.

She states that she saw young Saben in the Bijou theater, Lansing, on the night he disappeared, and that he was ejected because of a quarrel with two men, unknown to her, over some argument. She says Clyde offered to wager $1 that the other two, between them, did not possess the same amount in cash. She says she did not see him after that, and she stoutly maintains she was not with him.

The girl's statement regarding the men coincides with the theory which the police are working on.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trified with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say, that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

UP GO TAXES ON 'PHONES.

House Has Passed Ad Valorem Tax Measure.

ALSO AFFECTS TELEGRAPHS.

Measure Originated In Senate—Five Representatives Vote Against—Now Goes to Governor For His Signature—He Will Sign It—Speaker Campbell Defends His Attitude.

Lansing, Mich., April 15.—The administration senate telephone and telegraph ad valorem tax bill, for which Senators Anhut and Fairbanks and Representative Fouch have stood sponsors, passed the house Wednesday afternoon by a vote of 88 to 5. It passed the senate on March 26. The house did not make a single amendment to it. The bill now goes to the governor for his signature.

Of the five members who voted against it Wayne county furnished two, Representatives Guy Miller and John Stevenson. Marquette county also furnished two, Representatives Morgan and McCabe, and St. Joseph county one, Representative Boussum.

One member of the Detroit delegation has declared that while he voted for the bill he firmly believed it to be unconstitutional. Representative Charles Flowers is his name.

His reasons, he said, for so believing are that there is a provision in the bill which exempts from taxation telephone companies whose gross receipts do not exceed $500 a year. The senate insisted on this amendment after the bill had been introduced. Attorney General Bird O. K.'d the amendment.

The Michigan supreme court, if the question ever comes before it, might declare the exemption provision of the bill passed yesterday invalid and order all the exempted companies to go on a tax roll. In doing so the court would be following innumerable precedents, but they would carefully refrain from invalidating the rest of the act.

Anyhow, the passage of the bill by 88 to 5 votes was a signal victory for the "insurgents."

Campbell Talks.

After the bill had been passed Speaker Campbell, addressing the house, said that while he supported a similar bill two years ago he had not at any time this session opposed it because he realized the Republican party was committed to it, and for a further reason that its passage was inevitable. He denied that he had stacked the general taxation committee for the purpose of strangling this or any other bill.

The house ways and means committee have agreed to recommend an appropriation of $1,029,670 for the four Normal schools, to be apportioned as follows, for two years:

Ypsilanti—Current, $320,000; special, $85,150.

Kalamazoo—Current, $186,770; special, $86,800.

Mt. Pleasant—Current, $186,300; special, $47,500.

Marquette—Current, $122,600; special, $56,550.

These are the important specials recommended:

At Ypsilanti—Gymnasium, $60,000; heating plant, $12,000.

At Kalamazoo—Science building, $60,000; athletic grounds, $7,000.

At Mt. Pleasant—Library and stock room, $20,000; addition to training school, $15,000.

At Marquette—Gymnasium, $50,000.

SANILAC "WETS" LOST.

Petition For Injunction to Stop Canvass Is Denied.

Sandusky, Mich., April 15.—The "wets" have lost out in their attempt to have the recent local option election declared illegal, the circuit court denying their petition for an injunction restraining the board of supervisors from canvassing the vote.

The opinion of the court was that the failure of the county clerk to sign the journal of proceedings on the last day of the board meeting would make no difference in the legality of the election. The Liquor Dealers' association say that they will appeal.

ACTOR SHOOTS SELF.

Takes His Life in Hotel in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, April 15. — Oswald Roberts, an actor from Liverpool, Eng., who has been playing the part of the villian in the "Sheriff of Angel Gulch," was found dead in his room in a hotel here, with a bullet in his brain. Roberts, who was about thirty-eight years old, joined the company three weeks ago in Paterson, N. J. He had little to say to other members of the company, and no cause is known for the man shooting himself.

WON'T TARRY IN MOMBASA.

Roosevelt Will Go Directly to Pease Ranch.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO BE AT PIER

Will Be Guest of Sir Alfred For Fortnight—Steamer Admiral Expected to Reach Mombasa April 21—Continental Business Firms Send Presents to Roosevelt.

Mombasa, British East Africa, April 15.—A cablegram received here from Theodore Roosevelt declining an invitation to attend a public reception and a dinner makes it evident that he has decided not to stop in Mombasa. Therefore there is much disappointment here. Mr. Roosevelt asks in this message that he be met at the pier by his special train and conveyed direct to the ranch of Sir Alfred Pease, on the Athi river, where he will be Sir Alfred's guest for the first fortnight's stay in the protectorate.

There has been a sudden outbreak of smallpox at Nairobi. Forty deaths have occurred in the quarantine camp, and three cases are reported from Jn Ju ranch, the property of George McMillan, who will be Mr. Roosevelt's host during a portion of his stay in this section.

UNIQUE SPORTING EVENT.

Western Athletes Will Race to the Top of a 6,000 Foot Mountain.

Pasadena, Cal., April 15.—Crack athletes from all over the west are entered in today's race to the top of Mount Wilson, north of this city. The unique character of the event and its great success last year have aroused much interest among the sports and others attracted by endurance contests and have drawn here runners desirous of making the 6,000 foot ascent in quicker time than that made by Joe King last year. There is little doubt that King's record, 1 hour 25 minutes 30 seconds, will be broken today.

Last year's race consisted of the ascent to the top of the mountain and the descent, but this year the ascent alone will count. The descent is considered too dangerous for men trying to make time. On the way up and down Mount Wilson the runners cross numerous streams and wind around canyons over 3,000 feet deep.

At least thirty men will face the starter and will be sent away at intervals of three minutes. Only amateur athletes are eligible to enter the race. The winners will receive medals.

WOMEN HAVE "CLEAN UP" DAY

Society Leaders Pick Up Papers From the Streets of Washington.

Washington, April 15.—Today is "clean up" day in the national capital. The women of Washington, determined to show that the littered condition of some of the streets is not their fault, decided some time ago to devote part of today to clearing up the stray bits of paper that are eyesores to the residents with proper civic pride.

Accordingly, at 9 o'clock this morning and later, the spectacle was presented of many well dressed women in some of the finest residential districts personally picking up the papers in the streets and parks near their homes. The movement was headed by the Twentieth Century club, which embraces in its membership many women of Washington's best known families.

PRIEST CAUSE OF RIOTING.

Thirty-Two Killed In Mexican Affray.

MOB RESENTED MAYORS ORDER

He Forbid Religious Affair—Rioters Attacked His Home—He and Family Escape—Rioting Continues—Police Come to Rescue—Thirty-two Men Killed, and Many Hurt.

Mexico City, Mexico, April 15.—According to a dispatch received here, the rioting which occurred at Velardena, a mining camp in Coahuila, last Saturday was more serious than at first reported, thirty-two men being killed and many injured. The trouble was instigated by Father Ramon Valenzuela, parish priest, it is asserted, who lies in a hospital hovering between life and death.

Fourteen of the rioters were executed by the government troops and many imprisoned. Many Americans reside in Velardena, as the camp is controlled by American capital.

The leaders of the mob, which was well organized, avoided attacking Americans or destroying American property.

The fighting occurred when the jefe politico of the town, an officer corresponding to an American mayor, attempted to stop a religious procession headed by the village priest, the laws of Mexico forbidding such parades. A thousand parishoners followed the priest, wishing to witness the annual burning of Judas, and when the orders of the mayor became known the mob stoned him and later burned his house. The mayor and his wife escaped by climbing a rear wall and seeking protection in the American colony.

The rioters then stormed a Chinese hotel, looting it of all liquors and foods and terrorizing the neighborhood during the night by their drunken orgy. The police force fired on the mob, many members of which were well armed. The officers were forced to retreat, leaving six of their number dead in the main street.

Later, troops arrived in a special train, and a short, fierce fight between troopers and rioters ensued, bringing the total deaths to thirty-two, with a number injured.

Father Valenzuela was arrested. One of his followers smuggled a knife to his cell, and the priest stabbed himself six time in a vain attempt to commit suicide. He is now in the prison hospital. Quiet was restored.

FAMOUS HOSTELRY BURNS.

Kenilworth Inn at Asheville, N. C., Is Destroyed.

Asheville, N. C., April 15.—Of the once beautiful Kenilworth Inn, that in its day has housed some of the country's greatest celebrities, nothing remains but a pile of charred and smoking ruins.

Despite the fact that the alarm was sounded at 2:30 in the morning, when all the guests were asleep, only one person was injured, former Senator Joseph A. Gazzard of Pennsylvania, owner of the hotel, who jumped from a third story window in an effort to escape and sustained internal injuries, the outcome of which is doubtful.

All the out-of-town guests who escaped have been comfortably housed in other hotels. The stories of escape made in night attire are many.

One young woman walked all the way into Asheville, three miles, barefooted and wearing only night robe and kimona. Many of the guests, it is said, lost valuable jewelry, including diamonds, and a special patrol of police guards the ruins.

The fire is thought to have been started by embers from the big kitchen range. Th total loss is estimated at $250,000 and the total insurance at $72,500.

Future Naval Plans.

Washington, April 15.—Already the navy department has well under way the plans for the increase of ships provided for by the last appropriation bill. Proposals inviting bids for the construction of five torpedo destroyers have been issued, and the bids are to be opened on May 29. The remanding features of increase in vessels provided for by the bill includes one collier, two battleships and four submarines, while the government may in its discretion purchase a destroyer with its vitals below the water line.

Gotch Defeats the Turk.

Dexter Pavilion, Chicago, April 15.—Frank Gotch of Humboldt, Ia., last night retained the world's wrestling championship by defeating Yussiff Mahmout of Bulgaria, in straight falls, in a fast and furious match. The Bulgarian was as a child in the hands of the American.

TO THE PEOPLE.

Legislature of Missouri May Submit Prohibition Question.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 15.—The lower branch of the Missouri legislature passed, by a vote of 86 to 51, a resolution to submit a prohibition constitutional amendment to the vote of the people at the regular election in November, 1910. The measure is yet to be acted on by the senate, and if it passed that body the governor's signature will not be necessary.

The anti-saloon forces were led by Miss Carrie Lee Stokes of Kansas City and Mrs. F. P. Ingalls of St. Louis. If the amendment is adopted by the voters of the state it will stop the sale of intoxicating liquors in Missouri and will close all saloons.

It is said that the senate is friendly to the resolution.

TAFT AT YALE ON BUSINESS.

Summer White House to Be at Beverley, Mass.

New York, April 15. — President Taft, on his way to New Haven to attend a meeting of the Yale corporation today, stopped over in New York last night as the guest of his brother, H. W. Taft, and, with Mrs. Taft and a number of relatives, attended a performance of "If I Were King," by E. H. Southern, at Daly's theater. The president is very fond of the theater and returning from New Haven this afternoon, again will stop in New York to attend an evening performance before leaving for Washington, where he is due to arrive Friday morning.

President Taft is particularly delighted that the problem of choosing a "summer White House" at last has been solved. The new summer capital will be at Woodbury Point, Beverly, Mass., which is conveniently near to Manchester and Gloucester. The president is looking forward with pleasure to playing a great deal of golf on the magnificent links of the Myopia Hunt club at Hamilton. The praise he has heard of this course undoubtedly had something to do with the final selection of the Robert B. Evans cottage at Beverly.

Mr. Taft hopes to reach his summer home soon after the first of June. A number of the senate leaders have expressed to him the opinion that the new tariff bill will be ready for his signature by June 1.

The president still is being strongly urged by western senators and representatives to make an extensive trip through the west this summer, but the matter is being held in abeyance.

SAFELY HIDDEN.

Ten Thousand Men Could Not Find Crazy Snake.

Kansas City, April 15.—"Ten thousand men could not find Crazy Snake in the region in which he is hiding," said Colonel Roy Hofman of the Oklahoma state militia, who led the recent search for the Indian chief and who has arrived in Kansas City. "He is in a wild, sparsely settled region 30 miles wide and 100 miles long, extending to the Red river. It has been the successful hiding place of criminals for years. But it is only a question of time until we get him. William Tilghman, an old frontiersman and former marshal of Dodge City, is leading the search."

CIVIC ALLIANCE BANQUET.

New York, April 15.—The inaugural banquet of the New York council of the American Civic alliance in the Plaza hotel tonight will bring together 300 men and women representing the important activities of the nation and interested in the solution of civic problems. Marked Bills Found on Him.

Chicago, April 15.—Hugh H. Smith, a member of the city board of examining plumbers and prominent in municipal politics, has been arrested on a charge of extorting a bribe. Fifty dollars in marked bills, alleged to have been given Smith by George Haney, who was, he says, informed that he must pay that sum in order to get a plumbers' license, is said to have been found in Smith's possession.

MRS. B. I. LAING.

"No time for a last farewell,
No time for the shock of fear,
Scarcely a moment's halt on the shore
With the guide and the boatman near.
Dear, how surprised you were to go,
With nothing to suffer, little to to know
Only a moment of dark,
A dream of the fleeting night,
And then the beautiful break of day
And the quiet peace of the light,
And you found yourself where you longed to stand,
In the calm repose of the Fatherland."

Such was the passing of Mrs. B. I. Laing. In her death there is taken away a personality which has left its impress upon a wide circle.

Mary Jane Cone was born in Stafford, Onondaga Co., N. Y., Oct. 7, 1831 and died suddenly after an illness of six weeks of lagrip at the home of her daughter Mrs. J. L. Richard, April 7, 1909.

She received a good education at Groton Academy, N. Y. and after some teaching there, with the ambition and energy so characteristic of her all her life, she came to Michigan, alone, at the age of 20, and in the schools of Rome and Hudson taught for four years. Up to her last sickness she received letters from some of her pupils of those early days. Her parents come to Raisin Valley in 1833 and here, January 30, 1835, she was married to Benjamin I. Laing.

Mr. and Mrs. Laing united with the M. E. church at Adrian in 1867 and soon became identified with the work of that church and the Sunday school of Raisin Valley where they resided for 38 years. A few years residence in Adrian, Palmyra and Rome, then they came to Holloway to be with their daughter.

For 16 years Mrs. Laing has labored in this community in the church, as teacher in the Sunday school and in the Home Department, where she found opportunities for doing good and lending a helping hand to all who needed her.

Her greatest work was in the Sunday school as teacher. No wonder she was successful when we learn she had read her bible through 25 times, once every year since 1890.

Four years ago when failing health compelled her to give up her class, they elected her honorary teacher for life and she was only released from the work of the Home Department the Sunday preceeding her death.

She was a member of the W. C. T. U. of Raisin Valley since its organization.

Mrs. Laing was the mother of three children, Mrs. Charles A. Slayton of Tecumseh, Mrs. John L. Richard of Holloway, and Elmer E., who died in 1867. Mr. and Mrs. Laing also made a home for a homeless boy for ten years, James Murphy of Toledo. She is survived by her husband and daughters, and an only brother Chas. M. Cone of Adrian.

Funeral services were conducted at the house April 9 by Rev. H. B. Dunning, pastor of the Raisin Presbyterian church in which she labored so faithfully and Rev. D. S. Shaw of the Tecumseh M. E. church of which she was a member, she was laid to rest near her old home in Raisin Valley cemetery.

She has finished her earthly work, but her influence will still abide upon the generation she has left behind as they remember her untiring zeal and enthusiasm in the kingdom of God and in the work of Christ. Such an attractive personality, such a loyal friend such fortitude in weakness will not soon be forgotten.

"Ah, Victor! whose triumphs were nobly won,
There was no delay in his kind "Well done"
You had learned your lesson in pain
There was nothing to fear at last;
Dear, I am very glad for you.
That all the trouble is past;
And I would that as swiftly and silently,
Some day the summons might come to me."

The HERALD office will be open every Saturday night at 7 o'clock for the remainder of the evening to accommodate those who desire to pay for the HERALD. All accounts must be paid at once. Those who are in arrears kindly call and settle.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

It can always be stopped—in the beginning. The trouble is: you don't know you've got it; you don't believe it; you won't believe it—till you are forced to. Then it is dangerous.

Don't be afraid; but attend to it quick—you can do it yourself and at home. Take

READERS OF THE HERALD SHOULD BE INTERESTED IN THIS

Relief from catarrh, coughs, colds, hay fever, asthma and bronchitis, can be had in five minutes simply by breathing the soothing, healing, balsamic air of Hyomei over the sore and raw membrane.

It acts like magic. When you breathe Hyomei you bring the air from the Australian forests of pine and eucalyptus to your home, and the curative power of both is so pronounced that all diseases of the nose, throat and lungs are unknown in inland Australia.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is sold by C. A. Wright & Son under a positive guarantee to cure any of the above named diseases of symptoms, or money back.

PAT MAHONEY AND HIS OLD MUD CART

A Clever Mechanical Device in Satterthwaite Bros.'s Window

Not content with their very attractive window display last week Satterthwaite Bros., have put in another original window—this time mainly on Carriage Paint and its many uses. A mechanical device, every part in constant motion, showing the happy Irishman, "Mahoney," on a pleasure jaunt with his whole family, gets a good hearty laugh from everyone who stops to look. There he sits up on top of his shining, bright mud cart as gaily as though he owned the town. His horse is going the pace of a blooded racer, and his youngest child, hanging over the side of the cart trying to catch the fast flying wheel, looks every minute as though it would goover on its head. It can't fail to appeal to you as it did to one old man the Tecumseh Herald representative overheard. "Wal, I declare—Look at that old nag go, will yer? An look at Pat grin. Hee! Hee! Golly! If that Irishman can make an old mud cart look like that—jest watch me and see what I'll do to our old kivered surrey.

Better than Pills for Liver Ills

FOR SALE BY B. J. BULVER, TECUMSEH, MICH.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside, nerve. When these nerves fail then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by all dealers.

Mr. F. G. Fritts, Oneonta, N. Y., writes: "My little girl was greatly benefitted by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is best for women and children, as it is mild, pleasant and effective, and is a splendid spring medicine, as it cleanses the system and clears the complexion Sold by all druggists.

ROBBED DRUNKEN MAN.

Battle Creek Chap Brought Back From Montana.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 15.—Brought back from Billings, Mont., over 1000 miles, to face a charge of robbing Matthew Skinner of $500, John Edwards has admitted that he did the job by impersonating an officer and searching Sumner while the latter in an inebriated condition, was being led home by John Hodges.

But Edwards charges that Hodges was not doing the good Samaritan stunt in taking Shinner home; that on the contrary he was also in on the deal, accepted his share of the swag and afterwards spent it all in South Bend carousing. Hodges, a painter of considerable respectability, is under arrest.

ALFRED WANTS HIS SHARE ESTATE.

Son of Nichols Continues Fight Against Brother.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 15.—Though another milestone has been reached in the famous Shepard will case by the awarding of $100,000 to Alfred Shepard, the case will not stop here, but, like the chancery case that preceded it, will be taken to the supreme court.

Didn't Know Fingers Were Cut Off.

Saginaw, Mich., April 15.—Thomas W. Bushy, formerly deputy county clerk and a well known man of the city, lost three of his fingers while trying to manipulate a paper cutting machine in his printing establishment in Hamilton square.

In some manner Bushy got his hand under the big knife when it descended, and the digits were clipped off so cleanly he did not know they were gone until he raised the maimed hand from the table.

Go Down to See Canal.

New York, April 15.—A party of United States congressmen and their friends have just sailed on the steamer Panama for Colon, on a visit to the Panama canal zone. The party is not on official business. About six days will be spent on the isthmus looking over the various points of interest along the canal.

Transport Sails for Invalids.

San Francisco, Cal., April 15.—The United States army transport Sheridan has arrived from the Philippines via Nagasaki and Honolulu. In addition to a number of officers and their families returning from Manila, the vessel brought thirty-four invalids and twenty-five military prisoners.

Castro's Wife at Colon.

Colon, April 15.—Ex-President Castro's wife and sister and the other members of the party arrived here on the French liner Guadeloupe. They did not disembark, and it is rumored that they will not be allowed to land for fear they will take passage for Venezuela. The ultimate destination of Senora Castro and part is not yet known.

Editor Gets Injunction.

Marquette, Mich., April 15.—Alleging that the defendants have conducted a systematic crusade against him, as a result of which his business has suffered, F. L. Baldwin, editor of the Weekly Journal, at Escanaba, has been granted an injunction by Circuit Judge J. W. Stone, restraining the Escanaba Liquor Dealers' association and six individuals from boycotting his newspaper.

THE SLEEPING SICKNESS WHICH MEANS DEATH

How many readers have heard of this terrible disease? It prevails in that far-away country—Africa—especially the Congo district. It is caused by the bite of the tsetse fly. When it bites a person, the sleeping symptoms begin and finally the sufferer sleeps until death occurs.

Contrast this with the peaceful, balmy sleep of health. Is there anything more wearing than to lie awake at night, tossing about, nervous, with cold feet, hot head and mercy knows what else? Short of letting the tsetse fly bite us we would do almost anything for relief. How can we prevent it? Mr. George Hayes, of Union City, Pa., writes: "I had lost my appetite, was all run-down, could not sleep nights. I had tried everything without relief. Vinol was recommended, and to my surprise, it helped me at once; gave me a splendid appetite, and now I sleep soundly."

What Vinol did for Mr. Hayes, it will do for every run-down, nervous and overworked person who cannot sleep.

VINOL is sold in Tecumseh by C. A. Wright & Son, Druggists.

DISTRICT JUDGE U. S. COURT

Recommends Pe-ru-na as an Invigorating Tonic.

Judge John W. Bixler, formerly United States Circuit Judge, now United States District Judge, of Kansas, endorses Peruna.

Pe-ru-na Testimonials.

When any man or woman, out of pure gratitude, writes us a letter, commenting upon the benefits he has received from the use of Peruna, when he does this without any solicitation or remuneration of any sort, and furnishes us a recent photograph, so that his identity and responsibility in the matter is beyond question, then do we consider a testimonial available for our advertising purposes.

We are at the present time publishing many hundreds of testimonials. We give the name and address in full of each one of these people.

We have no use for, nor would we publish for any sum of money, a fraudulent testimonial. To do such a thing would be dishonorable from a moral standpoint, and commercial suicide from a business standpoint.

Tonic and Appetizer.

W. H. Parsons is ex-State Senator and ex-Special Judge of the Supreme Court of Texas, also Brigadier General in Confederate Army. In a recent letter from 925 H St., N. W., Washington, D. C., this prominent gentleman says:

"Upon the recommendation of personal friends and many strong testimonials of the efficacy of Peruna in the treatment of the numerous symptoms of the grip, with which I have been affected for four months past, I have been induced to undergo a treatment of this justly celebrated formula.

"I feel a decided change for the better after using it only one week. It is especially good in toning up the stomach, and has a decided effect upon my appetite. I therefore feel much encouraged that I am on the road to complete restoration.

"My numerous friends in Texas, where I have had the honor to command a brigade of her Veteran Cavalry, in a four-year war, may accept this voluntary testimonial to the merit of Peruna from a sense of obligation for its wonderful efficacy."

Appetite and Digestion Poor.

Mr. Charles Schweihs, Lexington, Texas, writes:

"I suffered from catarrh of the liver. What I ate disagreed with me. I was weak and feverish. I slept very poorly, had rush of blood to the head. I was very despondent, and took no pleasure in anything. My appetite was changeable, digestion poor.

"Your medicine made me well again, for which I express to you my heartfelt thanks. I firmly believe that for all who suffer in like manner it would have the same good effect."

Disordered Liver, Constipation.

Mr. W. O. Clement, Assistant Manager "Rome Georgian," Rome, Ga., writes: "It affords me pleasure to voluntarily testify to the true merits of your wonderful Peruna.

"I have for several years been suffering from disordered liver and chronic constipation, for which I had tried a great many remedies, but none did me any good. My whole system was so thoroughly overcome that I was easy to catch cold and the consequence was that a chronic case of catarrh was fast developing.

"I have been taking Peruna for six weeks and am happy to say that it has had the desired effect. My liver is in good condition, constipation disappeared, and I no longer feel any of the symptoms of catarrh.

"In truth I am now in better health and feel stronger than I have for several years and it is all due to the wonderful effects of Peruna."

Systemic Catarrh.

Mr. Moses F. Merrill, Route 8, Columbus, Kansas, writes:

"The improvement in my health has been wonderful. My bowels are regular as clock-work. I can now eat like other people and my victuals digest completely. I think I am cured of systemic catarrh.

"It has been a hard fight, but I came out victor. Many thanks for your kind counsel and management."

Lies in Field All Night.

Perry, Mich., April 15.—"Eb" Folbaria, sixty-five years old and unmarried, a farm hand for several years on the farm of Edward Marshes, four miles northwest of here, left the house in the afternoon without saying where he was going. Twenty-four hours later he was found lying in a field near the farm, in an unconscious condition. It is said that he had been drinking, and it is not believed he will survive the effects of the exposure.

QUIET IN CONSTANTINOPLE.

New Cabinet Formed, With Tewfik Pasha as Grand Vizier.

Constantinople, April 15.—The successful formation of a cabinet and the issue of an imperial proclamation ordering the observation of the sheriat laws and the observation of the constitution have served to bring about a comparatively peaceful situation here. Tewfik Pasha is the new grand vizier.

The city is quiet; the troops have returned to their barracks, and the crowds in the Stamboul quarter have retired to their homes.

Confidence is gradually returning, although the military situation will require all the energies of the new government for its successful handling and the promulgation of wise measures so that the army may be placed on a more satisfactory basis.

Preacher Fatally Hurt in Subway.

New York, April 15.—Preparatory to his first ride on the subway, the Rev. Samuel William Nesbit, a Methodist minister from Tipperary, Ireland, lost his balance and fell to the track in the down town station at One Hundred and Seventh street and Broadway and was so badly crushed by a southbound train that he will die. He and his sixteen-year-old daughter, Rosela, whom he came to this country to visit last week, were together at the time, waiting for a train.

Hundreds of men who have been fighting the flames have been compelled to give up the unequal struggle, and the mountain is now burning from end to end, a distance of many miles. Thousands have been rendered homeless.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

LAKE CAPTAIN SHOOTS ENEMY

Tragic Affair Takes Place in St. Clair.

MEN QUARREL IN SALOON.

Captain Pringle Kills George McKinnon of Moretown, Ont.—Accused Latter of Intimacy With Wife. Pringle Taken to Port Huron—Father Says Son Will Tell Things.

St. Clair, Mich., April 19.—Jealousy, growing out of the impression that George Burrill McKinnon, aged thirty-one years, of Moretown, Ont., across the river from here, had been too friendly with his wife, it is said, led Captain Ralph Pringle, a well known vesselman, to send three bullets into the body of the former. McKinnon died a few hours later. Pringle is in jail at Port Huron.

McKinnon, with James Cramton, also of Moretown, came to this place on business. They went later to the saloon of Charles J. Streit. They were joined a few minutes later by several friends. The crowd was shaking dice in a rear room, it is said, when Pringle entered.

Pringle spied McKinnon. "Why don't you speak to me?" McKinnon is alleged to have said. Pringle, it is reported, replied: "You're back here again, are you? This town is too small to hold the two of us."

Three Shots Heard.

The two men were soon quarreling, and together they left, going into an adjoining room. A few moments later three shots in rapid succession were heard, and McKinnon staggered to the door and fell. "He shot me three times," he muttered.

A hurry-up call was sent in for the town marshal and Dr. Thompson. Pringle came out of the small room and, stepping over the body of his victim, left the building. He was overtaken and arrested while on his way home. A 38 caliber revolver was taken from him. Three chambers were empty.

The injured man was removed to the hospital.

In an ante-mortem statement made shortly after the shooting McKinnon said Pringle accused him of being intimate with his wife. He denied this up to his death. Mrs. Pringle was seen, but refused to discuss her husband's act at any great length. She did say, however, that her conduct the only time she ever was with McKinnon had been perfectly proper. The date of that occasion, she stated, was about two years ago, when he had rowed her across the river.

Pringle was taken to Port Huron by Deputies Petit and Auch. He refuses to talk. His father, John C. Pringle, old vessel captain, said that his son would make known some sensational facts when placed on trial.

Train Crushes His Leg.

Charlotte, Mich., April 19.—While attempting to jump from a Grand Trunk train before it made the station stop, James Crandall was thrown under the cars and lost one leg as a result. Crandall is a married man and works in Battle Creek, and he was coming home to spend the day with his family.

Herman Hodges, the former proprietor of the Ivy Green saloon in Port Huron, who pleaded guilty to selling liquor to minors, was sentenced by Judge Law to serve thirty days in the county jail and to pay a fine of $208.

CAPTAIN HAINS' TRIAL BEGINS.

He Faces Court For Shooting of Annis.

NEW TRIAL REVIVES INTEREST

Army Man's Lawyer Will Base His Defense Upon Grounds of Insanity. Difficulty in Proving Present Mental Health Predicted — Counsel Have Right to Ask For Commission.

New York, April 19.—What may prove to be the closing scene in a tragedy of national interest began today in the courtroom of the supreme court in Flushing, N. Y., when Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., was called upon to plead before Judge Garretson to the charge of murdering William E. Annis at Bayside on the afternoon of Aug. 15 of last year.

Since the acquittal of T. Jenkins Hains, brother of today's "prisoner at the bar," interest in the case has lagged. It received renewed stimulus from the announcement a few days ago that efforts were being made to induce Mrs. Claudia Libby Hains, who is accused of being the cause of the shooting, to appear as a witness against her husband.

Chief Counsel For Hains.

John F. McIntyre, who was chief counsel for T. Jenkins Hains, is in charge of the captain's case. He is assisted by Eugene N. L. Young, a former assistant district attorney of Queens county, who assisted Mr. McIntyre in the first trial. Lawyer Joseph A. Shay of this city, who was also associated with the defense of T. Jenkins Hains, but is now under indictment in Manhattan, will not appear in the case, and Lawyer Daniel O'Reilly, who figured in the Thaw case, has been retained in his stead.

The defense has decided to proceed with the trial on the indictment, basing its defense on the ground that the captain was insane when he committed the crime, and is insane to this very day. It is also declared to be the opinion of jailers and keepers that the mental condition of Captain Hains is worse now than it was when he was arrested.

The defense will call between forty and forty-five witnesses. Attorney McIntyre is considering seriously of dispensing with medical experts to combat the testimony of alienists who will be called by District Attorney Dewit. It is the tentative plan of the defense to leave to the judgment of the jury the mental condition of Captain Hains immediately preceding the shooting of Annis. The killing in all its aspects will be admitted, it is stated, but Captain Hains will be described as a sufferer nearly all his life from emotional insanity.

Lawyers think the defense holds the whip hand over the prosecution. If at any stage of the trial the situation looks dubious for the captain, the defense, it is asserted, under the provision of the penal code, can apply for a commission to inquire into the mental condition of the prisoner, and if found insane the trial will be brought to a finish then and there.

On the other hand, if the prisoner is convicted of murder in the first degree they can again make application to have him committed to an asylum for the criminal insane.

TOO FAR AWAY.

American Warships Cannot Reach Turkey in Time to Be of Assistance.

Washington, April 19.—The state department has received a cablegram from Minister Leishman at Constantinople, stating that the situation at Adana was reported to be improved. The ambassador has not learned any details concerning the missionaries, Maury and Rogers, who were killed.

The department has cabled Mr. Leishman, expressing anxiety on account of the many American missionaries and teachers in Turkey and inquiring whether warships are being sent to Mersina or other danger points to protect the lives of foreigners, including Americans.

The ambassador has been informed also by the department that it would obviously take too long for American vessels to arrive at those points even if it were desirable to send them to afford refuge and assistance if necessary.

AMATEUR CUEMEN TO PLAY.

Country's Best Nonprofessional Billiardists in New York Tournament.

New York, April 17.—The Class A national amateur billiard championships, to be held at the Liederkranz club in this city for a week beginning tonight, has brought together the best amateur players from all sections of the country. Those eligible to compete in the event are cue experts who are capable of making a grand average of 8 at 18.2 balk line.

YOUNG TURKS STILL CONTROL

Sultan's Throne Apparently on Verge of Collapse.

THOUSAND SLAIN IN ADANA.

Dead Includes Two American Missionaries — Trouble Occurs in Other Towns—French Warships Hurrying to Mersina—Advancing Army Pauses Outside Constantinople.

London, April 19.—Reports reaching here declare that a Turkish army, 30,000 strong, under the guidance of the Young Turks, is marching on Constantinople.

Paris, April 19.—A dispatch received here from Constantinople says that well informed circles regard the rapid return to power of the Young Turks, or committee of union and progress, as certain. It is rumored, the dispatch continues, that the committee has decided to remove the sultan.

Beirut, Syria, April 19.—A terrible uprising has occurred in Adana. Fighting in the streets has been going on for three days, and at least 1,000 persons have been killed. The city has been practically destroyed by fire. American missionaries named Rogers and Maurer, the latter from Hadjin, are dead. All the other Americans are safe. The British vice consul, Major Daughty-Wyle, is among the wounded. He was shot through the arm.

At Tarsus there was less loss of life. The Armenian quarter, however, was destroyed. Four thousand refugees are housed in the American mission. The need of relief is urgent, for shortly the fugitives will be on the verge of starvation. Conditions in the vicinity of Alexandretta also are most serious.

Constantinople, April 19.—Confirmation has been received here of the killing of two American missionaries at Adana. The murdered missionaries were Mr. Rogers and Mr. Maurer. The others connected with the missions are safe, including Mr. Christie, who is at Tarsus.

Three French warships are hurrying to Mersina, where the situation is desperate. Foreigners and Christians have taken refuge in the consulate. The local troops and the governor are doing their best to protect the town, but there is great fear that it cannot hold out much longer against the invasion of the Moslems, who are sweeping down in large numbers.

The American vice consul at Mersina, John Debbas, has been unable to proceed to Adana owing to the interruption of communications. A British warship is proceeding to Alexandretta, which is threatened by the Moslems. Several Armenian farms in that neighborhood have been destroyed.

Alarm is felt at Kharput because of serious depredations by the Kurds in the surrounding villages, although the town itself has not been the scene of any particular disorders. The tension in Constantinople over the situation is still very great, although there seemed to be some prospect of a peaceful solution of the trouble. The people of the capital are more concerned with the advance of the Saloniki troops than they are with the massacres that are reported from various quarters. Several of the members of the parliamentary deputation which proceeded to Tchatalje to reassure the Saloniki troops have returned here. They report that the troops demand the safe conduct and protection of the Saloniki deputies that fled from the capital and the punishment of the ringleaders of the rising on Tuesday last as an example to prevent the recurrence of such events.

The army, which is concentrating at Tchatalje, has promised not to enter Constantinople, but to await there the fulfillment of its demands.

Hearing his baby girl scream out in the yard while he was eating supper, William Winkelman of Monroe rushed out and found the child lying motionless on the ground, with a large gander standing near by. Investigation showed the child's neck was broken, and it is believed the gander had beaten the little one with its wings.

Indian Gives Up Race.

New York, April 19.—In a match race at the full Marathon distance, 26 miles, 385 yards, which was run Sunday at Celtic park, Long Island City, John V. Svanberg of Sweden scored a hollow victory over Fred Simpson, the Ojibway Indian, who quit after running sixteen miles.

DEATH INTERFERES.

Colonel Augur Passes Away on Eve of Promotion.

Washington, April 19.—Announcement is made at the war department that a telegram has been received from Manila informing the department of the sudden death from apoplexy of Colonel J. A. Augur, Tenth cavalry, now stationed at Fort McKinley, near Manila.

Colonel Augur, who was a son of General Augur of civil war fame, had just been selected by President Taft for promotion to the rank of brigadier general in the army.

In view of the death of Colonel Augur, the president has directed the immediate promotion of Colonel M. P. Mause, Twentieth infantry, who had been selected for promotion next January.

PATRIOTIC WOMEN BEGIN CONVENTION.

D. A. R. Meet to Dedicate Hall and Elect Officers.

Washington, April 19.—Crowning with success the work of several years by patriotic women, the dedication of the Continental hall of the Daughters of the American Revolution was begun today with ceremonies of interest and impressiveness. The officers of the society declare that the opening of its new home constitutes the main feature of the annual convention, which also began today, although the election of officers has claimed more of the public attention.

The building, which has cost $500,000, all raised by the Daughters, was declared open by Mrs. Donald McLean, the retiring president general of the society. The response to Mrs. McLean's address was made by Vice President Sherman. Other addresses on the program are those by Judge Stockbridge, president general of the Sons of the American Revolution; Senator Daniel of Virginia, M. Jusserand, the French ambassador, and former Governor Edwin Warfield of Maryland. Ella Wheeler Wilcox, one of the Daughters, has written an ode for the occasion. The hall is a beautiful white building near the Corcoran Art gallery. In it are housed the library of the Daughters and the museum of relics of the revolution.

MRS. M. T. SCOTT.

There are two leading candidates for the office of president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. They are Mrs. Matthew T. Scott of Illinois, the so-called "administration" candidate, and Mrs. W. C. Story of New York, who is favored by those opposed to Mrs. McLean.

WAS FIRST YANKEE MARTYR.

Lowell Honors Memory of Private Taylor, Killed in Baltimore in 1861.

Lowell, Mass., April 19.—Patriots' day in this city was marked by the unveiling of a monument to Charles A. Taylor, the first soldier to fall in defense of the Union in 1861. He was a member of the Sixth Massacusetts infantry and lost his life in the battle in the streets of Baltimore that has been called the first armed conflict of the civil war. The regiment held a reunion her.

Today is the anniversary of the passage of the regiment through Baltimore on its way to Washington. It was the first body of armed men to reach the capital in response to President Lincoln's call. The arrival of the regiment was awaited with the greatest anxiety by the president. The soldiers were welcomed by him with: "Thank God you are here. Had you not arrived tonight we should have been in the hands of the rebels before morning."

To perpetuate the memory of Taylor a bronze tablet was unveiled. The principal speaker was General Edward F. Jones, former lieutenant governor of New York, who commanded the regiment.

1809—The Year of Genius—1809

Fitzgerald and Omar

Centenary of the Birth of the Irish Translator of the "Rubaiyat"—The Year of Great Men

By James A. Edgerton

Copyright, 1909, by the American Press Association

FITZGERALD GAVE THEM TO A PUBLISHER.

THERE were many celebrities born in 1809, the most famous natal year in history these, were scattered through the months—In January, Edgar Allan Poe; February, Abraham Lincoln and Charles Robert Darwin on the same day, and in that month also Mendelssohn, the composer; March, Edward Fitzgerald and Gogol, celebrated Russian dramatist; Chopin, the composer, and Jules Favre, the French democratic statesman; April, James Glaisher, the aeronaut; May, Frederick A. P. Barnard, the American educator; June, Richard Monckton Milnes, the English poet, Mary Cowden Clarke, the English Shakespearean scholar, and Marshal Canrobert, the French soldier; July, John Stuart Blackie, the Scotch critic; August, Alfred Tennyson, Oliver Wendell Holmes and Hannibal Hamlin, Lincoln's vice president; November, Admiral Dahlgren and Fanny Kemble, the actress; December, William Ewart Gladstone and Kit Carson. Surely it was a fruitful year.

Of these twenty-one names those of Lincoln, Poe, Darwin, Tennyson, Holmes, Chopin and Mendelssohn are too well known to call for further note. Professor Barnard was president of Columbia college for a quarter of a century, prior to which time he had been president of the University of Mississippi and professor in that of Alabama. He was also United States commissioner to the Paris exposition.

Kit Carson (real name Christopher) had more to do than perhaps any other one man in the winning of the far west. He was the ideal scout, brave, but gentle and generous. He was a colonel and Indian agent, but is best known as a hero of frontier romance.

John A. Dahlgren was one of the group of celebrated civil war admirals, commanding in noted actions about Charleston, Savannah and Florida. He invented the famous Dahlgren gun.

Hannibal Hamlin was a member of congress, several times United States senator, governor of Maine, minister to Spain and vice president. He died on July 4, 1891.

Fanny Kemble, real name Frances Anne, was one of the most celebrated actresses of her day and came from a family of tragedians equally noted, containing in its number Charles and John Philip Kemble and Mrs. Siddons.

Richard Monckton Milnes, afterward Lord Houghton, was the intimate friend of Tennyson and Thackeray. He was most celebrated as a poet.

Edward Fitzgerald's rendition of the "Rubaiyat" of Omar Khayyam is easily the most famous translation in literature. It is more than translation, however. It is a creation. Critics are unable to this day to determine how much of its success is due to Omar and how much to Fitzgerald. Those who claim the credit for the Persian are refuted by the fact that there have been numerous other translations of Omar, many of them more faithful to the original than that of Fitzgerald, yet none of them has come into vogue. On the other hand, they who ascribe the popularity of the "Rubaiyat" to Fitzgerald have a like difficulty in that the Irish recluse wrote other works and made other translations, all of which must have remained practically unknown but for his Omar. Thus Omar alone and Fitzgerald alone failed to strike fire. It was only the combination of the two that made an undying light. Like two chemicals, their contact brought forth a new element different from either and, judged by the work of each alone, immeasurably greater than either. This makes the "Rubaiyat" unique—sets it apart, in fact, as a thing without a parallel in literature.

The strangeness of the case does not end here. From an ethical standpoint the "Rubaiyat" is frankly rotten. Its highest praise is for wine. It is pessimistic, materialistic, of the earth earthy. Outside of its bibulous tendencies its chief theme is of death, and not of death alone, but of a death that ends all. Its philosophy, while shot through with profound glimpses, is not new. All that it says has been said before, long before, and discarded. Yet it was never said so exquisitely nor so well. After all, the charm of the piece must be due to Fitzgerald, for it is not in the substance, but the form. Here again is shown its strangeness. That this rehash of an old and outworn materialism, this appeal to a baser passion, this song of the grave, should find so tremendous a response in Christendom and in nations almost Puritanical, in their standards, nations that for ages have been committed to a higher faith, is more than an anomaly; it is a flat contradiction of literary precedents. It is not the sentiment, but the finish of the workmanship, that must account for the popularity of the poem. It is the artistic beauty of the vessel, not the contents. The polish of the piece, the choosing of exactly the right word, the originality of the form of expression, the delicate shades of meaning, the appropriateness of the stanza—everything from the art side of the production is a marvel. But all this is Fitzgerald. So to Fitzgerald be the honor!

Another strange feature of the case is that a poem so brief should have won practically the entire English speaking world and have made the immortality of two men, its author and its translator. In Fitzgerald's final edition there are only 101 stanzas, or a trifle over 400 lines. It is a thumb nail masterpiece. Most poems we wish were shorter, but this one only whets our appetites to want more. If it succeeds in teaching future poets brevity it will deserve still greater fame.

EDWARD FITZGERALD.
[Born March 31, 1809; Died June 14, 1883.]

A further striking fact about the "Rubaiyat," although not so unusual as the others mentioned, was the tardiness with which it came into vogue compared to the swiftness with which it won its way when once started. Fitzgerald offered the first quatrains to Fraser's Magazine, which did not want them. He then gave them to a publisher free, who brought them out in a thin little pamphlet at fivepence. There was so little demand for this that he afterward exposed it out in front at a penny. Here Rossetti at last picked one up and passed it on to Swinburne, which started the cult. The tree of popularity grew slowly even yet. No one can tell just how the universal craze finally broke out, but break it did, and now we are all obsessed by it.

The peculiarity of the poem extended to the translator. Edward Fitzgerald was one of the oddest figures that ever invaded the republic of letters. He was so shy that he lived almost as a hermit and was so averse to fame that he allowed his name to appear on only one of his books. The poet's parents were cousins, his father's name being Purcell, the mother one of the famous Irish family of Fitzgerald, which name the father also took on coming into the estate. It was his Irish extraction which afterward caused Edward to refer to himself as a "scatter brained Paddy." Born in 1809, the boy lived for a few years of his infancy in Paris in a house once occupied by Robespierre and afterward at Naseby on a farm covering most of the battlefield where Oliver Cromwell whipped Charles I. He thus occupied the habitat of revolution, although there was nothing of the revolutionist in his own makeup. He attended school at Bury St. Edmunds, and at Cambridge was graduated, somewhat to his own surprise, since he had spent most of his time in the university in dawdling with art, verses and what not. The remainder of his life was uneventful in an outward way. He had several houses and lived in them by turns, shut himself more and more from the world, read only a few books, Shakespeare, and the Greek dramatists, made several translations, always very free, and wrote some original books both in verse and prose, but without attracting notice; finally—took up Persian. translated one or two poets, then happened on Omar, became fascinated and one day about a half century ago gave the "Rubaiyat" to the world. The world did not want it, did not take it for a long time and now cannot get enough of it.

The old Sufis tried to make it appear that Omar's plean of praise to wine is only figurative. Fitzgerald would not have it that way at all. He insisted that his Hamlet must be mad, else he was not Hamlet. It must be confessed that the English translator created a much more human document out of old Omar than the Sufis did, but at the expense of his morality and standing in respectable society. He made the astronomer-poet a bibulous sport, but quite interesting withal. Another theory of Fitzgerald's was that the way to translate a poet is to carry over his atmosphere rather than his mere words, the spirit and not the letter. It is more important to preserve his poetry than his grammar. The translator himself must be a poet and, as a poet, must be free and not slavish. To this theory the world owes the "Rubaiyat;" therefore it must be good. Still, it would throw any of the old school linguists into spasms.

Pretty much everybody has read the "Rubaiyat," but it is a thing that will bear much rereading, so it will do no harm to sprinkle in a little of it here just to redeem the text.

The imagery of the poem has seldom been excelled. It is the oriental wealth shaped and polished by Fitzgerald's delicate touch. What more exquisite than this?

The bird of time has but a little way
To flutter—and the bird is on the wing.

This is the burden of the poem—the thorn under the rose, the decay of beauty, the grave.

The wine of life keeps oozing drop by drop;
The leaves of life keep falling one by one.

It is Tennyson's "Two Voices" over again, only here the "dull one sided voice" has all the best of the argument. The moan in the laughter, the tear behind the smile, the skeleton at the feast, is ever obtruded.

Each morn a thousand roses brings, you say.
Yes, but where leaves the rose of yesterday?

Yet there is a nobler note. He sings of materialism, it is true, but of the vanity of materialism.

The ball no question makes of ayes and noes,
But here or there as strikes the player goes.
And he that tossed you down into the field,
He knows about it all—he knows—he knows!

Not so materialistic, after all! That and other similar stanzas ring with something of the eternal music.

ROSSETTI AT LAST PICKED ONE UP.

Edward Fitzgerald died in 1883. In his life he had corresponded much with the Tennysons and others. His letters are whimsical and entertaining. He had married, but had separated from his wife. He received a few friends, but lived much alone, taking long walks through England or yachting about the nearby seas.

Even before he died the fame for which he cared not had begun to shine upon him. Later it broke with a full sunburst of glory upon his grave.

Care of Snowshoes.

Snowshoes need very little care. You don't have to wipe them dry with a chamois, for instance, the prescribed treatment for skates. When taking them off merely tap them against the wall or a tree to shake free the clinging snow and stand them up on their heels outside. Never attempt to dry them before a fire. When they are put away for the summer select a dry place where there will be no danger of mice.—Country Life In America.

The Age of the Microbe.

People just now are living in a state of almost morbid apprehension concerning what they should eat and drink. There have been the paleolithic age and the red sandstone age. The present age would come to be known as the bacillus, microbe and tubercle age.—Lord Rabblesdale in House of Lords.

What It Does.

"Speaking of poetry, does the modern school make us think?"

"Well, it makes us hustle for the dictionary—that is, those of us who have any curiosity at all."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

FRED HANFORD DEAD.

Another First Settler of Alva Passes Away.

As the above sad news spread over the city this morning, there was universal expression of sorrow. Many were much surprised, as they had not learned that Mr. Hanford was seriously ill. He died at his home, 911 College Avenue, at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, April 14th, after an illness of only a few days, from "grip" and pneumonia, complicated with heart trouble. His age was 42 years, 10 months and two days. He appeared to be as healthy and strong a man as there was in Alva; but, alas, one never knows how near a stealthy disease is lurking and how sudden and severe will be the attack.

Mr. Hanford was born in Franklin, Mich., June 12, 1867; came to Pratt, Kansas, with his parents, where he lived several years and married.

He was one among the early settlers of Alva, coming from Pratt, Kans., and establishing a hardware store from the Pratt Hardware Co., and remaining here as manager. In a year or so he and A. Kalb of Pratt, bought the company stock and the firm was Kalb & Hanford, and after another year or so Fred bought Mr. Kalb's interest and has since conducted an extensive and ever increasing business in the hardware and implement lines.

Fred was a noble, honorable, enthusiastic and always pleasant gentleman, and by his many intimate friends he was called "The Farmers' Friend." If Fred Hanford ever had an enemy, the editor of this paper never heard of it, and we have been well acquainted with him ever since the day he came to Alva.

Besides his thousands of friends all over the southwest, he leaves a devoted wife and a daughter, a son, father and two brothers to mourn his untimely death. The father, Uncle James Hanford, and Ray, live here; Glenn Hanford lives in Ohio.

The family and relatives have the universal sympathy of the people in this great bereavement.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. H. B. Mayo in the Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, April 15. Interment in the A. O. U. W. cemetery.—Alva Pioneer.

Mr. Hanford will be remembered by many of the older residents, as he resided in Tecumseh until about 25 years of age.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank the kind friends, neighbors and singers for their kindness during the illness and death of our beloved child John, and for the beautiful floral pieces. Also to Rev. Dunning who officiated with kind words of love.

MR. AND MRS. LEVI OWENS.

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Loss of Appetite or Distress After Eating a Symptom That Should Not Be Disregarded.

Appetite is just a natural desire for food. Loss of appetite or stomach distress after eating indicate indigestion or dyspepsia. Over-eating is a habit very dangerous to a person's good general health, and insatiable appetite is a sure symptom of diabetes.

It is not what you eat but what you digest and assimilate that does you good. Some of the strongest, heaviest and healthiest persons are moderate eaters.

There is nothing that will create sickness or cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people daily contract serious maladies simply through disregard or abuse of the stomach.

We urge everyone in Tecumseh, who is suffering from any stomach derangement, indigestion or dyspepsia, whether acute or chronic, to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the distinct understanding that we will refund their money without question or formality, if after reasonable use of this medicine, they are not perfectly satisfied with the results. We recommend them to our customers every day, and have yet to hear of anyone who has not been benefited by them. We honestly believe them to be without equal. They are made from the prescription of a physician who devoted all his time to the study and treatment of stomach troubles. They give very prompt relief, neutralize the gastric juices, strengthen the digestive organs, create good digestion and assimilation, naturally regulate the bowels, promote perfect nutrition, and create a permanent cure of all unhealthy symptoms.

We urge you to try a 25c. box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, which gives 15 days treatment. At the end of that time, your money will be returned to you if you are not satisfied. Of course, in chronic cases length of treatment varies. For such cases, we have two larger sizes, which sell for 45c. and 89c. B. J. Pulver, the druggist.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., April 17, 1909.

President Taft desires to establish some form of organization, quasi-official in character, to act as a medium between the railroads of the country and the federal government, and it is characteristic of him that, before instituting any radical changes of administration, he should avail himself of the best legal talent at his command to prepare a thorough analysis of existing conditions and recommend such changes as are deemed advisable. The Attorney General, the Secretaries of the Interior and of Commerce and Labor, and the Solicitor General have been confided with the responsibility of working out the President's plan with regard to federal control of the railroads. The President has called the attention of this executive committee to the existence of such quasi official bodies abroad and their usefulness in promoting co-operation between the government and public service corporations. For instance, in Great Britain boards of trade prepare certain data regarding the service rendered by such corporations and submit recommendations concerning the reasonableness of rates, etc. The President has called the attention of his advisers, also, to the fact that a single body charged simultaneously with quasi-judicial and administrative functions, as is now the case with the Interstate Commerce Commission, is constantly hampered in its efforts to ascertain the facts by the antagonism which is inevitably engendered as a result of its being compelled to conduct prosecutions. Members of the commission, for instance, when seeking information from railroads, cannot avoid arousing the opposition which is the natural result of the fact that ultimately they may be compelled to sit in judgment on the acts of the very men from they ask information. The President deems it possible that some semi-official body, such as a national chamber of commerce or similar organization, might be able to relieve the Interstate Commerce Commission of a part of its duties as an investigating and prosecuting body, and he considers it essential to divorce the administrative and judicial functions of the commission with only judicial functions. The evils from the present system have been seriously considered by Mr. Taft, and he has indicated the trend of his views on the subject, but he desires that the officials named above shall study the subject carefully in order that when he comes to write his annual message he may be in possession of all the facts and in a position to make practical recommendations if legislation is needed.

The Phillippine tariff bill which the President submitted to Congress this week is expected to prove of material value to the American exporter. Features of the old Spanish and Cuban tariffs which were vexatious and annoying to both exporter and importer, have been eliminated, and every effort has been put forth to make the administrative features simple and in conformity with United States tariff decisions and the decisions of the courts

* * *

Mr. James J. Hill was a Capitol visitor this week and he declares that his visit had nothing to do with the tariff, that he was here for the sole purpose of arranging for a trip through the United States of thirty representative Japanese business men, with a hope that a more definite knowledge of America and American business conditions will increase the commercial friendship between the two nations. The business men are expected to leave Japan in time for the Alaska-Yukon Exposition, and asteawards will make an extensive trip in the United States, and representatives of commercial bodies from the larger cities of the northwest will accompany them in this tour. Mr. Hill consulted with the President regarding the visit of the foreigners.

* * *

The creation of a tariff bureau, presumably as a part of the Treasury Department, is already a part of the Aldrich scheme for the administrative portion of the tariff bill, and it is, therefore, reasonable to suppose that the amendment offered in the Senate this week by Senator Beveridge to create a tariff commission of seven members, etc., will be adopted, in so far as it is in accordance with the views of the chairman of the Finance Committee. The disposition of this committee is to make such a bureau purely clerical, without authority to take any steps which would promote tariff changes or that could be used as a basis for unfavorable criticism of the action of Congress. Mr. Beveridge's amendment provides that the commission shall procure all available information regarding foreign customs tariffs and prepare such data in suitable form for the guidance of the President in the administration of the maximum and minimum features of the new tariff act, and this is in accordance with the views of President Taft.

Crushed Again.

Mrs. Denham—Do you think that I shall be a good looking old woman? Denham—I don't know why you should expect any such radical change.—New York Press.

Amusements

Local fight fans will be given the opportunity of viewing the recent Nelson—Gans championship contest at Bradley Opera House, Tuesday April 27th. Throught the courtesy of Doc. Krone of Chicago, the management of the house has secured the right to exhibit the films in this city. The pictures are the only and original ones of the battle fought at Colma, Calif., on Sept. 9th 1908, in which Nelson proved conclusively that he is Gans master. July 4 of this year Nelson met Gans for the second time and after 17 rounds of desperate milling battered him to the floor. There was some doubt as to Gans condition and the pair was rematched for Sept. 9th. Gans again fell before Nelson this time in 21 rounds.

KLAW AND ERLANGER'S NEW AND GREATER "BEN HUR"

To be Staged in Jackson, Mich., May 10, 11 and 12.

Towering triumphantly as the most massive and picturesque as well as the most impressive dramatic spectacle in the history of the world, "Ben-Hur" will seek new honors at the Athenaeum, Jackson, Mich., on Monday evening, May 10, when it will open its second engagement in Jackson, which will be limited to three nights and special Wednesday matinee.

Of all the spectacular productions of modern times, none has been credited with so long a run of prosperity. "Ben-Hur" is today crowned with a record of more than 2500 performances in 9 years, and has been seen by more than seven million people. The success of the play is credited to the religious sentiment that prevails in the theme, making it particularly attractive to the non-theatregoer who as a rule avoids the playhouse, owing to religious scruples. "Ben-Hur" has the endorsement of the leading lights of the church world and has appealed to all theatregoers as the most powerful drama that has ever been created for the stage.

Wallace had few peers and no superiors in the art of presenting to the eye the imagery of scriptural scenes. In "Ben-Hur", his masterpiece, he gives the life, the color, the feeling, of the time of Christ. With these he presents an intense heart story, a heroic drama, filled with the tenderest emotions, tinged with the romance of love and war, exalted by the evidence of divine miracles performed by the Nazarene. Although the sacred presence is not shown, it is felt, and throughout the play runs the strong undercurrent of religious feeling which distinguishes "Ben-Hur" from all other dramatic offerings based on Biblical themes. The symbolism of Rome and Jerusalem, of Jew and Gentile, of peace and war, are shown, surrounding the great mystery of the presence of Christ. Each scene unfolds as a perfect picture, the whole blending in a living pageant

In order to take care of out of town patrons for "Ben-Hur", Manager H. J. Porter of the Athenaeum will fill mail orders in accordance with date of their receipts, when accompanied by remittance. The scale of prices will range from 50c to $2.00. Seats will go on sale Thursday, May 6.

COUNCIL GETS BUSY.

Milan People Will Have Law Regarding Saloons Enforced.

It was said before the recent vote was cast on local option, that in case the wets won, the saloonkeepers in Monroe and Washtenaw counties would do some whole some "house cleaning" in their places of business. The council of the village of Milan took the initiatory step at their meeting last Friday night.

The following order was placed in the hands of their marshal last Saturday:

By order of the common council.

"Believing that the interests of our village would be better served by a stricter enforcement of the playing of cards, dice, pool and billiards in the saloons, we therefore order that the same be abolished."

Elon Gauntlett, Village President.

MISERABLE DYSPEPTICS

Not So Many in Tecumseh as There Were Before C. A. Wright & Son Guaranteed Mi-o-na.

"Mi-o-na was used by me for a stomach difficulty of long standing, and a cure obtained before I had used the remedy two weeks. I had hard, dull pains and cramps in my stomach, and this organ became sore, tender and weak. The trouble made me nervous and miserable. Mi-o-na put me on my feet in good shape, and entirely dispelled the stomach trouble; for this reason, it has my recommendation and hearty endorsement." William Lanning, Adrian st., Tecumseh, Mich., Oct. 15, 1908.

If you have dyspepsia or any distressing ailment of the stomach, Mi-o-na tablets will give you relief in a few hours.

In nearly every case Mi-o-na will effect a permanent cure in two weeks.

Not by digesting the food artificially, mind you, for that method never did and never will cure dyspepsia, but by building up and putting strength and energy into the flabby, overworked walls of the stomach so that it can easily digest its own food.

Mi-o-na is the greatest of all stomach tonics. Take it two weeks and you will feel better, healthier, happier: your skin will be clearer: your eyes brighter.

C. A. Wright & Son sell Mi-o-na at 50c a large box, under a guarantee from the makers to cure dyspepsia, sea or car sickness, vomiting of pregnancy, and effects of the night before, or money back.

Better than Pills for Liver Ills

FOR SALE BY B. J. BULVER, TECUMSEH, MICH.

The old fashioned way of doing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong Dr Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by all dealers.

ERROR MEANT DEATH.

Typesetters and Proofreaders on Chinese Paper Careful.

China, with all its vast population, boasts not quite two dozen daily papers, but among them are the two oldest papers in the world. The Kin Pan used to be considered by Europeans the oldest paper, but it has been issued a mere thousand years. The Tsing Pao, or Pekin News, was first published 500 years before the Norman conquest and has been issued without intermission for nearly 1,400 years. The Tsing Pao has the appearance of a yellow backed magazine of twenty-four octavo pages, each page containing seven columns, consisting of seven "characters."

Two editions are published—an edition de luxe for the court and the upper classes at a cost of 24 cents a month, and an edition inferior in paper and printing, costing 10 cents a month. It has a circulation of about 10,000 and is really the principal paper of China, chronicling the movements of the emperor and of the court and printing the ministerial reports. It is probably the most exact newspaper in the world. The punishment for an error in printing was until recently, at least, instant death.—New York Times.

Old London Cookshops.

Mediaeval London, besides being a "city of taverns," was famous for its cookshops, such as the place on the river bank described by Fitzstephen in the thirteenth century: "There every day ye may call for any dish of meat, roast, fried or sodden, fish both small and great, venison and fowl. If friends come upon a sudden wearied with travel to a citizen's house and they be loath to wait for curious preparations and dressings of fresh meat let the servant run to the water side, where all things that can be desired are at hand." This particular place of public cookery apparently did an indoor as well as an outdoor trade, for Fitzstephen further described it as being used both day and night by "multitudes of soldiers or other strangers who refresh themselves to their content on roast goose, the fowl of Africa and the rare gadwit of Ionia." But what were the two last mentioned viands?—London Chronicle.

Sickroom Mirrors.

"Only a hand mirror should find place in a sickroom," said a doctor, "and it should be one flattering to the patient—the kind, for instance, which if the face is too broad will lengthen it a little. And the patient should only be allowed to look in the mirror at propitious times. Many a patient has been frightened literally to death by his haggard reflection—has looked, sighed and renounced hope. But many another patient in a really bad way—really desperate, too—being given a look at himself just after he has taken a stimulant has bucked up wonderfully. In fact, a sickroom mirror wisely handled is a curative agent, while recklessly handled it may kill."

His Usual Way.

The new waitress sidled up to a dapper young man at the breakfast table, who, after glancing at the bill, opened his mouth, and a noise issued forth that sounded like the ripping off of all of the cogs on one of the wheels in the power house. The new waitress made her escape to the kitchen. "Fellow out there insulted me," she said. The head waiter looked at him. "I'll get it," he said. "That's just the train caller ordering his breakfast."—Argonaut.

"No, but it's broken now."—Tit-Bits.

"My nervous system gave away completely, and left me on the verge of the grave. I tried skilled physicians but got no permanent relief. I got so bad I had to give up my business. I began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. In a few days I was much better, and I continued to improve until entirely cured. I am in business again, and never miss an opportunity to recommend this remedy." MRS. W. L. BURKE, Myrtle Creek, Oregon.

OBEYED THE DOCTOR.

Old His Best In Keeping a Watch Upon the Patient.

The late Dr. Drummond, the habitant poet, once related an amusing anecdote indicative of the simplicity of the rural French Canadian.

He was summering in Megantic county, Que., when, early one evening, he was visited by a young farmer named Ovide Leblanc.

"Bon soir, docteur," said Ovide by way of greeting. "Ma brudder Moise, heem ver' seeck. You come on d'house for see heem, doc?"

Drummond, always kind hearted and obliging, complied with the request of Ovide and found the unfortunate Moise suffering from what he diagnosed as a fairly severe case of typhoid.

"Wishing to provide Moise with some medicine," said the doctor-poet, "I asked Ovide to accompany me back to the village. The prescription compounded, I proceeded to instruct Ovide. The dose was to be administered every three hours during the night, and, trying to be as brief, plain and explicit as possible, I said: 'Be sure and keep watch on Moise tonight and give him a teaspoonful of this at 9 o'clock, 12 o'clock and at 3 and 6 in the morning. Come and see me about 9 o'clock in the morning.'"

Ovide understood and departed. The following morning he again presented himelf, and Drummond asked: "How's Moise? Did you do as I told you?"

"Ma brudder Moise, I t'ink he some better dan las' night," replied Ovide. "I give heem de medecine, but I doan have no watch in d'house, doc. I tak d'leetle clock—d'one what mak d'beeg decsturb for get up. I keep eet on bees ches' all night. T'ink eet do heem good dat, jus' lak d'watch. W'at you t'ink, doc?"—Harper's Weekly.

THE QUEEN BEE.

Her Household Service the Most Perfect in the World.

"We must go to the bee for the real solution of the servant question," said a housewife. "The queen bee's service is the most perfect in the world. Why, she even has servants who digest her food for her.

"The queen bee is so entirely occupied in egg laying—she lays 2,500 eggs, twice her own weight, daily—that all other things must be done for her.

"And so a corps of servants makes her toilet. This corps all day long cleans and brushes and polishes her person. It is as though her life were passed divinely in a beautiful parlor.

"Another corps of servants has charge of the air she breathes. The air must be the purest, that her eggs may be the finest. So, standing in a circle about her, fanning with their wings, these bees make a living ventilating system.

"Her most important servants are perhaps her feeders. Their training may be said to begin before birth, since they must be born, from specially molded eggs, with glands in their heads for the reception of bee milk, the chosen predigested food of the queen. The feeders stand always at attention, presenting, like a brimming cup, their head glands, swollen with predigested food, to the queen bee, busy at her task of laying a dozen eggs a minute."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The English Three R's.

We are constantly being misunderstood by the foreigners, says Clarence Rook, and the Frenchman of whom the following story is told contrived to do us something less than justice.

He had been on a visit to this country in order to study at first hand the social manners of the English people.

On returning to his native land he was asked by a friend whether he had discovered the meaning of the mysterious "three R's."

"Oh, I found out what they were on the first day of my visit!" said he.

"And what are they, then?"

"Rippin', rotten and right-o!" replied the triumphant Frenchman.—London Mail.

Had Them Tested.

The loss and recovery of a $6,500 pearl necklace recall the story of a similar experience which a New York woman had after the last Old Guard ball. She also missed her necklace when she arrived at her home, and the next day it was brought to her by a woman who had shared her carriage on her way home. Handing the necklace to her friend, the finder said: "So glad I found it. We always thought they were real."—New York Tribune.

Allaying His Fears.

The New Convict—Say, old man, I'm likely to go stomping around my boudoir at all hours of the night. I'm a sleepwalker. It worries me terribly too. Guard—It needn't in this hotel, for there isn't the slightest danger of your walking out of a window.—Puck.

Their Good Time.

Little Elsie was very disobedient and mother was cross and scolding. Suddenly the little one looked up and said very sweetly, "Oh, mamma, ain't we having a good time!"

"How?" asked the mother crossly.

"Oh, just a-fussing."—Delineator.

A Mechanical Age.

"What has become of the old fashioned mother who sat up to see at what hour her boys got in?"

"I presume she has been superseded by a time clock."—Kansas City Journal.

Mild Laxative for Baby Free

The child of today is the parent of the future, and whether it grows up healthy and strong, or puny and weak, depends upon the intelligence of its parents, for most children are born into the world healthy, but thousands become future weaklings between birth and the age of ten, when the parents are still in greatest control.

The prime cause of trouble is in the stomach. A baby that is digesting its food seldom cries and always looks cheerful; the little child whose stomach is good romps and plays and never whines; the growing child learns well at school and is eager for fun if its head is clear and its stomach light, and that means if it has no constipation.

The best and safest way to cure any irregularity of the stomach and bowels in children is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a liquid laxative wonderful in its effect as Mrs. John W. Dunham, Apple Creek, O., Mrs. H. L. Cullum, Fishville, Ind., and numerous others can testify who give it to their children with extraordinary results.

A bottle only costs 50 cents or $1 according to the size you want, and even one 50-cent bottle will do a wonderful amount of good in a family. It can be given to any member of the family in constipation, sour stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, dyspepsia, heartburn, sick headache and similar digestive troubles. It never gripes or strangles like pills, tablets, salts and powders, which should not be given to children, women or old folks.

If you have a child or other member of the family who needs, but has never used this grand laxative tonic, send your name and address to the doctor and a free trial bottle will be sent to your home. In this way you can find out what it will do without personal expense.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

BOSTON MARATHON.

Annual Amateur Event Brings Out Big Field.

Boston, April 19.—Teeing the mark in today's Boston Marathon race, one of the greatest events of the year on the athletic calendar, will be the finest fields of amateur runners ever gathered in America. They have come here from all parts of the United States to enter in the test of speed and endurance whose winning confers on the victor the blue ribbon of the amateur runinng world.

To give the names of the entries would be to call a roll of well known athletes. Among them are Tewanina, the Indian; Crowley, White, Mellor, Lorz and Carr of New York, Forshaw of St. Louis, Hatch of Chicago and Shannon of Pittsburg. Bob Fowler of this city will start. An international entry is that of B. J. Nelson of South London, England, who hopes to take back to his foggy city the honor of beating the Yankees. Another hopeful entrant is Peter W. Foley, who thinks he can overcome the handicap of his fifty-one years, even when competing against men half his age.

The Boston Marathon, run from Boston to Ashland and return, the finish being at the Boston Athletic association's clubhouse, is an annual event.

St. Yves the Winner.

New York, April 19.—Henri St. Yves of France won a fifteen mile match race from Patrick White of Dublin, Ireland, at the Clifton race track, near Passaic, N. J., Sunday. At ten and a half miles White dropped out, saying that his ankle had gone back on him. St. Yves finished the full distance in 1:27:25 4-5. The track was soft dirt and clay.

Disraeli's Jokes.

Disraeli dearly loved a joke at the expense of others. An author who had sent his latest effort in fiction to him received the following complimentary acknowledgment:

"I thank you for the book you sent me and will lose no time in reading it."

"I wonder what makes my eyes so weak," a fierce Radical once said to Disraeli.

"It is because they are in a weak place," was the reply.

An incident in the life of the late Lord Rossiyn shows how acute was the sense of humor in Disraeli. "What can we do with Rossyin?" he asked of a colleague.

"Make him master of the buckhounds, as his father was," suggested the latter.

"No," replied the premier; "he swears far too much for that. We will make him high commissioner to the Church of Scotland." And such he was made.—Chambers' Journal.

LEE AT APPOMATTOX.

Men who saw the defeated general when he came forth from the chamber where he had signed the articles of capitulation say that he paused a moment as his eyes rested once more on the Virginia hills, smote his hands together as though in some excess of inward agony, then mounted his gray horse, Traveler, and rode calmly away.

If that was the very Gethsemane of his trials, yet he must have had then one moment of supreme, if chastened, joy. As he rode quietly down the lane leading from the scene of capitulation he passed into view of his men—of such as remained of them. The news of the surrender had got abroad, and they were waiting, grief stricken and dejected, upon the hillsides when they caught sight of their old commander on the gray horse. Then occurred one of the most notable scenes in the history of the war. In an instant they were about him, bareheaded, with tear wet faces, thronging him, kissing his hand, his boots, his saddle; weeping, cheering him amid their tears, shouting his name to the very skies. He said: "Men, we have fought through the war together. I have done my best for you. My heart is too full to say more."—From "Robert E. Lee, the Southerner."

Sunshine and Long Life.

Some towns on the Italian side of the Swiss Alps are noted for the great number of sunny days. Carabietta and Pentilino, near Lugano, head the list with 327 and 331 sunny days respectively in one year. Possibly because of this liberal amount of sunshine the percentage of old people is exceptionally high in the canton of Tessin, forty-four per thousand being over seventy years old and ten per thousand over eighty.—New York Post.

Discourteous.

"What do you think?" exclaimed the theatrical star proudly. "They are going to name a new cigar after me!"

"Well," rejoined the manager, "here's hoping it will draw better than you do."—Exchange.

A common danger produces unanimity.—Latin Proverb.

LANDS SEVEN VIOLATORS.

Coldwater Deputy Game Warden Makes Nice Haul in Branch County.

Coldwater, Mich., April 19.—Deputy Game and Fish Warden Otto Rohn has made a "clean up" on law violators. In all he rounded up seven men.

The arrested men are John Milligan, William Thornton, Fred Hurley, W. H. Raymond, Frank Gordier, Eli Alfred and Jay Mitchell.

Deputy Rohn caught the men in the act of fishing for bass and perch at Mud creek, and he confiscated 200 pounds of fish.

ELECTRIC CAR JUMPED TRACK.

Plymouth Man Killed and Five Others Hurt.

Plymouth, Mich., April 19.—W. P. Yorton, forty-five years old, of Plymouth, was killed and five men hurt, one probably fatally, when a Detroit United railway car known as the "theater special" jumped the track at a sharp curve at Newburg, a village near here.

The injured are: James Dunn, twenty-five years old, Plymouth, back hurt and internal injuries; George Farwell, Plymouth, badly bruised about head and arms; Conductor Frank Morley, Wayne, gash in forehead and body badly cut; Motorman Louis Butler, Ypsilanti, slight injuries; Max Wright, Plymouth, arms and hands cut.

There were but five passengers on the car at the time, none of these being women. Yorton was seated in the rear compartment, while the others were in the smoker. He was instantly killed, his neck being broken by his being hurled against the side of the car opposite to where he was sitting.

Motorman Butler jumped from his position and probably saved himself from serious, if not fatal, injuries.

Yorton was well known throughout thi ssection, having for a number of years acted as manager of the Michigan Lumber company.

ENORMOUS CROWD.

Nineteen Thousand Saw Detroit Defeat Cleveland at Baseball.

Detroit, Mich., April 19.—Nearly 19,000 people, the largest crowd that ever packed spacious Bennett park for a ball game, saw the Tigers take the second game from Larry Lajoie's Cleveland Naps Sunday afternoon, 3 to 2. Not even the world's series last fall drew more people, and Sunday's multitude of fans outnumbered any previous record by 3,500.

In the absence of police protection, the authorities refusing to donate the bluecoats as Sunday baseball is not sanctioned here, the "bugs" swarmed onto the playing field and along the base lines, making ground rules necessary, a hit into the crowd counting for only two bases. Despite the absence of the police, the crowd was orderly and well behaved.

There will be thirty shots per man in strings of five at seventy-five yards. The conditions are liberal, admitting of any position, any rifle of not over .230 caliber and any sights not containing glass. The trophy will be held one year by the winning country and then be competed for again.

C., where they will embark on the president's yacht Mayflower for the Isthmus of Panama on Wednesday morning. The party will reach Charleston on Tuesday morning, where the intervening time before the departure of the ship will be devoted to sightseeing. The secretary expects to get back to Washington about the middle of May.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say, that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

OHIO STRUCK BY TORNADO

Terrible Storm Sweeps Over Northern Portion.

EIGHT PERSONS ARE DEAD.

Many Others Injured—Darkness Suddenly Swoops Down on Cleveland, Small Buildings Carried Away, and Houses Unroofed—School Buildings Damaged—Church Demolished.

Cleveland, O., April 22.—Eight persons were killed, six fatally hurt, at least fifty sustained injuries, and property valued at more than $1,000,000 was destroyed in a tornado which swept through Cleveland and northern Ohio Wednesday. The dead:

JASPER CROMWELL, killed when blown from a train at the Cleveland Furnace company plant.

MRS. OLIVE PHALEN, a nurse at the state hospital, skull crushed by a stone blown from the top of a building.

UNIDENTIFIED WOMAN, blown into a pond at Wade park and drowned.

JOHN NIEBALSKI, a boy, killed by falling steeple at St. Stanislaus church.

CHARLES HEFLER, sixteen years old, struck by lightning.

JOSEPH VESSLA, killed by falling smokestack.

LOUIS PETRO, crushed by falling rock.

JOSEPH Slazek, struck in head by flying timber.

The storm arose suddenly and lasted but five minutes. At 12:30 the sun was shining brightly. At 12:33 the city was shrouded in darkness. From the northeast, off the lake, came a gale blowing at a rate of sixty-six miles an hour. In its wake followed a sheet of hail and rain which fell with terrific force.

Blown Off Their Feet.

In the blinding rain pedestrians were blown off their feet and hurled against buildings. Roofs were lifted off houses, walls hurled down unless strongly braced, smoke stacks picked up and chimneys demolished, porches stripped off residences and small buildings carried away. Skylights and windows were smashed. Many persons were injured by flying glass.

The loss was especially great to school property. Twelve school buildings were damaged. The roof was lifted from the main building of the Case School of Applied Science. Telegraph and telephone service was ruined. Street cars and trains were delayed.

Firemen and policemen from all of the stations in the city turned out to assist the people whose homes had been wrecked and who were injured in the storm.

No damage was done to boats on the lake.

The largest single injury that was done was to St. Stanislaus church. The wind practically demolished the structure. The loss is estimated at $125,000.

Killed In Ashtabula.

Ashtabula, O., April 22.—One man was killed, a dozen persons injured, and heavy property damage resulted from a ten minute cyclone which struck Ashtabula and vicinity. The dead:

R. T. WOODWORTH of Plymouth.

Woodworth and Fassett sought refuge in sheds of St. Matthew's Episcopal church, Plymouth, and were caught when the church crumbled before the gale and crushed the sheds.

The Kister brothers were buried under a load of oats when the wind overturned their wagon. The homes of Fred Reitter, Lewis Strong and N. P. Robinson were blown from their foundations.

NORTH GOLF SEASON OPENS

Three Day Tournament Begins on the Links at Lakewood, N. J.

Lakewood, N. J., April 22.—Following the successful winter and spring golf season on the southern courses, the opening of the match play on the local links today marks the beginning of the northern competitions.

The golfers will play here three days. The army of returning players from the south is well represented, and to the number are added many players of note from New York, Philadelphia and other nearby cities. The Lakewood tournament will be followed by the spring events at Atlantic City from April 29 to May 1.

It is as easy to draw back a stone thrown with force from the hand as to recall a word once spoken.—Menander.

CROWD INTO ALEXANDRETTA

Thousands of Turks Seeks Safety, and Panic Prevails.

BRITISH MARINES PATROL CITY

Grand Vizier, Tewfik Pasha, In Behalf of Sultan, Is Negotiating With Military Men—Radicals Insist Sultan Must Be Deposed—Conservatives See Bitter Fight In Such Move.

Beirut, Syria, April 22.—The situation at Alexandretta is critical. Panic everywhere prevails. Thousands of refugees are crowding into the city, which is being patrolled by marines from the British cruiser Diana. The British battleship Triumph has gone up the coast to Ayas to relieve that place if possible.

For the present Mersina, Tarsus and Adana are reported quiet.

Constantinople, April 22.—The conflict between Mussulman piety and the political ideas of the west has brought the Turkish people to the verge of civil war. Zeal for the faith has been unloosed, and the adjustment of the sultan's relations to the committee of union and progress probably will only postpone the armed struggle between the deliverers of the ancient teachings of the prophet and those who are urging the tendencies from western Europe.

The cabinet has been debating the situation at length, giving special attention to the negotiations which the ministers have taken in hand on behalf of the sultan with the military members of the committee.

The sultan's primary demand is to remain the constitutional sovereign, with all the spiritual powers of the caliphate, with liberal allowances for his household, while he also asks for a variety of minor guarantees which it would not be difficult to grant.

The demand of the committee of union and progress is that the sultan offer no resistance whatever and submit unconditionally.

Tewfik Pasha, the grand vizier, who personally is most agreeable to the sultan and to military men, has undertaken the direct negotiations looking to a compromise.

"The committee," a vague term to represent influential men of modern spirit, is without definite limits. Its adherents who have a right to a voice in its affairs are divided among themselves. The radical faction insists that there shall be no compromise; that the sultan must be deposed and a reasonable prince, for instance, Yussof Izzedin, should be named as his successor; that the whole administration should be cleansed. The conservatives urge that the deposition of the sultan would only be possible after severe fighting.

AGAIN ON STAND.

Armstrong Before Grand Jury All Day Wednesday.

Jackson, Mich., April 22.—Warden Armstrong was on the witness stand before the grand jury practically all of Wednesday, giving way for about ten minutes during the forenoon while a newspaper reporter from Detroit was called to make answer to an inquiry as to whether or not information he had published had been received from any of the prosecutors in the case or any of the jurors, all of whom are sworn to secrecy. The reporter replied in the negative.

GLAZIER IS UNDER ARREST.

Bondsmen of Former Treasurer Become Alarmed.

THEY ASKED TO BE RELIEVED

Sheriff Arrests Former Financier Just as He Was Starting For Country Home—Remains With Him—Unless Bondsmen are Furnished at Once, Glazier Must Go to County Jail.

Chelsea, Mich., April 22.—Peter Gorman, Conrad Haefner, Charles Downer and Dr. John Woods, bondsmen of ex-State Treasurer Frank P. Glazier, appearing before Justice Doty in Ann Arbor, asked to be relieved of their bonds. They gave as their reasons the fact that they thought Glazier was making preparations to leave town and that he had been living very extravagantly of late. Glazier is said to owe Dr. Woods a bill for professional services for many years which runs into four figures.

Justice Doty issued a mittimus for Glazier's arrest, and Sheriff Leach arrested him at his town residence just as he was starting for his home at Cavanaugh lake. Sheriff Leach and another sheriff accompanied him to his lake house and will remain there with him. The understanding is that unless new bondsmen are forthcoming at once he will be taken to Ann Arbor and put in jail.

The action on the part of the sheriff is exciting much comment in Chelsea, as the general opinion is that he should have been taken to Ann Arbor at once. No new bondsmen have appeared as yet, and Glazier will probably be forced to pledge his property in order to obtain them.

Afraid of Ghosts

Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a sallow check, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition and with a record of 40 years of cures. Accept no substitute—there is nothing "just as good." Ask your neighbors.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.

If it's painful periods with women, same cause.

If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl St., New York

Tecumseh Business Men's Ass'n.,
Tecumseh, Michigan.

Gentlemen:

Our Board of Directors has instructed me to inform you that we have decided to locate our branch factory at Charlotte, Mich.

In view of the liberal way in which your business men have dealt with our company, it is only fair to you that we let you know why we gave preference to Charlotte over Tecumseh.

In the first place, the business men of Charlotte have offered us a new building 180 by 88 with light on four sides. This combined with the fact that Charlotte has an excellent system of sewerage while Tecumseh has none, left us no alternative but to accept Charlotte's proposition. In a factory such as ours, the sanitary conditions must be excellent, and we would hesitate to accept any proposition that would be taking any chances whatever with the health of our employees.

However, in all other ways aside from this we think that Tecumseh is one of the finest towns for its size that we have ever seen, and we trust the day is not far off when you will make it a model town by installing a first class system of sewerage.

Our Board directs me to thank you for the courteous way in which you have handled this matter. We all feel that the business men of Tecumseh are a mighty congenial crowd of men, and if we are ever able to reciprocate in any way the many favors you have shown us, or if we are ever in a position to speak a good word for Tecumseh, we will certainly endeavor to show you that it is our aim to reciprocate.

Again thanking you for the trouble you have taken in this matter, we beg to remain,

Yours very truly,
JACKSON CORSET CO.,
H. H. Stiles, Sec'y.

NELSON-GANS FIGHT

To be Reproduced at the Opera House.

Complete arrangements have been made with "Doc" John Krone of Chicago (the sole owner of the original "Nelson-Gans" fight films taken at the ringside at Coffroth's Mission Street Arena in Colma, Calif., on Sept. 9th) whereby this complete set of films will be shown at the Bradley Opera House for one night only Tuesday, April 27th.

This film is put up in four reels of over 1000 feet each making in all over 4000 feet of film and shows every detail of this great fistic encounter from the training quarters of the fighters to the knock out of Gans in the 21 rounds. Every more is shown as plain and clearly as though you sat at the ringside in Colma, Calif. Nearly everyone is interested in this great fight as it marks the ending of the career of the greatest fighter that ever lived That the public will never again have a chance to see the colored boy (Gans) in action in a championship battle. This is certainly the greatest film of its kind ever produced. Natural as life. It cost $10.00 a seat to witness this great battle at Colma, Calif. but this gives the people of Tecumseh and vicinity an opportunity to witness this championship contest fought over again in your own theatre at the small cost of only 25 cents any seat in the house. These are the only and original "Nelson-Gans" fight pictures, taken at the ringside in Colma, Calif., Sept. 4th. Remember the date, Opera House, Tuesday, April 27th Two performances 7:00 and 8:30 p. m. Doors open 6:30 p. m

Beautifying the Home with Paints and Finishes

It is really remarkable what transformations may be made, now-a-days, with paints and finishes. Messrs. Satterthwaite Bros., are showing this week in the center of their window a beautifully finished panel showing results that can be easily secured by anyone over old painted surfaces or on old wood. It is one of the handsomest and most practical displays we have seen and reflects great credit both to Satterthwaite Bros., and to Acme Quality Paints and Finishes.

SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS.

Senate Reads and Discusses the Tariff Bill.

Washington, April 22.—Substantial progress was made by the senate on Wednesday in the consideration of the tariff bill. No senator being prepared to speak on the bill as a whole, the reading of the measure by paragraphs was begun.

The various items in the chemical schedule were passed over for future consideration. The reading was frequently interrupted by the discussion of amendments, and eighteen pages of the bill were disposed of.

Senator Cummins presented his income tax provision and discussed it at length.

The pictures for the Nelson—Gans fight are the clearest ever thrown on screen and mark the ending of the career of one of the greatest fighters that ever drew the breath of life. They show clearly how, through his aggressiveness and bull dog tenacity, the battler forced the old master into submission. Gans is seen taking a terrific beating. His gameness is undying and only until he could stand a terrific lacing no longer, did he fall a beaten fighter. At the New Bradley, Apr. 27.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Thousands of millions of cans of Royal Baking Powder have been used in making bread, biscuit and cake in this country, and every housekeeper using it has rested in perfect confidence that her food would be light, sweet, and perfectly wholesome. Royal is a safeguard against the cheap alum powders which are the greatest menacets to health of the present day.

ROYAL IS THE ONLY BAKING POWDER MADE FROM ROYAL GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR

Tecumseh, Mich., April 20, 1909.

To the Editor of the Tecumseh Herald.

Will you allow me a little space for the purpose of bringing before the people some things that to my mind are very essential. At the meeting of the village council on Monday evening April 19th, the saloon bonds of each of the saloon keepers in Tecumseh, and the bonds of the druggists, were all acted upon by the council, and approved. There being present three gentlemen who are engaged in the saloon business in Tecumseh, I felt that it was a proper time for me to make an announcement, which I did about as follows: I had noticed for two Sundays past that the screens or shades at the windows were not properly removed and that it was very difficult to see far back into the room, and I shall expect on next Sunday to see all of the screens removed so that any passer by may have a view of the whole interior of the room in which liquor is sold. I take this manner of bringing this matter before you for the reason that I shall expect from every one engaged in the liquor business a compliance with the law, and I shall expect the saloons to remain closed during the day both front and back, and I promise you, gentlemen, that if this request is not complied with I shall make complaint against any violation which I may be able to prove.

Another matter to which I have given some attention is the billiard rooms and bowling alley in which boys have been allowed. I have consulted the proprietor and requested him to keep the boys out of his place of business, and told him frankly that if he would not do that I should make a complaint against him under the statutes.

Now the reason that I am writing this letter is for the purpose of asking the parents of these boys who have been frequenting the billiard halls, to co-operate with me and keep them away from there. While I do not feel that I ought to have more interest in the boys of Tecumseh than the parents have, yet I do feel that it is my duty as a man to assist in the protection of these boys until they are old enough to choose for themselves between right and wrong. I also feel that it is my duty under the oath that I have taken as president of the village, to enforce the laws as I find them. I have no power to make or change the laws. If the council see fit at any time to pass an ordinance or by law, it becomes my duty to sign that to make the law effective. Otherwise I am not empowered to annul any rule or law; but I do feel that I am under a solemn obligation to enforce the laws of the state as I find them.

I have also found in my investigations that gambling has been allowed without interference, and I have had an interview with some of the proprietors where gambling has been going on and have their promise that they will not permit any more gambling in their places of business.

And now, in conclusion, I ask all of the citizens of Tecumseh, who from this date become aware that the gambling still continues, that boys are allowed in the saloons or billiard rooms, or that the saloons are not being closed nights, Sundays or holidays, in accordance with the law, to report the matter to me, together with the name of witnesses that they may be able to furnish, and you will very much assist me, and be doing a very kind act to the children of Tecumseh.

Yours very truly,
JAS. W. WIGHTMAN.

BUSINESS CHANGE

After 40 Years in Same Building Fred Rosacrans of the Firm of Anderson & Rosacrans Dissolves Partnership.

Change taking place Wednesday night.

The firm of Anderson & Rosacrans dissolved partnership Wednesday night, the Andersons remaining in the firm, Fred Rosacrans & son Leon, selling. After being in the firm and in the same building for 40 years, Mr. Rosacrans will be greatly missed. Few have the record of saying with Mr. Rosacrans, "that Thursday was the first day I have not drawn pay since I was 13 years of age." While a new firm is formed they still are an old firm among Tecumseh's business men, thoroughly reliable and accomodating to all their customers.

Germs cannot live when Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is used. You just breathe in this soothing yet most powerful antiseptic air and relief is immediate. A complete outfit, including inhaler, costs but $1 00, and extra bottles, if afterward needed, cost but 50c. A few minutes' time each day is all you need to quickly cure the most chronic case. Hyomei is sold by leading druggists.

KENNEDY'S LAXATIVE COUGH SYRUP

FARMERS' WIVES TELL WHAT THEY KNOW ABOUT PE-RU-NA.

Peruna Is Used In the Farmer's Home for all Sorts of Catarrhal Ailments.

Indigestion and Nervousness.

Mrs. Lenora Bodenhamer, R. F. D. 1, Box 99, Kernersville, North Carolina, writes the following letter to The Peruna Drug Manufacturing Company:

"I suffered with stomach trouble and indigestion for some time, and nothing that I ate agreed with me.

"I was very nervous and experienced a continual feeling of uneasiness and fear.

"I took medicine from the doctor, but it did me no good. I found in one of your Peruna books a description of my symptoms. I then wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice. He said I had catarrh of the stomach.

"I took Peruna and Manalin and followed his directions and can now say that I feel as well as I ever did.

"I hope that all who are afflicted with the same symptoms will take Peruna, as it has certainly cured me."

Now Perfectly Healthy.

Mrs. Magdalena Winkler, Route 5, Westminster, Md., writes:

"I thank you very much for your advice. I can safely say that Peruna and Manalin have saved my life.

"When I wrote to you the first time, asking your advice, my condition was so poor that I did not expect to live through the winter, but now I am perfectly healthy.

"I cannot praise your medicine enough, and I recommend it to others."

Catarrh of Stomach.

Mrs. Mary Allen, Route 6, Franklin, Tenn., writes:

"I am glad to be able to tell you that I am well of catarrh of the stomach, for which I am sincerely thankful to you for your advice. If it had not been for Peruna I would never have been well.

"I had three physicians. One of them told my husband that he could not cure me.

"I had been sick about nine months when a friend asked me to try Peruna to gratify her; so I commenced taking it.

"I can eat and walk and work. Everybody says I look as well as I ever did.

"Oh, you don't know how thankful I do feel to you.

"I have got several other people to take Peruna. I praise it to everybody."

For Children's Colds.

Mrs. Henry Martin, La Motte, Ia., R. R. No. 1, writes:

"After suffering for some time with sore eyes I was advised by a friend to try Peruna, which I did at once.

"The first bottle relieved me, and after using four bottles I was entirely cured.

"I do recommend Peruna to all who are afflicted with catarrh. I have found it to be a great remedy also for coughs and colds of children; a dose at bedtime will relieve them from coughing all night. I always keep it on hand, and recommend it."

Catarrh for Seven Years.

Mrs. T. Frech, R. R. No. 1, Hickory Point, Tenn., writes: "I am happy to tell you that I am cured of catarrh. I have followed your good and kind advice faithfully. I bless the day when I wrote you of my condition, and I will always praise Peruna. I think it is one of the grandest medicines on earth.

"Having been afflicted with catarrh and stomach trouble for seven years, and after having tried four different doctors they only relieved me for a little while. I gave up all hope of being cured. I only weighed one hundred and thirty pounds, and was so weak I could hardly get around the room.

"I was induced to try Peruna, and to my great surprise I am now entirely well. My weight is now one hundred and eighty-eight pounds, my health never was better in my life, I shall always praise Dr. Hartman and his remedies."

The Farmer's Wife.

Who is in a better position to know than the farmer's wife herself what is required in the farmer's home? She must meet its troubles, solve its problems, ward off disease, nurse the sick, she must do all these things herself, and she learns by valuable experience what is best and what is not best.

In numberless farm homes Peruna is relied upon as the family medicine. Peruna books are consulted in health and disease. Peruna is used as a preventive as well as a corrective in disease.

The wives of the farmers of the United States constitute a solid phalanx in favor of Peruna. Against this testimony the slanders of a few critics will not prevail. One sensible mistress of a farm home who has used Peruna knows more about Peruna than all the magazine critics in the world.

Peruna in Her Home.

Mrs. Anna Linder, R. F. D. No. 5, Dassel, Meeker Co., Minn., writes: "For two years I suffered with that terrible disease, chronic catarrh.

"Fortunately I saw your advertisement in my paper and I spoke to my sister about your medicine. She wrote to you and I got your advice free of charge. I took Peruna and am well and a mother of two children.

"I owe it all to Peruna. I would not be without that great tonic for ten times its cost, for I am well and strong now, and cannot speak in too high terms of its value as a medicine."

In a letter dated June 12, 1903, Mrs. Linder writes: "I cannot express my thanks enough to you for all the good your medicine has done for me and my family.

This spring I took cold and it settled in my kidneys. At first I thought it was kidney trouble.

"I took Peruna as directed on the bottle and in a few days I was all right, so I owe my health to Dr. Hartman and his remedy."

Miserable With Catarrh.

Mrs. Hettie Green, R. R. 6, Juka, Ill., writes: "Last November I had catarrh, and felt so miserable, I thought that I would go into consumption.

"I tried so many doctors and medicines, but nothing did me any good, only Peruna.

"After I began the use of Peruna I began to improve in every way.

"My head does not hurt so much, my stomach is all right, my bowels are regular, my appetite good, my complexion clear, my eyes are bright, and I am gaining in flesh and strength.

"I think Peruna has no equal as a catarrh remedy."

A Gentle Laxative And Appetizer

One stupid man may cast a gloom over three wise ones.

The faith that is thrust down the throat never gets into the heart.

We often wonder how any person can be persuaded into taking anything but Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung trouble. Do not be fooled into accepting "own make" or other substitutes. The genuine contains no harmful drugs and is in a yellow package. Sold by all druggists.

There is far too much of nature for man ever to put it all in a book.

We get no higher work until we put the higher motives into that we have.

Children especially like Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup, as it tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. It not only heals irritation and allays inflammation, thereby stopping the cough, but it also moves the bowels gently and in that way drives the cold from the system. It contains no opiates. Sold by all druggists.

HELPFUL WORDS

From a Tecumseh Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful?
Does it ache especially after exertion?
If there a soreness in the kidney region?
These symptoms indicte weak kidneys;
There is danger in delay.
Weak kidneys fast get weaker.
Give your trouble prompt attention;
Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly.
They strengthen weak kidneys.
Read this Tecumseh testimony.

Eugene Hodges, Cumings st., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "Several years ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found them to be a good remedy for strengthening the kidneys and clearing the system of uric poison, which caused to many aches and pains. Other members of my family have taken Doan's Kidney Pills with good results and in return for the benefit received. I have no hesitation in publicly endrsing this remedy."

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by all dealers.

When Willie and Johnny fight, mother licks.

Few men who have not earned it, ever have commanded success.

Mr. F. G. Fritts, Oneonta, N. Y., writes: "My little girl was greatly benefitted by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is best for women and children, as it is mild, pleasant and effective, and is a splendid spring medicine, as it cleanses the system and clears the complexion. Sold by all druggists.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers rely on Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Take the sting out of cuts, burns or bruises at once. Pain cannot stay where it is used.

STOLE BREAD AND MILK.

Widow of Wealthy Miner Held by Brooklyn Police.

New York, April 22.—Mrs. Anna Trafford, a strikingly handsome widow whose husband, a Peruvian silver miner, left her $75,000 three years ago, has been held by a Brooklyn police magistrate for trial on a charge of stealing bread and milk from doorsteps.

Her hearing brought out the fact that she had lost all but $500 of her fortune on the race tracks, which she frequented daily. Half of the $500 was lost in a bank failure, and the balance went quickly for living expenses.

HAD QUIT WORK READY TO GIVE UP IN DESPAIR
Restored to Health By Vinol

"I was sick, run-down and finally had to give up work. After trying a number of remedies and several physicians, I was just about ready to give up in despair. I saw Vinol advertised and decided to try it, and it has done more good for me than all other means combined. It has built me up and restored my strength until I now feel twenty years younger, and am able to attend to my work again as usual." Job Jeavons, 1036 Lind street, Wheeling, W. Va.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains tonic iron and all of the strengthening blood-making and body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

Vinol is unexcelled as a strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, and after sickness—and is the best known remedy for coughs, colds and bronchitis.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion, But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

SULTAN IS DEFEATED.

Young Turks In Full Possession.

RULER STILL IN PALACE

Constantinople Declared in a State of Siege.

INVADERS OCCUPY GARRISON.

Troops at Scutori Garrison the Last to Make Final Stand—Threatened to Blow Up City—Capitulate When Artillery and Guns From Cruiser Are Trained on Them.

Constantinople, April 26.—The Yildiz garrison has surrendered to the Constitutionalists' forces. Sultan Abdul Hamid has been permitted to remain within the walls of the Yildiz Kiosk, where, in company with his ministers, he waited for the outcome of the struggle between his loyal troops and the army of investment.

It has been stated since victory rested with the Constitutionalists that the sultan himself gave orders to his men not to resist. Whether or not this is true, it can be safely said that the troops within the capital put up a stubborn resistance at all points, and the losses at all points are exceedingly heavy for the length of time the engagement was in progress.

A representative of the commander in chief of the Constitutionalist forces is authority for saying that the sultan will be dealt with by the parliament and that there will be an adequate inquiry into the sovereign's alleged complicity in the recent mutiny.

Ministry Was Not Dissolved.

Up to the present the ministry has not been dissolved, but Constantinople and a number of other places have been declared in a state of siege. Martial law prevails, and, while there is some uneasiness among the people, order has been maintained with a strict hand.

The last garrison to surrender was the Selimieh artillery barracks in Scutori, opposite Stamboul. Four thousand men stationed there with a hundred guns threatened to blow the city into ruins, but General Schefket ordered up sixty big guns and several batteries of machine guns to positions which commanded the barracks, and the cruiser Medijieh steamed out of range of the field pieces and prepared for action. The commander of the barracks thereupon submitted.

Following Saturday's terrific fighting the city took on an aspect of strange quiet towards evening. There was some fear that there would be further fighting during the night, as the forces of General Shefket were strongly posted close to the palace. But, beyond a few scattered shots, there was nothing to disturb the peace of the city.

Object of Martial Law.

Colonel Galib, inspector general, has been made responsible for the preservation of order, and placards have been posted about the city requesting the people to continue their business. The object in establishing martial law is chiefly to permit a search of residences for fugitives and to bring seditious persons before military courts for trial.

Following the evacuation of the quarters around the Yildiz Kiosk the soldiers of the garrison were made prisoners, and their places were taken by Macedonian battalions. When Memdouk Pasha, a commander of the surrendered palace guards, came slowly out of the gate he was allowed to keep his sword, but he was attended by officers whose swords were missing. Memdouk Pasha paused to talk with the correspondents.

"It is the will of Allah," said he. "We have done our duty."

The question is now being asked by everyone: "What will be done with the sultan?" This inquiry was made directly to Colonel Hamdi at the headquarters of Schefket Pasha, the commander of the Second and Third army corps, and he replied:

"His majesty's relation to the events of March 13 will, I understand, be considered by a commission of notable men sitting privately. The endeavor will be to arrive at a just estimate of his majesty's position."

Colonel Hamdi added that neither General Schefket nor any of the four principal subordinate commanders had seen the sultan.

Do Not Blame Sultan.

"But we have been told," said he, "by officers of the household that his attitude has had nothing to do with the deplorable occurrences. He is and has been for the constitution. This is not a civil war, but a punitive expedition. Our task is to cleanse the army from sedition and bring it to a proper state of discipline; to find, try and execute those who have murdered their officers and devised and led the rising against the authority of the state. We shall court martial the suspected persons and execute those that are condemned, who will number possibly 50, possibly 200."

Enver Bey, one of the leaders of the Young Turks, when asked how military men regarded the sultan replied:

"We do not have an opinion on that subject. The sultan is in the hands of parliament. The army is the instrument of civil authority, and the army's mission in this affair is to uphold the civil government."

THOUSANDS SLAIN; MANY STARVING.

Conditions in Asiatic Turkey Are Deplorable.

Beirut, April 26.—The situation in Asiatic Turkey is one of extreme gravity. How many thousands have been massacred cannot even be estimated, because the disturbances have been so widespread that it is impossible to secure details of the happenings during the past ten days.

The latest estimates of the number killed in the vilayet of Adana reaches approximately 25,000, and thousands have gone to their death in the towns of other districts. The state of siege which several of the places are undergoing has brought the inhabitants to the verge of starvation, and each day brings its tales of further atrocities and the depths of misery and despair to which the savagery of the fanatics has brought the people.

Several warships are now in these waters, but the disorders are so far reaching that the efforts of the powers to restore normal conditions have as yet hardly been felt. The French cruiser Jules Ferry arrived here and left almost immediately for Latakia, where swarms of refugees are pouring in. British, French and German warships are at other ports, and marines have been landed to quell disorders as far as possible at the more important points.

One of the missionaries at Alexandretta, Mr. Kennedy, with 450 Turkish troops, has gone to the relief of Deurtyul, an Armenian village on the coast, where 10,000 people within the walls are besieged by immense bands of Kurds and Circassians.

A British warship has been ordered from Alexandretta to Suediah, where conditions have become worse.

BOAT SUDDENLY SANK.

Eight Lives Lost on Craft in Mississippi River.

New Orleans, April 26.—Eight people, all members of the crew, were drowned and seven others on board had a thrilling escape from death when the tow boat Eagle of the Louisiana Petroleum company went down in the Mississippi river about forty miles south of New Orleans.

Without seeming reason the boat began to dip and take water and soon went down, breaking in half as it sank.

KNOCKED INTO CREEK.

Train Fatally Injures Italian Short Distance From Monroe.

Monroe, Mich., April 27.—Steven Masserant, an Italian, was struck by Detroit & Cleveland flyer No. 221 of the Lake Shore railway at a point a mile and a half below here and knocked into Plum creek. The train was stopped, and the crew fished the injured man from the water. He was hurried back to this place. At the local hospital it was found he had suffered a broken back and internal injuries. He died later.

Masserant was single and middle-aged. Little is known of him here.

NOT IDENTIFIED.

Only Two Call to See Body of Man Killed by Interurban Car.

Detroit, Mich., April 26.—The unidentified man who was struck by an interurban car near Dearborn Friday night died at the Wayne county house.

Only two persons have called to identify the body. The dead man was about five feet six inches tall, gray hair and mustache, wore a snuff colored over coat and blue coat and vest.

Stubborn Fire.

Detroit, Mich., April 27.—The fire department had to contend with one of the most obstinate fires in years last night, when the big storage shed and barns of the City Lumber company, Twenty-fourth street and the Michigan Central railroad tracks, burned, causing a total of $60,000 damage.

JAP SHIPS AT SAN PEDRO.

First to Visit Pacific Coast in Ten Years.

TWO TRAINING VESSELS THERE

Are Prizes of Russo-Japanese War—In Command of Rear Admiral Ijichi. Expresses Pleasure at Increased Evidence of Friendliness Between Two Nations.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 26.—For the first time in ten years warships of Japan have entered a Pacific coast port of the United States. The cruisers Soya and Aso, comprising the Japanese training squadron, commanded by Rear Admiral Ijichi, have just steamed into San Pedro.

The Aso and Soya are on a peaceful visit of some weeks duration, which will take them to all of the principal ports of the Pacific coast. The two ships are prizes of the Russo-Japanese war. They are comparatively modern warships, carrying heavy batteries and equipped with high speed engines.

The Aso is the flagship of Admiral Ijichi, a veteran of the war with Russia.

"Personally I can only express my pleasure at the increased evidence of friendliness between the United States and my country," said the admiral. "I have no doubt that our visit here will be one of lasting pleasant remembrances for us. We of Japan have great admiration for Americans, and I am glad of this opportunity to return here for even so short a stay."

Neither the federal nor state government made any special demonstration of welcome. That is reserved for San Francisco when the warships arrive there about May 1, when the Pacific fleet and federal and state officers will extend an elaborate greeting. However, representatives of the 10,000 Japanese living in southern California welcomed the vessels at San Pedro.

FAMOUS BEAUTY MARRIED.

Norah Langhorne, Youngest of the Beautiful Langhorne Girls, a Bride.

New York, April 26.—Society families of New York, Virginia and Great Britain were united today by the marriage of Miss Norah Langhorne, youngest daughter of Chriswell D. Langhorne of Albemarle county, Va., to Paul Phipps of England. The ceremony was performed in St. James Protestant Episcopal church of this city, Bishop Courtenay, rector of the church, officiating. The wedding ceremony was followed by a small reception at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson.

Today's bride is the youngest of the beautiful Langhorne girls. Besides Mrs. Gibson, whose husband is the famous artist, there are Mrs. Waldorf Astor of England, daughter-in-law of William Waldorf Astor; Mrs. Reginald Brooks of New York and Mrs. T. Moncure Perkins, also of this city. The Langhornes are well known in the society of Virginia, New York and Great Britain for their beauty and charm.

AUTO CARNIVAL BEGINS.

New York's Week of Celebration Will Wind Up With Parade Saturday.

Until next Saturday the motorists of this city and the surrounding country will be busily engaged with races, endurance contests and speed contests, banquets and other events, the week winding up with the grand parade next Saturday afternoon. More than a thousand motor cars are entered in the parade. MAYORS CLAP ON THE LIDS

On For All Summer in St. Joseph and Benton Harbor.

"DRY" SUNDAY IN OWOSSO.

First One in Eight Years — Huron County Liquor Dealers Will Attempt to Weed Out Objectionable Saloons—Port Huron Council May Deny Licenses to Seventeen Saloons.

Benton Harbor, Mich., April 26.—The spectacle of saloonkeepers actually turning trade away and refusing to sell customers drinks after the closing hours was witnessed here Saturday night, when, pursuant to the mayor's orders, the "lid" fell with a bang to stay on all summer. The mayor says he's in earnest.

And what's more surprising, the same "lid" has fallen in St. Joseph. Mayor Allen, that city's newly elected chief executive, announcing his policy decidedly along the lines of the latest reforms. The mayors of the two towns are united in their determination to make the cities be good.

Last summer the "lid" was on in this city, while St. Joseph enjoyed more liberal administration laws.

Owosso, Mich., April 26.—For the first time in eight years this city was "dry" Sunday. It was not any act of the authorities, either, the saloonkeepers, alarmed over the result of the recent local option election, closing up voluntarily. A few days ago, it is said, the liquor men had a secret meet, and it was at this session that it was decided to obey to the letter the liquor laws.

Bad Axe, Mich., April 26.—The Huron County Retail Liquor Dealers' association, known as the K. Y. M. S. club, although successful in the recent local option campaign, doesn't propose to have any more fights on its hands if they can be avoided. It is now using its every effort to weed out objectionable saloonists and to prevent them from getting licenses this year.

It is claimed that the organization has made an arrangement with the Saloonkeepers' Bonding company by which the members of the association will use the bonding company as surety on all bonds, providing it will refuse to act for liquor dealers objectionable to officers of the organization.

Lansing, Mich., April 26.—Because the notice of election was not properly published and because of other irregularities the supreme court has made an order to show cause why a mandamus should not be issued requiring the board of supervisors of Denmark township, Tuscola county, to convent and approve the liquor bonds of Fred Bauer. The order is made returnable April 29.

The action is the result of the local option victory in Tuscola county. The "wets" were defeated in nearly every township except Denmark, and they now seek to compel the board to grant Bauer, who conducts the Central hotel, a permit to continue in business.

Port Huron, Mich., April 26.—The members of the license committee of the council have at last reached an agreement in regard to the issuing of liquor licenses for the coming year. At tonight's session of the council the committee will recommend that seventeen of the applicants for licenses, of which there are seventy-two in all, be refused their "red tags."

Many of the seventeen places are in the residential districts, while the others have long police records for violation of the liquor laws and other offenses. The committee has also decided to recommend to the council that a $350 city license fee be charged the applicant besides the $500 county fee.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE.

Farmer Near Flint Unable to Account For Flames That Burn His Barns.

Flint, Mich., April 26.—Three barns, twenty-seven head of cattle, one sheep and a horse and several hundred dollars worth of farming implements, etc., have burned in a mysterious manner near here on the farm of Milton Buckingham, and the loss will reach $6,000.

Mr. Buckingham was sleeping at the time the fire broke out, and neither he nor none of his family knew of the blaze until neighbors rushed in and told them their barns were afire. One man alleges he saw a strange man running down the road shortly after the fire broke out.

The sheriff is investigating.

CHAPTER IX.

(CONTINUING.)

EARLY the next morning Corporal Thomas came into the store and found Necia tending it while Gale was out. Ever since the day she had questioned him about Burrell this old man had taken every occasion to talk with the girl, and when he asked her this morning about the reports concerning Lee's strike she told him of her trip and all that had occurred.

"You see, I'm a mine owner now," she concluded. "If it hadn't been a secret I would have told you before I went, so you could have been one of the first."

"I'm goin' anyhow," he said. "If the lieutenant will let me and if it's not too late."

Then, she told him of the trail by Black Bear creek which would save him several hours.

"So that's how you and he made it?" he observed, gazing at her shrewdly. "I supposed you went with your father."

"Oh, no! We beat him in," she said and fell to musing at the memory of those hours passed alone with Meade, while her eyes shone and her cheeks glowed. The corporal saw the look, and it bore out a theory he had formed during the past month, so as he lingered he set about a task that had lain in his mind for some time. As a rule, he was not a careful man in his speech, and the delicacy of this maneuver taxed his ingenuity to the utmost, for he loved the girl and feared to say too much.

"The lieutenant is a smart young fellow," he began, "and it was slick work jumpin' all these claims. It's just like him to befriend a girl like you. I've seen him do it before"—

"What!" exclaimed Necia. "Befriend other girls?"

"Or things just like it. He's always doin' favors that get him into trouble."

"This couldn't cause him trouble, could it, outside of Stark's and Runnion's grudge?"

"No, I reckon not," assented the corporal, groping blindly for some way of expressing what he wished to say. "Except, of course, it might cause a lot of talk at headquarters when it's known what he's done for you and how he done it. I heard somethin' about it down the street this mornin', so I'm afraid it will get to St. Michael's and then to his folks."

"I don't understand," said Necia. "He hasn't done anything that any man wouldn't do under the same circumstances."

"No man's got a right to make folks talk about a nice girl," said the corporal, "and the feller that told me about it said he reckoned you two was in love." He hurried along now without offering her a chance to speak. "Of course that had to be caught up quick; you're too fine a girl for that."

"Too fine?" laughed Necia.

"I mean you're too fine and good to let him put you in wrong, just as he's too fine a fellow and got too much ahead of him to make what his people would call a messy alliance."

"Would his people object to—to such a thing?" questioned the girl. They were alone in the store, and so they could talk freely. "I'm just supposing, you know."

"O Lord! Would they object?" Corporal Thomas laughed in a highly artificial manner that made Necia bridle and draw herself up indignantly.

"Go ahead and tell me; I won't be offended," insisted the girl. "You must. I don't know much about such things, for I've lived all my life with men like father and Poleon and the priests at the mission, who treat me just like one of themselves. But somebody will want to marry me some day, I suppose, so I ought to know what is wrong with me." She flushed up darkly under her brown cheeks.

Corporal Thomas began to perspire uncomfortably, but went on doggedly:

"I'm goin' to tell you a story, not because it applies to Lieutenant Burrell"—

"Of course," said the girl.

—"but just to show you what I mean. It was a good long spell ago, when I was at Fort Supply, which was the frontier in them days, like this is now. We freighted in from Dodge City with bull teams, and it was sure the fringe of the frontier—no women, no society, nothin' much except a fort, a lot of Injuns and a few officials with their wives and families. Now, them kind of places is all right for married men, but they're tough sleddin' for single ones, and after awhile a feller gets awful careless about himself. He seems to go backward and run down mighty quick when he gets away from civilization and his people and restaurants and such things. He gets plumb reckless and forgetful of what's what. There was a captain with us, a young feller that looked like the lieutenant here and a good deal the same sort—high tempered and chivalrious and all that sort of thing, a West Pointer, too, good family and all that, and, what's more, a captain at twenty-five. Now, our head freighter was married to a squaw, or leastways he had been, but in them days nobody thought much of it any more than they do up here now, and particularly because he'd had a government contract for a long while, ran a big gang of men and critters and had made a lot of money. Likewise he had a girl, who lived at the fort and was mighty nice to look at and restful to the eye after a year or so of cactus trees and mesquite and buffalo grass. She was twice as nice and twice as pretty as the women at the post, and as for money—well, her dad could have bought and sold all the officers in a lump, but they and their wives looked down on her, and she didn't mix with them none whatever. To make it short, the captain married her. Seemed like he got disregardful of everything, and the hunger to have a woman just overpowered him. She'd been courted by every single man for 400 miles around. She was pretty and full of fire, and they was both of an age to love hard, so Jefferson swore he'd make the other women take her, but soldierin' is a heap different from any other profession, and the army has got its own traditions. The plan wouldn't work.

"By and by the captain got tired of tryin' and gave up the attempt—just devoted himself to her—and then we was transferred, all but him. We shifted to a better post, but Captain Jefferson was changed to another company and had to stay at Sharpe. It was a rotten hole! Influence had been used, and there he stuck, while the new officers cut him out completely, just like the others had done, so I was told, and it drifted on that way for a long time, him forever makin' an uphill fight to get his wife recognized and always quittin' loser. His folks back east was scandalized and froze him cold, callin' him a squaw man, and the story went all through the army, till his brother officers had to treat him cold in order to keep enough warmth at home to live by, one thing leadin' to another till he finally resented it openly. After that he didn't last long. They made it so unpleasant that he quit the service—crowded him out, that's all. He was a born soldier, too, and didn't know nothin' else nor care for nothin' else; as fine a man as I ever served under, but it soured him so that a rattlesnake couldn't have lived with him. He tried to go into some kind of business after he quit the army, but he wasn't cut out for it and never made good as long as I knew of him. The last time I seen him was down on the border, and he had sure grown cultus. He had quit the squaw, who was livin' with a greaser in Tucson."

"And do you think I'm like that woman?" said Necia in a queer, strained voice. She had listened intently to the corporal's story; but he had purposely avoided her eyes and could not tell how she was taking it.

"No! You're different, but the army is just the same. I told you this to show you how it is out in the States. It don't apply to you, of course"—

"Of course!" agreed Necia again. "But what would happen to Lieutenant Burrell if—if—well, if he should do something like that? There are many half breed girls, I dare say, like this other girl, or—like me."

She did not flush now as before. Instead her cheeks were pale.

"It would go a heap worse with him than it did with Captain Jefferson," said the corporal, "for he's got more ahead of him, and he comes from better stock. Why, his family is way up."

"I never thought of myself as an Indian," said Necia dully. "In this country it's a person's heart that counts."

"That's how it ought to be," said the corporal heartily, "and I'm mighty sorry if I've hurt you, little girl. I'm a rough old rooster, and I never thought but what you understood all this. Up here folks look at it right, but outside it's mighty different. Even yet you don't half understand."

"I'm glad I'm what I am," cried the girl. "There's nothing in my blood to be ashamed of, and I'm white in here." She struck her bosom fiercely. "If a man loves me he'll take me, no matter what it means to him."

The corporal slid down from the counter where he had been sitting. "I'm goin' to hunt up the lieutenant and get him to let me off. Mebbe I can stake a claim and sell it."

The moment he was gone the girl's composure vanished, and she gave vent to her feelings.

"It's a lie! It's a lie!" she cried aloud, and with her fists she beat the boards in front of her. "He loves me! I know he does!" Then she began to tremble and sobbed, "I'm just like other girls."

She was still wrestling with herself when Gale returned, and he started at the look in her face as she approached him.

"Why did you marry my mother?" she asked. "Why? Why did you do it?"

He saw that she was in a rage and answered bluntly, "I didn't."

She shrank at this. "Then why didn't you? Shame! Shame! That makes me worse than I thought I was. Oh, why did you ever turn squaw man? Why did you make me a breed?"

"Look here! What ails you?" said the trader.

"I've just begun to realize what I am. I'm not respectable. I'm not like other women and never can be. I'm a squaw—a squaw!"

"You're not!" he cried.

"No honest man can marry me. I'm a vagabond! The best I can get is my bed and board, like my mother."

"By heaven! Who offered you that?" Gale's face was whiter than hers now, but she disregarded him.

"He can play with me, but nothing more, and when he is gone another one can have me, and then another and another and another."

"That's all infernal rot," he said. "There's fifty good men in this camp would marry you tomorrow."

"Bah! I mean real men, not miners. I want to be a lady. I don't want to pull a hand sled and wear moccasins all my life and raise children for men with whiskers. I want to be loved—I want to be loved! I want to marry a gentleman."

"Burrell!" said Gale.

"No," she flared up—"not him nor anybody in particular, but somebody like him, some man with clean finger nails."

He found nothing humorous or grotesque in her measure of a gentleman, for he realized that she was stung to a pitch of unreason and unnatural excitement and that she was in terrible earnest.

Karcher-Carlton.

The marriage of Mrs. Josephine Carlton of this city and Theodore Karcher of Tecumseh was solemnized Saturday night at 7 sun time in the home of her brother Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schwartz of 67 Bristol street. Rev. Frederick Behm, pastor of the Evangelical Immanuel church, officiated in the presence of about 25 of the relatives and near friends. Their attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz. The bride was becomingly attired in a blue suit, with white waist. A wedding supper followed the congratulations Mr. and Mrs Karcher went to Tecumseh today, where the bridegroom had a house furnished ready for occupancy.—Adrian Telegram.

A PITIFUL CASE

Should Such Things be Allowed.

Something to be investigated.

Through the promise of Grover Douglas, to his mother, Mrs. Foster on her death bed to look after her children, he walked down from Clinton last Sunday to visit them and see what was best to be done. He had decided that Coldwater was the best place to send them, but on arriving at the house found it vacated.

Mr. Foster had left some time last Saturday night taking his 18 months old baby and the other three children with him. He walked as far as Sutton and spent the rest of the night in a shed there. Sunday he walked seven miles east of there and spent that night in a barn near the road.

Deputy sheriff Teachout had been notified of their flight and started immediately in pursuit. He traced them as far as Sutton and learned there which direction they had taken. He hired a rig and followed them, finding them in the barn where they had spent the night. Having no warrant, whereby he could arrest them, he was forced to leave his charges in the care of a woman, who lived nearby, while he returned to Adrian to get the necessary papers. When he returned his people had gone. They had been seen going towards Monroe and on arriving there he discovered that they had left for Toledo. They were then out of the county and so he was forced to let the case rest for awhile.

On arriving in Toledo Mr. Foster and children repaired to a vacant house where the condition of the children, who were in tatters and scantily clothed, aroused the attention of the neighbors who reported them to the Humane society.

Officers were sent to the house to take charge of them and learn where they were from. Mr. Foster first declared that his home was in Monroe but upon being cross questioned, finally said that he was from Tecumseh. The officers there, not desiring to be burdened with their care, sent word to Mr. Teachout that they would send them as far as Blissfield, but no farther. Mr. Teachout was there to meet them and then escorted them to Adrian, where they were placed in jail. Mr. Foster formerly lived in Manchester before moving to this place, and Saturday morning the children were sent on from Adrian.

Mr. Teachout meeting them here and going on to Manchester with them where they were placed in the care of the supervisor of that place. Mr. Foster was left in Adrian to await his trial and receive his just deserts.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

In honor of the birthday anniversary of J. W. Jordan, some of his friends who were apprised of the fact, about forty in all, gave him a surprise party, Friday evening, April 16th, at his home, 416 Railroad street. Progressive pedro was played, and several elegant prizes awarded by Mrs. Jordan, who was the originator of the affair for "Genial Wes." A marshmallow roast and ice cream and cake were indulged in, provided by the hostess. "Wes" was presented with numerous and useful momentos of the occasion, among which were a handsome leather upholstered easy chair, a silk umbrella, and several boxes of cigars. Most of the guests had planned to go home by the last car, but it is said, most of them walked, as the entertainment provided by the hostess was such that all street cars were safely in the barn before the guests thought of leaving.—Jackson Patriot

NELSON-GANS FIGHT

To be Reproduced at the Opera House.

Complete arrangements have been made with "Doc" John Krone of Chicago (the sole owner of the original "Nelson-Gans" fight films taken at the ringside at Coffroth's Mission Street Arena in Colma, Calif., on Sept. 9th) whereby this complete set of films will be shown at the Bradley Opera House for one night only Tuesday, April 27th.

This film is put up in four reels of over 1000 feet each making in all over 4000 feet of film and shows every detail of this great fistic encounter from the training quarters of the fighters to the knock out of Gans in the 21 rounds. Every more is shown as plain and clearly as though you sat at the ringside in Colma, Calif. Nearly everyone is interested in this great fight as it marks the ending of the career of the greatest fighter that ever lived. That the public will never again have a chance to see the colored boy (Gans) in action in a championship battle. This is certainly the greatest film of its kind ever produced. Natural as life. It cost $10.00 a seat to witness this great battle at Colma, Calif. but this gives the people of Tecumseh and vicinity an opportunity to witness this championship contest fought over again in your own theatre at the small cost of only 25 cents any seat in the house. These are the only and original "Nelson-Gans" fight pictures, taken at the ringside in Colma, Calif., Sept. 4th. Remember the date, Opera House, Tuesday, April 27th Two performances 7:00 and 8:30 p. m. Doors open 6:30 p. m.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should stop, heal, soothe, and cease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label, if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good! Hereafter for this very reason mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's label—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites should always be kept in the house for the following reasons:

First—Because, if any member of the family has a hard cold, it will cure it.

Second—Because, if the children are delicate and sickly, it will make them strong and well.

Third—Because, if the father or mother is losing flesh and becoming thin and emaciated, it will build them up and give them flesh and strength.

Fourth—Because it is the standard remedy in all throat and lung affections.

No household should be without it.

WORTHY OF CONFIDENCE

An Offer Backed Up by One of the Most Reputable Concerns in Tecumseh.

We will either cure you of constipation or pay for all the medicine used during the trial. You pay us nothing if we fail. That's a mighty broad statement, and we mean every word of it. We will back it up with our own personal reputation, too. Could anything be more fair and secure for you.

The most scientific, common sense treatment is Rexall Orderlies. Their active principle is a very recent scientific discovery that is odorless, colorless and tasteless; very pronounced, gentle and pleasant in its action, and particularly agreeable in every way. This ingredient does not cause any diarrhoea, nausea, flatulence or griping. Rexall Orderlies are as pleasant to take as candy and are particularly good for children and delicate persons.

If you suffer from chronic or habitual constipation, or the associate or dependent chronic ailments, we urge you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Remember, you can only get them at our stores. B. J. Pulver, the druggist.

MOTHERS' DAY

Will be Celebrated May 9 in Connection with G. A. R. Memorial Service.

Through the instrumentality of Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia, Pa., last year, the second Sunday in May was observed or set apart as Mothers' Day and services were held in many churches, between five and six millions of persons throughout the United States celebrating the festival.

On the second Sunday in May this year, the day will be observed universally throughout the land and will be a universal fete day for filial worship. The white carnation has been selected to be worn, in memory of mother and each comrade is requested to wear one in the lapel of their coat to honor the memory of their mother.

A union service of the churches of the village will be held May 9 at the Presbyterian church to commemorate Mothers' Day and the union G. A. R. service.

Rev. D. Stanley Shaw will deliver the sermon and a few words will also be spoken by Comrade John D. Shull. Never before has Mothers' Day been celebrated in the state of Michigan and Commander-in-chief, Henry M. Nevins thought it was time that something was done to honor the mothers of '61 and '65 who performed so many acts of loyal patriotism and heroic self-devotion. The committee having charge of the arrangements are H. C. Daniels, chairman, James Ingersoll and George J. Keyser. The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

A GREAT EVENT

Opening of Selfridge & Co's.

Big London Department Store.

This greatest of business events ever known in the city of London, England, took place on March 15th, 1909. Selfridge's had opened its doors to the London public. It was the talk of the entire business world. It was a public festival of such magnitude that all London wondered. It was indeed a daring venture and undertaking, planned by one of America's greatest retail merchants a former member of the firm of Marshall Field & Co., Chicago.

Many thousands of people of London and from other lands attended this great event. This opening of a Palace of Wonders, this museum, this gallery of art, this greatest exhibition of the marvels of manufacture from all parts of the world. Londoners had never dreamed of such a store and no one but a man of the brains of a Selfridge could have ever concieved of such a shop. After a titanic struggle with many and great problems for 3 years, the building was finished and the doors thrown open.

It is said over one million and a quarter of people accepted the Selfridge invitation to be their guests for the opening week, and hundreds of letters were received complimenting the wonderful exhibits.

The luncheon hall was overwhelmd, nearly six thousand people served each day. A Roof Garden where dainty lunches are served. Twenty-one mammoth windows—twelve of which are the largest sheets of plate glass in the world. Smoking Rooms. Tea Garden, open to the sky, Reception Halls, Silence Room, Library, National, French, German, Colonial and American Room, Railway and Steamship Offices, Information bureau, Telegraph Office, Post Office and Hospital and a hundred or more departments, where everything is sold for ladies, men and children with all these things all and more for the convenience of the public such a store must be a success and certainly has a great future.

The founding and planning and head of the great institution is the work of Harry Gorden Selfridge, who passed his schoolboy days in Tecumseh, and we have now his name before us, in an old Tecumseh school catalogue. He is remembered by many of the grown up boys here.

He is a son of Mrs. Frances Selfridge and nephew of the late Hon. B. L. Baxter.

KLAW AND ERLANGER'S NEW AND GREATER "BEN HUR"

To be Staged in Jackson, Mich., May 10, 11 and 12.

Towering triumphantly as the most massive and picturesque as well as the most impressive dramatic spectacle in the history of the world, "Ben-Hur" will seek new honors at the Athenaeum, Jackson, Mich., on Monday evening, May 10, when it will open its second engagement in Jackson, which will be limited to three nights and special Wednesday matinee.

Of all the spectacular productions of modern times, none has been credited with so long a run of prosperity. "Ben-Hur" is today crowned with a record of more than 2500 performances in 9 years, and has been seen by more than seven million people. The success of the play is credited to the religious sentiment that prevails in the theme, making it particularly attractive to the non-theatregoer who as a rule avoids the playhouse, owing to religious scruples. "Ben-Hur" has the endorsement of the leading lights of the church world and has appealed to all theatregoers as the most powerful drama that has ever been created for the stage.

Wallace had few peers and no superiors in the art of presenting to the eye the imagery of scriptural scenes. In "Ben-Hur", his masterpiece, he gives the life, the color, the feeling, of the time of Christ. With these he presents an intense heart story, a heroic drama, filled with the tenderest emotions, tinged with the romance of love and war, exalted by the evidence of divine miracles performed by the Nazarene. Although the sacred presence is not shown, it is felt, and throughout the play runs the strong undercurrent of religious feeling which distinguishes "Ben-Hur" from all other dramatic offerings based on Biblical themes. The symbolism of Rome and Jerusalem, of Jew and Gentile, of peace and war, are shown, surrounding the great mystery of the presence of Christ. Each scene unfolds as a perfect picture, the whole blending in a living pageant.

In order to take care of out-of-town patrons for "Ben-Hur", Manager H. J. Porter of the Athenaeum will fill mail orders in accordance with date of their receipts, when accompanied by remittance. The scale of prices will range from 50c to $3.00. Seats will go on sale Thursday, May 6.

GREAT SUCCESS

Entertainment Given by Pupils of Tecumseh Schools Largely Attended.

THE PLAYS WELL RENDERED.

"Dream of Fairyland" and "Silas Marner" presenting glittering pictures of Fairyland and old colonial days.

The entertainment given by the pupils of the Tecumseh schools Friday evening, for the benefit of the athletic association, was a great success. Much credit is due the pupils for the successful way in which they carried out their parts and also the teachers, whose careful training enabled them to merit this praise. The first half of the evening was given over to the little folks, who presented, "A Dream of Fairyland". The characters of the two orphans taken by Blanche Snyder and Bonnie Brown were exceptionally well rendered their voices being heard in every part of the house. The old problem of the war between the good and the bad was presented by the fairies in an admirable manner. The vehemence with which the good fairies fought for their side invoked much applause. The chorus and the dialogue in which the bad fairies beseeched the good fairies to take them into their favor was very effective.

The drill by the Fireflies was one of the prettiest numbers of the evening. Their steps and forming of different figures would have done credit to much older ones. Their gowns of gold and green presented a very attractive appearance. The sprites in their elfish appearance brought down the house, appealing especially to the men. Hopping around in their red suits, they were veritable sprites. Their acrobatic feats as they left the stage brought them a good round encore to return, which they did making their bows and again bringing down the house. The grand finale consisted of the bad fairies transformed, the good fairies, the fireflies and sprites making a charming picture as the curtain went down. The girls chorus entertained the audience between the first and second parts, with two selections, the first being a medley and the second a lullaby. The play "Silas Marner" with a large cast of characters entertained the audience the rest of the evening and consisted of four acts. During the play the Virginia reel was danced and the company presented a quaint and beautiful appearance in their old colonial costumes. It was given with much grace and eclat.

The interest which the public takes in our public schools was shown by the sale of seats, every seat in the house being sold on the second day.

In years gone by, one of the main features of our schools, was the yearly exhibition and we are glad to see it revived again. We hope that this feature may be retained.

Financially it was a great success, netting the school about $165.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

While driving near the north branch school house Friday morning A. W. Mills was thrown from his buggy, hurting himself quite badly. His horse became frightened and getting beyond his control, threw him and smashed the buggy. Mr. Mills had his face cut and was bruised quite badly.

TO THE PEOPLE OF TECUMSEH.

I see the Royal Theatre window is lettered advertising the "Nelson-Gans" fight at 5 cents admission, but don't be misled into thinking you will see the original "Nelson-Gans" fight there. They are simply running the one reel which the former proprietor run some months ago which is but an impersonation of the real fight which is owned and controlled by the Chicago Film Exchange.

I paid $25.00 rent for the set of films which are four in number not one. They simply think they can step in and beat me out at the last minute after I have gone to the expense of advertising the films and have the films here for use. You can see the principle of the whole thing. Want to do a big thing at some else expense. I advertised this set of films over a week ago, they get the imitation reel this a. m. Patronize which ever one you wish, but if you want to see the real fight go to the opera house to-night. Yes the admission is 25 cents, but it is the whole fight from training quarters to knock out in the 21st round taken at the ringside at Colma, Calif., and not faked up.

Let your own judgement tell you who deserves the patronage the man who has advertised it both in newspapers and on the billboards for over a week and who has the whole four reels, or the one who sneaks out with a one reel impersonation of the real fight at the last minute and tries to do business after some one else has paid for all the advertising, films, etc.

Yours very truly
ED. L. MARK.

MISERABLE DYSPEPTICS

Not So Many in Tecumseh as There Were Before C. A. Wright & Son Guaranteed Mi-o-na.

"Mi-o-na was used by me for a stomach difficulty of long standing, and a cure obtained before I had used the remedy two weeks. I had hard, dull pains and cramps in my stomach, and this organ became sore, tender and weak. The trouble made me nervous and miserable. Mi-o-na put me on my feet in good shape, and entirely dispelled the stomach trouble; for this reason, it has my recommendation and hearty endorsement." William Lanning, Adrian st., Tecumseh, Mich., Oct. 15, 1908.

If you have dyspepsia or any distressing ailment of the stomach, Mi-o-na tablets will give you relief in a few hours.

In nearly every case Mi-o-na will effect a permanent cure in two weeks.

Not by digesting the food artificially, mind you, for that method never did and never will cure dyspepsia, but by building up and putting strength and energy into the flabby, overworked walls of the stomach so that it can easily digest its own food.

Mi-o-na is the greatest of all stomach tonics. Take it two weeks and you will feel better, healthier, happier; your skin will be clearer; your eyes brighter.

C. A. Wright & Son sell Mi-o-na at 50c a large box, under a guarantee from the makers to cure dyspepsia, sea or car sickness, vomiting of pregnancy, and effects of the night before, or money back.

FOR SALE BY B. J. BULVER, TECUMSEH, MICH.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by all dealers.

"SEARCH AND SEIZURE" BILL PASSES SENATE

House Won't Eliminate Senator From Primary Bill.

Lansing, Mich., April 22.—The senate, by a vote of 27 to 4, Wednesday passed the Dickinson "search and seizure" bill, as well as a bill requiring newspapers to publish timetables of railroads at rates established in the bill.

The house took up the primary election bill Wednesday and by a vote in committee of the whole of 38 to 46 refused to strike out the provision providing for the nomination of United States senators.

The house killed the Michigan Horse Breeders' association bill designed to improve by examination and registration the quality of breeding horses. The bill had no reference to trotting stock. Objections made to it were that it was largely in the interest of breeders of high grade and expensive stock.

AUTO MOUNTAIN CLIMB.

Drivers to Guide Machines Up Steep Slope of Historic Lookout Mountain.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 22.—Up the steep slope of Lookout mountain, where Union and Confederate soldiers struggled for mastery back in the sixties, automobile drivers will contest for prizes today, tomorrow and the next day.

The conditions of the contests call for drives to the top of the mountain, 2,000 feet above sea level, along a path five miles in length and abounding in sharp turns.

While the climb is difficult, arrangements have been made to have government troops guard the course, and it is certain that both contestants and spectators will be protected. The events have been sanctioned by the American Automobile association. They are held under the auspices of the Lookout Mountain Automobile club of this city.

There will be eight events.

Mercer, Pa., April 22.—Mrs. Boyle, the alleged wife of James H. Boyle, abductor of Willie Whitla, is a mystery no longer. The woman is Helen McDermott of Chicago. Attorney T. C. Cochrane, representing the prosecution, has admitted that Mrs. Boyle was Helen McDermott.

Her family lives in Chicago.

Why Suffer?

If you suffer pain from any cause, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills will relieve it—and leave no bad after-effects. That's the important thing. Neither do they create a habit. More often the attacks become less frequent, or disappear altogether. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have no other effect except to relieve pain and quiet nervous irritation.

"We are never without Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. My husband and son, aged 15 were always subject to sick headache until we began using these Pills, and they have broken them up entirely. Don't think they have had to use them for six months. I recommend them to every one. A few weeks ago I heard an old lady friend was sick. I went to see her. She was down with LaGrippe, and nearly crazy with awful backache. I gave her one of the Anti-Pain Pills and left another for her to take in a short time. They helped her right away, and she says she will never be without them again. Last winter my husband was taken with pleurisy on both sides, and I know he would have died if it hadn't been for the Pills. In less than half an hour he was sweating, and went to bed and slept."

President Taft has taken up for consideration and investigation, and with a promise to act at once, a complaint filed with him alleging that the western railroads were discriminating against Salt Lake City, Ogden and other intermountain cities in the matter of freight rates and violating the anti-trust laws. The charges are made by Senator Smoot and others.

WILD MACEDONIA.

Strenuous Life Amid Savage Animals in the Balkans.

Besides some warlike men Macedonia contains an abundance of wild animals. A traveler writes: "By the side of oaks and walnuts you find great tortoises and snakes eight feet long, and bears and wolves abound. They are a serious drag upon industry, and even in civilized Bulgaria it has lately been found necessary to increase the government rewards for killing them. I believe it to be a true story that a party of peasants with horses was not long ago wholly destroyed by wolves in the Mori Hovo mountains, nothing but the bits and stirrup irons being found to record them.

"In the same hills the peasants migrate for the summer to lofty shoulders where the land is flat enough to grow little patches of maize, and here, night after night, they will sit up with a fire to drive off bears. There are tragic stories of women with babies in their arms beating off bears with burning brands from the fire.

"The prevalence of eagles is a delightful feature for the traveler, and on the cliffs of Montenegro I once counted at the same moment thirty-nine ravens."

After the dry goods salesman had completed his business with Cyrus Craig, Centerville's one storekeeper, he asked what was going on in the town. "Had any entertainments this season?" he inquired.

"No," said Mr. Craig. "Not one. Salome Howe's pupils have given two concerts, piano and organ, and the principal of the 'cademy has lectured twice, once on 'Our National Forests' and once on 'Stones as I Know Them,' but as far as entertainments are concerned Centerville hasn't got round to 'em yet this season."—Youth's Companion.

Laxative for Women Free

There is a great difference in the purposes to which a laxative should be put. Tablets and pills, salts, etc., are usually violent purgatives or cathartics, and altogether too powerful for the average person.

A woman at all times needs only a mild laxative—in fact, none other is needed by anyone, weak or strong though they may be, for the object is simply to move the bowels, and if a gentle laxative will do it, what is the use of a violent one?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has earned a well-deserved vogue among women and children and old folks—people who must necessarily be careful of what they take. It is a liquid laxative tonic and admittedly the greatest stomach, liver and bowel remedy before the American people. The price is only 50 cents or $1 a bottle, as it comes in both sizes, and all druggists sell it. Its pleasant taste and gentle action make it an ideal remedy for women in constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn and such like digestive complaints. Its use for a short time will remove the trouble entirely so that future medication will be unnecessary. Its tonic properties build up the stomach and intestinal muscles so that they act naturally again. That this is so is the experience of many heads of families, like Mrs. Brannan, of Alvarado, Va., Mrs. K. L. Stout, of Louisville, Ky., and numerous others; in fact, way out in Williams, Cal., as Mrs. J. E. Blackmore, of that place, writes, the whole town seems to be using it.

If the remedy is new to you and you want to make a trial of it before buying, send your name to the doctor's address as below and a free test bottle will be sent you. Then, if results are satisfactory you can buy it of your druggist.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

Mrs. Lydia Coon Brown, aged sixty-nine years, wife of the late United States Senator Brown of Utah, is dead in Columbus, O., of paralysis.

The famous old St. Louis cathedral in Chartres street, New Orleans, was shaken by an explosion believed to have resulted from the placing of a bomb in the south tower of the building. The church was empty of worshipers.

Mrs. Olive Fremstad of the Metropolitan Opera House and 200 guests had to leave the Battery Park hotel in Asheville, N. C., clad only in night garments when fire broke out in the hotel laundry and threatened the hotel. The fire was soon extinguished.

The body of William M. Stewart, former United States senator from Nevada, who died in Washington, was cremated in accordance with a wish expressed just before his death. The ashes will be sealed in an urn and taken to Bull Frog, Nev., for interment.

ON AN OCEAN LINER.

It Doesn't Pay to Get Haughty With the Stewards.

"Never, oh, never, speak harsh words of rebuke to a steward on an ocean liner," declared a congressman of New York.

"One summer I journeyed over to the other side. The first day out, at mealtime, I found that I had to embrace the table leg to get near enough to operate with my knife and fork. For my unpleasant seat I called the steward to account. Most harsh was my criticism. Then I told him I would have my meals served thereafter in the upper cabin.

"The next morning the cabin steward told me of a better room and that I should get it immediately. It was more costly and elaborately furnished than the one I occupied with my traveling companion. Then, too, it was on the main deck. I looked over the new room and decided to change. I had my luggage, with that of my friend, moved below. When my friend found the new quarters he gasped with horror. 'Man alive!' he said, 'this is the worst hole on the ship. You and I are in for a great big seasick.' We got every jar of the ship and good and seasick too.

"The day I landed the dining room steward met me on the deck. 'Much obliged for changing,' he said. 'It was at my request that the cabin steward got you to move. The gentleman ahead of you in that cabin and who wanted to move gave me $75 to fix the deal. I thank you for what is a most glorious tip."—Washington Post.

Keepsakes.

Washington Irving, who wrote the following lines on the value of trifles, evidently believed in them as emblems of friendship:

"There is something, after all, in those trifles that friends bestow upon each other which is an unfailing indication of the place the giver holds in the affections. I would believe that one who preserved a lock of hair, a simple flower or any trifle of my bestowing loved me, though no show was made of it, while all the protestations in the world would not win my confidence in one who set no value on such little things. Trifles they may be, but it is by such that character and disposition are oftenest revealed."

Just For a Change.

"What I want," said the theatrical manager, "is a genuine novelty."

"Something realistic?" asked the playwright.

"Yes, but I don't want any real pugilists or real naval disasters or real live stock or real battles in it."

The playwright looked wearily thoughtful and, after a pause, inquired:

"How would it do to spring something on the public, with real actors in it?"—London Tit-Bits.

FOUND IN DETROIT.

Near-Bride Refuses to Return With Prospective Husband.

Detroit, Mich., April 26.—Harriet Mitchell, the South Haven girl who was to have been married Saturday to Harry Elsie of Galesburg, but who suddenly disappeared last week, has been located in Detroit. When asked to account for her actions, she said:

"I left home because I didn't want to marry Harry Elsie, and I knew if I stayed it would cause trouble. I consented to marry him because my folks wanted me to, not because I ever bore him any love. We were to have been married Saturday noon, but everything is off now."

Elsie has been in the city since Friday searching for the girl. He enlisted the aid of the police and, with Lieutenant Baker, visited all the hotels and cigar factories. At the Grand Union it was found she had registered as the wife of a former sweetheart. He was found and said he had seen her twice and told where she was living. Elsie thereupon went and saw her, but she refused to return with him.

WADED INTO WATER DURING A FIT.

Lansing Man In Bad Shape Due to Exposure.

Lansing, Mich., April 26.—Standing in the icy Grand river, water up to his chin, John F. Rown, aged thirty-five years, a painter of this city, was found by C. A. Leggitt, who lives near the river at that point.

Leggitt was walking along the river bank when he saw a man's head above the water near the opposite side. Procuring a boat he rowed out and brought the man ashore. He was then unconscious.

Rown was half frozen, and it was several hours after his removal to the hospital that he was revived. He is in a precarious condition as a result of exposure.

Many people were of the opinion that Rown attempted to drown himself, but he emphatically denies this. He has been subject to fits, and while in one he is minus his senses. He says he doesn't remember how he got in the water, but the supposition is that he walked in while his mind was partially deranged.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say, that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

TELLS OF ADANA MASSACRE.

Missionary Describes Peril That She and Others Faced.

FIGHTING IN THE STREETS.

Two Days of Terrible Suspense For Mission Settlement In Turkish City. Government Soldiers Arrive In Time to Prevent Mob Attacking Mission School For Girls.

Adana, Asiatic Turkey, May 1, via Constantinople, May 3.—Miss Elizabeth S. Webb, a missionary of the American board, from Bunker Hill, Ill., has written a narrative of her experiences for the mission board during the first days of the massacres in Adana when the girl's school to which she was attached was in the greatest danger and the lives of the students were threatened from all sides. She says:

"Our friends came to school as usual on Wednesday (April 21). Although we heard that there was a good deal of unrest in the city, we went on with our preparations for a school entertainment which was to be held the next day. Soon firing began in the city, and before noon things were in such a disturbed condition that we were afraid to send the day scholars home.

"As night came on fires began to flare up in all directions, and we were fearful that the rioters would break into the school buildings."

Miss Webb, continuing, tells of two days passed in the school while murder and incendiarism reigned in the streets. The English consul came to the school three different times and left guards, but all of them deserted.

Women Fought Fire.

Finally buildings so near the school were fired that it became necessary for the women and girls to join what few men there were in the missionary settlement and fight back the flames. Two of the men, Mr. Rogers and Mr. Maurer, were shot, death resulting in both cases.

Finally a new danger sprang up. A mob gathered at the rear of the house, bent on an attack. A guard of self-appointed Armenians kept them back for a time, but the danger grew so great it was necessary to take the young girls to the house of Mr. Chambers, which was accomplished with much difficulty.

At last aid was sent from the Turkish government house, after a vigorous appeal on the part of the missionaries.

The real cause of the fighting is found in the conclusion of her letter, which reads thus:

"We hear, it seems quite possible, that because of the disturbance in Constantinople the officials in Adana did not know which side to join, so they simply let things take their course and permitted the Turks and Armenians to fight it out between them."

AMADOR IS DEAD.

First President of Panama Has Passed Away.

Panama, May 3.—Dr. Manuel Amador, first president of the republic of Panama, is dead, after a lingering illness. He was seventy-five years old.

Manuel Amador was one of the prime movers in the revolution, in 1903, against Colombia which led to the independence of Panama. He was born at Cartagena and early in life engaged in commercial business. Later he began the practice of medicine, finally becoming one of the eminent physicians of his country.

Dr. Amador, prior to the last presidential election, wrote a letter to his constituents, declining renomination, and General Obaldia, last December, was elected in his stead.

Estimated 300 Lives Were Sacrificed in the South.

Atlanta, Ga., May 3.—The storm which for three days has been sweeping with destructive effect eastward across the southern states has passed out into the Atlantic ocean.

The havoc wrought in its path included probably 300 killed, twice as many injured and property worth several millions of dollars destroyed, and business and communication well nigh demoralized.

Two West Detroit Women Killed Near Cleveland.

Cleveland, May 3.—Two women were killed, one boy was seriously injured, and three persons were hurt when a Pennsylvania flyer collided with a carriage at Bedford, twelve miles south of Cleveland. The dead:

Mrs. Fred Meyers, West Detroit.

NATIONS MEET TO TALK PEACE

Congress of War's Enemies Assemble In Chicago.

MANY LANDS REPRESENTED.

United States, Great Britain, France, Germany, China, Japan and the South American Countries Officially Interested In Pacific Movement. Governor Welcomes Delegates.

Chicago, May 3.—The second national peace congress, which opened in this city today and will remain in session until Wednesday evening, is wider in scope than the United States. It should be termed an international peace conference, since the representatives of many nations are taking part in its deliberations.

The nations represented in the congress, besides the United States, are the South American republics, Great Britain, Germany, France and Japan. Envoys and other official delegates from the embassies and legations of these countries will deliver addresses. Among the other speakers will be the greater part of the American women and men who have been active in the movement for the abolition of war among nations.

Ballinger Represents the President.

It had been expected that Secretary of War Dickinson would represent the government at the opening of the congress and deliver one of the opening addresses. His trip to Panama intervened, however, and Secretary of the Interior Ballinger was delegated by President Taft to declare the cordial sentiments of the Washington government toward the congress and its purposes. Among the other Americans interested in the congress are Edward Everett Hale, Archbishop Ireland, Charles W. Eliot, former president of Harvard; President David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford, Jr., university, Mrs. Philip N. Moore, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead of Boston, Senator Theodore E. Burton, Governor Deneen and Samuel Gompers.

Welcomed by Governor and Mayor.

An address of welcome to the state of Illinois was delivered to the delegates by Governor Deneen, and Mayor Busse spoke for the city of Chicago. Other opening addresses were those on "The Present Position of the Peace Movement," by Benjamin F. Trueblood, secretary of the American Peace society; "A World Petition to the Third Hague Conference," by Mrs. Anna B. Eckstein of Boston, and "The Biology of War," by Professor Jordan.

Among the questions to be discussed at the congress is that of the establishment of a supreme court of the nations at The Hague to settle disputes between nations. The present congress is the successor of the first national peace congress, held in New York in April, 1907.

Strike Troubles In Buenos Ayres.

Buenos Ayres, May 3.—The Socialist party and the Workmen's federation have decided to declare a general strike as a protest against the events of Saturday, when, at the May day celebrations, a collision occurred between the crowds and the police in which a large number were killed or wounded.

Dog Struck Gun.

Mecosta, Mich., May 3.—Herman Strong, aged eighteen years, son of Seth Strong, while out hunting with his brother, Orton, and Wellington Cole, two miles north of Mecosta, was instantly killed by an accidental discharge of shot from his brother's gun. The unfortunate boy was about four feet from his brother when their dog struck the trigger of the latter's gun, sending the entire charge of shot into Herman's neck.

NONE OF BODIES CAME ASHORE.

Lake Falls to Give Up Dead of Ill-Fated George Nester.

LIGHTKEEPER SAW TRAGEDY.

Only Eye-witness Graphically Describes Scene When Craft Struck Rocks, Went to Pieces and Seven Men Perished—Came Near Losing Own Life In Attempt at Rescue.

Menominee, Mich., May 3.—The bodies of none of the seven sailors who lost their lives in the wreck of the schooner George Nester have yet been found. The Huron mountain coast will be patrolled for that purpose all week. Frank Wittie, keeper of the Huron island light, the only eye-witness of the disaster, graphically tells of the tragedy of the schooner. Wittie is suffering from a dislocated shoulder, the result of an effort to save some of the ill-fated crew.

"A blinding snow storm, driven before a sixty mile gale, was raging, and spray was being dashed 150 fet high over the lighthouse and into the water on the opposite side of the island," said he, "when about 11:45 Friday morning I heard the distress whistle of a vessel about 200 feet east of the fog signal.

"Rushing toward the sound, I saw a barge, being driven at the mercy of the waves, within hailing distance. While the crew was frantically endeavoring to hoist sail to clear the island, the craft was driven against the cliff below me and her bow crushed to splinters. Another swell and the boat was dashed to pieces on the rocks. For a moment I saw four of the crew in the water and heard them call, 'For God's sake throw us a line.'

"The men were fifty feet below me, and my utmost efforts to get a line to them only resulted in its being blown back on the rocks by the terrific gale. A moment later tney went out of sight in watery graves."

As the lightkeeper was standing on the rocks, endeavoring to get a lifeline to the drowning men, the waves momentarily threatening to wash him into the sea, a beam from the wrecked vessel struck him and dislocated his shoulder.

He was rescued from being swept away by Assistant Keeper Casper Kuhn and carried out of danger. Had the Nester drifted 100 feet further north she would have escaped the rocks and would have been saved.

SWEPT DOWN RIVER.

Current Carries Flint Man to His Death.

Flint, Mich., May 3.—Caught by the heavy current, Henry Davison, thirty-five years old, an employe of the Flushing flour mill, was swept down the mill dam to his death. His body will probably never be found.

Davidson was wading the river near the bank in an effort to recover a quantity of driftwood, when he was suddenly dragged out into midstream. Two men, watching the river from the office of the flour company, and especially watching Davison, saw the man's predicament and started to his rescue. They ran several hundred feet to the nearest bridge, but just as they arrived Davidson's body was swept swiftly by.

School Fund $5 Per Pupil.

Lansing, Mich., April 3.—Auditor General Fuller has announced the apportionment of the primary school fund, which amounts this spring to $3,736,355. There are 747,271 children of school age in the state, according to the census reports received by the superintendent of public instruction, and on this basis the apportionment will be at the rate of $5 per child. Last year there were within 200 of as many children as were counted in this year's census. The amount distributed per child then was $6.50. Cost of storm.

CASTRO'S LATEST SCHEME.

Plans to Sue France For Damages Because of His Expulsion.

Paris, May 3.—Cipriano Castro, former president of Venezuela, is reported to be consulting with lawyers here with a view to bringing a damage suit against the French government for his recent expulsion from Martinique.

As the government has the power to expel foreigners at its discretion, Senor Castro, it is said, purposes basing his action on the fact that he was forcibly placed aboard a ship at Martinique and compelled to return to France without being given the option of choosing his destination.

NEAL GIVES WARNING.

Tells of Danger Lurking In Use of Gasoline For Washing.

Northville, Mich., May 3.—State Oil Inspector Neal's first quarterly report for 1909 for the three months ending March 31st shows the inspection by deputies of 6,210,721 gallons of illuminating oil in Michigan. The fees received totaled $12,501.52. After paying all salaries and expenses, there is to turn over to the state treasurer $4,790.43.

The state oil inspector in his report calls attention to accidents of a serious nature that are happening as the result of pouring gasoline in tubs of hot water for washing purposes. Gasoline emits a highly explosive vapor at 70 degrees temperature, the heat of an ordinary room. In a tub of hot water the vapor forms much more rapidly, and the danger is correspondingly increased. The room is at once filled with the gas and is quickly exploded from any artificial light, (electric excepted), stove or heater in the room, and the result is always serious injury to life and property.

NO INDICTMENT TRIALS IN MAY.

Jackson's Prosecutor Won't Push Cases.

Jackson, Mich., May 3.—Twenty indictments have been handed down by the grand jury in the circuit court, marking the close of the investigation which has been in progress since March 1.

These indictments include nineteen different persons.

Presecuting Attorney Reece states that, in his opinion, none of the men indicted by the grand jury would be tried during the May term of the circuit court.

The jury filed the indictments with Judge Parkinson. Foreman John M. Boardman read the grand jury report dealing with [illegible] thought to be of sufficient importance to warrant publicity.

Under the statute none of the names of the indicted persons were announced in court and will not be until the men are brought into court for bail or arraignment. The theory of the law is that all names should be kept secret until the persons wanted are apprehended, in order to prevent possible escapes.

As a matter of fact, all the men concerned in the state cases are well known, the other indictments being against local plumbers and one other man, which latter is an entirely distinct case.

Until the indictments are read it will be impossible to tell just how they are drawn up, though in several cases it is probable that two or more persons are covered by one indictment.

It is understood that the list of those indicted is as follows:

Allen N. Armstrong, former warden.
John Wenger, acting warden.
Milton J. Daly of Chicago, selling agent of sisal and binder twine machinery.
A. J. Emminger, postmaster at Miamisburg, O., and president of the Hoover & Gamble company, which had the contract for manufacturing and installing the binder twine machinery in the Michigan state prison.
Fred Snyder, farmer, who held the prison swill contract.
Carl G. Trumble, druggist.
Michael Norris of Jackson, president of the Norris Grocery company.
Charles A. Elliott of Jackson, well digger.
George T. Maino, Jackson City Boiler works, which furnishes oil tanks to the prison.
Clyde E. Elwood, treasurer of the J. E. Bartlett Building Supplies company.
J. J. Dowsett, J. H. Mahoney, Luther H. Newby, Luther A. Nowlin, J. E. Murray, Sebastian J. Wirt, William Wirtz and W. J. Bell, all members of the Jackson Master Plumbers' association.

There is one other indictment about which there is much mystery.

Strike Ties Up Fifteen Boats.

Chicago, May 3.—Fifteen boats controlled by the Lake Carriers' association are tied up in South Chicago as a result of the strike of the Lake Seamen's union.

Babe In Basket In Blizzard.

Erie, Pa., May 3.—Lying in a half bushel basket, well protected with blankets, but completely covered with snow, a girl baby, three weeks old, was found during a blizzard on the doorsteps of John Lary at 1815 Cascade street. The police are searching for two women.

Cold In France.

Paris, May 3.—Northeastern France is in the grip of an unprecedented cold wave. There have been snowfalls at several places, and it is feared that the fruit crops and vineyards have been seriously damaged.

THE BARRIER

By Rex Beach

The old man hesitated. "I'll own I was wrong," he said finally, staring out into the sunshine with an odd expression. "It was thoughtless and wrong dead wrong, but I've loved you better than any daughter was ever loved in this wide world, and I've worked and starved and froze and saved, and so has Alluna, so that you might have something to live on when I'm gone and be different from us. It won't be long now, I guess. I've given you the best schooling of any girl on the river, and I'd have sent you out to a convent in the States, but I couldn't let you go so far away. I loved you too much for that! I couldn't do it, girl. I've tried, but you're all I've got, and I'm a selfish man, I reckon."

"No, no! You're not!" his daughter cried impulsively. "You're everything that's good and dear, but you've lived a different life from other men, and you see things differently. It was mean of me to talk as I did." She put her arms around his neck and hugged him. "But I'm very unhappy, dad."

"Don't you aim to tell what started this?" he said gently, caressing her with his great, hard hand as softly as a mother. But she shook her head, and he continued, "I'll take the first boat down to the mission and marry your ma if you want me to."

"That wouldn't do any good," said she. "We'd better leave things as they are." Then she drew away and smiled at him bravely from the door. "I'm very bad to act this way. Scuses."

He nodded, and she went out.

Necia was in a restless mood, and, remembering that Alluna and the children had gone berrying on the slopes behind the Indian village, she turned her way thither. All at once a fear of seeing Meade Burrell came upon her. She wanted to think this out, to find where she stood, before he had word with her. She had been led to observe herself from a strange angle and must verify her vision, as it were. What if he had changed now that he was alone and had had time to think? It would kill her if she saw any difference in him, and she knew she would be able to read it in his eyes.

As she went through the main street of the camp she saw Stark occupied near the water front, where he had bought a building lot. He spoke to her as she was about to pass.

"Good morning, miss. Are you rested from your trip?"

She answered that she was and would have continued on her way, but he stopped her.

"I don't want you to think that mining matter was my doing," he said. "I've got nothing against you. Your old man hasn't wasted any affection on me, and I can get along without him, all right, but I don't make trouble for girls if I can help it."

The girl believed that he meant what he said. His words rang true, and he spoke seriously. Moreover, Stark was known already in the camp as a man who did not go out of his way to make friends or to render an accounting of his deeds, so it was natural that when he made her a show of kindness Necia should treat him with less coldness than might have been expected. The man had exercised an occult influence upon her from the time she first saw him at Lee's cabin, but it was too vague for definite feeling, and she had been too strongly swayed by Poleon and her father in their attitude toward him to be conscious of it.

"I'm going to build a big dance hall and saloon here," said Stark, showing her the stakes that he had driven. "As soon as the rush to the creek is over I'll hire a gang of men to get out a lot of house logs. I'll finish it in a week and be open for the stampede."

"Do you think this will be a big town?" she asked.

"Nobody can tell, but I'll take a chance. If it proves to be a false alarm I'll move on."

"You've been in a great many camps, I suppose."

He said that he had; that for twenty years he had been on the frontier and knew it from west Texas to the circle.

"I've never known anything except this." She swept the points of the compass with her arm. "And there is so much beyond that I want to know about. Oh, I feel so ignorant! There is something now that perhaps you could tell me, you have traveled so much."

"Let's have it," said he, smiling at her seriousness.

She hesitated, at a loss for words, finally blurting out what was in her mind:

"My father is a squaw man, Mr. Stark, and I've been raised to think that such things are customary."

"They are in all new countries," he assured her.

"But how are they regarded when civilization comes along?"

"Well, they aren't regarded, as a rule. Squaw men are pretty shiftless, and people don't pay much attention to them. I guess if they weren't they wouldn't be squaw men."

"My father isn't shiftless," she challenged, at which he remained silent, refusing to go on record. "Isn't a half breed just as good as a white?"

"Look here," said he. "What are you driving at?"

"I'm a 'blood,'" she declared recklessly, "and I want to know what people think of me. The men around here have never made me feel conscious of it, but"—

"You're afraid of these new people who are coming, eh? Well, don't worry about that, miss. It wouldn't make any difference to me or to any of your friends whether you were red, white, black or yellow."

"But it would make a difference with some people," insisted the girl.

"Oh, I reckon it would with eastern people. They look at things kind of funny. But we're not in the east."

"That's what I wanted to know. Nice people back there wouldn't tolerate a girl like me for a moment, would they?"

He shrugged his shoulders. "I guess you'd have a hard time breaking in among the 'bontonners.' But what's the use of thinking about it? This is your country, and these are your people."

A morbid desire was upon her to track down this intangible racial distinction, but she saw Runnion, whom she could not bear, coming toward them, so thanked Stark hurriedly and went on her way.

"Been making friends with that squaw, eh?" remarked Runnion casually.

"Yes," replied Stark. "She's a nice little girl, and I like her. I told her I didn't have any part in that miners' meeting affair."

"Huh! What's the matter with you? It was all your doing."

"I know it was, but I didn't aim it at her. I wanted that ground next to Lee's, and I wanted to throw a jolt into Old Man Gale. I couldn't let the girl stand in my way. But now that it's over I'm willing to be friends with her."

"Anybody would ever know she was a breed."

"She's a good girl," said Stark musingly in a gentle tone that Runnion had never heard before.

"Getting kind of mushy, ain't you? I thought you had passed that stage, old man."

"No; I don't like her in that way."

"I'll lay you a little eight to five that Burrell has thrown her down," chuckled Runnion.

"I never thought of that. You may be right."

"If it's true I'll shuffle up a hand for that soldier."

Meanwhile Necia had passed on out of the town and through the Indian village at the mouth of the creek until high up on the slopes she saw Alluna and the little ones. She climbed up to them and seated herself where she could look far out over the westward valley, with the great stream flowing half a mile beneath her. She stayed there all the morning, and, although the day was bright and the bushes bending with their burden of blue, she picked no berries, but fought resolutely through a dozen varying moods that mirrored themselves in her delicate face. It was her first soul struggle, but in time the buoyancy of youth and the almighty optimism of early love prevailed. And so she was in a happier frame of mind when the little company made their descent at midday.

As they approached the town they heard the familiar cry of "Steamboo-o-at!" and by the time they had reached home the little camp was noisy with the plaint of wolf dogs. There were few men to join in the welcome today, every ablebodied inhabitant having disappeared into the hills, but the animals came trooping lazily to the bank and sat down on their haunches, watching the approaching steamer, in their soft eyes the sadness of a canine race of slaves.

The deserted aspect of the town puzzled the captain of the steamer, and upon landing he made his way at once to John Gale's store, where he learned from the trader of the strike and of the stampede that had resulted. Before the recital was finished a man approached and spoke excitedly:

"Captain, my ticket reads to Dawson, but I'm getting off here. Won't you have my outfit put ashore?" He was followed by a group of fellow passengers, who made a similar request.

"This place is good enough for me," one of them said.

"Me, too," another volunteered. "This strike is new, and we've hit her just in time."

Outside a dozen men had crowded "No Creek" Lee against the wall of the store and were clamoring to hear about his find.

Stark wasted no time. With money in his hands, he secured a dozen men who were willing to work for hire, for there are always those who prefer the surety of ten coined dollars to the hope of a hundred. He swooped down with these helpers on his pile of merchandise that had lain beneath tarpaulins on the river bank since the day he and Runnion landed, and by midafternoon a great tent had been stretched over a framework of peeled poles built on the lot where he and Necia had stood earlier in the day. Before dark his saloon was running. To be sure, there was no floor, and his polished fixtures looked strangely new and incongruous, but the town at large had assumed a similar air of incompleteness and crude immaturity, and little wonder, for it had grown threefold in half a day. Stark swiftly unpacked his gambling implements, keen to scent every advantage, and out of the handful of pale faced jackals who follow at the heels of a healthy herd he hired men to run them and to deal.

By night Flambeau was a mining camp.

CHAPTER X.

MEADE BURRELL FINDS A PATH IN THE MOONLIGHT.

"NO CREEK" LEE had come into his own at last and was a hero, for the story of his long ill luck was common gossip now, and men praised him for his courage. He had never been praised for anything before and was uncertain just how to take it.

"Say, are these people kiddin' me?" he inquired confidentially of Poleon.

"W'y? W'at you mean?"

"Well, there's a feller makin' a speech about me down by the landin'."

"W'at he say?"

"It ain't nothin' to fight over. He says I'm another Dan'l Boom, leadin' the march of empire westward. Certainly sounds good, but is it on the level?"

"Waal, I guess so," admitted Poleon.

The prospector swelled with indignation. "Then why in h—l didn't you fellers tell me long ago?"

The scanty ounce or two of gold from his claim lay in the scales at the post, where every newcomer might examine it, and, realizing that he was a never ending source of information, they fawned on him for his tips, bribing him with newspapers worth $1 each or with cigars, which he wrapped up carefully and placed in his mackinaw till every pocket of the rusty garment bulged so that he could not sit without losing them. They dwelt upon his lightest word and stood him up beside the bar, where they filled him with proofs of friendliness until he shed tears from his one good eye.

Cautiously at first he let out his wit, which was logy from long disuse and as heavy on its feet as the jumping frog of Calaveras, but when they laughed at its labored leaps and sallies his confidence grew. With the regularity of a clock he planted cigars and ordered "a little more hard stuff," while his roving eye rejoiced in lachrymose profusion, its overburden losing itself in the tangle of his careless beard. By and by he wandered through the town, trailed by a troop of tenderfeet, till the women marked him, whereupon he fled back to the post and hugged the bar, for he was a bashful man. When Stark's new place opened it offered him another retreat, of which he availed himself for some time. But late in the evening he reappeared at Old Man Gale's store, walking a bit unsteadily, and as he mounted the flight of logs to the door he stepped once too often.

"What's become of that fourth step?" he demanded sharply of Poleon.

"Dere she is," said the Frenchman.

"I'm blamed if it is. You moved it since I was here."

"I'll have 'im put back," laughed the other.

"Say, it's a grand thing to be rich, ain't it?"

"I don't know. I ain' never try it."

"Well, it is, and now that I've arrived I'm goin' to change my ways complete. No more extravagance in mine. I'll never lend another cent."

"W'at's dat?" ejaculated Doret in amazement.

"No more hard luck stories and 'hurry ups' for mine. I'm the stony hearted jailer, I am, from now, henceforth, world 'thout end, amen! No busted miners need apply. I've been a good thing, but tonight I turn on the time lock."

"Ba gosh! You're funny feller," laughed Poleon, who had lent the one eyed man much money in the past and, like others, regarded him not merely as a bad risk, but as a total loss. "Mebbe you t'ink you've been a spen't'rif' all dese year."

Doret took the hero of the day by the arm and led him to the rear of the store, where he bedded him on a pile of flour sacks, but he had hardly returned to the bar when Lee came veering out of the dimness, making for the light like a ship tacking toward a beacon.

"What kind of flour is that?" he spluttered.

"Say, are these people kiddin' me?" he inquired.

"Dat's just plain w'eat flour."

"Not on your life," said the miner, with the firmness of a great conviction. "It's full of yeast powders. Why, it's r'arin' and risin' like a buckin' hoss. I'm plumb seasick." He laid a zigzag course for the door.

"W'ere you goin'?" asked Poleon.

"I'm goin' to get somethin' for this stomach trouble. It's fierce." He descended into the darkness boldly and stepped off with confidence—this time too soon. Poleon heard him floundering about, his indignant voice raised frascibly, albeit with a note of triumph.

"Wha'd I tell you? You put that step back while I was ashleep." Then, whistling blithely, if somewhat out of tune, he steered for the new saloon to get something for his "stomach trouble."

At Stark's he found a large crowd of the new men, who welcomed him heartily, plying him with countless questions and harking to his maudlin tales of this new country which to him was old. He had followed the muddy river from Crater lake to the delta, searching the bars and creek beds in a tireless quest till he knew each stream and tributary, and, like Gale, he had lived these many years ahead of the law, where each man was his own court of appeals and where crime was unknown.

"Oh, there's lots of countries worse'n this," he declared. "We may not be very han'some to the naked eye, and we may not wear our handk'chiefs in our shirt cuffs, but there ain't no widders and orphans doin' our washin', and a man can walk away from his house, stay a month and find it there when he comes back."

"Those days are past," said Stark. "There's too many new people coming in for all to be honest."

"They'd better be," said Lee aggressively. "We ain't got no room for stealers. Why, I had a hand in makin' the bylaws of this camp myself, 'long with John Gale, and they stip'lates that any person caught robbin' a cache is to be publicly whipped in front of the tradin' post; then, if it's winter time, he's to be turned loose on the ice barefooted, or, if it's summer, he's to be set adrift on a log with his shirt off."

"Either would mean certain death," said a stranger—"frost in winter, mosquitoes in summer!"

"That's all right," another bystander declared. "A man's life depends on his grub up here, and I'd be in favor of enforcing that punishment to the letter."

"All the same, I take no chances," said Stark. "There's too many strangers here. Just to show you how I stand, I've put Runnion on guard over my pile of stuff, and I'll be glad when it's under cover. It isn't the severity of punishment that keeps a man from going wrong; it's the certainty of it."

"Well, he'd sure get it, and get it proper, in this camp," declared Lee, and at that moment, as if his words had been a challenge, the flaps of the great tent were thrust aside, and Runnion half led, half threw a man into the open space before the bar.

"Let's have a look at you," he panted. "Well, if it ain't a nigger!"

"What's up?" cried the men crowding about the prisoner, who crouched, terror stricken, in the trampled mud and moss, while those playing roulette and "bank" left the tables, followed by the dealers.

"He's a thief," said Runnion, mopping the sweat from his brow. "I caught him after your grub pile, Stark. He dropped a crate of hams when I came upon him and tried to run, but I dropped him." A trickle of blood from the negro's head showed how he had been felled.

"Why didn't you shoot?" growled Stark angrily, at which the negro half arose and broke into excited denials of his guilt. Runnion kicked him savagely, while the crowd murmured approval.

THE STANDARD OF THE WORLD

"Le' me see him," said Lee, elbowing his way through the others. Fixing his one eye upon the wretch, he spoke impressively.

"You're the first downright thief I ever seen. Was you hungry?"

"No; he's got plenty," answered one of the tenderfeet. "He's got a bigger outfit than I have."

"Then I reckon it's a divine manifestation," said "No Creek" Lee tearfully. "This black party is goin' to furnish an example as will elevate the moral tone of our community for a year."

"What y'all aim to do?" whined the thief.

"We're goin' to try you," announced the one eyed miner, "and if you're found guilty, as you certainly are goin' to be, you'll be flogged, after which perdicament you'll have a nice ride downstream on a saw log without your laundry."

"But the mosquitoes"—

"Too bad you didn't think of them before. Let's get at this, boys, and have it over with."

A miners' meeting was called on the spot and a messenger sent hurrying to the post for the book in which was recorded the laws of the men who had made the camp. The crowd was determined that this should be done legally and as prescribed by ancient custom up and down the river. There was no defense for the culprit, and he offered none, being too scared to do more than plead. The proceedings were quiet and grim and were well nigh over when Lieutenant Burrell walked into the saloon. He had been in his quarters all day, fighting a fight with himself, and in the late evening, rebelling against his war with his conscience, he had sallied out and, drawn by the crowd in Stark's place, had entered.

A man replied to his whispered question, giving him the story, for the meeting was under Lee's domination, and the miners maintained an orderly and businesslike procedure. The matter of fact, relentless expedition of the affair shocked Burrell inexpressibly, and, seeing Poleon and Gale near by, he edged toward them, thinking that they surely could not be in sympathy with this barbarous procedure.

"You don't understand, lieutenant," said Gale in a low voice. "This nigger is a thief!"

"Gentlemen," announced Burrell, standing near the ashen gray wretch and facing the tentful of men, "this man is a thief, but you can't kill him!"

Stark leaned across the bar, his eyes blazing, and touched the lieutenant on the shoulder.

"Do you mean to take a hand in all of my affairs?"

"This isn't your affair. It's mine," said the officer. "This is what I was sent here for, and it's my particular business. You seem to have overlooked that important fact."

"He stole my stuff, and he'll take his medicine."

"I say he won't!"

For the second time in their brief acquaintance these two men looked fair into each other's eyes. Few men had dared to look at Stark thus and live, for when a man has once shed the blood of his fellow a mania obsesses him, a disease obtains that is incurable.

The two men battled with their eyes for an opening. Lee and the others mastered their surprise at the interruption and then began to babble until Burrell turned from the gambler and threw up his arm for silence.

"There's no use arguing," he told the mob. "You can't do it. I'll hold him till the next boat comes; then I'll send him down river to St. Michael's."

He laid his hand upon the negro and made for the door, with face set and eyes watchful and alert, knowing that a hair's weight might shift the balance and cause these men to rive him like wolves.

Lee's indignation at this miscarriage of justice had him so by the throat as to strangle expostulation for a moment till he saw the soldier actually bearing off his quarry.

"Stop that!" he bellowed. "To h—l with your law! We're goin' accordin' to our own!" An ominous echo arose, and in the midst of it the miner in his blind fury, forgetting this exalted position, took a step too near the edge of the bar and fell off into the body of the meeting. With him fell the dignity of the assemblage. Some one laughed, another took it up, the nervous tension broke, and a man cried:

"The soldier is right! You can't blame a dinge for stealing!" And another: "Sure! Hogs and chickens are legitimate prey!"

Lee was helped back to his stand and called for order, but the crowd poked fun at him and began moving about restlessly till some one shouted a motion to adjourn and there arose a chorus of seconders.

As Poleon and Gale walked home the Frenchman said, "Dat was nervy t'ing to do."

The trader made no answer, and the other continued, "Stark is goin' for kill 'im sure."

"It's a cinch," agreed Gale, "unless somebody gets Stark first."

When they were come to his door the trader paused and, looking back over the glowing tents and up at the star sprinkled heavens, remarked, as if concluding some train of thought, "If that boy has got the nerve to take a nigger thief out of a miners' meeting and hold him against this whole town he wouldn't hesitate much at taking a white man, would he?"

"Waal," hesitated the other, "mebbe dat would depen' on de crime."

"Suppose it was—murder?"

"Ha! We ain' got no men lak dat in Flambeau."

They said good night, and the old man entered his house to find Alluna waiting for him.

* * * * * * *

Burrell took his prisoner to the barracks, where he placed him under guard, giving instructions to hold him at any cost, not knowing what wild and reckless humor the new citizens of Flambeau might develop during the night, for it is men who have always lived with the halter of the law tight upon their necks who run wildest when it is removed.

After he had taken every precaution he went out into the night again and fought with himself as he had fought all that day and all the night before—in fact, ever since old Thomas had come to him after leaving Necia and had so cunningly shaped his talk that Burrell never suspected his object until he perceived his position in such a clear light that the young man looked back upon his work with startled eyes. The corporal had spoken garrulously of his officer's family, of their pride and of their love for his profession; had dwelt enthusiastically upon the lieutenant's future and the length he was sure to go and finally drifted into the same story he had told Necia. Burrell at last sensed the meaning of the crafty old soldier's strategy and dismissed him, but not before his work had been accomplished.

When Burrell drove his reason with firm hands he saw but one course to follow, but when his mind went slack for a moment the old desire to have her returned more strongly than ever, and he heard voices arguing, pleading, persuading. She was the equal of any woman in the world, they said, in mind, in purity and in innocence. He hated himself for hesitating, he railed at his own indecision, and then, when he had justified his love and persuaded himself that he was right in seeking this union there would rise again the picture of his people, their chagrin and what would result from such a marriage.

He had wandered far during this debate, clear past the town and out through the Indian village, but now that he believed he had come to an understanding with himself he turned back toward his quarters. He knew it would be hard to give her up, but he had irrevocably decided, and his path began to unfold itself so clear and straight that he marveled how he could have failed to see it. He was glad he had conquered, although the pain was still sharp. He felt a better man for it, and, wrapped in this complacent optimism, he passed close by the front of the trader's store, where Necia had crept to be alone with her misery.

"Let's have a look at you," he panted.

Burrell had almost passed her when he was startled by the sound of his name breathed softly; then, to his amazement, he saw her come forth like a spirit into the silver sheen.

"Necia," he cried, "what are you doing here at this hour?" She looked up at him sadly. He saw that her cheeks were wet, and something inside him snapped and broke. Without a word he took her in his arms, meeting her lips in a long kiss, while she, trembling with the joy of his strong embrace, drew closer and closer and rested her body wearily against his.

"Little girl, little girl!" he whispered over and over, his tone conveying every shade of sympathy, love and understanding she had craved. He knew what had made her sad, and she knew that he knew. There was no need for words. The anguish of this long day had whetted the edge of their desire, and they were too deeply, too utterly lost in the ecstasy of meeting to care for speech.

"Your lips cling so that I can't get free," sighed the girl at last.

"You never shall," he whispered. But when she smiled up at him piteously, her eyes swimming, and said, "I must," he wrenched himself away and let her go.

CHAPTER XI.

WHERE THE PATH LED.

AND now began a new era for Flambeau—an era of industry such as the frontier town had never known. The woods behind rang with the resounding discords of axes and saws and crashing timber, and new cabins appeared on every hand, rising in a day.

A dozen tents were pitched on Lee's discovery claim, for the owner had been besieged by men who clamored to lease a part of his ground, and, yielding finally, he had allotted to each of them a hundred feet. Forthwith they set about opening their portions, for the ground was shallow and the gold so near the surface that winter would interfere with its extraction, wherefore they made haste. The owner oversaw them all, complacent in the certainty of a steady royalty accruing from the working of his allotments.

Burrell sought Necia at an early day and, in presence of her father, told her that he had been approached by men who wished to lease the claims he held for her. It would prove an inexpensive way to develop her holdings, he said, and she would run no risks. Moreover, it would be rapid and insure a quick return, for a lease so near to proved territory was in great demand. After some discussion this was arranged, and Meade as trustee allotted her ground in tracts, as Lee had done. Poleon followed suit, but the trader chose to prospect his own claims and to that end called in a train of stiff

One of her leasers came to show her and Poleon a bag of dust.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., May 1, 1909.

President Taft has expressed himself, recently, as not so well pleased with the attitude of the Senate toward the tariff bill. The members of the Finance Committee have consulted the President from time to time, regarding certain features of their substitute, and for the provisions relating to imports from the Philippines, the proposed customs court and the maximum, minimum clause, they have won his unqualified approval. With regard to specific rates, however, Mr. Taft has not been consulted and the Senate leaders have contented themselves with general assurances, to the President, of their sincerity of purpose so to frame the schedules as to command his approval. It is not at all clear whether President Taft's desire to commend all that was commendable has been misconstrued, or whether the erroneous impression has been gained that his satisfaction with certain features of the measure would offset his disapproval of the schedules.

* * *

In discussing the tariff recently with friends the President has frankly deplored the fact that the men on whose assistance he should be able to rely, to insure an adequate revision of the Dingley rates, are so unwilling to subordinate their local interests to the national welfare and are selfishly insistent on the maintenance of high duties on those commodities most produced in their respective states.

* * *

The Republican members of the Finance Committee have completed the draft of the section creating the new tariff bureau. This bureau is to be formed by consolidating the existing bureaus of statistics and manufacturers, now under the supervision of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor; the bureau of trade relations, now a part of the Department of State, and the division of customs, of the Treasury Department. The new bureau will be made a part of the Treasury Department, and an additional Assistant Secretary of the Treasury will be provided for who will have immediate jurisdiction over it.

A second section of the Senate substitute provides for special agents, to be appointed by the President to collect information here and abroad concerning foreign customs duties for the use of the President in administering the maximum, minimum clause of the tariff bill They will, of course, work in conjunction with the new tariff bureau.

The advocates of the tariff commission plan threaten to make a vigorous attack on the bureau plan if it does not meet their expectations. They have no objection to the investigating body being known as a bureau instead of a commission, but they will insist that it shall have both the ability and the power to find out tariff facts, here and abroad, and to make public its findings

* * *

The State Department is in receipt of reassuring dispatches from Ambassador Leishman at Constantinople, which have added to their confidence that there is no longer cause for apprehension as to the welfare of Americans in Turkey. Mr. Leishman expresses himself as greatly pleased with the way in which the new constitutional government has taken hold of the situation, and he predicts that there will be no necessity for martial law after another week or two. The trials of offenders are being conducted with dispatch, he says, the merchants have begun to do their usual business, and in as short time normal conditions will prevail.

MICROBES IN THE SOALP

The Latest Explanation is That Microbes Cause Baldness.

Professor Unna of Hamburg, Germany and Dr Sabourand of Paris, France, share the honor of having discovered the hair microbe.

Baldness is not caused through a few weeks' work of these hair microces, but is the result of conditions brought about by their presence. Baldness may not occur until years after the microbes began work, but it is certain to come sooner or later.

The microbes cut off the blood supply. They feed on the fatty matter about the root of the hair, through which the blood is absorbed. Finally the fatty matter is wholly consumed, the food supply of the hair is gone and it starves and finally dies.

Resorcin is one of the most effective germ destroyers; Beta Napthol is both germicidal and antiseptic; Pilocarpin, though not a dye, restores natural color to hair when loss of color was caused by disease. These curatives properly mixed with alcohol as a stimulant, perfect a remedy unequalled for curing scalp and hair troubles.

We want everyone who has any scalp or hair trouble to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, which contains all these ingredients. If it does not grow hair on your bald head, stop your hair from falling out; cure you of dandruff; make your hair thick, silky, luxuriant; if it does not give you complete satisfaction in every particular, return the empty bottle to us, and we shall return every penny you paid us for it without question or formality.

Of course, you understand that when we say that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, we do not refer to cases where the scalp closed, and the head has the shiny appearance of a billiard ball. In cases like this, there is no hope. In all other cases o. baldness Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will positively grow hair, or cost the user nothing. B. J. Polver, the druggist.

JOHN C. SCHREDER.

John C. Schreder was born in New York City, July 8, 1829.

Came to Ridgeway township with his parents when a small boy. His school advantages were very meager, it being necessary for him to assist his father in hewing out a home for the family in the heavy timbered land of East Ridgeway.

In early manhood he learned the carpenter's trade with his brother in the city of Buffalo and that was his vocation for many years. Many houses and barns now standing in northern Lenawee on the work of his hands.

October 12, 1851, he married Mary daughter of Rev. Thomas Lupton, a Methodist preacher of the old school

To them were born six children; Mrs. Josephine Dewey of Raisin Valley, Mrs Ida Webster of Tecumseh, Mrs Kate Cadmus of Raisin township, Mrs. Roena Belmont (deceased), Mrs Gertrude Pangle of Tecumseh and our son George whose home is at Goodland, Kansas

Mr. Schreder was blessed in having a very excellent wife and kind and heartful children.

He was very industrious and always hoped for better things.

The writer's acquaintance with him extended over a period of forty years and during all that time he was the same busy, buoyant, hopeful, cheerful and friend. He was very much of a student and a man of strong will power.

He clung very tenaciously to whatever he believed to be the right. He had considerable inventive genius and several articles of his invention were patented, but—like many other inventors—he lacked the business ability to realize any financial benefit from them. He was a member of Tecumseh Grange which he greatly enjoyed.

Since the death of his wife he had a very pleasant and comfortable home with his daughter Mrs. Pangle. He suffered much, at times, during the last four months of his life. On the morning of Thursday, April 22th, he quietly tooks his departure to "that bourne whence no traveler returns."

The funeral was held at his late home on Saturday afternoon, Rev. Blanche Young, pastor of the Universalist church, officiating. The house was filled with neighbors and friends of other days who came to pay their last tribute of respect to one who had lived his life among them.

His remains were laid to rest in Brookside beside those of his wife who went away to her immortal home seven years ago. Thus closes the chapter of a long and busy life. We shall look in vain for his familiar form in it's accustomed place. And so we go. One by one we take our places in the silent city of the dead. We, who still remain will do well to ask ourselves the question — whither bound?

SAD DEATH

Of Arden Tunison Former Resident of Tecumseh.

The death of Arden Tunison occurred Saturday evening at 12 o'clock at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs Frank Tunison, 53 South Main st., Adrian. For the past five months, Mr. Tunison had been making a brave struggle for health, but after a severe sickness with pneumonia last December his condition was too weak to overcome tuburcular tendencies.

Arden Tunison was born in Weston in 1887, later moving to Fayette. With the exception of six years he has spent his short life in this city. January 9, 1908, he was married to Miss Susie Laberdie and since that time has lived Palmyra where he owned a barber shop until his illness last December.

Mr. Tunison is survived by his wife and 6 months old daughter Velva, mother and father, sister Miss Vera and brother, Robert and grandmother, Mrs. C. H. Green.

The funeral services will be held from the house Tueday at 2 p. m.

Mr. Tunison lived in Tecumseh with his parents for a number of years, having learned his trade here.

MRS. E. H. LOOMIS.

Mrs. E. H. Loomis formally Mrs. Sarah Lourie passed away in this village last Wednesday evening after an illness of several months. She was the oldest child of Wm. Ross born in 1856 and was educated in the public schools here. She was married at the age of 18 years to Joseph Lourie of New York State. Two children were born to them the daughter, now Mrs. Jennie Blanchard of Battle Creek, and a son, William Ross Lourie, who makes his home with his sister. Her husband, Joseph Lourie died in 1903.

Sarah became a member of the Presbyterian church at the age of 23 in Homer, Mich. She has made her home in Tecumseh for the past number of years after having spent 10 years in North Dakota. On May 4, 1908, she was united in marriage with E H. Loomis. Mrs. Loomis leaves to mourn her loss besides her husband and two children, three sisters, Mrs. Jennie Adams and Margaret Hoyt of Battle Creek and Minnie VanBuren of Chicago two brothers, Andrew Ross of Toledo, and Will D. Ross of this village. The deceased was laid at rest Saturday in Brookside cemetery, the funeral services being held at the house, Rev. Kamm officiating.

DOVE VS. FOX

Tecumseh Case is Now on in Circuit Court.

FORTY-FIVE NEW CASES ON CALENDAR FOR MAY TERM.

Friday the case of William Dove vs. Sarah A. Fox, et al., was being tried out in the circuit court, Attorney Jas. W. Wightman, representing Dove, and Fred B. Wood, the defendants. The case appears to be that Dove's first wife left a farm situated between Adrian and Tecumseh to him, she having departed this life in the year 1904. There was an agreement that the children of whom there are six, were to take care of Dove, he being a rather old man However under his supervision the farm has gone to rack and has not even as much as paid taxes, and in order to save it the children told Dove that while he was welcome to make his home with and among them they thought it was due time they were taking hold of the farm and making something of it.

Dove, however has married his present wife in the meantime, she being the woman who brought suit against Orville C. Brisbin of Tecumseh, for assault and battery, and which was tried in court last term. When notified by the children that they were going to take some action toward building up the place, Dove went to Attorney Wightman, who had charge of his wife's case, and a bill was filed to prevent their taking possession.

BUSY BUSINESS MEN

Science Helps Them out After Recklessly Abusing the Stomach.

The most reckless man in regard to health is the busy business man. At noon he rushes out for a bite to eat. He bolts his food without proper mastication, and heaps on his stomach an extra burden greater than it is able to carry without breaking down.

His overworked stomach is crying for help; it appeals to him for relief in various ways: Expulsion of sour gas; heaviness after eating; shortness of breath; bad breath, etc.

A Mi-o-na tablet taken before each meal will help any sufferer from dyspepsia wonderfully. It prepares the stomach for the work of digestion which it must perform.

Mi-o-na tablets are sold by C. A. Wright & Son at 50c a large box, with a rigid guarantee to cure dyspepsia and all stomach troubles, or money back. They make eating a pleasure.

"A stomach complaint had bothered me many months, when I heard of Mi-o-na. I procured a treatment and used it a short time. This remedy did me good in many ways, as it not only relieved the stomach trouble, but made me much better in my general health. The trouble I had was from a heavy and distened feeling in my stomach, pains and distress, and generally in the morning, I would feel like vomiting but could not. Mi-o-na acted fine on my ailments, and has my endorsement." G. R. Gillespie, Potonotomie st, Tecumseh, Mich., Oct. 15, 1908.

DEATH OF THE WORLD.

When Water Disappears and Air Gets Too Thin to Breathe.

The age of the earth is placed by some at 500,000,000 years, by others 100,000,000 years, and still others of later time place it at 10,000,000 years. None place it lower than 10,000,000, knowing what processes have been gone through.

Other planets go through the same process. The reason that other planets differ so much from the earth is that they are in so much earlier or later stages of existence. The earth must become old.

Newton surmised, although he could give no reason for it, that the earth would lose all its water and become perfectly dry. Since then it has been found that Newton was correct.

As the earth keeps cooling it will become porous, and great cavities will be formed in the interior, which will take in the water. It is estimated that this process is now in progress, so far that the water diminishes at the rate of the thickness of a sheet of paper each year.

At this rate in 6,000,000 years the water will have sunk a mile, and in 15,000,000 the water will have disappeared from the face of the globe.

The nitrogen and oxygen in the atmosphere are also diminishing all the time. It is in an inappreciable degree, but the time will come when the air will be so thin that no creature we know could breathe it and live. The time will come when the world cannot support life. That will be the period of old age, and then will come death.—Richard A. Proctor.

"CREASING" A WILD HORSE.

Fot One Captured by That Method Fifty Were Killed.

Will C. Barnes, writing in McClure's of the various methods of capturing wild horses in the old days on the plains, says:

"'Creasing' was one of their devices. This consisted in shooting a bullet so that it struck the animal on the top of the neck just in front of the withers and about an inch or so deep close to the spinal column. The shock temporarily stunned the horse, and the hunter ran up and tied the animal's feet together before he recovered. A rope halter was slipped on his head. A gentle horse or sometimes a work ox was led up alongside the prostrate beast, and he was securely necked up to the gentle animal and thus could be handled easily. Old mustangers say, however, that for one horse caught this way fifty were killed and that as a matter of fact the method was not used very much except in an emergency, when a hunter, after days of attempts to capture, finally took the risk of successfully creasing an unusually fine animal rather than see him escape altogether.

"One of the best cow ponies I ever owned I bought from a mustanger who had creased him on the plains east of the Pecos river in New Mexico. There was a hole in his neck fully two inches deep and wide, where the ball from the heavy buffalo gun had plowed its way through the flesh just high enough above the spine not to kill and low enough to stun effectually."

India Ink.

In both India and China there are thousands of people who manufacture India ink as a side line to their regular business, working at it in the winter at night and on days when they are not otherwise employed. It is made by burning some kind of oil in a lamp with a very long chimney, usually made in joints which can be taken apart for greater convenience in cleaning out the soot which makes the ink. Almost any kind of vegetable oil will answer, and in districts where petroleum is found even coal oil is used in making the cheaper grades. The best kind is made from sesame oil.—Argonaut.

The Missing Link.

A lawyer having offices in a Philadelphia building wherein there are some hundreds of tenants recently lost a cuff link, one of a pair that he greatly prized. Being absolutely certain that he had dropped the link somewhere in the building, he caused a notice to be posted in the following terms:

"Lost—A gold cuff link. The owner, William Ward, will deeply appreciate its immediate return."

That afternoon on passing the door whereon this notice was posted what were the feelings of the lawyer to observe that appended thereto were these lines:

"The finder of the missing cuff link would deem it a great favor if the owner would kindly lose the other link."—Harper's Weekly.

ART AND WEATHER.

A Storm That Suited the Painter, but Not the Committee.

In a gallery there hangs a large canvas in an imposing frame. The painting shows a waterfall in one of the states famous for startling natural scenery. The picture has occupied its present place for several years.

"Does it belong here?" asked a visitor of the man in charge.

"No more than the others you see."

"Seems to me it should be in the capitol of the state where this scenery is," said the visitor.

"It was painted for the state," replied the man in charge, "but when it was submitted to the art committee it refused to accept it."

"What was the objection?"

"You see the sky is overcast. The artist put in a gathering storm like an impending calamity. The art committee said it was a reflection on the reputation of the state; that a storm such as is represented was unknown in that latitude."

"Couldn't the artist put in another sky, one that accorded with the state's reputation for sunshine?"

"I suppose he could, but he refused. He said that the rumpus kicked up by the art committee warranted the storm effect on the canvas, and he refused to budge. He sent it here, and here it remains."—Boston Herald.

Elderly People Helped Free

The last years of life are the sweetest, and yet the most difficult to prolong. It is then that the greatest care is exercised in maintaining bodily health. But the chief care should always be with regard to the food you eat and whether you are digesting it properly. You should not allow yourself to become constipated.

No doubt you have tried salts and cathartic pills, purgative tablets, etc., and have come to the conclusion that they are violent in action and do but temporary good. Listen, then, to the voice of experience with regard to a wonderful and mild laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is not new, only we are trying to find new friends for it.

A. A. Feits, of Johnston City, Ill., suffered from stomach trouble for six years and found his cure in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. His wife uses it too with success. We could name hundreds of others. Some heard of it first through neighbors or friends; others through the doctor's offer to send any sufferer from a stomach, liver or bowel complaint a free sample bottle for trial, without charge. If you will send your name and address he will send you a trial bottle direct to your home. If it proves itself as he claims then continue the treatment by buying a 50-cent or $1 bottle of your druggist, as all of them sell it. Old people, like children, should look for purity, and it is well to mention that the purity of this remedy is vouched for with the U. S. government. Also, though a free bottle is sent to prove its merits, results are always guaranteed from the regular bottles bought of druggists, who will refund your money if it does not satisfy you. Send at least for the free test bottle today.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Detroit Factory Burns.

Detroit, Mich., May 3.—Lashed by a wind that carried the flames from one end to the other of the huge building and threatening to spread to adjacent factories and houses, fire has completely destroyed the factory and contents of the E. G. Dailey Preserving company, at Fourteenth and Merrick avenues. E. G. Dailey, proprietor, estimates his loss at not less than $50,000. It is fully covered by insurance. Seventy-five employes will be thrown out of work.

A WHISTLER WHIM.

The Artist Wouldn't Argue About His Birthplace or Age.

James McNeill Whistler had no patience with those people who would insist upon inquiring into two details of his biography in which he professed, and professed with some sincerity, that he was not interested. These details were his age and his place of birth.

It was once mentioned in a Parisian paper that Whistler was born in Baltimore. Although this was contrary to fact, Whistler could not be induced to correct it. The mistake was copied over and over again, and angry patriots from Massachusetts, accidentally the birthplace of this citizen of the world, would write impassioned letters to him asking him to deny the libel. All he could be prevailed upon to say was, "If it pleases any one to have me born in Baltimore, let me be born in Baltimore." An individual hailing from Lowell, Mass., once apostrophized him in the generally insulting manner which certain people regard as etiquette in addressing a man of genius upon a first introduction.

"Mr. Whistler," said the stranger, "like me, you were born in Lowell, Mass., and you are sixty-eight years of age and I am sixty-seven. I remember"—

The painter interrupted wearily and plaintively: "My dear sir, if you like to be born in Lowell, Mass., and you enjoy being sixty-seven years of age, well and good, but I don't want to be sixty-eight years of age and don't remember being born in Lowell, Mass."—New York Telegraph.

His Hand.

Tom Reed was playing whist on one occasion in his club in Portland. One of the party whom the "czar" did not like extravagantly had a habit of carrying a good deal of black realty under his finger nails, and the rest of his hands never looked clean. But the fellow had good luck, which nettled Tom. Finally, almost unable to conceal his impatience, the giant speaker of the House of representatives remarked in his metallic nasal tone of voice, "Blank, if dirt was trumps, what a hand you'd have!"

A Terrible Threat.

"You say your titled son-in-law holds threats over you?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox. "He has us where we can't give him any argument at all. Mother and the girls say we must yield for the sake of the family honor."

"Is there—er—a skeleton in the closet?"

"Not at all. He simply announces that unless he has his own way he'll get naturalized and be a plain American citizen."—Washington Star.

SOLDIERS START ON LONG MARCH.

Will Follow Same Route Taken by Grant's Army.

Washington, May 3.—A thirty day march, to be made by army officers over the battle grounds of Virginia for the purpose of studying problems of warfare, was begun Sunday, when a long line of horses and troopers, equipped with all the paraphernalia of the field left Fort Myer, Va., under the command of Major Eben Swift of the general staff, on the way to Fredericksburg, Va., where the column will be met by thirty officers on May 7. Then the officers, who are members of the general staff of the army and of the army war college, will start on a ride over the route followed by Grant's army almost half a century ago.

The entire march will be under command of Colonel R. K. Evans of the general staff, assistant to General Wotherspoon, acting chief of staff. The officers and troops will reach Richmond about May 16 and, after skirmishes over many battlefields within a radius of a hundred miles, will start on a return journey, reaching Fort Myer about June 3.

General Wotherspoon said last night that the ride was solely to enable the officers to study war problems.

The column when it left Fort Myer made a striking appearance.

STATUE TO LONGFELLOW.

One to Be Unveiled in Washington With Appropriate Ceremonies.

Washington, May 3.—As a fitting tribute to genius and commemoration of letters a magnificent statue to the memory of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, America's most popular poet, will be dedicated with imposing ceremonies in this city on May 7. The occasion will be the more notable because of the presence of the president of the United States, members of the diplomatic corps, men distinguished in letters and by practically all of the living relatives of the poet.

The statue, which is located in a small triangular parking at the intersection of Connecticut avenue and U street, is of heroic size, of pure white Parian marble, and the pedistal, in striking contrast, is of reddish brown marble, imported from Scottish quarries. William Couper of New York is the sculptor.

Chief Justice Fuller of the supreme court of the United States will preside at the unveiling exercises.

SENTENCED TO PRISON.

James Hazen Hyde and Chauffeur Condemned by Default.

Paris, May 3.—James Hazen Hyde of New York, former vice president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, and his chauffeur, Ladwice, have been condemned by default, Mr. Hyde to one month's imprisonment and a fine of $100 and Ladwice to a month's imprisonment and a fine of $30.

They were charged with running into a public taxicab last October and injuring a passenger. The complainants charged that after the accident Ladwice sped away. Under a law passed last July flight after an accident is a special offense.

At present Mr. Hyde is on an automobile trip in the Riviera.

NOT LANSING WOMAN.

Body Found in Chicago Park Lagoon Is That of Another Mrs. Lewis.

Chicago, May 3.—In seeking to identify the body of a woman found in the Lincoln park lagoon several days ago, telegrams have been sent to the police of Lansing and Flint, Mich. The police have a clue which they refuse to reveal at this time.

On the body was found a bank book bearing the name of Mrs. C. A. Lewis. The account called for $3,700 in a Chicago bank. Information reached the police that this Mrs. Lewis worked in the capitol at Lansing and that she came originally from Flint. It is said that the woman's husband was a commercial traveler of Lansing and that he died three years ago, leaving considerable life insurance.

Lansing, Mich., May 3.—The Mrs. C. A. Lewis mentioned in the above is not the Mrs. C. A. Lewis employed in the state capitol. Mrs. Lewis is alive and well.

Eat What
You want of the food you need
Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly.

When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today, and purchase a dollar bottle, and if you can honestly say, that you did not receive any benefits from it, after using the entire bottle, the druggist will refund your money to you without question or delay.

We will pay the druggist the price of the bottle purchased by you.

This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family.

We could not afford to make such an offer, unless we positively knew what Kodol will do for you.

It would bankrupt us.

The dollar bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is made at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

ARE IN PRISON, NOT IN SEA.

Captain and Crew Languish In Venezuela Cells.

ESCAPED SEAMAN TELLS NEWS

Men on American Whaler, Taking Refuge In Port, Thrust Into Cells Without Cause — Held For Five Years—Kingston (St. Vincent) Police Will Investigate.

Kingstown, St. Vincent, B. W. I., May 6.—It may be that Captain Collin Stephenson and the crew of the American whaling ship Carrie D. Knowles, long since thought to have been lost at sea, are in a Venezuelan prison.

An American seaman who gives the name of Payne, an escaped prisoner from Venezuela, has made his way to Kingstown, where he laid before the authorities an astounding story of the seizure of the Carrie D. Knowles at a Venezuelan port where she arrived five years ago in distress, and the incarceration by the Venezuelans of the captain and his men.

So convinced are the authorities here that there is truth in Payne's story that they have taken down his full statement and have already taken steps looking to a speedy and thorough investigation of the case.

On January 27, 1904, the Carrie D. Knowles sailed from Provincetown, Mass., on a whaling voyage. Her captain was Collin Stephenson and her first mate, H. A. Martin. In addition, she carried a crew of about a dozen men. Payne asserts positively that all of these men are at the present time confined in a Venezuelan prison.

The vessel was supposed to have been lost in a West Indian storm, with all hands. Some of the men belonged in St. Vincent; and after all hope was given up of their return their relatives put on mourning, and the local insurance company eventually paid the claims against it, on the assumption that the sailors were dead.

Provincetown, Mass., May 6.—The dispatch from Kingstown, outlining the story told by an escaped Venezuelan prisoner to the effect that the crew of the lost Provincetown whaler, Carrie D. Knowles, were incarcerated in a prison in Venezuela, has caused intense interest here. There are few means here of verifying Payne's statements. The identity of Payne is not clear, but it may be that he is no other than Elisha Payne, a seaman of Provincetown who mysteriously disappeared from this port previous to or about the time of the sailing of the Knowles. So far as known here, Payne was not a member of the crew when it sailed.

The crew consisted of the following when the vessel left Provincetown:

Captain Collin Stevenson, First Mate H. A. Martin, a cabin boy, Charles A. Martin, son of the mate, all of Provincetown; Second Mate Charles A. Marselean, Boat Steerer Robert C. Robson, Steward James L. Hazel, Mate Aloft Percy A. Warner, all of New Bedford.

"HYPOTHETICAL" DAY.

Alienist Declares Hains Suffered From "Impulsive Insanity."

Flushing, N. Y., May 6.—Wednesday was "hypothetical" day at the Hains trial. For nearly two hours the jury listened to the reading of the hypothetical question, containing more than 10,000 words, as propounded by the defense, upon which three alienists are to predicate their opinions of the mental condition of the defendan. Captain Peter C. Hains, when he shot and killed William E. Annis at the Bayside Yacht club.

During the cross examination of the first alienist, Dr. L. Samuel Manson, forms of insanity ranging from ordinary melancholia to the ravings o' the hopeless lunatic were discussed. The jury, and everyone but the witness, at times appeared to be lost in the wierd maze of psychical phenomena.

In answer to the hypothetical question, which covered practically all the actions and speech of the defendant tending to show irrationality as put in evidence, Dr. Manson declared that Captain Hains was suffering from "impulsive insanity" at the time he killed Annis.

San Francisco, Cal., May 6.—The Princess De Broglio, who was divorced in Paris, was well known in San Francisco as Estella Alexander. She became the wife of Sydney Veit, a wealthy merchant of New York, from whom she obtained a divorce several years ago. Subsequently she appeared on the vaudeville stage, where she was seen and admired by Prince De Broglio, who was married to her at Chicago in 1906.

GRANT UPSETS PEACE SPREAD.

Fires Broadside Into Theories of Delegates at Banquet.

HE APPEARED UNEXPECTEDLY.

Declares Good Army and Navy Can Do More to Maintain Peace Than Speeches of Well Fed Delegates. German Ambassador Leads Activities of Last Day of Congress.

Chicago, May 6.—Major General Frederick Dent Grant, commander of the department of the lakes of the United States army, last night appeared unexpectedly at the Chicago Association of Commerce banquet, which wound up the three days' gathering of the second national peace congress, and attacked the theories which had been carefully outlined by the various speakers of the evening concerning world peace.

"A good navy and a good army can do more to bring about peace than all the speeches of well fed delegates," said General Grant. "The soldier is the peace lover. We love peace so much that when we are in trouble we fight to bring it about. If nations are prepared to defend themselves and stand firmly, and a war is going to cost more than it is going to return, I think that the patriotism of the people and the good judgment of the statesmen will prevent war."

The day was notable for three features: The smothering of resolutions introduced by a Socialist, and somewhat tinged with the sentiments of that party; the addresses of the official representatives of several nations, and the adoption of appropriate resolutions. Ambassador Count Von Bergstorff and Minister Wu Ting Fang, in person, appeared for Germany and China, respectively.

Last night the delegates were entertained at a banquet given by the Chicago Association of Commerce, Secretary Ballinger and Congressmen Tawney and Bartholdt being among the speakers.

The activities of the day were led by Ambassador Von Bernstorff, who spoke not only at the peace conference and the banquet, but at a noonday luncheon given in his honor by the Industrial Club of Chicago.

JURY EASILY SECURED.

Boyle's Trial Promises to Move Off Quickly.

Mercer, Pa., May 6.—James H. Boyle, charged with the abduction of Willia Whitla of Sharon, Pa., was placed on trial at 3:45 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. When court adjourned for the day, one hour later, a jury had been selected temporarily.

Little difficulty was experienced in securing a jury. Each man was closely questioned, and only twenty-seven were examined before the box was filled. It is believed the trial can be concluded before the end of the present week. There are from forty to fifty witnesses for the state and several for the defense, but the testimony of most of them will be brief.

The prosecution has secured the following statement:

"Holy Family Church, 417 West Twelfth street, Chicago, Ill.:

"On the fourth day of February, 1905, I united in the bonds of matrimony Edward Shaeffer and Anna McDermott in this city, in the presence of John Butler and Mary Middleman, dispensation of differing religions having been obtained. (Signed)

"G. A. GONZEN, S. J."

Believing that they could show that Mrs. Boyle is not legally married to James H. Boyle, the prosecution has had her summoned as a witness for the state against Boyle. But the refusal of the priest to attempt the woman's identification has put a stop to their efforts in this line.

KIDNAP GOVERNOR'S SON.

Plot Laid In Prison Was to Get Criminal's Pardon.

Oakland, Cal., May 6.—A plot to kidnap the eight-year-old son of Governor Gillett has been unearthed at San Quentin prison. It was found that J. B. Clifton, a notorious criminal, who is serving time for attempting the life of Detective Hodgins of Oakland, had completed arrangements with a confederate on the outside to steal the boy and hold him for ransom. The price of the lad's return to his father was to have been Clifton's pardon.

Von Buelow to Resign.

Berlin, May 6.—The Neue Gesellshaftliche Correspondenz, which has excellent sources of information, announces that Chancellor von Buelow intends to resign before the Whitsuntide recess unless the financial reform plans of the government are adopted.

HUSTLING THE BILLS ALONG.

House Grinds Out Twenty Wednesday on Third Reading.

MING BILL IS AMONG THEM.

Abrogates Fellow Servant Doctrine For Railroads—Other Railroad Legislation Also Acted Upon — Albion Youngsters Pay Capitol Visit—Big Party Pulled Off In Masonic Temple

Lansing, Mich., May 6.—Twenty bills were passed on third reading in the house Wednesday, among them being the Ming liability bill, which passed the senate and which abrogates the fellow servant doctrine and leaves the question of comparative negligence to the jury. The bill affects only railroads.

The bill giving the state railroad commission power to fix rates for electric power companies has now passed both houses, as well as the bill increasing the salaries of the banking commissioner, his deputy and examiners. The bill authorizing the railway commission to supervise the issuance of stocks and bonds by public utility companies is now up to the senate. The house home rule bill was passed Wednesday with several amendments. The house refused to concur in the senate bill. A conference committee will be named by both houses.

The house has appointed a committee to confer on primary election bill.

School children, boys and girls, 250 of them from the Albion high school and good looking all, were in Lansing, visitors at the capitol Wednesday afternoon. They took possession of the chamber, and in honor of their presence a fifteen minutes' recess was taken and a highly enjoyable informal time spent. Lieutenant Governor Kelley and several others made short addresses.

Two hundred and fifty couples, senators and members of Lansing's "400" and their wives and sweethearts, were guests Wednesday night of Senator Arthur J. Tuttle, E. V. Chilson and Frank T. Newton and their wives at a party given at the Masonic temple here. The affair was "the big event" of the legislative season, and only the elite were present.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

backed Indian packers, moved a substantial outfit to the creek and thereafter spent much of his time in the hills, leaving the store to Doret. He seemed anxious to get away from the camp and hide himself in the woods. Stark was almost constantly occupied at his saloon, for it was a mint and ran day and night. Runnion was busy with the erection of a substantial structure of squared logs, larger than the trading post, destined as a dance hall, theater and gambling house.

Burrell entered into a season of penance and flagellation of spirit, lightened only by the moments when he was with Necia and when she made him forget all else. This dammable indecision goaded him to self contempt. He despised himself for his weakness. His social instincts and training, his sense of duty and the amenities of life that proud men hold dear tugged steadily, untiringly at his reason, while the little imp of impulse sat grinning wickedly, ready to pop out and upset all his high resolutions.

It was on a heavenly day, spiced with the faintest hint of autumn, that Necia received the news of her good fortune. One of her leasers came into the post to show her and Poleon a bag of dust. He and his partner had found the pay streak finally, and he had come to notify her that it gave promise of being very rich, and now that its location was demonstrated no doubt the other "laymen" would have it within a fortnight. As all of them were ready to begin sluicing as soon as the ground could be stripped, undoubtedly they would be able to take out a substantial stake before winter settled and the first frost closed them down.

She took the news quietly, but with shining eyes, though her pleasure was no greater or more genuine than Poleon's, who grasped both her hands in his and shouted gleefully:

"Bien! I'm glad! You'll be riche gal for sure now an' wear plaintee fine dress lak I fetch you. Jus' t'ink, you fin' gol' on your place more queecker dan your fader, an' he's good miner too. Ha! Dat's bully!"

"Oh, well, they will find it on your claims very soon," she replied.

He shook his head. "You better knock wood w'en you say dat. Mebbe I draw de blank again. Nobody can't tell. I've do de sam' t'ing before, an' dose men w'at been workin' my groun' dey're gettin' purty blue."

"When you do become a Flambeau king," she continued, "what will you do with yourself? Surely you won't continue that search for your far country. It could never be so beautiful as this." She pointed to the river that never changed and yet was never the same and to the forests, slightly tinged with the signs of the coming season.

"It's very fine," agreed the Canadian. "I don' see w'y anybody would care for livin' on dem cities w'en dere's so much nice place outside."

"Yes," said Necia, "I've no doubt one would get tired of it soon and long for something to do and something really worth while, but I should like to try it once, and I shall as soon as I'm rich enough. Won't you come along?"

"I don' know," he said thoughtfully. "Mebbe so I stay here, mebbe so I tak' my canoe an' go away. For long tam' I t'ink dis Flambeau she's de promis' lan' I hear callin' to me, but I don' know yet for w'ile."

New students in the country have to go to villages and cities and pay tuition when they pass the eighth grade.

Champagne Corks.

The manufacture of the best kind of corks, those made for champagne bottles, are never intrusted to machines. The ordinary common cork is made by machinery, but the best work invariably is done by human hands, and the champagne cork cannot be trusted to a machine. All the blemishes in the cork have to be taken into consideration, so this work is done by hand labor.

DARIUS HENDERSHOTT.

In the passing away of the late Darius Hendershott, we do not mourn the loss of a great man or one who has made a shining mark in the world, but rather we mourn a good man and a faithful friend. Quiet and unobtrusive yet he was ever true to those with whom he mingled from day to day. In his home life he was a loving, faithful husband and father and though for years he has never been strong and well often suffering in silence. Yet has he always been the same quiet and uncomplaining. He was born in Macon and lived there for many years later moving to Tecumseh Less than two years ago he removed with his family to Detroit and was in the employ of Park, Davis & Co. up to the day of his death. His sorrowing widow and daughter have our deepest sympathy and to them we would say—

"It may not be my way,
It may not be thy way,
But still in His own way
The Lord will provide."

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our many friends in Tecumseh for their kindness to us in our late bereavement. Also for the many beautiful flowers. Especially we wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Rosacrans for opening their home to us for the funeral and all their many acts of kindness to us while there. In their time of trouble may our many friends meet with the same kindness and sympathy that was given to us.

Mrs. Darius Hendershott,
Julia Hendershott.

85TH ANNIVERSARY

TECUMSEH WILL CELEBRATE HER 85TH BIRTHDAY ON JUNE 2ND.

Pioneer Society Have Placed the Boulder in Memory of Abbie Evans, the First White Woman in Tecumseh.

And will properly inscribe the same on June 2nd, with appropiate exercises. Judge Lane of Ann Arbor will speak.

Near the western end of our village cemetery, and on the south side of the main drive just under a stunted evergreen is a little gray old fashioned headstone with pointed top and crumbling base whose moss grown letters form the following inscription.

ABI EVANS 3RD MO. 5TH 1832 AGED 43.

Not many who visit Brookside know that this is the final resting place of the first white woman who ever toiled and baked and brewed to make a home in the Oak Openings of Michigan. It is a shrine toward which the thoughts of many of our club women have lately been turning and incited by them, the Pioneer society are now showing their appreciation of the struggles of these early settlers, in a substantial manner by placing a boulder properly inscribed to mark the spot where that first home was erected. Abbie Evans died at forty-three but her life was not counted by years, it had encompassed much that our lives have never touched.

She was a young woman, with Indians for neighbors, and house hold matters for occupation. No woman's club of a Monday, or telephone to solace a lonely hour, or even a phonograph to cheer the quiet evenings, no news, no new hats, no bridge parties, no pedro clubs, no auto rides, no club elections, not even a Sunday school picnic to relieve the dead monotony. Forty-three years of that life were equal to three score and ten of ours, but their privations and perseverance made our times possible. We reap what they sowed. Let us do what little we can to revere the memory of those brave souls who dared and risked so much to make the beautiful convenient homes of today possible. Those were privations which we can not realize. Abbie Evans could not even order her groceries by telephone but was obliged to wait until some one journeyed to Monroe on horee back or with an ox team. She could not even demand that they be "brought by first delivery" as we often do. It was hers to wait, until the uncertain arrival of the oxen with their precious burden of loaf sugar, calico, candles and tea.

On the 2nd of June it will be eighty-five years since this brave soul, arrived in our locality and began cooking in the little log house with the bark roof, on the river bank, for her family of husband five children and the "comers and goers" which the history mentions, and this year on the 2nd of June, it is the intention of the Pioneer society to place a bronze tables on the boulder which marks the spot where this log house stood.

A good program is in preparation. Judge Lane of Ann Arbor has been invited to speak and every body interested in this bit of our early history is asked to come and join in a basket picnic and listen to remminisences of the early time and thus encourage our Pioneer society, in their efforts to preserve the history of Lenawee county.

RESOLUTIONS.

Expressions of Regret by the T. B. A.

The following expressions of regret were read at the last meeting of the T B. A. on the occasion of the departure of Rev. Blanch Young from membership in that body.

After the exercises ice cream and cake were served and a social hour enjoyed. Tecumseh Beers Auxiliary, May 3, 1909. Rev. Miss Young:

Your Sisters of the T. B. A. regret the vacant chair in our room caused by your removal from our midst, but while we feel the loss of your cheerful presence, every ready hand and heart to assist us in our work for the benefit of Beers Post 140 of which you are its daughter, we hereby vote that your name remain upon our statue books as an honorary member so long as our organization remains.

We trust where ever your lot is cast you may receive a cordial welcome and remember us, that we may prove true to the dutys of our Auxiliary.

CREAM SEPARATOR

So ready is the separator to start and keep going at the touch that it will run fully thirty minutes after you stop turning the crank.

When you see how simply it is constructed—its small, light bowl, its few parts and perfect adjustment you will understand why.

Yet with these few devices, all of which you can see and understand in a few minutes of examination, it gives the cream five distinct separations. It gets practically all the cream.

And it's just as easy to take care of as it is to run. Its few light cones can be washed as quickly and thoroughly as so many cups and saucers.

If your Stomach, Heart or Kidneys are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists everywhere to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. Sold by all dealers.

PAN-AMERICAN CONGRESS.

Preparations Go Forward For Its Assembly In Buenos Ayres.

Washington, May 6.—Affairs are being shaped for the meeting of the fourth Pan-American conference, to be held in Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, next May.

The preparation of the program was begun at the monthly meeting of the governing board of the Bureau of American Republics Wednesday. An effort is being made to reach an agreement on the subjects to be discussed before the adjournment for the summer. A tentative program of subjects has been submitted to the various Central and South American governments, but as yet few replies have been received.

His Hand.

Tom Reed was playing whist on one occasion in his club in Portland. One of the party whom the "czar" did not like extravagantly had a habit of carrying a good deal of black realty under his finger nails, and the rest of his hands never looked clean. But the fellow had good luck, which nettled Tom. Finally, almost unable to conceal his impatience, the giant speaker of the house of representatives remarked in his metallic nasal tone of voice, "Blank, if dirt was trumps, what a hand you'd have!"

A Terrible Threat.

"You say your titled son-in-law holds threats over you?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox. "He has us where we can't give him any argument at all. Mother and the girls say we must yield for the sake of the family honor."

"Is there—er—a skeleton in the closet?"

"Not at all. He simply announces that unless he has his own way he'll get naturalized and be a plain American citizen."—Washington Star.

The Missing Link.

A lawyer having offices in a Philadelphia building wherein there are some hundreds of tenants recently lost a cuff link, one of a pair that he greatly prized. Being absolutely certain that he had dropped the link somewhere in the building, he caused a notice to be posted in the following terms:

"Lost—A gold cuff link. The owner, William Ward, will deeply appreciate its immediate return."

That afternoon on passing the door whereon this notice was posted what were the feelings of the lawyer to observe that appended thereto were these lines:

"The finder of the missing cuff link would deem it a great favor if the owner would kindly lose the other link."—Harper's Weekly.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Brights or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

India Ink.

In both India and China there are thousands of people who manufacture India ink as a side line to their regular business, working at it in the winter at night and on days when they are not otherwise employed. It is made by burning some kind of oil in a lamp with a very long chimney, usually made in joints which can be taken apart for greater convenience in cleaning out the soot which makes the ink. Almost any kind of vegetable oil will answer, and in districts where petroleum is found even coal oil is used in making the cheaper grades. The best kind is made from sesame oil.—Argonaut.

A WHISTLER WHIM.

The Artist Wouldn't Argue About His Birthplace or Age.

James McNeill Whistler had no patience with those people who would insist upon inquiring into two details of his biography in which he professed, and professed with some sincerity, that he was not interested. These details were his age and his place of birth.

It was once mentioned in a Parisian paper that Whistler was born in Baltimore. Although this was contrary to fact, Whistler could not be induced to correct it. The mistake was copied over and over again, and angry patriots from Massachusetts, accidentally the birthplace of this citizen of the world, would write impassioned letters to him asking him to deny the libel. All he could be prevailed upon to say was, "If it pleases any one to have me born in Baltimore, let me be born in Baltimore." An individual hailing from Lowell, Mass., once apostrophized him in the generally insulting manner which certain people regard as etiquette in addressing a man of genius upon a first introduction.

"Mr. Whistler," said the stranger, "like me, you were born in Lowell, Mass., and you are sixty-eight years of age and I am sixty-seven. I remember"—

The painter interrupted wearily and plaintively: "My dear sir, if you like to be born in Lowell, Mass., and you enjoy being sixty-seven years of age, well and good, but I don't want to be sixty-eight years of age and don't remember being born in Lowell, Mass."—New York Telegraph.

The Long and Short of It.

"He may win the race."

"Yes; he's short legged, but long winded."—Detroit Free Press.

Highly Esteemed.

"Do you think that most people nowadays worship money?"

"No; I won't go as far as that," answered the home grown philosopher, "but I will say that the love of money is seldom platonic."—Washington Herald.

Limited Love.

OUT FOR FLIGHTS AGAIN.

Ships of Air Begin Navigation at Fort Myer.

Washington, May 6.—The Fort Myer aerodrome, the scene of last year's experiments by the signal corps of the army, will show signs of renewed activity today, when the army dirigible No. 1 is taken for the initial flight of the season.

The motor balloon, which was purchased from Captain Thomas Scott Baldwin after a series of drastic tests last August, is a miniature affair when compared to those of foreign countries. It is ninety-six feet long, with a wooden frame suspended from a semi-rigid gas envelope.

ADJOURNMENT STILL LONG WAY OFF.

Senate Not Making Headway Expected.

Washington, May 6.—The possibilities of the passage of the tariff bill and the adjournment of the special session of congress before June 15 or July 1 seem to have vanished. This conclusion has been reached by the president as a result of recent talks with senators and representatives, and he has made it known.

The senate is not making the headway with the Aldrich measure that was expected, and before the new tariff law can be presented to the president for his action there must ensue a long conference between the representatives of the two houses of congress.

Among those who have followed the trend of important legislation on the tariff there is a belief that the real tariff revision bill remains to be framed in conference. Whatever influence President Taft feels he can bring to bear in securing a satisfactory measure will be exerted upon the conferees. The president is adverse to being drawn into the fight at any stage, and there is no thought that he will be until the conferees begin their consideration of the two bills as passed by the house and senate.

In view of conflicting reports as to the president's attitude on the various special taxation propositions that have been suggested in connection with the new bill the president has reiterated his position to recent callers. He is still hopeful that the revenue to be derived from the new bill, and with economies in the administration of the government, will prove sufficient to prevent a deficit. If it should be shown, however, that the government finances are in need of further support to meet the current expenditures the president will adhere to his original proposition that a graduated federal inheritance tax is the most just that could be levied and would prove the easiest to collect.

Eat What You want of the food you need Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly.

When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today, and purchase a dollar bottle, and if you can honestly say, that you did not receive any benefits from it, after using the entire bottle, the druggist will refund your money to you without question or delay.

We will pay the druggist the price of the bottle purchased by you.

This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family.

We could not afford to make such an offer, unless we positively knew what Kodol will do for you.

It would bankrupt us.

The dollar bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is made at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

HEESEN & HEESEN

AGAIN SAYS SHE WILL DIE.

Mrs. Boyle Apparently Sincere In Her Suicide Declarations.

IF SENT TO PENITENTIARY.

She Says Husband Has Something to Say and "Ought Not to Be Gagged." Boyle Will Likely Make Scene In Court When Sentenced—Wife Declares He, Too, Will Kill Himself.

Mercer, Pa., May 10.—Indications are James H. Boyle and his wife, Helen Anna Boyle, will be sentenced by Judge Williams in the Mercer county court at once for the abduction of Willie Whitla.

Previous to the sentencing, Attorneys Miller and Stranahan, it is said, will ask for new trials, but it is expected the court will overrule the motions.

The probability is Boyle will make a scene in the courtroom when sentence is announced. Every effort will be made by the authorities to prevent such a happening, but it is certain that, if permitted, Boyle will again attempt to tell a sensational story implicating a third party in the kidnaping. Mrs. Boyle asserts she will have nothing to say when sentenced. Last night she said:

"Jimmy has something to say and ought not to be gagged. I will not say anything, but Jimmy will, and I will aid him to have his say if I can.

"Going to Be Double Suicide."

"Seriously, I want to tell you there is going to be a double suicide. I will not spend much time in the penitentiary. I have made all arrangements and have the means now to depart quietly and quickly. Jimmy will do the same.

"Do you think I am going to the penitentiary for many years? No sir, when my sentence would expire I would be an old woman. I would have no friends and no money. Who wants anything to do with an old woman? I would rather die young.

"This is my twenty-third birthday, and am I not in a very poor position to celebrate the event? I am innocent of crime, however, and maybe God in His goodness will yet allow me to spend many happy anniversaries. But yet there is the shadow of the penitentiary, and the remedy—suicide.

"I am very sincere in this matter. Do you see that writing pad over there on the table? Well, in that I will soon write my will and last message."

Regarding the kidnaping, she says:

"I wish the penalty for kidnaping were death. Innocent as I am, I would plead guilty if I were sure of being put to death."

It is believed an appeal to the supreme court of Pennsylvania will be taken in the woman's case.

EASTERN STATES WELL OFF

Thirteen Original Contain One-Third Population of Entire Country.

Washington, May 10.—Of the 88,000,000 people in the United States, Alaska included, about one-third live in the thirteen original states, according to a statistical abstract of the United States to be issued in a few days by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. Another third live in the states created from the territory ceded to the common union by the original states and the remaining third in the area added by purchase or annexation.

While a large share of the territory in the United States has come under cultivation or individual ownership, the figures show that in 1908 there were 754,895,000 acres of unappropriated and unreserved land.

The total number o. immigrants into the country since 1820, the year of earliest record, exceeds 26,000,000. During the fiscal years 1905, 1906, 1907 the number averaged more than 1,000,000 a year.

ON RAMPAGE.

Moro Bandit and Followers Are Being Pursued.

Manila, May 10.—An unusual man hunt is in progress in the Sulu islands. For several months a Moro bandit named Jikiri, with a considerable following, has been on a rampage, and the insular government is making every effort to run him down.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

Mrs. John Deas, wife of a well known farmer residing at Camden, fifteen miles from Jacksonville, Fla., was criminally assaulted by an unknown negro who was later captured by a mob of citizens and lynched.

Stanley Robinson, owner of the St. Louis National baseball club, has taken out a $50,000 insurance policy on his manager and leading catcher, Roger Bresnahan. The policy runs for five years, and the annual premium is $1,300.

Medical science's latest contributions to the world's knowledge concerning tuberculosis will be revealed at the fifth annual meeting of the National Association For the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which will be held in Washington, May 13th to 16th.

A Polander named Vitkoff made an attempt, in a hotel in Paris, to kill M. Von Kotten, chief of the secret police of Moscow. He fired five shots at the police official, but missed his mark. M. Von Kotten asserts that Vitkoff is a dangerous Nihilist who escaped from Siberia.

The American Red Cross society is preparing for a unique exhibition in Washington the latter part of this month. It has received more than 600 designs for a Christmast stamp to be used next winter during the holidays, and these will be put on display in the municipal building shortly after the close of the national competition on May 15.

GIRDED WITH THE SWORD.

Mehemed V Becomes Ruler of Turkey In Fact.

GORGEOUS PARADE TOOK PLACE

No Christian Eyes Witnessed Ceremony Today In Mosque Ayoub—New Sultan, With His Retinue, Then Rode Through Streets to Top Kapou Palace to Kiss Robe of Prophet.

Constantinople, May 10.—Today, through the streets of Stamboul, crowded with his subjects and lined with soldiers, Mehemed V., the new sultan, rode from the Mosque Ayoub, where he went through the ceremony of girding on the sword, which makes him ruler in fact as well as in name.

This ceremony corresponds to that of coronation. The Mosque Ayoub is the single mosque in Constantinople which Christians are not allowed to enter or even congregate about the entrance or courtyard. The ceremony lasted but a few minutes, and no foreign eyes witnessed this ancient rite of the spiritual power consigning the temporal power to the sultan.

A stand was erected for the diplomatic corps and distinguished foreigners some eight or ten blocks from the mosque. The sultan proceeded from the Dolma Bagtsche palace to the mosque, which stands at the water's edge, in a launch and from there, attended by the grand vizier, the Shiek-ul-Islam, the members of the cabinet, the chiefs of the army, the two higher grades of ulemas and many other functionaries, rode to the Top Kapou palace, about six miles distant to kiss the robe of the prophet.

Magnificent Display.

The sultan's train was a magnificent display, exhibiting a rich display of fabrics, jeweled arms and fine horses. He was loudly acclaimed as he passed through the streets.

The government is taking hold of the relief work in Adana province with vigor. It has been announced that $150,000 was sent there.

The grand vizier and Ferid Pasha, the minister of the interior, have received a deputation of Armenian clergy and laity. The delegation was headed by Arscharani, the provisional representative of the Patriarchate, who was assured that the government would inquire thoroughly into the Adana massacres and severely punish those guilty of inciting them. The ministers said the investigation would be conducted by a military court.

Ferid Pasha told the delegation that eight physicians had been sent from Smyrna to Adana and that several also had gone there from Constantinople.

TO EUROPE IN BALLOON.

Professor Henry H. Clayton Plans to Make the Trip.

Boston, May 10.—A ballon trip over the Atlantic from Boston to Europe is planned by Professor Henry H. Clayton, who recently resigned as meteorologist at the Blue Hill observatory after sixteen years of study of the direction and velocity of wind currents.

Professor Clayton believes he can accomplish the feat of crossing the Atlantic by taking advantage of an upper air or planetary current which his experiments have shown flows constantly eastward at the height of two miles and more above the earth. He declares he can make the distance of 3,000 miles easily in three or four days.

As a sort of preliminary test of the possibilities of the trip Professor Clayton is now making preparations for a trip from San Francisco to the Atlantic coast.

CAUGHT IN WEST.

Former Laingsburg Jeweler Who Fled With Woman to Be Returned.

Owosso, Mich., May 10.—Alva Wert, thirty-one years old, a former Laingsburg jeweler, who disappeared about four months ago in company with Mrs. Grace Calkins of Perry, leaving a wife and several children destitute, is under arrest at Pocatello, Ida., and Sheriff Watson of this place left today to bring him back. Wert, it is said, has grown tired of life, such as he has made it, and will return willingly and face the music.

The woman with whom Wert left is also under arrest, but no charge is to be made against her. She claims to be Wert's wife. If this is the case a warrant for bigamy will be issued.

At the time of his arrest Wert was living under the name of Jack Curtiss and was employed as a section hand in the western city.

Mrs. Calkins is twenty-three years of age.

Fine Country Home Burns.

Battle Creek, Mich., May 10.—Fire, starting from a chicken incubator, has destroyed the $5,000 home of William and Benjamin Morgan, north of Battle Creek, despite the strenuous efforts of neighboring farmers with buckets. The local fire department was asked to send aid, but could not do so owing to the distance and the fact that the roads were scarcely passable for heavy fire apparatus.

Will Build New Steamer.

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 10.—It has been announced by the new Chicago-South Haven Steamship company that a sister ship to the City of South Haven would be constructed for service in 1910. The City of South Haven is an all steel boat and one of the finest ships on the great lakes.

Man Who Was Missing Jailed.

Owosso, Mich., May 10.—Charles Alexander, forty-two years old, the Vernice township farmer who disappeared last fall, is under arrest at Flint, charged with removing chattel mortgaged property from this county.

HIS HOUSE AN ARSENAL

Officers Have Exciting Time Arresting Insane Man.

RECENTLY OUT OF ASYLUM.

Neighbors, Living In Constant Fear, Ask to Have Francis Rogers of Owosso Arrested—Deputy Sheriffs Take Him Into Custody After Vigorous Struggle.

Owosso, Mich., May 10.—Two Durand officers had an exciting time arresting Francis J. Rogers, the farmer recently released from the Pontiac asylum as incurably insane. For several days neighbors of Rogers have lived in constant fear that he would do them harm. They asked to have him arrested.

When the two deputy sheriffs arrived at the Rogers home they found the house locked. Rapping on the door, they waited for Rogers to answer. He did so, but quickly slammed the door shut and locked it. They succeeded in breaking in and did so just in time to prevent the insane man from getting a gun from an upstairs room. Rogers resisted arrest, and the men fought for nearly an hour before the prisoner was overpowered. Rogers then had to be knocked insensible before he gave up.

The rooms of the man were a veritable arsenal, say the authorities, he having guns and revolvers of all sizes and shapes. All were ready for business, too, it is said.

Rogers will be sent back to the asylum.

WANT TO TEACH US TO PLAY PROPERLY.

Playground Experts Also Seek Quieter Fourth of July.

Pittsburg, May 10.—Instruction of the children and adults of the United States in the art of playing properly, without infringing on the rights of those not participating in the pastime, is one of the purposes of the Playground Association of America, which opened its third annual cangress here today.

Large cities in every part of the Union are represented at the congress. Mayor Magee of this city, in his invitation to city officials to attend the congress themselves and send representatives of the cities, said:

"The purpose of the congress and the association is to encourage the provision of adequate playground facilities for children and adults. Many of the matter for which the members of the congress will seek a solution are those which are rapidly becoming important issues in many of our great cities."

Among the speakers will be Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York, Miss Jane Addams of Chicago, Joseph Lee, president of the Massachusetts Civic league; Representative James Francis Burke, Mayor Magee and Dr. Luther H. Gulick of New York. Among the recommendations which will be made will be the substitution of dancing festivals for the present noisy celebration of the Fourth of July and for the almost equally noisy observance of New Year's eve.

GOVERNMENT STANDS FIRM

Strike Not Likely to Be Declared in France For Present.

Paris, May 10.—Conditions are rather favorable for the government in its controversy with the postal employes, and it is not likely that a strike will be declared for the present. The government's firmness has made a deep impression on the rank and file.

A meeting called for Sunday by the federal committee was attended by about 4,000 persons, but no great enthusiasm was shown. A resolution was adopted to go out at the word of command in the fight for the reinstatement of the dismissed employes and for complete reform in the postal service.

THOUSANDS VIEW REMAINS.

Former Mayor Maybury's Body Lies In State.

Detroit, Mich., May 10.—The tribute of a city was paid to William C. Maybury, former mayor of Detroit, Sunday afternoon, when, from 12 noon until 5 o'clock, 20,000 persons filed past his body as it lay in state in the city hall.

It was not an aristocratic crowd, though frock coated men of business and of affairs were there. The greater number, however, showed by their clothes, their weather beaten faces and their knotted hands that they were plain working people, the kind that were near to Mr. Maybury's heart when he lived.

The body is now lying in the Masonic temple auditorium, where, all night last night and until this afternoon, when the final services take place, one man stands at the head and another at the foot of the casket. Masons perform this last service for the dead.

Three memorial services were held for Mr. Maybury Sunday, one in St. Peter's, another in Grace and the third in St. James church.

Wu Accepts Presidency.

Chicago, May 10.—Wu Ting Fang, Chinese minister to the United States, has accepted the presidency of the Chinese school of Chicago.

MAN IS SHOT.

Drunken Brawl Will Probably Result Fatally.

Boyne City, Mich., May 10.—In a drunken brawl at Headquarters, a small lumber camp near here, Charles Brown, a young man, was shot in the body and will probably die. His assailant, John Carroll, fled and has not yet been captured.

Brown and Carroll, with several companions, were holding a drinkfest, when Carroll grew angry at some remark that was made. He accused Brown, it is alleged, of slandering him, and the two began quarreling, resulting in Brown being shot.

JUDGE PENFIELD PASSES AWAY.

Former Michigan Educator Dies In Washington.

Washington, May 10.—Judge William L. Penfield, formerly solicitor of the department of state and an authority on international law, is dead, after a long illness, in this city. His death was due to a complication of heart and stomach troubles.

The funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon, and interment will be in the District of Columbia.

Judge Penfield was sixty-three years old and a native of Dover, Mich. He was formerly a judge of the circuit court in Indiana. In the early seventies he taught German and Latin in Adrian college, in Michigan, and practiced law at Auburn, Ind.

As solicitor, from 1897 to 1905, he won the complete confidence of Secretary of State Hay and had a large influence in shaping the policies of the state department.

He was counsel for the United States in the famous "Pious Fund Case;" in the Venezuelan arbitration before the Hague tribunal in 1903, and general counsellor of the United States government in the Emery claim against the Nicaraguan government. He was counsel for this country in international arbitration between the United States and San Domingo, Haiti, Nicaragua, Guatemala, Salvador and Mexico wherein wards amounting to $2,500,000 were given in favor of the United States. In 1905 he was special commissioner to Brazil.

CALLS POLICE BY 'PHONE.

Officers Arrive to Find Woman Was Stabbed.

Lansing, Mich., May 10.—"My husband is raising——!" That's as far as Mrs. Frank Marshall of this city got with her report to the police over the telephone early Sunday night that her husband was beating her. A loud scream told the desk sergeant that something was wrong, and two policemen rushed to the Marshall home.

Arriving, they found the woman lying on the floor with a wound an inch wide and an inch and a half deep in her shoulder blade. A physician was summoned, and the woman was revived sufficiently to tell the police that her husband had stabbed her in the back with a butcher knife because she called to have him arrested.

A search is being made for Marshall, but he has not been found. The woman will live.

TRIBUTES OF HOMAGE

Await Wright Brothers When They Arrive From Europe.

New York, May 10.—Marked tributes of homage await Wilbur and Orville Wright of Dayton, O., who are due to arrive in New York Tuesday from Europe, where their triumphs in aviation have been keenly watched by the world at large.

The brothers will be the figures of interest here at several receptions and luncheons given by the Aero Club of America.

After leaving here the brothers will proceed to Dayton, O., their home city, where another series of receptions and dinners have been arranged in their honor. There they will complete the aeroplane which is to be delivered to the government at Fort Myer next month.

Convene In Washington.

Washington, May 10.—The twenty-third annual convention of the Independent Order of Brith Abraham is being held here. There are 855 delegates, representing a membership of 132,000 men and women in lodges throughout the United States.

NINE ARE DROWNED.

Boat Capsizes With Party Out For Pleasure Trip.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 10.—Six men, a woman and two children drowned in the Susquehanna river near this city by the capsizing of a rowboat.

The dead are Thomas Andrews, William Andrews, Theodore Andrews, Frank Marionsky, Adam Strukus and Frank Ganofsky and his wife and two boys, John and Michael.

The nine persons had started out for a ride in the small craft. While they remained close to the shore all went well, but as the boat drifted into the swift current it began to dip water. The occupants of the boat became panic stricken and called frantically for assistance.

Some boys at play on the bank of the river heard the screams for help, but before a boat could be secured the rowboat in midstream had filled with water and sank. None of the occupants could swim, and they were swept down the river to their death by the rushing current. None of the bodies has been recovered.

One of the boys who witnessed the tragedy said that the man who was rowing seemed to dip his oars too deep. This, he said, caused the water to splash over the side of the boat.

Alleged He Embezzled $1,145.

San Francisco, Cal., April 29.—Eugene Pearson of the U. S. army transport service in San Francisco has been arrested on a charge of having embezzled $1,145.

THE BARRIER

By Rex Beach

"What kind of place is that land of yours, Poleon?"

"Ha! I never see 'im, but she's been cryin' to me ever since I'm little boy. It's a place w'ere I don' get too hot on de summer an' too col' on de winter; it's place w'ere birds sing an' flowers blossom 'an' de sun shine an' w'ere I can sleep widout dreamin' 'bout it all de tam'."

"Why, it's the land of content. You'll never discover it by travel. I'll tell you a secret, Poleon. I've found it; yes, I have. It lies here." She laid her hand on her breast. "Father Barnum told me the story of your people and how it lives in your blood—that hunger to find the far places. It's what drove the voyageur and coureur du bois from Quebec to Vancouver and from the Mississippi to Hudson bay. The wanderlust was their heritage and they pushed on and on without rest, like the salmon in the spring, but they were different in this—that they never came back to die."

There was a look of great tenderness in his eyes as he bent toward her and searched her face, but she was not thinking of him, and at length he continued:

"Fader Barnum he's goin' be here nex' Sonday for cheer up dem Injun Constantine she's got de letter."

"Do you know," said Necia wistfully, "I've always wanted him to marry me."

"You t'inkin' 'bout marry on some feller, eh?" said the other, with an old grin. "Waal, w'y not? He'll be here all day an' night. S'pose you do it. Mos' anybody w'at ain' got some wife already will be glad for marry on you, an' mebbe some feller w'at has got wife too! If you don' tak dem an' if you're goin' marry on somebody you can be wife to me."

Necia laughed lightly. "I believe you would marry me if I wanted you to. You've done everything else I've ever asked. But you needn't be afraid. I won't take you up." In all her life this man had never spoken of love to her, and she had no hint of the dream he cherished.

While they were talking a boat had drawn inshore and made fast to the bank in front of them. An Indian landed and, approaching, entered into talk with the Frenchman.

By and by Poleon turned to the girl and said:

"Dere's hondred marten skin come in. You min' de store w'ile I mak' trade wit' dis man."

Together the two went down to the boat, leaving Necia behind, and not long after Runnion sauntered up to the store and addressed her familiarly.

"Hello, Necia! I just heard about the strike on your claim. That's fine and dandy."

She acknowledged his congratulations curtly, for, although it was customary for most of the old timers to call her by her Christian name, she resented it from this man. She chose to let it pass, however.

"I had some good news last night myself," he continued. "One of my men has hit some good dirt, and we'll know what it means in a day or so. I'll gamble we're into the money big, though, for I always was a lucky cuss. Say, where's your father?"

"He's out at the mine."

"We've used up all of our bar sugar at the saloon, and I want to buy what you've got."

"Very well; I'll get it for you."

He followed her inside, watching her graceful movements and attempting, with his free and easy insolence, to make friendly advances; but, seeing that she refused to notice him, he became piqued and grew bolder.

"Look here, Necia; you're a mighty pretty girl. I've had my eye on you ever since I landed, and the more I see of you the better I like you."

"It isn't necessary to tell me that," she replied. "The price of sugar will be just the same."

"Yes, and you're bright, too," he declared. "That's what I like in a woman—good looks and brains. I believe in strong methods and straight talk, too—none of this serenading and moonlight mush for me. When I see a girl I like I go and get her. That's me. I make love like a man ought to."

The girl laughed derisively in his face.

"Now, don't get sore. I mean business. I'm no soft talking southerner with gold buttons and highfalutin ways. I don't care if you are a squaw, I'll take you."

"Don't talk to me!" she cried in disgust, her voice hot with anger and resentment.

But he continued, unheeding: "Now, cut out these airs and get down to cases. I mean what I say. I know you've been casting sheep's eyes at Burrell; but, Lord, he wouldn't have you, no matter how rich you get! Of course you acted careless in going off alone with him, but I don't mind what they're saying around camp, for I've made little slips like that myself, and we'd get along."

"I'll have you killed!" she hissed through her clinched teeth, while her whole body vibrated with passion. "I'll call Poleon and have him shoot you!" She pointed to the river bank a hundred yards away, where the Canadian was busy assorting skins.

But he only laughed at her show of temper and shrugged his shoulders as he answered her roughly:

"Understand me, I'm on the square. So think it over and don't go up in the air like a skyrocket."

She cried out at him "Go—go—go!" and finally he took up his bundle, saying as he stepped out slowly:

"All right! But I'm coming back, and you'll have to listen to me. I don't mind being called a squaw man. You're pretty near white, and you're good enough for me. I'll treat you right. Why, I'll even marry you if you're dead set on it. Sure!"

She could scarcely breathe, but checked her first inclination to call Poleon, knowing that it needed only a word from her to set that nut brown savage at Runnion's throat. Other thoughts began to crowd her brain and to stifle her. The fellow's words had stabbed her consciousness and done something for her that gentler means would not have accomplished. They had opened her eyes to a thing that she had forgotten—a hideous thing that had reared its fangs once before to strike, but that her dreams of happiness had driven out of her Eden. All at once she saw the wrong that had been done her and realized from this brute's insult that those early fears had been well grounded. It suddenly occurred to her that in all the hours she had spent with her lover, in all those unspeakably sweet and intimate hours, there had never been one word of marriage. He had looked into her eyes and vowed he could not live without her, and yet he had never said the words he should have said, the words that would bind her to him. His arms and his lips had comforted her and stilled her fears; but, after all, he had merely made love. A cold fear crept over the girl. She recalled the old corporal's words of a few weeks ago, and her conversation with Stark came back to her. What if it were true—that which Runnion implied? What if he did not intend to ask her, after all? What if he had only been amusing himself? She cried out sharply at this, and when Doret staggered in beneath a great load of skins he found her in a strange excitement. When he had finished his accounting with the Indian and dismissed him she turned an agitated face to the Frenchman.

"Poleon," she said, "I'm in trouble. Oh, I'm in such awful trouble!"

"It's dat Runnion! I seen 'im pass on de store w'ile I'm down below." His brows knit in a black scowl, and his voice slid off a pitch in tone. "W'at he say, eh?"

"No, no; it's not that. He paid me a great compliment." She laughed harshly. "Why, he asked me to marry him." The man beside her cursed at this, but she continued: "Don't blame him for liking me. I'm the only woman for 500 miles around—or I was until this crowd came—so how could he help himself? No; he merely showed me what a fool I've been."

"I guess you better tell me all 'bout dis t'ing," said Poleon gravely. "You know I'm all tam' ready for help you, Necia. W'en you was little feller an' got hurt your finger you run to me queerk, an' I feex it."

"Yes, I know, dear Poleon," she assented gratefully. "You've been a brother to me, and I need you now more than I ever needed you before. I can't go to father. He wouldn't understand, or else he would understand too much and spoil it all, his temper is so quick. Don't think I'm unwomanly, Poleon, for I'm not. I may be foolish and faithful and too trusting, but I'm not unmaidenly. You see, I've never been like other girls, and he was so fine, so different, he made me love him. It's part of a soldier's training, I suppose. It was so sweet to be near him and to hear him tell of himself and all the world he knows. I just let myself drift. I'm afraid—I'm afraid I listened too well and my ears heard more than he said. My head is so full of books, you know."

"He should have know' dat, too," said Poleon.

"Yes," she flared up. "He knew I was only an Indian girl."

The only color in Doret's face lay now in his cheeks, where the sun had put it, but he sniffed at her—his warm, engaging smile—and laid his great brown hand upon her shoulder softly.

"But he has, Poleon. That's just what he has done." She came near to breaking down and finished pathetically, "They're telling the story on the street, so Runnion says."

"Dat's easy t'ing for feex," he said. "Runnion she don' spread no more story lak' dat."

"I don't care what they say. I want the truth. I want to know what he means, what his intentions are. He swears he loves me, and yet he has never asked me to marry him. He has gone too far. He has made a fool of me to amuse himself, and—and I couldn't see it until today. He's laughing at me, Poleon; he's laughing at me now! Oh, I can't bear it!"

The Frenchman took up his wide hat from the counter and placed it carefully upon his head, but she stopped him as he moved toward the door, for she read the meaning of the glare in his eyes.

"Wait till you understand—wait, I say! He hasn't done anything yet."

"Dat's de trouble. I'm goin' mak' 'im do somet'in'."

"No, no! It isn't that. It's these doubts that are killing me. I'm not sure"—

"I hear plaintee," he said. "Dere's no tam' for monkey roun'."

"I tell you he may be honest," she declared. "He may mean to marry me, but I've got to know. That's why I came to you. That's what you must find out for me."

"I'm good trader, Necia," said the Canadian after a moment. "I'll mak' bargain wit' you now. If he say yes he'll marry you I don' ask no more, but if he say no you geeve 'im to me. Is it go?"

She hesitated, while he continued musingly, "I don' see how no man on all dis worl' could lef' you go," then to her, "Waal, is it bargain?"

"Yes," she said, the Indian blood speaking now, "but you must learn the truth. There must be no mistake. That would be terrible."

"Dere ain' goin' be no mistak'."

"If he should refuse I—I'll marry some one quick. I won't be laughed at by this camp. I won't be a joke. Oh, Poleon! I've given myself to him just as truly as if—well, he—he has taken my first kiss."

Doret smote his hands together at this and began to roll his head backward from side to side as if in some great pain, but his lips were dry and silent. After a moment the spell left him, the fire died down, leaving only a dumb agony in its place. She came closer and continued:

"I'll never let them point at me and say, 'There goes the squaw that—he threw away.'"

"You mak' dis very hard t'ing for me," he said wearily.

"Listen," she went on, lashing herself with pity and scorn. "You say Father Barnum will be here on Sunday. Well, I'll marry some one, I don't care who!" Then, with a sudden inspiration, she cried: "I'll marry you. You said I could be a wife to you!"

He uttered a sharp cry. "You mean dat, Necia?"

"Yes," she declared. "Why not? You'll do it for my sake, won't you?"

"Would you stan' up wit' me 'long side of de pries', lovin' dat oder feller all de tam'?" he asked queerly.

"Yes, yes! I'd rather it was you than anybody, but married I'll be on Sunday. I'll never let them laugh at me."

Doret held his silence for a moment; then he looked up and said in level tones:

"It's easy t'ing for go an' ask 'im, but you mus' hear hees answer wit' your own ears; den you can't t'ink I'm lyin'. I'll fetch 'im 'ere on dis place if you feex it for hide you se'f behin' dose post." He indicated a bundle of furs that were suspended against a pillar and that offered ample room for

DEATH HAS CALLED ARTHUR M. BIGELOW

Marquette Business Man Passed from Life Sunday Night at Henseley, W. Va.

Word was received early yesterday morning of the death of Arthur M. Bigelow, whose critical illness was chronicled in yesterday's Mining Journal. Mr. Bigelow had been in ill health for many months, although able to attend to his business most of the time, and a few weeks ago, with Mrs. Bigelow, had gone to visit his brother, at Henseley, W. Va., in hope of finding a more congenial climate. It was there that his demise occurred some time Sunday night, heart and kidney trouble being the cause of death.

The deceased was one of Marquette's best known business men, having resided here for about twenty-five years. He was about fifty years of age. He came to northern Michigan from the lower peninsula about thirty years ago, first settling in Ishpeming, where he secured employment in Girzi's jewelry store. It was there that he married.

In 1883 he moved to this city as the jeweler in Henry Hallam's store, which was located in half of the store still occupied by H. F. Handford. Later he went into the jewelry business for himself at 313 Front street. About twenty years ago he went into partnership with a Mr. Vannier, and under the name of Vannier & Bigelow conducted a jewelry store and news stand on Front street. In 1897, after the death of Mr. Vannier, the deceased and A. E. Boswell became partners in a jewelry, stationery and news store in the building now occupied by Louis Getz. A year later this partnership was dissolved and Mr. Bigelow moved to his present location on Washington street, where he has since conducted a general book, stationery and paper business.

During his long residence in this city as a business man, the deceased gathered about him a large circle of acquaintances and friends, all of whom mourn the death of a man of integrity and many other sterling personal qualities. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias, the Elks, and carried insurance in the National Union.

In his immediate family a wife and daughter, Miss Alma, a teacher in the public schools, are left to mourn his sudden passing. The daughter had started for her father's bedside, but was intercepted at Chicago yesterday morning and from there will accompany the funeral cortege to this city. Late last night a telegram was received stating that the remains would arrive in Marquette Wednesday afternoon and that the funeral would be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock—The Daily Mining Journal.

Last Sad Rites—The funeral of the late A. M. Bigelow was held from the family home, 517 Pine street, yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and was largely attended. The Marquette lodges of Elks and Knights of Pythias attended the obsequies in a body, and a number were present from Negaunee and Ishpeming, where the deceased was well known. Many of the business houses were closed during the hour of the funeral. The services were conducted by Rev. Ames Maywood. Among the relatives from abroad who are in the city are J. W. Bigelow, a brother of the deceased, of Henseley, W. Va., Mrs. A. J. Bigelow of Flint and Mrs. George N. Stacy of Tecumseh, the mother and sister of the deceased. Mrs. Frank Turner of Flint, another sister, was unable to be present.

DEATH OF THE WORLD.

When Water Disappears and Air Gets Too Thin to Breathe.

The age of the earth is placed by some at 500,000,000 years, by others 100,000,000 years, and still others of later time place it at 10,000,000 years. None place it lower than 10,000,000, knowing what processes have been gone through.

Other planets go through the same process. The reason that other planets differ so much from the earth is that they are in so much earlier or later stages of existence. The earth must become old.

Newton surmised, although he could give no reason for it, that the earth would lose all its water and become perfectly dry. Since then it has been found that Newton was correct.

As the earth keeps cooling it will become porous, and great cavities will be formed in the interior, which will take in the water. It is estimated that this process is now in progress, so far that the water diminishes at the rate of the thickness of a sheet of paper each year.

At this rate in 6,000,000 years the water will have sunk a mile, and in 15,000,000 the water will have disappeared from the face of the globe.

The nitrogen and oxygen in the atmosphere are also diminishing all the time. It is in an inappreciable degree, but the time will come when the air will be so thin that no creature we know could breathe it and live. The time will come when the world cannot support life. That will be the period of old age, and then will come death.—Richard A. Proctor.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn body growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., May 8, 1909.

There is no doubt that a prompt effort will be made to strengthen the commodities clause of the railroad rate law. On Thursday of this week a bill was introduced by Representative Irving P. Wanger of Pennsylvania, to correct those defects in the law made clear by the recent decision of the Supreme Court. Mr. Wanger is the ranking member of the Interstate Commerce Committee of the House, and is prominently mentioned as the successor of Representative Hepburn as chairman of the committee. He aided materially in framing the rate law. His bill provides specifically that railroads shall be prohibited from owning stock or securities or interest in any other business enterprise and from transporting any commodites, the property of such company, which are not intended for their own use. Mr. Wanger has little hope of action on his resolution at the present session, but it is believed that President Taft's next message to Congress will be so direct on this point that his bill, or a similar one, will be taken up immediately.

* * *

Representative Murphy of Missouri will draw up, and present to Congress before the close of the present session, formal charges of impeachment against Judge McPherson and Phillips of the Western Circuit of Missouri. He announced this intention on Thursday after making a speech on the floor of the House in answer to a dispatch sent to the Attorney General by Frank Hagerman, attorney for a number of railroads, accusing Mr. Murphy of misrepresenting the judges and the roads. This dispatch was the outcome of a resolution introduced in the House several days ago by Mr. Murphy in which he accused the judges os illegal conduct in relation to the 2-cent passenger law and the maximum freight law recently passed by the Missouri legislature. The Murphy resolution has been referred to the Judiciary Committee and any charges of impeachment will go to that committee, which will not be appointed however, until the next session of Congress.

The sixteen battleships of the Atlantic fleet will leave the navy yards on June 15 radically changed in outward appearance and will be in a condition for action which has not heretofore prevailed in time of peace and when there was no prospect of war. These important changes are mainly the result of experience gained during the circumnavigating cruise of the fleet, which Secretary Meyer says cost the government $1,500,000 above what would have been the cost os maintenance and operation had the ships remained in home waters. Naval strategists look upon this extra expense as a premium paid for the benefit of increased naval efficiency and as representing an investment most useful in improving the hitting power of the naval arm.

The most conspicuous change which the civilian observer will recognize is in the color of the vessels. The hull, small boats, and indeed, all of the exposed portions will be of a shade described as a dull gray, without the lustre to reflect the sun or otherwise add to the conspicuousness of the ship. It is the color decided upon by the experts as least likely to attract attention and as possessing the greatest degree of invisibility. In carrying out this idea all of the brass fittings, even to the door knobs, have been removed and the bow ornaments and gilt letters of the ships' names have been abandoned.

* * *

Another feature which has been tried out successfully on the warships is the method of carrying ammunition. Some of this will be stored in the turret, where it will be conveniently at hand and where it is considered quite as safe to those who handle it as if it were stored in the sheel rooms below the turret. The problem of taking care of powder has engaged expert attention, and there is now being adopted a system of cooling the magazines so that there can be maintained a uniformity of temperature as a protection against accidental ignition. Many changes will be made in the superstructure of the ships, and wherever possible the temporary bridges and cabins will be removed. Internally, also, many minor changes will be made, such as the removal from the turrets of electrical appliance which endanger life or restrict the operation of the gunners, and it is proposed to install metal instead of wooden furniture, and some attention has been given lately to furniture made of asbestos with the idea that there may be the least possible chance of conflagration on board ship. These are a few of the changes being made on the ships of the Atlantic fleet and which will be made next year on the ships of the American navy in a condition for immediate battle, as it is held that the navy should be in fighting trim and should really be prepared for war in the manesuvres conduced in time of peace.

Jack London is represented in the May issue of the Smart Set by one of the most charming stories he has ever written. "Aloha Oe" is a tale of Hawaii, full of the romance and perfume of that sunbathed island empire. In the development of the story is shown the basic idea of race-difference that introduces an interesting problem apropos of this country and its island dependencies.

"His Child's Godmother," the complete novel in the Man Smart Set, is from the pen of Frances Pusey Gooch. It is a tale of the reconstructed South, a romance of the ward of a governor and the long-exiled son of an old war-impoverished family, and presents a beautiful picture of the winning of a wife's love after marriage.

A Double Attraction Land Opening and Town Lot Sale.

Washington, D. C., May 6, 1909.

Homes on Government land and homes in a Government town are to be offered to homeseekers on May 22d and 24th at Powell, Wy. On May 22d the second unit of the Shoshone irrigation project, in northern Wyoming, will be thrown open to homestead entry, and on the 24th the lots in the Govenment town of Powell in the center of the irrigable area, will be sold at auction to the highest bidder. If you don't want a farm—if you are a business or professional man a carpenter, blacksmith, brick mason, or in fact have any trade and want to get a home in a new growing community, this is your opportunity. The first unit of the Shoshone project was opened only a year ago, but so rapidly were the farms taken up that it was neccessary to rush work on the canals so that additional land could be made available this spring. In the first unit eight farm houses or more to the mile have been built along the main highways. There will never be any isolation or loneliness among the farmers here. The soil is exceedingly fertile, the climate delightful and the transportation facilities good.

The farms are obtainable under the homestead law, subject to the charges of actual cost of supplying water to the land. This charge has been fixed at $45 per acre, payable in ten annual installments without interest. The annual cost of maintaing and operating the system amounts to $1 per acre. The principal crops are alfalfa, sugar beets, cereals and hardy fruits and vegetables. Potatoes yield from 200 to 400 bushels per acre and are of fine quality. Wheat yields from 40 to 60 bushels per acre, oats average 60 bushels although the yield has in some instances exceeded 100 bushels per acre. The small fruits that have been grown are very prolific and possess a fine flavor, and it is believed that apples will be a profitable crop.

The influx of a large number of settlers to this region has created a demand for all sorts of supplies and all sorts of industries and the towns on the project are growing rapidly. The new town of Powell already possesses a graded school a state bank, drug store, blacksmith shop, hotel, lumber yard and store and church services are conducted regularly.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad has a station at this point and it will be one of the chief shipping points for the farmers as well as one of the chief sources for supplies. If you desire any information concerning the farm lands or the town lots, you should write to the Statistician, U. S. Reclamation Service, Washington, D. C.

The normal attitude of men towards death seems to be one of inattention or evasion. They do not trouble about it; they do not want to trouble about it; and they resent its being called to their notice. On this point the late Frederick Myers used to tell a story which I have always thought very illuminating. In conversation after dinner he was pressing on his host the unwelcome question, what he thought would happen after death. After many evasions and much recalcitrancy, the reluctant admission was extorted: "Of course, if you press me, I believe that we shall all enter into eternal bliss; but I wish you wouldn't talk about such disagreable subjects." This I believe is typical of the normal mood of most men. They don't want to be worried; and though probably, if the question were pressed, they would object to the idea of extinction, they can hardly be said to desire immortality. Even at the point of death, it would seem, this attitude is often maintained.

CAUSES DEBILITY

Here Are Facts Backed up by a Strong Guarantee

Debility is caused by catarrh. In our opinion, a person free from Catarrh was never troubled with Debility. Debility can never be cured by medicine not designed to cure Catarrh. We positively guarantee to cure Catarrh, and thus cure Debility. In every case where we fail to effect a cure, we will not charge a cent for the medicine employed during the trial. Now, surely no one should hesitate to believe us or to put our claim to a practical test under such conditions. We take all the risk, no one else can lose anything by the transaction.

We make these statements and this offer because we know and have time and again proved that Rexall Mucu-Tone will cure Catarrh. It is designed for that one particular purpose. It is not a cure all prescribed to cure every disease that flesh is heir to. It is a specific. Rexall Mucu-Tone is absorbed in the stomach and carried by the blood until it penetrates every part of the body, acting as an antiseptic, disinfecting, cleansing, soothing and healing agent. It rids the system of all germ and poisonous matter, purifies and enriches the blood, rebuilds injured tissues, cleanses and invigorates the muco-cells, neutralizes the acids of the body, stops mucus discharge, tones up the entire system, promotes nutrition, increases body weight, and brings about a feeling of healthfulness that is lasting.

We have Rexall Mucu-Tone in two sizes. Prices 50c. and $1.00. We urge you to try a bottle on our guarantee. B. J. Pulver, the druggist.

The Nervous Mother.

An Atchison woman who is very nervous and inclined to worry is the mother of a boy. She recently read of a boy who was killed while roller skating and immediately put her son's roller skates in the fire. Another newspaper told of a boy who was killed riding the street cars, and as boys are frequently killed while walking by street cars running over them she chained her boy to the front door. Then she read of a boy who died of blood poisoning caused by his shoe rubbing his heel, and her boy's shoes and stockings came off. The story of a boy who bit off a button on his waist and choked to death resulted in her taking off her boy's clothes. He had left only a flannel shirt, and she is reading now that wearing flannel shirts is the cause of great mortality and is thinking of removing that.—Atchison Globe.

The Bloom on the Egg.

"I know these eggs at least are fresh," said the young housewife. "As I took them from the basket a white bloom, like the down of a peach, came off on my hands."

Her husband, a food expert, gave a sneering laugh.

"In that case," he said, "I'll forego my usual morning omelette. That bloom, my dear, proves your eggs to be a year or so old—maybe four or five years old.

"The bloom, as you so poetically call it, is lime dust. It shows that the eggs are pickled. Lime dust, which rubs off like flour, is the surest test we have for pickled eggs—a not unwholesome article, but not to be compared with the new laid sort."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Cheerful Greeting.

Augustus—Hello, old man! How are you and how are your people and all that sort of silly rot?—London Globe. Grandmother's. That's where I got the fancy for the name of Merridy, I suppose."

The Emmanuel idea is simplicity itself. If not all physicians agree with Dr. Frank Billings that "drugs, with the exception of quinine and mercury, are valueless as cures," few will be found to disagree with Dr. John H. Musser that "as the present compares with twenty years ago, one can see less and less of the use of drugs." Sir Frederick Treves is sure that drugs are in the main to "be replaced by simple living, suitable diet, plenty of sun, and plenty of fresh air." But men like Dr. Richard C. Cabot are pointing out in steadily increasing numbers that besides all these aids to health there is, especially in nervous ailments, large room for psychical treatment.

It is now a fact self-evident that where nerves have been put to strain by worry, fear, or other untoward mental states, the removal of the cause relieves the strain itself and the nerves are likely to regain their tone again. Believing that it is the special province of religion to deal with the troubled mind and the restless soul, the Emmanuel worker in the spirit of the healing Christ would make his contribution, always with the doctor's approval and even under his direction if he will, to the improvement of the mental and the spiritual condition of the nerve-worn.—From "The Emmanuel Movement," by Lyman P. Powell, in the American Review of Reviews for May.

Women, like men, may be divided into good, bad and indifferent. The fact that one bad woman can do more harm than many bad men is compensated by the other fact that the proportion of good women to the total is greater than the proportion of good men. Perhaps the reason the bad woman is so dangerous a social factor is that she has fallen farther in her derogation from the high standard of womanhood than the bad man. For it is true that good mothers are the saviors of society. The unaided instincts of man would never have developed the social unit, the family. That centers about and rests upon the love of woman.—Cyrus Townsend Brady, in the May Designer.

From Christian Brinton's "Two Great Spanish Painters" in the May Century.

Christian Brinton, writing in the May "Century" of the exhibition of Spanish pictures recently seen in New York by 175,000 people, says: Rarely has such a display of a single person's achievement been seen among us, and, indeed, few men in the history of painting have given a more sovereign demonstration of the sheer power of eye and hand.

President Taft, in an article in McClure's Magazine for May, answers the critics of the Panama Canal. He declares that the lock type was the best type of canal to build, and he dares hope that it will be finished before 1915, and that the cost will fall below Colonel Goethal's latest estimate of $297,000,000.

"CREASING" A WILD HORSE.

For One Captured by That Method Fifty Were Killed.

Will C. Barnes, writing in McClure's of the various methods of capturing wild horses in the old days on the plains, says:

"'Creasing' was one of their devices. This consisted in shooting a bullet so that it struck the animal on the top of the neck just in front of the withers and about an inch or so deep close to the spinal column. The shock temporarily stunned the horse, and the hunter ran up and tied the animal's feet together before he recovered. A rope halter was slipped on his head. A gentle horse or sometimes a work ox was led up alongside the prostrate beast, and he was securely necked up to the gentle animal and thus could be handled easily. Old mustangers say, however, that for one horse caught this way fifty were killed and that as a matter of fact the method was not used very much except in an emergency, when a hunter, after days of attempts to capture, finally took the risk of successfully creasing an unusually fine animal rather than see him escape altogether.

"One of the best cow ponies I ever owned I bought from a mustanger who had creased him on the plains east of the Pecos river in New Mexico. There was a hole in his neck fully two inches deep and wide, where the ball from the heavy buffalo gun had plowed its way through the flesh just high enough above the spine not to kill and low enough to stun effectually."

ENDURANCE RUN

Detroit Auto Dealers' Association Will Send 30 Cars on Friday.

MAKING THE LONGEST RUN OF THE WEEK ON THIS DAY.

Drivers have been instructed by our village official to pass through Tecumseh "not faster than 8 miles an hour."

On Friday, the 30 cars, entered in the second annual endurance run of the Detroit Auto Dealers' association will leave the Tuller Hotel in Detroit for the last and longest run, which will be made through Dearborn, Inkster, Wayne, Denton, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Lima Center, Chelsea, Grass Lake, Michigan Center, Jackson, Eldred, Napoleon, Norvell, Manchester, River Raisin, Clinton, Tecumseh, Birdsall and Adrian. From Adrian the return trip will be made back through, Birdsall, Tecumseh, Clinton, Saline, Ypsilanti, Denton, Wayne, Inkster and Dearborn.

In order to give the contestants in the run all the leeway possible, President George Lane of the D. A. D. A. sent letters to the officials of towns through which the cars will pass during the four days, asking that the speed laws be not stringently enforced. As was the case last year, all assented with the exception of Tecumseh. Many even went so far as to request President Lane that he ask the drivers to "let out" as they entered their domains, and give the natives some idea of just how fast the buzz wagons really could go.

The Detroit News Tribune has the following to say in regard to the action of our village official in the matter.

"At a meeting of the association last week in the Tuller, these letters were read, together with the Tecumseh missive enclosing a copy of the laws of the village. The official sending it, stated he would have to live up to the regulations and drive not faster than eight miles an hour. The association will not only comply with the law, but the route was cut and cars will slow down and pass through the town at the lowest speed possible. It was even suggested that a band be carried on this run, the musicians playing a dead march as they approached Tecumseh."

The Herald is sorry that the "biggest little town on earth," should be advertised in this manner, and if all of the laws and regulations of this little town are enforced in a like manner, we bespeak for the officials a lively administration. It would seem that a little accommodation, might possibly have been the best policy in this affair.

Just a few Words from our Former Townsman, L. J. Abrams.

North Yakima, Wash., April 30, '09.
Mrs. Stacy, Tecumseh, Mich.
Dear Madam:

Find enclosed money order for $1.25 to apply on account of newspaper.

We are having delightful weather here and it has been just so since the first of February.

Our winter lasted from 10 to 14 days, but that was long enough to kill most of the peach crop. I have been told by old residents it was the coldest weather known here and the first peach crop that has failed in several years. The air is fragrant with apple blossoms, pears, prunes. Apricots and almonds will be a bumper crop as well as apples. The apricots now are about as large as a good sized olive; they ripen early.

Strawberries will soon be ripe and they are plentiful, as are all small fruit and berries; the bushes and trees are loaded.

It would do you good to visit this valley in fruit time.

Very Repectfully,
L. F. Alrams.

Are we training them to be honest and self-supporting citizens?

Hundreds of employers, harassed and irritated with incompetent, inaccurate, unthinking girl employees, will answer "No!"

Are we training them to be good housewives?

Hundreds of young husbands, wondering why they cannot make both ends of their income meet, will answer as emphatically "No!"

These questions are asked and answered in a series of articles, by well-known writers, the first of which appears in Woman's Home Companion for May.

CLUB BANQUET

Wit and Wisdom Club Gave Their 14th Annual Banquet

Friday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Brown.

The Wit and Wisdom club held its 14th annual banquet at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Brown Friday evening May 7. A delicious four course dinner was served covers being laid for forty-eight. As the program was of military character, the decorations carried out this idea. Flags and red and white carnations being used throughout the rooms and upon the prettily appointed tables.

Frank R. Hurst acted as toastmaster. F. J. Temple responded to the toast "Reveille".

"Mess"—Mrs. Fannie Rector.
"Retreat"—Miss Edith Cotton.
"Taps"—Dr. W. A. Frost.

The musical part of the program was an enjoyable feature and consisted of an instrumental duet by Mrs. F. B. Wood and Mrs. Hodges, music by Ladies Quartette and solo by Ellsworth Ellis. At the close a social hour was passed and another club year ended.

The officers selected for 1909-10 are,
Pres.—J. H. Smith.

James Huneker, in the May Everybody's, tells of the women who have become great as violinists. The women who have achieved greatness as violinists form a goodly, artistic company. It is not necessary to go back to the Milanolla sisters. We still cherishes remembrances of Camilla Urso and her broad manner: the finished style of Normann-Neruda, Maris Soldat, the brilliant Arma Senkrah, Nettie Carpenter, Teresina Tua—who did not metamorphize into a "fiddle Fairy" when she visited us in 1887—Leonora Jackson, Dora Becker, Olive Mead, and Maud Powell.

Of Maud Powell there is this to be said: She has fulfilled her early promise. She is a mature artiste, one who will never be finished because she will always study, always improve. A Joachim pupil, she is nevertheless a pupil of Maud Powell, and her playing reveals breadth and musicianship, beauty of tone and phrasing.

Elsie Singmaster, who writes mainly of those quaint and interesting, if unprogressive folk, the Pennsylvania Germans, contributes a characteristic story, called "Thousand Dollar' Daggett," to the May Lippincott's. The scene is laid at the little town of Gettysburgh, where the grey clad hosts of the Confederacy met with a glorious defeat.

BUSY BUSINESS MEN

Science Helps Them out After Recklessly Abusing the Stomach.

The most reckless man in regard to health is the busy business man. At noon he rushes out for a bite to eat. He bolts his food without proper mastication, and heaps on his stomach an extra burden greater than it is able to carry without breaking down.

His overworked stomach is crying for help; it appeals to him for relief in various ways: Expulsion of sour gas; heaviness after eating; shortness of breath; bad breath, etc.

A Mi-o-na tablet taken before each meal will help any sufferer from dyspepsia wonderfully. It prepares the stomach for the work of digestion which it must perform.

Mi-o-na tablets are sold by C. A. Wright & Son at 50c a large box, with a rigid guarantee to cure dyspepsia and all stomach troubles, or money back. They make eating a pleasure.

"A stomach complaint had bothered me many months, when I heard of Mi-o-na I procured a treatment and used it a short time. This remedy did me good in many ways, as it not only relieved the stomach trouble, but made me much better in my general health. The trouble I had was from a heavy and distened feeling in my stomach, pains and distress, and generally in the morning, I would feel like vomiting but could not. Mi-o-na acted fine on my ailments, and has my endorsement." G. R. Gillespie, Potouotomie st., Tecumseh, Mich., Oct. 15, 1908.

If your Stomach, Heart or Kidneys are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists everywhere to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. Sold by all dealers.

AN AFRICAN TITBIT.

Hippopotamus Meat Has a Strong Odor and Flavor of Musk.

To the African traveler the hippopotamus is a species of game particularly desirable for its ivory and its hide are both valuable, while the not inconsiderable danger involved in its pursuit provides the delicious emotion without which every kind of hunting is tame and insipid. Moreover, the obligation under which the leader of the expedition lies to feed his servants and carriers adequately makes one of these enormous beasts, twelve feet long or so and disproportionately wide, a perfect godsend. Not only does the hippopotamus furnish a formidable amount of meat, but that meat has the inestimable merit of keeping fresh much longer than any other, principally owing to the fact that flies seem to have an insurmountable horror of it. I must admit that for a long time I thoroughly sympathized with the flies. Alive, the hippopotamus has a peculiar odor, somewhat resembling musk, which discloses the presence of the animal from afar when he happens to be to windward of one. In the flesh of the dead animal this odor—or the taste of it, rather—persists and is much appreciated by the natives, though foreigners take a long time to get accustomed to it; some are never able to support it.—Wide World Magazine.

FIVE SENSES NOT ENOUGH.

Our Limited Scale of Consciousness Shuts Out Many Vibrations.

Between the vibrations that we call electricity and the vibrations that we call heat we imagine there must be other vibrations filling up the gap, but we do not know, simply because we have no senses that can comprehend them. The spectrum is just such a little scale. Below the darkest red at the lower end we cannot see; at the other end as the vibrations get faster and faster through the orange, the blue and the violet is another unknown gap—that is, we cannot see it. But surely the vibrations are there. Some of them, for instance, that we have never seen and never can see mark their presence on a photographic plate. And this same spectrum may be used as an analogy to describe spiritualistic phenomena. Just as there are limits at either end of the scale of vibrations beyond which our own senses can tell us nothing so may there be psychic forces at work beyond the limits of our consciousness. These are seemingly supernatural to us when we witness their effect, but they really are no more supernatural than the X ray that pierces the solid body or the invisible ultra violet ray that marks the photographic plate.—From "Are the Dead Alive?" by Fremont Rider in Delineator.

When the Waiter Wins.

Two men were wrangling as to who should settle with the waiter for the luncheon. When the question had been finally decided and the contestants had gone the waiter said to one of his regular customers who was a witness of the scene: "That's what we like, for every time it happens we come in for an extra tip. The man who couldn't get the check has only one way to get even, and that is by giving the waiter something, and nine times out of ten he does it and makes the amount more than he would have given if he had paid the check. This one ordered extra cigars and left the change for me. We like the 'give me the check' quarrels."—New York Tribune.

Quick Wit.

In the days when Rowley Hill was bishop of the Isle of Man one of his clergymen, bearing the name of Tears, came to say adieu to his bishop on getting preferment.

The parson said: "Goodby, my lord! I hope we may meet again, but if not here in some better place."

The bishop replied, "I fear the latter is unlikely, as there are no Tears in heaven."

"No doubt," wittily answered the parson, "you are right that our chance of meeting is small, as one reads of the plains of paradise, but never of any Hills there."

Overfeeding.

"Men drunk from liquor and men drunk from overeating are most susceptible to pneumonia and die of it," said a Chicago health commissioner in an address. "The majority of cases of pneumonia are of patients who contracted the disease after a drunken debauch or who were drunk from overfeeding," the commissioner continued. "People drunk from overfeeding, I think, are almost as immoral as those who stupefy themselves with liquors. The effects of pneumonia in such patients are much the same."

His Hand.

Tom Reed was playing whist on one occasion in his club in Portland. One of the party whom the "czar" did not like extravagantly had a habit of carrying a good deal of black realty under his finger nails, and the rest of his hands never looked clean. But the fellow had good luck, which nettled Tom. Finally, almost unable to conceal his impatience, the giant speaker of the house of representatives remarked in his metallic nasal tone of voice, "Blank, if dirt was trumps, what a hand you'd have!"

A Terrible Threat.

"You say your titled son-in-law holds threats over you?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox. "He has us where we can't give him any argument at all. Mother and the girls say we must yield for the sake of the family honor."

"Is there—er—a skeleton in the closet?"

"Not at all. He simply announces that unless he has his own way he'll get naturalized and be a plain American citizen."—Washington Star.

Lived 152 Years.

Wm. Parr—England's oldest man—married the third time at 120, worked in the fields till 132 and lived 20 years longer. People should be youthful at 80. James Wright of Spurlock, Ky., shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a 16 year old boy," he writes, "after taking six bottles of Electric Bitters. For thirty years Kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth." They're a godsend to weak, sickly rundown or old people. Try them. 50c at C. A. Wright & Son, the druggists.

ART AND WEATHER.

A Storm That Suited the Painter, but Not the Committee.

In a gallery there hangs a large canvas in an imposing frame. The painting shows a waterfall in one of the states famous for startling natural scenery. The picture has occupied its present place for several years.

"No more than the others you see."

"Seems to me it should be in the capitol of the state where this scenery is," said the visitor.

"It was painted for the state," replied the man in charge, "but when it was submitted to the art committee it refused to accept it."

"What was the objection?"

"You see the sky is overcast. The artist put in a gathering storm like an impending calamity. The art committee said it was a reflection on the reputation of the state; that a storm such as is represented was unknown in that latitude."

"Couldn't the artist put in another sky, one that accorded with the state's reputation for sunshine?"

"I suppose he could, but he refused. He said that the rumpus kicked up by the art committee warranted the storm effect on the canvas, and he refused to budge. He sent it here, and here it remains."—Boston Herald.

HER MISTAKE.

The Way It Was Explained to Her by the Clumsy Man.

Owing to the fact that the car lurched suddenly as he was passing along the aisle Bronson was deprived of his balance, with the result that in attempting to save himself from falling he clutched one of the shoulders of a handsome woman who had succeeded in getting a seat. Moreover, he knocked her beautiful hat awry and with great difficulty avoided stepping on her toes. As he succeeded in recovering his equilibrium the lady turned toward him and said:

"You contemptible pup! I wish you to understand that I am not a lamppost or a piece of furniture to be clung to for support. You ought to ride in a cattle train. You have no right to crowd in where you can tear other people to pieces with your big, awkward hands. You pitiful clown! You ought to be thrown out into the street. You are not fit to be allowed to go where you are likely to interfere with the comfort of refined people. You unmannerly bumpkin! You deserve to be—

"Excuse me, madam," Bronson managed to say, "you have made a mistake."

"A mistake!" the lady demanded, her eyes flashing with wrath. "What do you mean?"

"I am not your husband."—Chicago Record-Herald.

THE CLERMONT.

First Passage by Steamboat From New York to Albany.

In August, 1808—the exact day is a matter of dispute—the steamboat Clermont made the first passage by steam from New York to Albany. The distance, somewhat less than 150 miles, was covered in thirty-two hours, a record hailed as a triumph in speed, for previously the passage between the two cities averaged four days.

Robert Fulton had experimented with steam several years, but the Clermont was the first boat he constructed on a large scale. As he could not get the engine he wanted in this country he ordered one from England. The Clermont was so reconstructed in the following winter that it gave more commodious accommodations to travelers, and the year 1808, which was the first year of regular travel by steamboat, Fulton made it a point to start his boat precisely on scheduled time. Curiously enough, a portion of the public complained of this. It was not until well along in the summer that travelers got accustomed to it. Previously boats had been held for two hours at the request of passengers who weren't ready. Fulton's perseverance won public approval before the season closed.—Anaconda Standard.

Cleared His Doubts.

A well known English gentleman engaged a tall and powerful highlander to act as gamekeeper on his estate. Having been a considerable time at his post and not having caught any poachers, the gentleman suspected his gamekeeper of carelessness. So one dark night he disguised himself and went out with a gun to poach on his own ground. He had fired only one or two shots when he was suddenly pounced upon from behind and his gun wrenched away. Then kicks and blows were showered upon him until he fell down half insensible. The highlander then walked away quietly, and when the gentleman recovered sufficiently he crawled home and took to his bed for two weeks. He has now no doubts as to whether the man can perform his duty or not.

Home, Sweet Home.

The old man sat on the park seat, rivers of tears flooding his clothes. A sympathetic passerby, noting the high tide, stopped and asked if he were ill.

"Yes, sir," said the sorrowing old fellow. "I've jest 'ad bad news from 'ome. The 'ouse that 'as sheltered me for years is to be torn down, and I 'aven't a penny to my name to stop it. Everybody will be turned out, and goodness knows what'll 'appen to 'em!"

"Poor soul!" said the sympathetic passerby, bestowing a penny on the sad old man. "That isn't much, but you are welcome to it. And where is this old home of yours, my friend?"

"Up at the joil, sir," replied the old man. "It seems very hard. I've lived there five and twenty years."—London Opinion.

Strong Monosyllables.

Instructors in the art of literary composition usually condemn a string of monosyllables, but in the well known hymn "Lead, Kindly Light," written by a master of the English language, you may count thirty consecutive words of one syllable only. They offend neither the eye nor the ear.

Milton often uses a series of monosyllables. In the second book of "Paradise Lost" we have:

The fiend
O'er bog or steep, through strait, rough, dense or rare,
With head, hands, wings or feet pursues his way
And swims or sinks or wades or creeps or flies.

Such lines are not uncommon in the book:

Rocks, caves, lakes, fens, bogs, dens and shades of death.

And again:

Of neither sea nor shore nor air nor fire.
—London Notes and Queries.

Courtship in Ireland.

An Irish boy marries when he has a rid house and an Irish girl just when she pleases. Sometimes she so pleases while yet her years are few; at other times she is content to wait upon wisdom. In the latter case, of course, she makes a wise choice, but in the former almost always a lucky one, for luck is the guardian angel of the Irish.

"You're too young to marry yet, Mary," the mother said when Mary pleaded that she should grant Laurence O'Mahony a particular boon.

"If you only have patience, mother, I'll cure meself of that fault," was Mary's reply.

"And she's never been used to work, Laurence," the mother said to the suitor discouragingly.

"If you only have patience, ma'am," was Laurence's reply to this, "I'll cure her of that fault." And he did too.—Seumas MacManus in Lippincott's.

Making It Easier.

Little Jean's dolly had met with an accident, and her mother had procured a new head for it. The removal of the old head proved to be a rather difficult task, which Jean watched with great interest.

"I'm afraid, Jean, I can't get this old head off," said the mother.

Jean's face glowed with the light of an inspiration as she said:

"Never mind, mamma; just take the body off."

A Constipation Remedy Free

There is no action of your daily life of greater importance than to see that your bowels move. They should move at least once a day naturally, and by that is meant without any help. If they do not move at least once a day you can consider yourself constipated and it is time you did something about it.

You will be glad to know there is a way out of the difficulty. Lemuel Landerdale, an old soldier at Quincy, Ill., Elmer McMillan, of Speed, Mo., Mrs. Monahan, of Stonewall, Miss., and many others were as you are now. But one day they awoke to the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin was curing their friends, so they bought it too, and it cured them. Today they are loud in praise of it.

What Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin did for them it should do for you. Surely your constipation is no worse than theirs, one of whom had it since '61. It only remains for you to realize that salts are of but temporary good, and what you want is a permanent cure; that purgative tablets, cathartic pills and such violent things make a great show of doing something, but do nothing that is lasting. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientific preparation, a laxative tonic, a mild syrupy liquid that contains ingredients that not only cure the constipation, but tone the intestinal muscles so that they learn again to work without help. A bottle can be bought of any druggist for the small price of 50 cents, and there is a dollar size for families who have already found out its wonderful value in stomach, liver and bowel troubles, in old or young.

Send your name and address to the doctor and a free trial bottle will be sent you so that you can test it before buying.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

A WHISTLER WHIM.

James McNeill Whistler had no patience with those people who would insist upon inquiring into two details of his biography in which he professed, and professed with some sincerity, that he was not interested. These details were his age and his place of birth.

It was once mentioned in a Parisian paper that Whistler was born in Baltimore. Although this was contrary to fact, Whistler could not be induced to correct it. The mistake was copied over and over again, and angry patriots from Massachusetts, accidentally the birthplace of this citizen of the world, would write impassioned letters to him asking him to deny the libel. All he could be prevailed upon to say was, "If it pleases any one to have me born in Baltimore, let me be born in Baltimore." An individual hailing from Lowell, Mass., once apostrophized him in the generally insultingly manner which certain people regard as etiquette in addressing a man of genius upon a first introduction.

"Mr. Whistler," said the stranger, "like me, you were born in Lowell, Mass., and you are sixty-eight years of age and I am sixty-seven. I remember"—

The painter interrupted wearily and plaintively: "My dear sir, if you like to be born in Lowell, Mass., and you enjoy being sixty-seven years of age, well and good, but I don't want to be sixty-eight years of age and don't remember being born in Lowell, Mass."—New York Telegraph.

To Cure Wrinkles.

"Look at a paralytic if you think wrinkles incurable," said a beauty doctor. "On the side he is paralyzed all his wrinkles disappear. Though he be sixty or seventy, his profile on that side is the profile of a youth. So the paralytic shows us how to cure our wrinkles—namely, by keeping our facial muscles still. If we keep our faces in perfect repose, never laughing when the comedian sings his best song, never weeping when wife or sweetheart dies, we will have no wrinkles whatever. The skin wouldn't wrinkle if it were not exposed. The skin of the body is much disturbed by action of the muscles underneath—as at the knee, for instance—yet this unexposed skin never wrinkles. Not being exposed to the bad influence of sun and wind, it has not lost the oil and the elasticity of childhood. And that's where I come in with my creams and unguents and massages."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Taming Patti.

Patti was to sing on a certain date at Bucharest, but at the last moment she declined to leave Vienna. It was too cold; snow everywhere; she would not risk catching her death of cold. M. Schurmann, the impresario, was in despair until a brilliant inspiration came to him. Quickly he telegraphed to the advance agent in the Roumanian capital: "At whatever cost Patti must receive an ovation at Bucharest station from the Italian aristocracy. Send me by return the following wire: 'The members of the Italian and Roumanian nobility are preparing to give Mme. Patti a magnificent reception. The ministry will be represented. Processions, torches and bands. Telegraph the hour of arrival.'" The advance agent carried out this instruction, and when the telegram dictated to him over the wires arrived in Vienna it was handed to Patti, with the desired effect. "How charming!" she murmured. "What time do we start?"

His Wonderful Invention.

Australia, as is well known, is infested with rabbits, a most destructive and multitudinous pest. Not long ago a man invented the following plan:

You go out into the field from which the rabbits are to be removed. You saw down a tree, and on the slant of the stump you paint a black spot. Then you keep very quiet, so that the rabbits will come back from their burrows and feed as usual. When a large enough number has collected you clap your hands sharply. The effect will be electric. The rabbits will jump in haste for their burrows. At least one is sure to mistake the black spot for his hole and make for it. Invariably he will dash his brains out. This process, repeated often enough, is warranted to exterminate the rabbit forever.

Twin Place.

One day an old gentleman who found the Java village at the World's fair very absorbing at length confided in a young man standing near. "It's powerful nice to watch," he said, "but I may say I should be better on't if I was a trifle better posted. My jography's a leetle rusty, and it's truth and fact that I don't jestly know where Java is. Now, where is it?"

"Oh," said the young man, with the assured quiet of one who knows, "just a little way from Mocha!"—Argonaut.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

A. B. Lewis of Pontiac has caused the arrest of Joe Jacques, nineteen years old, on a charge of larceny.

Alpheus Poole, the negro who murdered his wife with a razor April 29, in Ypsilanti, when arraigned, pleaded guilty.

Fenn Weston, the eccentric rural mail carrier of Circle, between Pontiac and Birmingham, has been adjudged sane. The judge held that he is not capable of caring for his property, however, and will appoint a guardian.

To accept a position as secretary and manager of a knit goods company at Kansas City, Mo., Principal Arthur Brookfield of the Muskegon high and Hackley manual training school has tendered his resignation.

The state crop report says wheat shows a slight improvement over its condition on April 1. Then it was estimated to be 76 per cent of normal, and now it is 78. Approximately 6 per cent of the wheat sown has been plowed up.

After his mother and several neighbors had searched for him half an hour, Otto Berg, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Berg of Muskegon, was found in a barrel of lime water, into which he had fallen, head first, and drowned.

Superintendent Arnold of the new Saginaw & Flint line has come out with an ultimatum against the men who go to outside cities, load up on liquor and make themselves obnoxious to the company's cars en route back to Flint. He threatens to carry such men to the "Y" opposite the jail at Flint and turn them all over to the officers.

Attorney General Bird has rendered an opinion holding that the Consolidated Coal company of Saginaw, cannot collect a claim against the Michigan Employment Institution For the Blind for $232, on the grounds that at the time the sales were made James M. Malcolm was a member of the blind institution board of trustees and a stockholder in the Consolidated Coal company.

Marshall Needs Money.

Marshall, Mich., May 10.—Owing to the fact that the annual liquor tax of $4,500 has not been paid into the city treasury this year on account of the institution of local option this city faces bankruptcy. Municipal affairs will have to be run with extremo economy until the taxes fall due next August.

Killed by His Own Trap.

Logansport, Ind., May 10.—Schuyler Holley arranged an old muzzle loading pistol so that if the door of the chicken house should be opened the pistol would be discharged and kill a thief. He forgot to disconnect the trap before he opened the door of the house, and the heavy load of the pistol was discharged into his breast.

The Swaffham Tinker and His Dog.

Two quaint figures are carved on the two top pews and reading desk of Swaffham church. According to legend, a tinker had a dream bidding him go to London bridge and a stranger would reveal to him how to find a pot of money. So off he went with his dog, and at the bridge a stranger stopped him, saying, "Last night I had a dream bidding me go to Swaffham and dig in such and such a place and there find a pot of money, but I don't believe in dreams." Then back went the tinker, dug for and found the pot as described and also an inscription bidding him dig deeper, which he did, and found another, and with them restored Swaffham church. The carvings were put up to perpetuate his memory.—London Strand.

The Interview.

As used nowadays by the newspapers the word interview is said to have been the invention of Joseph McCullagh of St. Louis, and, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, it became popular in England in the early nineties. But it was known before that. A writer on the subject in the Nation of 1869 was possibly the first to use the word in its present sense of a talk with a representative of the press.—Chicago News.

Vicarious Osculation.

He was having some words with her chaperon.

"I'll—I'll kiss her right under your nose!" he said defiantly.

"Oh, well," said that lady, "vicarious kissing like that I can see no objection to."—Boston Transcript.

Plausible.

Irascible Magistrate—Officer, why did you bring this prisoner up before me? Can't you see he's as deaf as a doornail? Policeman—Oi was told ye'd give him a hearing, sor.—Judge.

Procrastination.

"Why is procrastination said to be the thief of time?" asked the teacher.

"'Cause it takes a fellow so long to say it," answered the bright boy at the foot of the class.—Chicago News.

Either Way.

Psmith—I'd invite you home to dinner with me, but we have no cook. Kjones—And I'd invite you home with me, but we have one.—Cleveland Leader.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly.

When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

LIMITS HUNTERS TO ONE DEER

House In Committee Sanctions Harris Game Bill.

NO MORE FOREST WARDENS.

Measure Providing Appointment of Twenty-five Killed—Members of Pardon Board May Get Annual Salary. Senate Passes Bill—Warner Signs New Military Bill.

Lansing, Mich., May 13.—The house of representatives Wednesday, in committee of the whole, agreed to the Harris game bill. The bill, which originated in the house, limits each hunter to one deer and prohibits the hunting of quail, fox, black and gray squirrels until 1919. It fixes the duck season from March 15 to April 25 and from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31. Rabbits may be killed only between Oct. 1 and March 1.

The house killed the bill providing for the appointment of twenty-five forest wardens, as well as that broadening the liability of employers to employes.

The senate passed a bill to give members of the board of pardons and paroles an annual salary of $1,400 each, instead of the $5 per day which they now receive. The senate also passed a bill increasing the salary of the chief of the corporation division of the department of state from $1,200 to $2,000.

The senate, in committee of the whole, agreed to amend the house liquor bill by striking out the section prohibiting druggists from selling liquor except on a physician's prescription and allowing only cities above 40,000 population to extend the closing hours of saloons to midnight.

Governor Warner has signed the new military bill which provides for the promotion of officers of the state troops by seniority and otherwise amending the old law to increase the efficiency of the nations', guard.

CHARGES AGAINST SHERIFF

They May Be Made Because of Premature Release of Schant's Assailant.

Lansing, Mich., May 13.—It is probable that Governor Warner will be asked to investigate a charge which may be preferred against Sheriff Willard O. Parkhurst of Flint which has already caused no little sensation in police circles in both this city and the Genesee county seat.

The alleged charge is that the Flint sheriff allowed James Duggan, the crook who slashed Representative W. H. Schantz of Hastings on the street here with a razor, from prison fifteen days before his sentence was due to expire.

It is said that had Duggan been kept prisoner the full time the attack on Representative Schantz would not have taken place.

Duggan was arraigned in Justice Fraser's court on a charge of attempted murder. His examination was set for Friday morning at 9 o'clock. Bail was fixed at $10,000.

Representative Schantz is still in a serious condition.

Flint, Mich., May 13.—Sheriff Parkhurst said, in reference to the above story:

"I released Duggan because I thought his time was up. It was all a mistake of the jail clerk. He had the prisoner's time registered to start from the day of his arrest, March 15."

TURNED DOWN.

Surety Company Will Not Share In Dividends From Glazier Bank.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 13.—Judge Kinne has handed down his decision in the case of the American Surety company providing that the petition of the defunct Chelsea bank be dismissed.

The American Surety company was the only firm on the bond of ex-State Treasurer Frank P. Glazier which has turned the amount of the bond over to the state. It wished to share in the dividends of the bank that they might recover part of the $50,000.

Became Confused, and Train Kills.

Elba, Mich., May 13.—Mrs. Amelia Taylor, sixty years old, wife of William Taylor of this place, was instantly killed by a Grand Trunk passenger train at the crossing here. She became muddled and ran down the track in the path of the locomotive.

Train Kills Pontiac Man.

Pontiac, Mich., May 13.—A. H. Herron, aged seventy-five, was struck by a Grand Trunk fast train while crossing the tracks at Johnson street, and he was instantly killed. He was an insurance and subscription solicitor. He has a wife and family living here.

NOTED AVIATORS REACH HOME.

Wright Brothers Royally Welcomed at Dayton.

BIG CROWD AT THE STATION

Relatives and Neighbors Cheer Lustily as Wilbur and Orville Appear on Train Platform—Citizens Raising $50,000 For Reception Planned to Take Place Next Month.

Dayton, O., May 13.—It has been many a day since this town witnessed such a demonstration and hospitable reception accorded any person, or persons, as took place today on the arrival home among neighbors and relatives from their triumphs abroad of the now famous aviators, the Wright brothers.

Long before the train bringing the brothers from New York hove in sight a crowd had gathered at the station which quite taxed the ability of the local police to handle. And when the train did arrive, and Orville and Wilbur, as they are familiarly known here, appeared on the platform, such a din as was cut loose can hardly be imagined. Factory and train whistles blew; bands played, and the crowd shouted, blew horns and otherwise disported itself.

All this was quite in contrast with the characteristic quiet demeanor of the brothers. But they took the demonstration in the manner in which it was intended and spoke and shook hands with those nearest to them.

The first to greet them were their father and another brother, who had aided largely in preparing the demonstration.

A reception will be given the aviators at their home tonight.

The commitee on accommodations for the reception next month has asked for a list of rooms which can be placed at the disposal of the committee for visitors on that occasion, and the committee has started to solicit funds to defray the expenses of the exercises. Over $50,000 will be required if the present plans are carried out.

New York, May 13.—The Wrights have refused an offer of $5,000 here for a single flight in connection with the celebration at the opening of the city's new Queensboro bridge in June. Their time was fully taken up with government contracts until June 28, they said.

FORMOSA SHAKEN.

Steamer Brings Sad News From Pacific Island.

Victoria, B. C., May 13.—The French steamer Admiral Hameline, just arriving from Havre via the orient, has brought details of a severe earthquake in Formosa, causing large loss of life, chiefly in the northern part. The center of the disturbed district appeared to be in the sea.

Many villages collapsed in the northern part of Formosa, and reports were coming in from resident governors at Taipeh and Keelung of much loss of life in various districts.

NATIONAL LOTTERY.

Cuban House Passes Measure Providing For Its Establishment.

Havana, May 13.—The house of representatives, by a vote of 52 to 20, has passed the bill authorizing the establishment of a national lottery.

The government expects to draw an annual revenue of from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 from the lottery.

SCORE MEN ARE KILLED.

They Suffer Horrible Death In Stone Quarry.

DYNAMITE ACCIDENTLY LETS GO

Castrophe Near Albany, N. Y., Has Frightful Sequel—Men Had Been Preparing For Weeks to Discharge Big Blast—Deadly Stuff Lets Go Prematurely.

Albany, N. Y., May 13.—At least twenty men are dead as the result of a premature blast of dynamite in a stone quarry operated by the Callanan Road Improvement company near South Bethlehem, eleven miles southwest of Albany. The dead:

Leroy McMillan, assistant superintendent.

John Hendrickson, steam driller.

Fred Snyder, master mechanic.

James Maloney, blacksmith.

William Baumes, foreman.

Fred Zappert, agent of the National Power company, New York.

Twelve Italian workmen.

One thousand pounds of dynamite exploded, and the bodies of the victims were hurled hundreds of feet by the concussion and so badly mutilated as to be almost beyond recognition.

Italians with shovels go about here and there picking up portions of the bodies. They bring their gruesome loads in boxes to the engine house, which serves as a temporary morgue.

The Callanan Road Improvement company furnishes crushed stone for road building. The preparations for this blast which has proven so fatal has been going on for six weeks. Thirteen holes, seventy-five feet deep, had been drilled at points about twenty feet back of the face of the big quarry, and the explosion of the dynamite with which they were to be loaded was expected to displace 40,000 tons of rock. Over 8,000 pounds of dynamite were to have been used.

The workmen had placed 500 pounds charges in six of the holes and were on the seventh when a percussion cap was prematurely exploded. The officers wer standing nearby at the time, directing the work.

Houses in the vicinity were shaken and windows shattered by the concussion, and consternation reigned in the little village half a mile away.

DEATH LIST INCREASES.

Twenty-three Perished With Sinking Ferry Boat.

Pittsburg, May 13.—Ten bodies have been recovered in the search for the victims of the Ohio river ferry boat accident. Searching parties with grappling hooks, using boats of every description, were out locating the missing men.

A revised list shows that the total death list will be twenty-three, instead of twenty, as previously reported. The coroner has not taken any steps toward the holding of an inquest, and may not, as the deaths are considered to have been purely accidental.

HEALTHY SPORT.

Is Baseball For Boys, Declares Playgrounds Association.

Pittsburg, May 13.—That baseball is a healthy sport for boys and should be encouraged on the public playgrounds was the decision of the Playgrounds Association of America in its third annual congress here.

During the discussion of the report of the committee on athletics for boys a question was raised as to baseball. Many were advocates of a new national game to take the place of baseball, but the vote disclosed a large majority for the present national game.

As the discussions were in progress the echoes of youngsters playing baseball in Junction hollow were carried to the speakers.

OPERA STARS TO WED.

Geraldine Farrar to Become Wife of Antonio Scotti.

New York, May 13.—Geraldine Farrar, the American prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera House, and Antonio Scotti, the Italian baritone of the same company, will sail for Europe this week and are to be married in Paris next month, according to a story published here and which is based on messages said to have been from Miss Farrar by friends.

Michigan Girls Safe.

Constantinople, May 13.—Herbert N. Irwin, a missionary located at Talas, has reached Hadjin with a guard of soldiers. He found the four American women missionaries who were besieged there for four days in good health. Among them were Anna Bowman of Brown City and Dorinda Bowman of Petoskey, Mich.

WANTS PRIMARY MONEY.

Grand Rapids May Attempt to Force State to "Fork Over."

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 13.—The Grand Rapids board of education will probably mandamus the state of Michign to compel the paying over of the entire apportionment of primary school money authorized by law and to prevent its being used for any other purpose than that for which it was intended. They claim that in the past the primary money has been drawn on to replenish the funds of other departments of the government.

Thinking that the amount per capita this year would be $6.50, instead of the $5 announced by the legislature, the local board did not ask for the full amount necessary to pay the salaries of its teachers in the annual budget, and now it finds itself about $40,000 short.

ARBITRATORS TO MEET IN DETROIT.

Men Seeking to Settile Lake Troubles Gather Monday.

Chicago, May 13.—The interstate board of arbitration, composed of representatives of six lake states and which is trying to settle the strike of lake seamen, has adjourned to meet in Detroit next Tuesday.

The board communicated with T. A. Hanson, a local officer of the Lake Seamen's union. Hanson said he was willing to accept the good offices of the board and offered to communicate with Victor Olander, secretary of the union, who is in New York and have Olander meet the board in Detroit, where an effort will be made to get William Livingstone, president of the Lake Carriers' association, to hold a conference with Olander and the board of arbitration.

AVERY BROUGHT BACK.

Stood Mute When Arraigned In Jackson Court.

Jackson, Mich., May 13.—Colonel S. H. Avery, indicted by the grand jury several days ago and for whom a warrant was issued charging embezzlement, has been brought back to this city by Sheriff Bean. Avery was found by the officer clearing up a sage brush ranch at Wendall, Clinton county, Ida. He did not fight extradition.

Colonel Avery was arraigned in the circuit court immediately upon his arrival. He stood mute, waived the reading of the indictment and was released on the bonds of $3,000, Charles Lewis and J. H. Mahoney acting as sureties. The specific charge against Avery is that he collected $2,300 and did not properly account for it.

Colonel Avery would not discuss his case further than to say that he had a good defense and would fight to a finish.

Avery is a former state militia officer.

SHOOTS HIS RIVAL.

Italian Feared Fellow Countryman Would Get Home First and Claim His Girl.

Stambaugh, Mich., May 13.—Because he was afraid that Marrozzio Paryurate would reach Italy first and claim his sweetheart, Rosa Leonaridi, at Perugiao, Joe Dascola shot and fatally injured his rival at the Youngs mining location, near here. The wounded man, who will probably die, lies in Mercy hospital.

A telegram has been sent to the victim's sweetheart, and it is thought she will make a race across the ocean to see her lover before he dies. It is not thought she will win.

Dascola is in hiding in a swamp near here, while the sheriff's force, with bloodhounds, is seeking him.

Searched City For Eloping Daughter.

Detroit, Mich., May 13.—For two days and nights Robert Harrison, 584 Christiana street, Sarnia, Ont., walked the streets of Detroit, in company with Detectives Wilson and Black, in search of his daughter, Irene Beatrice Harrison, aged nineteen. In despair the father returned to Sarnia, but the officers are still working on the case. According to Harrison's story to the police, the girl eloped from Sarnia with a married man last Saturday.

Military Academy Sold.

Pontiac, Mich., May 13.—The Michigan military academy was sold at auction from the front steps of the courthouse here Wednesday to Allen Campbell of Detroit for $24,000, subject to the bonded indebtedness of $50,000 and the widow's dower of from $6,000 to $8,000. Campbell bid in the property for other parties whose identity is being kept secret. The property will be used for a school.
